FOLKS
and THINGS
About Town
by Ben

THAT'S all a mistake about Civil Defense buying those car radios for the Rescue Squad. According to those fellows who had to pay one-hundred and forty some odd dollars for their sets it was no gift! They paid hard cash for their sets and it came out of their own pockets. There are about fourteen of them now who have two-way sets in their car and it is broadcast on "citizens band" and anyone can get one -- that is, anyone who has a hundred and forty dollars.

WHILE we're making mistakes, we may as well tell you about Joe Jackson and his plans for an addition to his beautiful Drive-In Theatre. Joe is planning some new tiers of lights some thirteen feet high in front of the Drive-In with water cascading over the multi-colored lights and each tier set back some two or three feet. The thing in all, will be about 15 feet high. When he gets it finished, after all this first-of-the-year running around, we'll tell you.

THAT fellow Luther Earl Todd, who is charged with taking the jewelry from Eddie Edwards has been caught and placed in jail in Montgomery. The way the thing happened according to Red, around at the Sheriff's office, he stole an automobile in Montgomery -- came on to Clanton and robbed the jewelry store -- then drove to Birmingham, where he sidestepped a lady's automobile and she took his tag number. Then they went after him and found he and some of the jewelry in the car. Well, to make a long story short, he is in the Montgomery, Alabama, jail now, awaiting trial on a car theft charge and he will have to answer to taking Eddie's jewelry.

WAS coming into Clanton the other morning and standing above the skyline is our new courthouse. Yes, believe it or not, they have really got it high enough to see above the skyline and it sure does look good. Time also as long as it has been before we'll be roosting the halls of a new courthouse and it sure won't be too soon.

YOU know, we got so many worries that if anything happens to us today, it will be two weeks before we can start worrying about it.

THE Alabama Trucker says a clerk was handing a pay envelope which, by error, contained a blank check. The astonished clerk looked at it and moaned: "Just what I thought would happen. My deductions have at last caught up with my salary."

Remove spots on walls as they appear. For pencil marks and light smudges on papered walls, use art gum. Crayon marks can be sponged lightly with cleaning fluid on a soft cloth.

TWO STILL DEMOLISHED; NO ARRESTS

LAST Wednesday about noon, County and State officers converged on a 4 barrel still, located 1 1/2 miles east of Coopers just off the blacktop road to Innans Camp and destroyed it.

Chief Deputy Sheriff T. J. Lockhart stated that no arrests were made but that 200 gallons of unspent mash was destroyed along with the still itself.

Thursday afternoon about 3 o'clock a box type still was destroyed by the same law forces. Its location was said to be about 7 or 8 miles east of Clanton just east of Mt. Springs Church. 200 gallons of mash was poured out and the still dynamited. According to the Sheriff's office no arrest were made at this time either.

The New Model - 1961

HAPPY NEW YEAR from Little Nancy Jean Cody, who, as fate would have it, is "Little Miss New Year" in Chilton County even though she was a day late -- so to speak. Nancy, weighing 7 lbs. 8 ozs. is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cody of Route 3, Clanton and was born at 7:13 a.m., Monday, January 2, 1961. She is about 2 hours old in this photograph and as you can see, not particularly interested in us or anything.

This little lady is not only the first white baby born in Chilton County in 1961, but is the first for Mom and Dad, as our report has it, so she's twice as welcome! Nancy will receive a 2-year subscription to the News just as all our New Year's tots have and we hope she and her parents enjoy reading it as much as we enjoy sending it to her with all good wishes for the New Year and life ahead of her.

I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy son. -- Luke (15:18-19)

Thus spoke the prodigal son, and when he returned home his father welcomed him with rejoicing and forgiveness. Jesus promised in this parable that the Heavenly Father will give the same glad reception to all who, having strayed into sin, turn with contrite hearts and ask His forgiveness.

CHIEF of Police V. Wallace

Foshee had this to say this week:

"Due to so many people not observing the signs on the traffic lights of STOP, then turn right, we, the City of Clanton, after Thursday, January 5, 1961 will issue tickets for running a red light. The cost is $3.00. Please help us observe our traffic laws, so we may go through the year without an accident."

"Another thing that concerns us very much is when we have all of our lights on red, due to fire alarm, or ambulance call, a number of people have become restless and have driven on through the red light."

Anyone caught doing this in the future will receive a reckless driving ticket which will carry a fine and costs of $32.00. This may seem high, but our citizens have to get to the fire and they work in various parts of town. We don't know from what direction they will come or when all of them will come through the lights. It is a safety measure and one we think necessary. We will appreciate your cooperation in these matters."

THINGS

by BOB

SOMEbody around here got their "10-20's" mixed up with their "10-4's" and now we're "maydaying" all over the place. We're not going to attempt to straighten it out, although we were accused of causing it, and if you'll just read the host's column on page one (column one) perhaps some light can be shed on the subject. If you don't know what the subject is, ask Alvin Ellison or Alton Sanders. They don't know either. Who the heck started this, anyhow?

MR. Joe Jackson of the Clanton Drive-In Theatre asks us to remind you of "Family and Neighbor Night" at the Drive-In during the month of January. On Wednesday nights you can get you, your car and all the friends and neighbors the law allows (in a car) for just $1.00 to see a good movie. He's trying to build business and good will to boot. There ain't but one trouble Mr. Joe: we've got a station wagon and we don't think we can fill it with friends. If we can't fill it with family -- ours or the wife's one!

A NOTE this week tells us that Luther Billy Prickett, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Prickett of Verhena has made the Dean's List six times at Auburn University where he is now in his fourth year as a student. He will graduate in March along with his brother Hugh T. Prickett, Jr., who, according to his family, has also made outstanding grades while in school. Billy can now say he knows the Dean pretty personally, and vice-versa. We knew the Dean pretty personally when we were at good old BSC too, but it wasn't for the same reason. We were on his list too, but it wasn't the same one! Congratulations, fine young Chilton County gentlemen.

"Is it wise to ostracize such citizens as Mr. Gletty? By Nineteen Hundred & Sixty two Mrs. Nineteen point of view May not look so petty! Assuming that some 'deadly bomb' has not sent us to 'Kingdom Come'."

The above verse was written by Mr. J. M. Chadwell, a nice old gentleman; but we fail to see the hope that the International point of view in question will materialize by 1962 or any other year. Heaven help us if it does!

MR. Alonzie Wilson of Route 3, Clanton is credited with 'nailing the bullseye up to at least 75 feet offhand'. Well, offhand, we'd say that was pretty fair shooting Mr. Wilson. We'd do well to hit the bull at 75 feet, let alone his eye!

'COUSE we do a lot of 'bull shootin' we just ain't real good at it yet, that's all!

WE'VE called your attention to this before, but it bears repeating especially at this time of the year.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Christmas Day Services were enjoyed by the largest crowd in several months. The pastor, Bro. C. L. Stover and wife were dressed in the outfits given them by the church as a Christmas Gift. These had been presented to them following the Christmas Program on the night of the 21st. At this occasion a nice supper was enjoyed by all and Bro. and Mrs. M. G. Fields were guests. They were given two beautiful cakes in appreciation for all they have done to help us in our musical program.

Our Choir is making progress and we cordially invite others to join us as we try to aid the worship services through hymns and music. The members of Maple Springs Baptist Church are enjoying the church bulletins run off each week by the pastor on the new machine recently purchased by the church. This is the first time we have had this service regularly. It does much to help in a more orderly service.

Our sick folk: Mrs. Mitchell Mother of Mrs. Alton Harris is in the Jackson Hospital in Montgomery. Please remember her in your prayers.

Little Roger Yeargan has scarlet fever at his home in Montgomery. He is now improving nicely.

Mrs. Lillie P. Teel is the only surviving widow of a Confederate Soldier in Chilton County. This year marks the 100th Anniversary of the War Between the States, 1861-1865. Mrs. Teel lives at 14 3rd Avenue South in Clanton.

If firecrackers are against the law in the Police Jurisdiction of Clanton, how come we heard so many of them during the holidays? And if there is no way to enforce the ordinance, why don't we do away with it? The Ordinance doesn't seem to have very big teeth so we'd do just as well without it! Wouldn't you?

WE'VE seen a lot of pro and con about highway accidents and fatalities of late and have yet to hear any solution to the problem. We may not have the solution, but it is our opinion that offenders of certain laws (such as drunken driving) should get the maximum sentence. And if the maximum sentence, at present, is not stiff enough then we propose that it be stiffened. An accident involving a drunk man or woman, is not an accident and should be dealt with accordingly. Every person who registers some alcoholic content in their blood should not be designated as drunk or incapable, but we say if the Sheriff, or judge if need be, says the offender is incapable of handling a vehicle, then sobeit!

We would stake most anything on the belief that if the law were hard all the way on this unnecessary condition and regardless of WHO the offender might be, the law act we would solve a great deal of our highway accident problems! We don't know of any other way to stop these inebriates!

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

YOU CAN HAVE ABUNDANT LIFE

The highest achievement of faith in God is acquiring abundant life. The Bible teaches that we can live life abundantly, 24 hours a day. Jesus said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10).

Jesus Christ came to give you more than you are and to give you more than you have.

"More" and "abundant" are the two words Jesus used to describe the life He wants you to have. Not less life, nor diminishing life, nor shortened life, but more abundant life. Jesus came to give you life with something additional, life in a greater degree, life abundant, life overflowing, life in great plenty. Abundant means more than enough. It speaks of inexhaustible supply.

Everyone who believed in Jesus Christ, who followed Him sincerely in faith while Christ was upon the earth, received more than he previously had. Each began to abound in God's inexhaustible supply. God's abundant life flowed into his being. People became more abundant in love, faith, hope and peace.

Abundant life is that something which makes you more than triumphant, more than victorious; you become more than a conqueror.

There are two men in particular in the Bible who I believe experienced abundant life. They are Paul and John. Paul faced nakedness, peril, sword, prison, shipwreck, beatings and sometimes the betrayal of his friends and of his own people.

Yet he was more than victorious through all this, and God allowed him to see the glory of the coming world.

The other man, John, was persecuted, too, eventually being exiled to the tiny, lonely island of Patmos. He, too, was caught by the Spirit of God and was inspired to write the Book of Revelation, the last book of our New Testament. These two men experienced the highest degrees of abundant life.

But how can you receive abundant life? First, you receive it by a new birth. You must be born again. That is, you must be born spiritually and become a new person in Christ. Second, you must renew your mind so that it is open and grasping for the spiritual things of God. The mind of Christ must be imparted to your mind. Third, you have abundant life as you release your faith. Every one has faith, but not every one uses his faith. It is released faith, going to God, that brings great blessing to a life, healing to a body, supply for material needs. Released faith brings abundant life and blesses you with every good thing God has for you.

You can have abundant life.

The Old Timer

The only thing wrong with the young generation is that so many of us don't belong to it.

HI VANCE'S USED YARN LOT
50 YEARS OF HUMOR

Fred Taylor, the political pundit of the Birmingham News, and currently its city editor, is like all men in public life. He has a favorite yarn which he and I have laughed over many times. It has to do with an earlier era, when the late William B. Bankhead was Speaker of the House in Congress, and had been for years, winning considerable acclaim on account of the dexterous and unobtrusive manner in which he handled the gavel.

Bankhead lived in the thriving town of Jasper, and naturally the citizens there were proud of the honors he had won in Washington. At one time it had looked like he might be nominated for President. With Fred and I had seen his collection of gavel presented from admirers all over the globe -- these admirers having had the gavel made from special type of wood from their native countries. So, that made the story doubly appealing to us. They had arranged a wonderful home-coming for the Speaker in Jasper. The town was elaborately decorated for this special day, and tremendous crowds jammed the streets. A character had come in from adjoining Winston County, and he stood aghast at the crowds and decorations. He finally gulped. "What in the world is a-comin' of here -- so many flags and banners and you can hardly move on the street for the people?"

Barister Charlie Wiggins took an "I'm-sorry-for-you" look at the elder visitor, and explained: "You should get on the ball, Mister -- Bill Bankhead is coming home today!"

Whereupon the visitor from the Free State of Winston merely switched his cud, scratched his head and remarked: "Why, where in the world has Willie been?"

Today, Thomas continued, many people blame God for everything bad, because they feel he closes his ears to prayers for peace and prosperity. Lack of knowledge and faith cause such ones to say God is not interested in the affairs of men. Showing that God is interested in the affairs of men, Thomas referred to Matthew 5:45: "Your Father... makes his sun rise upon wicked people and good and makes it rain upon righteous people and unrighteous."

Today, Thomas continued, many people blame God for everything bad, because they feel he closes his ears to prayers for peace and prosperity. Lack of knowledge and faith cause such ones to say God is not interested in the affairs of men.

Indicating the true cause for the distress and calamities of man, Thomas drew attention to the first man Adam. Thomas said that sin resulted from the first man's exercising the gift of free will wrongly. Therefore people should blame Adam, not God, for the present condition of mankind.

Although the majority of people are not interested in God, God is interested in them. In proof thereof Thomas quoted John 3:16 and said that Jesus miraculously proved God's interest in the affairs of men and Jesus, preaching, proves that God's Kingdom will bring an end to man's suffering.

John's Witnesses—

"Is God Interested In The Affairs Of Men?"

"Never before has mankind been afflicted by so many woes. Never before has mankind been in such great need of divine assistance," declared David J. Thomas, district minister of Jehovah's Witnesses as assembled in circuit convention in Phenix City last week.

With these words Thomas began his hour-long lecture on the subject Is God Interested in the Affairs of Men?

Showing that God is interested in the affairs of men, Thomas referred to Matthew 5:45: "Your Father... makes his sun rise upon wicked people and good and makes it rain upon righteous people and unrighteous."

Today, Thomas continued, many people blame God for everything bad, because they feel he closes his ears to prayers for peace and prosperity. Lack of knowledge and faith cause such ones to say God is not interested in the affairs of men.

Delegates met Saturday for morning, afternoon and evening sessions. Time was set aside for house to house visitations to the people of Phenix City and Columbus, presenting short Bible sermons and inviting them to the public lecture.

Concluding his report, Robinson said, We have returned home, refreshed to our neighbors, unselfishly participating in the teaching work that began with Christ Jesus, now preaching the good news of God's Kingdom in the critical day ahead.

Today, Thomas continued, many people blame God for everything bad, because they feel he closes his ears to prayers for peace and prosperity. Lack of knowledge and faith cause such ones to say God is not interested in the affairs of men.

Miss Glass Becomes Bride Of Mr. Penniman

A lovely home wedding before an altar of greenery and white snapdragons, burning white candles in brancher candelabra was that of Miss LaMerle Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Glass of Thorsby and Robert Penniman of Quincy Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Penniman of Quincy, Mass., December 27, at 7:30 in the evening at the home of the brides parents.

Rev. Grady Williams, a former pastor of Miss. Glass, read the vows with nuptial music by Mrs. B. V. Ray and Dev. L. W. McReynolds. Wedding songs were: I Love You Truly, Because and Until.

The bride given in marriage by her brother, James Douglas Glass, was lovely in a dress of white taffeta made with full flowing skirt ending in a chapel train. The sweetheart necklace was edged in imported lace inserts embroidered in seed pearls and sequins. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a headband of pearls. Her only ornament was an heirloom necklace of pearls, with matching earrings, gift of the groom. Her flowers were feathered carnations centered with a purple "throat" white orchid nestled in fine bird net and satin ribbons.

Mrs. Norma Johnson, sister of the bride was her only attendant and she wore a full length dress of mint green chiffon and a shoulder corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Claude Gilmore, sister of the bride presided over the brides book.

After the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the dining room. The table was covered with a white damask cloth and the punch bowl was surrounded with white flowers and green magnolia leaves. The traditional wedding cake was served with punch to immediate members of Mrs. James D. Glass, Mrs. James the families and close friends, by Kenneth and Mrs. Jeff Clecker.

The couple left Thorsby Sunday morning on their delayed honeymoon which they will spend on a sightseeing trip to their home in Boston, Mass.

Each summer the heel fly lays its eggs on the legs and underside of cattle, the specialist says. These eggs hatch and live in the body of the animal throughout the summer months. Then about this time of year, the insects eat a hole in the hide of the animal and emerge.

When this occurs, cattlemen can use insecticides (rotenone is usually considered best) under heavy pressure as a spray. The insecticides penetrate the holes cut in the animals back and kills the grubs. Treatment should be repeated every 30 days, Farquhar says.

When smaller groups of cattle are treated, rotenone can be applied as a one to two percent dust sprinkled on the back of the animal and washed with a stiff brush.

The Auburn livestockman says the first symptoms of grubs are bumps or swellings along the back or loin area of the animal.

Control of Cattle Grub Saves Money For Raiser

Packers annually throw away enough grub-damaged meat to feed 85,000 people a year. And the cattle raiser is the man who suffers this loss. Cattle grubs cost the cattlemen of this country over $100 million annually. Alabama contributes a large share to this waste.

Bow, larquhar, Auburn Extension meet cattle and sheep specialists, says that one of the most difficult of these pests to control is the heel fly because it never bites the host animal.

Each summer the heel fly lays its eggs on the legs and underside of cattle, the specialist says. These eggs hatch and live in the body of the animal throughout the summer months. Then about this time of year, the insects eat a hole in the hide of the animal and emerge.

Today, Thomas continued, many people blame God for everything bad, because they feel he closes his ears to prayers for peace and prosperity. Lack of knowledge and faith cause such ones to say God is not interested in the affairs of men.

Indicating the true cause for the distress and calamities of man, Thomas drew attention to the first man Adam. Thomas said that sin resulted from the first man's exercising the gift of free will wrongly. Therefore people should blame Adam, not God, for the present condition of mankind.

Although the majority of people are not interested in God, God is interested in them. In proof thereof Thomas quoted John 3:16 and said that Jesus miraculously proved God's interest in the affairs of men and Jesus, preaching, proves that God's Kingdom will bring an end to man's suffering.

EVERY 3 SECONDS A NEW PAPA IS BORN! And if you think that's a lot of papas, you're right. Now that we're starting another new year, I thought it would be interesting to look at some figures on our increasing population. Today there are 3 billion people in the world—twice as many as 100 years ago. United Nations estimates now forecast that by the year 2000 there'll probably be between 6 and 7 billion. The United States, with 180 million now will most likely pass the 3 hundred million mark in the next 40 years. In our business—communications—this growth means a lot of planning ahead to meet the needs of our fast-growing population, and you may be sure we're not sleeping at the switchboard!

TELEPHONE MILESTONE—Just to back me up about not sleeping at the switchboard, here's news about an event that happened recently in this country. The 60 millionth telephone in the Bell System was installed! Actually, America's telephone "population" is now more than 75 million, including the stations operated by the 3,500 independent companies. You know, the more phones there are, the more valuable telephone service becomes to everyone.

WEATHER OR NOT—You can visit out-of-town friends and relatives with the greatest of ease. Just pick up your phone and go via Long Distance! It's fast, it's easy and—it's a wonderful way to cheer gray days and make other people happy, too!

Tractors Can Help In Power Mishaps

An electrical power failure is inconvenient to all, but for a dairyman who uses electrical milking equipment such a mishap can be disastrous.

For such emergencies, the vacuum built-up in the intake manifold of a tractor engine can be used to operate the milking machine, says J. T. Gaillard, Auburn Extension farm mechanization specialist.

Drive the tractor to a window of the milking barn, the specialist says and make a connection through the window between the intake manifold and the suction line of the milking machine with a heavy duty hose. The tractor motor may not build enough vacuum to operate as many units as the milking machine pump, and one unit may be the limit with some tractors, he adds.

A small air-cooled gasoline engine can be used for emergency power.

How To Tell If The Hen Is Laying

Experienced poultrymen find the culling job easy because they know what to look for when they search for nonproducing birds.

Jim Hubbar, Auburn Extension poultryman says that a bird's coloring tells whether or not she is producing. The vent takes on a bleached appearance five to seven days after the bird comes into production. The egg rim bleaches in 10 to 12 days, the egg hole in 10 to 16 days, the head in four to six weeks, and the shank in four to six months. Hubbar adds that when a bird goes out of production color returns to the parts in the same order.

1961 White House Conference on Aging On ETV Jan. 9-12

Alabama's preparation for the 1961 White House Conference on Aging, in session in Washington D. C., January 9 through 12, will have the spotlight on two programs on the State's Educational TV Network January 9 and 10, it was announced today. They may be heard at 4:00 or 9:30 p.m. on each of the above dates.

Pensions and Security Commissioner Alvin T. Prestwood, who is Chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Alabama's Planning for the White House Conference, will moderate both programs.

The first program is the series features a review of the Governor's Conference on Aging held at the University in June 1960. Participants, in addition to Commissioner Prestwood, are Catherine Corley, Director of Public Health Nursing for the State Department of Public Health; Odelle Carmichael, Director of the Bureau of Information Service, State Department of Pensions and Security; John Carr, Director of the Jefferson County Coordinating Council and Mrs. Berta K. Tanti, Employment Counselor with the State Department of Industrial Relations. Findings of the several discussions groups at the State Conference are revealed in this program, together with recommendations for Statewide action.

Mr. Carr is also on the second program. Others are: Ada Tate Posey, Chairman of the Montgomery County Committee on Aging and also Director of the Montgomery County Department of Pensions and Security; and Minnie Sellers, Supervisor of City Recreation in Tuscaloosa. On this program the Participants tell what is being done in their own communities in behalf of senior citizens.

"We believe these two programs offer a picture of the situation in Alabama in relation to aging and give excellent ideas for communities to follow in meeting the needs of their senior citizens," Prestwood said.

The programs are produced by the Governor's Advisory Committee on Planning for the 1961 White House Conference in cooperation with the Extension Division of the University of Alabama.

TB Control With Eight Hospitals In State

Alabama has eight tuberculosis hospitals strategically located in various sections of the state while some of these institutions are privately owned, others have been constructed under state legislation authorizing counties and municipalities to join in the ownership and operation of district sanatoriums. All are supported basically in their entirety by the State of Alabama. Residents of Alabama are admitted freely without regard to county of residence.

For the first time the number of available beds for the tuberculosis in Alabama seems adequate in all areas of the state. The percentage of unoccupied beds in Alabama, 3% as of June 30, compares with the national average of vacancies of about 20%. Some map question why waiting lists exist for institutions not 100% occupied. But in addition to a small number of beds always vacant because of the coming and going of patients it is impossible for any sanatorium to operate for an extended period of time at 100% occupancy because the patient load must be segregated by sex and race. Vacant beds may exist in female wards for example, despite a long waiting list of male patients seeking admission.

Case Finding Is Very Important

That tuberculosis is a treacherous disease is well known. By the time symptoms appear to warn patients of its danger, the disease is usually far advanced, extensive damage has been done to the lungs, and the infection has been spread to members of the family and others.

For this reason Case-Finding is an important part of public health efforts to control the disease. The X-ray examination of the chest continues to be the most important and dependable tool in the early discovery of tuberculosis and other chest abnormalities such as lung cancer, certain heart conditions, and various dust diseases in seeking out unknown cases of tuberculosis by the X-ray examination of hundreds of thousands of apparently healthy people. During the year 1959, 223,061 chest screening films were taken in Alabama by state and county health departments, tuberculosis associations and other health organizations.

The Chilton County Health Department made 390 chest X-rays in 1960. Along with many other efforts to find the cases of TB patients in Chilton County. They are doing their job. Let's not forget ours! Christmas Seals.

Thank you!
Mrs. R. M. Tucker, Chm.

To The Honorable Oakley W. Melton, Judge of Said Court

After having been empaneled and receiving the Court's charge, we proceeded to investigate all the matters that came before us as Grand Jurors and herewith submit the following report.

During our deliberations we investigated 57 cases, interrogated 73 witnesses and are herewith returning 41 true bills.

We did not make a personal inspection of the County courthouse building as construction is now under way for a new courthouse.

A close examination of the Chilton County Jail was not made due to the fact that a new jail is now under construction. However, it is noted that there are some small repairs that need being made on the building. Since it will be used until the new jail is ready for occupancy we respectfully request that the officials charged with the responsibility of the upkeep of the jail replace all broken windows. We felt that in order for the jail to be liveable these broken windows must be replaced immediately.

We did not examine any of the books of the various public officials of our County, due to the fact that periodic examinations are made by the State Auditors. Since no irregularities have been reported by these auditors, we have concluded that the books of the public officials are correct and in order.

Now having completed the matters brought before us we hereby request that we be dismissed until such time as Your Honor may deem it necessary to have us again convened.

Dated this 6th day of January, 1961.

SELDEN— OPPOSES PURGE OF REP COLMER

SIXTH District Rep. Armistead L. Selden, Jr. makes it very clear in his column 'Report From Washington' (page 2 this week) that he is opposed to the possible purge of Rep. William Colmer as chairman of the House Rules Committee.

Rep. Selden begins his new year in Congress, reporting to his district, the things that are going on in Washington that affect them.

Selden is the 'daddy' of the weekly report from the Capitol in the hometown press and his style has been copied by many Congressmen, both Representatives and Senators since the first 'Report From Washington' was issued.

The Chilton County News is proud to be a part of this kind of reporting and we urge you to keep up with your Congressman and what's going on by reading Rep. Selden's column each week. It will appear on the Editorial Page of the News each week.

Federal Land Bank Cuts Interest Rate

As its December meeting, the board of directors of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans approved a reduction in the interest rate on loans from 6% to 5 1/2%.

The reduction went into effect January 2. Not only does the reduction apply to new loans but until further notice will apply to loans presently bearing the higher rate. In making reductions apply to mortgages on the books, the bank, of necessity, took into consideration the price it is paying for money and the outlook of the immediate future. While it has in the past ultimately made such reductions final, it cannot, until it has had further experience, make a definite commitment. Judging the future by experience over the past 27 years, it can be said without question, that the bank will exert itself to give farmers the very best in rates and services.

This announcement was made by G. B. Auburtn, Manager of The Federal Land Bank Association of Marion, which services loans in Bibb, Chilton, Dallas, Perry and Wilcox Counties.

First meeting of the year 1961 was held at the City Hall, Tuesday, January 3. The purpose was election of officers and laying plans for a good football year.

IT has been said that denominational differences sometimes become barriers when they should be 'back fences' over which we can communicate in an atmosphere of brotherly love and fellowship.

WE had rather trust a man and be wrong, than not to trust him and be wrong!

ONE thing we'd like to say about the people of the Town of Thorsby: They most certainly stick by their public servants and officials when a crisis rears its head. That's good relations!

-- A Tribute To The Beard --

WHERE the beard, sideburns or goatee and mustache were once the proud mark of the man, they are now, as far as our society in general is concerned, the mark of a 'misfit' or 'maniac'!

Some think they are "silly"; some say they're ugly and the general consensus of opinion is that there is no use and no place for them at all.

How can things change so radically in just a few decades?

In olden times the beard was truly a mark of distinction and worn proudly. So proudly in fact, that there is at least one reference in the Bible where two couriers were disgraced by the cutting off of their beards and it set off a whammy of a war! Why it was like cutting off their nose. (Which reminds us that there are numerous individuals who practice that regularly in our society -- figuratively anyway!).

If beard growing is naive or "silly", then why did the Good Lord give man the ability to grow one?

Though there is no particular use or place in our society for the beard; it is just as sensible as thousands of other things we do which we consider to be part and parcel of our 'modern way of life'. A good deal more sensible than many!

On top of all that; beardgrowing is one of the few things that man can do that woman cannot!

Hail to the beard... not the making, but once the mark of the man!

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

BY CARL GOGGINS

Landerdale Sen. Bert Halm's reapportionment bill calling for 40 senators and 120 house members has been the "most reasonable" measure on the matter seen by many south Alabama legislators.

And there was strong feeling among those talked with about the plan that there will probably be some form of reapportionment passed during the next legislative session.

Yet, even though this was the predominant sentiment, there was still slight doubts held by others that there was possibly a need for further study on this issue. One southern lawmaker remarked, "Reapportionment has always been a fight between north and south Alabama counties and it will probably continue."

However, this same legislator felt that the legislative battle between these two sections might not be as great during the next session of the state's small counties could be guaranteed the distribution of the Gasoline Tax and Educational funds to all counties would remain the same after reapportionment.

This doubt stemmed from the apparent fear this procedure might change in the event a reapportionment measure became law. It was contended here that this was probably one of the main reasons Alabama has not been reapportioned since 1901.

Because, in the words of a south-counties might then dominate both eastern house member. "The large these funds by changing the present law governing distribution. If assurance could be had this would not happen, Halm's bill, or any other reasonable measure, could more than likely be passed easily this time."

Explaining that these two funds were of great benefit to the small counties, it was reported educational funds are distributed on the basis of earned teacher-units; and that

Putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation. —(Thessalonians 5:8)

St. Paul truly describes the only defense against the ills of human life. He who clothes himself with faith in God, an outgoing love for all mankind, and an enduring hope in heaven wears an armor that no earthly misfortune or disaster can penetrate.

People, Jobs and Growth--

THE U. S. population is growing rapidly, and many jobs will be needed to support the new families that are being formed every day. That is one of the factors behind the drive to improve the nation's economic growth rate. Economic growth means the building of new businesses and the expansion of old ones. This is the process which creates new jobs.

President-elect Kennedy has promised that his administration will act as necessary to produce a faster rate of growth. In this regard, we would recommend that he give attention to legislation which has been gaining support over the last three years. It now is being reintroduced into Congress with bipartisan backing from Representatives A. S. Herlong (D. Fla.) and Howard W. Baker (R. Tenn.).

This legislation embodies a tax reform program that would reduce both personal and corporate income tax rates gradually over a five-year period -- without lowering the present total of tax revenues.

The relationship between tax rates and economic growth is close and direct. Forming new businesses and expanding old ones takes risk capital that is available only from savings. Tax rates that seize up to 91 percent of an individual's income and take 52 percent of corporate profits stifle savings.

We agree with economic experts and businessmen who say that tax rate reform as proposed by Representatives Herlong & Baker provides one of the best avenues toward speeding economic growth and providing more jobs.

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of the Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

Chronic Illness

Most people have to learn to live with their chronic illness and disabilities, and most people are chronically ill to some extent. Almost from birth, the body is exposed to the strains and stresses of living; and when the degenerative processes begin, eventually they lead to chronic disease and disability. This somewhat dismal picture was presented by a Washington, D. C., physician speaking before a recent clinical meeting of the American Medical Association in Washington.

With few exceptions, stated the physician, those who are past the age of 40 are subjects of demonstrable pathology of various kinds which will be with them until they die. The problem, according to the chronic illness and disability. Chronic illness, is learning to live with the illness is defined as a major impairment characterized by the need for long periods of care and for rehabilitation.

In the order of their prevalence, chronic diseases and disabilities include heart disease of the nervous system, tuberculosis, blindness, diabetes, asthma, cancer, disease of the digestive system, and accident. Other factors leading to a disabling condition are mental unfitness, physical unfitness, social unfitness due to friends, and occupational unfitted lack of helplessness from family illness. There are an estimated 5,300,000 chronically ill persons in this country.

The role of the physician in treating the chronically ill, concluded the physician, is to provide the necessary medical care and to help the patient achieve the best long-term adjustment possible. And in this field the physician must take into account the emotional as well as physical needs of the individual patient.

Warren Musgrave, journalist, who spent some time on weekly news-papers before joining up with the dailies, later became a public relation man and worked for Uncle Sam, writing about missiles in the war, had just finished a stretch with Snead on Sand Mountain when he told me one that has remained vivid in my memory since the narration.

According to Musgrave, a traveling salesman had pulled up alongside a country store and parked. He went in to see the merchant, talked the man into a rather sizable order, and when that had been placed, he thanked the store-keeper and got ready to leave.

"Now that the business is out of the way I have traded some with you, how about having a drink with me out of the jar in the back room?" the merchant said.

"The drummer thanked him profusely, but offered his regrets, stating that he had other persons to call on that he never made a practice out of drinking while on duty."

"That's all right for you," said his client, "but I need a dram. How about going in there with me and watching me while I take one?" The salesman agreed, and once in the room the store-keeper grabbed a shot gun from the wall, pointed it at him and commanded that he drink. There was nothing for the frightened fellow to do but comply. The merchant demanded: "How was it?" "Not so good," the salesman replied.

"Awfullest stuff in the world. That's what I been telling 'em. Now, how about you holding the gun on me and making me get one down?"

THINGS We see and hear

by BOB

"An Open Letter To Bob Tucker
And Editor Chilton County News"

I mailed you a letter dated December 4, in answer to Bob's letter dated December 1, in your paper, in which he called me ignorant and untruthful. By all standards of fairness, it is unfair, not only to me, but to your readers as well, that you should withhold that letter from publication. It is not the first time you have printed letters directed at me, and withheld my letter in reply.

Surely it cannot be possible, that a man of your position, well read, intelligent and highly educated, could be afraid of anything an ignorant atheist could say, or is it possible?

I challenge you to print that letter in your columns, just as it is written, and let your readers be the judge, and form their own various opinions. I also challenge you to allow the space in your columns for further comments on the statements made by Bob in his column dated November 17th, and his letter under date of December 1.

WES GLETTY
Route 2, Clanton, Ala."

ANYTHING that we think has merit, we will print! Mr. Gletty is being very inconsistent! He claims we withheld his letter from publication, which is true. He fails to point out, however, that he consulted with one Mr. Virgil McClain of South Bend, Indiana (a more confirmed atheist than is he, we gather) and that Mr. McClain recited to us, in lengthy terms, the pitfalls of our chosen path and we printed his letter on January 5th. As far as we are concerned, the letters said much the same thing, and we have a limited amount of space for such controversy or anything else for that matter. That issue, Mr. Gletty, is closed, unless you have something of importance to our readers to say to them! Mr. Gletty's 'challenges' seem to be no more than an excuse to get his name in print!

WHY don't we run a page for farmer's in the News? Because, every page we run in the News is for farmers! With the farmer as important as he is to life in Chilton County why should we confine to his and his interest to our page in this community newspaper? No sir, you'll find something of interest to the farmer on EVERY page of the News... and we think that's the way the farmer likes it!

MAYOR Bice and Chief of Police Headley were in to see us this week in regards to the situation that prevails up there; to thank us for our handling of the reporting and to let us in on some favorable publicity for the fair town of Thorsby. You'll find some of it in this issue.

ATHEISM is seeking a foothold in Chilton County under the guise of "free thinkers" and Christian complacency is the best tool they have to work with.

The Atheist believes it seems, that the entire Christian movement in the world has come about because people had rather conform to a norm than to be themselves. Christianity is, of course, ridiculous. Christianity is not an escape hatch for our penitence, as some would have us believe. It would seem that 99 out of a hundred persons are 'hypocritical in one way or another, but the malady of society is not confined to any such one group as Christians.

The non-Christian bases his entire belief, it would seem, on the misguided conclusion that all people who profess to be Christians are two-faced and conform to every whim of society and therefore they want no part of it. If this were true, we wouldn't blame them. It is truly an assumption, however, and had the Atheist a closer relationship with his Maker & his fellow beings (namely Christians) he would soon realize that this belief is a figment of his imagination based on resentment. After having heard a good bit from Atheists lately, we are inclined to believe that the narrow-minded is not confined to Christians and neither is the ability to think 'freely' a virtue possessed only by the so-called Atheist!

Report from Washington

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

The 87th Congress convened last Tuesday before a background of disputes over the seating of some members and attempts to reshape the conservative House Rules Committee and to curb filibustering in the Senate.

Two Democratic members of the House who won close races in their congressional districts were seated despite Republican protests. Still in dispute is one House seat in which the results of a contested election are under investigation. However, the other members were sworn into office last Tuesday by Speaker Sam Rayburn (D. Tex.) who was reelected to a tenth term as Speaker of the House.

Liberals Try Out--

In the Senate, controversy centered around moves by a liberal group to place limitations on filibustering. Maneuvers were under way by House liberals to wrest control of the powerful Rules Committee from a Southern Democrat.

Two methods were being considered as means of accomplishing the Rules Committee change:

(1) by increasing the size of the committee to add liberal members Colmer of Mississippi, ranking Democratic member, and replacing him or (2) by removing Rep. William with a liberal Democrat.

The excuse offered for Rep. Colmer's possible removal is his support in the recent elections of an independent slate of candidates who cast their electoral votes for Sen. Harry Byrd, a conservative Democrat from Virginia. However, there are other Democrats in the House of Representatives at the present time who have not lost committee seniority for failing to support their party's national tickets. For example, Negro Rep. Adam Clayton Powell openly campaigned for President Eisenhower's election in 1956 but maintained his Democratic seniority. Consequently, he takes over this year as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Chairmanship Vital--

Southerners realize the importance at this time of retaining chairmanship of the House Rules

Civil War Engagements In Chilton County

(The following is an accurate and detailed account of some of the fighting which took place in Chilton County during the War Between the States. The Second and final article appears below.)

By Lt. Col. Maurice Woolley, USA-Ret.

As the division of Upton and Long's Federal forces advanced towards Selma early in the morning of April 1 they encountered small detachments of Forrest's command and drove them back with slight effort until they reached a point several miles north of Plantersville known as Ebenezer Church where the Confederate troops made a very determined stand although being greatly outnumbered by the Federal troops. Here General Forrest was greatly chagrined to receive a message from Chalmers informing him that it was impossible for him to join Forrest at Ebenezer Church that day as he had been directed. Forrest was furious with rage at Chalmers. He sent an urgent dispatch to Chalmers informing him that he (Forrest) was being hard-pressed by Wilson's overwhelming forces and that he would admit of no excuse for Chalmers failure to unite with him at Plantersville or between that place and Selma without delay. Forrest insisted that Chalmers had not moved his forces with the alacrity which the emergency demanded, and which characterized him (Chalmers) on other similar occasions.

Chalmers with Starke's brigade was marching eastward while Armstrong, who commanded the other brigade of Chalmers' division, was traveling a parallel road five miles further northward. The messenger from Forrest to Chalmers passed through Armstrong's command where Armstrong read the dispatch referred to above and forwarded it on to Chalmers immediately with an additional dispatch written by the circumstances he (Armstrong) informing Chalmers that he would not wait for orders from his division commander but would march to join Forrest on his own responsibility and urged Chalmers also to press on towards Plantersville as swiftly as possible.

Armstrong added that he could then hear firing in that direction and that he would march rapidly towards it. He then swept forward with great rapidity and reached Forrest at sundown April 1.

Realizing the desperate situation of his command at this juncture and the necessity of holding the advance of the Federals in check until Chalmers could reach Plantersville so as to be in supporting position at the crossing of the Alabama River at Ebenezer Church where defensive layouts were prepared and the small artillery force of his command was set-up for defensive action. Here, Roddy's division, Crossland's brigade, and several hundred state militia troops under Dan Adam were deployed in line of battle. Forrest, with his escort and the 200 men from Armstrong's brigade, took position immediately with the artillery commanding the road approaching from the north. To his left, Crossland's 300 Kentuckians were posted, while on the extreme right a detachment of state troops under Dan Adams were placed. The entire Confederate force on the field numbered about 2000 men. To assail this force Wilson had on the ground and in action Upton's Division - 3900 strong, Long's Division - 5000 strong, and two full batteries of artillery. It is claimed by some that Forrest had a much larger force than that indicated above but after a most careful inquiry it has been concluded that he did not have a greater force on the field than that stated. The Federal commander claimed that Armstrong's brigade took part in the engagement at Boger's Creek, but General Armstrong informed the author (Dr. John A. Wyeth) personally that he did not effect a junction with General Forrest until the latter arrived that night at Plantersville.

At 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon, with Long's division in front. As soon as the skirmishers opened fire, Long reinforced his advance guard which was composed of a mounted battalion of the 72nd Indiana Cavalry and by the remainder of that regiment which was dismounted and formed on the left of the road going south. Pushing the mounted troops forward, Wilson and Long ordered a rash sabre charge by four companies of the 17th Indiana Cavalry. When Forrest saw these troops moving towards him with drawn sabres in hand, he placed himself in line with his escort and Crossland's Kentuckians and ordered his men to reserve their rifle fire until the enemy arrived within 100 yards of their position. After discharging their rifles they were then to draw their revolvers and with one in each hand to ride in among and along with their assailants and to use six-shooters at close quarters. As the Federals came near, a horse being ridden by a member of the front platoon became unmanageable and ran away ahead of the line, followed through the Confederates and collided with a wheel of an artillery gun carriage with such velocity that the wheels were knocked from its spindle. The force of the collision killed the horse instantly while the rider fell to the ground and was promptly killed with a ramrod in the hands of a gunner. As the body of the charging column swept in the Confederate line, Forrest and his escort, along with two companies of Crossland's Kentuckians under Captain H. A. Tyler, rode in among them and the desperate character of the encounter which occurred may well be imagined. It was one of the most terrific hand to hand conflicts which occurred between cavalry troops during the war. It was a test between the sabre in the hands of brave men and the six-shooter in the hands of experts and just as desperately brave. General Forrest

Committee, and are attempting to block action by the liberal group. In the event Rep. Colmer is removed, any new member assigned to the committee -- Northern or Southern -- would automatically go to the bottom of the committee roster.

Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia, the present chairman of the Rules Committee, is over 75 years of age. Should Rep. Colmer be removed from the committee and Rep. Smith become unable to serve, the chairmanship would revert to the next member in line, Rep. Ray J. Madden (D. Ind.). Congressman Madden is considered an ardent advocate of civil rights legislation. If Rep. Colmer remains on the committee, he would succeed Rep. Smith as chairman, as he is now the ranking Democratic member with 20 years service on the Rules Committee.

Selden Opposes Purge--

The great majority of southern congressmen, including your own, are opposing the purge of Rep. Colmer. The fact that no official action was taken last week indicates we have more support on our side than the liberal Democrats had originally anticipated.

was most viciously assailed. His conspicuous presence made him the object of direct attack by a brave young officer, Captain Taylor of the 17th Indiana Cavalry, who with five or six other Union troopers were killed while attempting to slay the Confederate general. In this fierce onslaught the Federals lost 12 killed and 40 wounded.

"As the Federals dashed forward in their charge upon our line, they evidently recognized General Forrest's headquarters flag near which he, himself, was, with his escort gathered about him. He told us to draw our six-shooters and stand our ground no matter how they rode into us. As they came on, we fired with our rifles one volley, and then drew both our pistols and rode forward to meet them. One of the Federals was so far ahead of the advance platoon that we saw his horse running away with him. He went wildly through our line, dashed against the wheel of one of the pieces of artillery just in our rear with such force that the wheel was knocked off, and the horse and rider hurled to the ground from which neither arose. One of the gunners knocked the rider in the head with a ramrod. Fortunately for the escort the Federals were using the sabre while we had our six-shooters, and this accounts for the difference in losses on both sides. I saw General Forrest surrounded by six Federals at one time, and they were all slaying at him. One of them struck one of his pistols and knocked it from his hand. Private Phil Dodd was fortunately near and spurred his horse to the General's rescue, and shot the Federal soldier who was so close upon him, thus enabling the General to draw his other pistol with which he promptly killed another of the group who was still persistent in his attack upon our commander. General Forrest and Captain Boone, of the escort were both wounded. Although the Federals rode through and over us, those of them who survived were beaten back, and we did not leave the field until we saw their main column advancing later.

While the fight at Boger's Creek was in progress, Upton's division, with Alexander's brigade in the lead advanced upon the flank and practically in the rear of the Confederates. Striking the militia, these, without offering any resistance fled from the field in great disorder thereby compelling the entire Confederate line to retreat precipitately, thus enabling the Federals to losing three guns and 200 prisoners. A desperate running fight was continued on to Plantersville, 19 miles from Selma.

The rear guard of the Confederate camped at Plantersville on the night of April 1, 1865, while the Federal column under Winslow bivouacked in front of that place. The fighting throughout the day had been almost constant. The Confederates had been driven 20 miles since morning.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from the Bible
God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.—(Psalm 46:1)

There are times when even the most aggressive, forceful, self-assured among us must know, in their secret hearts, that their human strength is not enough—that God alone can help them in their trouble. Those who humbly, truly, live within Him "will not fear, though the earth be removed."

Mrs. Woodson Writes About Daughter Edith's Condition

Mr. Ben Tucker

January 7, 1961

Dear Ben:

Have tried to work in time to write you in regard to Edith. We understand that the News and Banner carried an article about her accident. She has really received many cards from neighbors and friends in Clanton; also many of her schoolmates have written her. All the wonderful prayers, cards, notes and calls of encouragement and comfort have really been appreciated.

Edith, is coming along fair, each day brings a bit more encouragement and her doctors are quite pleased, so far.

Since she was burned from her waist to her chin, shoulders, right arm & hand, it will take many weeks of love and encouragement to keep up her courage. She has faith that again she will be able to use her right arm and hand. The burned skin was removed from her body last Thursday. It was a terrible ordeal to go through and she has suffered much pain and discomfort for that 3 1/2 hours in surgery. Every eight hours they remove the bandages; this too is painful.

On last Tuesday, she was again taken to surgery for skin graft. She was another three hours having, "topes to get some news of Edith." Just a small place grafted; yesterday she began to feel some better and ate a very good supper. How many of these trips to surgery, she will have to take, we do not know. But we are confident she will make the grade.

With wonderful medical science, the best doctors and nurses, love and encouragement from all her friends everywhere, also people she doesn't know and best of all, the many rayers of so many people will certainly see her through. She has faith in all these things that are being done for her. And she wants to take this method of saying "Thank you" until she can do so herself.

Also want to let the people of Clanton know what a wonderful friend and person, Francis Smith Ford is. Many people perhaps never know the true value of friendship. But Francis has truly shown how she feels about Edith. They were classmates from the third grade, through high school in Clanton. That friendship has certainly grown. A day never goes by that she doesn't take time out of her busy life to call me, saying comforting words and keeping me bolstered up. She goes patiently to the hospital, though she knows she cannot go into the room, but tries to get some news of Edith's improvement; sends flowers, cards and even offered to give skin grafting. Such friends as this, aren't the off and on kind, but a wonderful "true blue" type. We want everyone to know her true value.

Again, I want to thank everyone for being so sweet and kind to Edith as well as to Duke and myself. We have many wonderful friends in Chilton County and we cherish each and everyone. I will try to write as many as I can, though it takes time.

Thank you too, Ben, we hope all is well with your family.

Sincerely,
Mabel Woodson

WAYS OF HOPE

Virginia H. Stover

"I will study the language of gentleness, and refuse to use words that bite and tones that crush."

"I will practice patience at home lest my temper break through unexpectedly and disgrace me."

I will remember that my neighbors have trouble enough without unloading mine on them.

I will excuse others' faults as often and fully as I expect others to be lenient with mine.

I will be a friend under trying tests, and wear everywhere a good-will face unchilled by aloofness."

The above printed in the Christian Herald and is a good New Years resolution for each of us. It is the nature of man to drift but it takes effort to accomplish things. Too many of us had rather not go to the effort it takes to follow even the simple things mentioned above. Let us discuss these further: Gentleness, do you find yourself "yelling" when the gentle approach would have the same effect? The old prophets remind us that it is "The soft answer that turneth away wrath."

Never have I seen anyone who did not admit that they needed more patience and where else should it be practiced more than at

Docks Earnings In 1960 Near Half Million

Alabama State Docks, the state's self-sustaining ocean terminal, made almost a half million dollars during fiscal year 1960, figures in the just-released annual report show.

The report, submitted by Docks Director Earl M. McGown, discloses that the facility had total earnings for the fiscal year, which ended September 30, of $6,225,051.76, while expenses came to $5,747,139.64. The docks are retaining $477,912.12 for future development. Net profit was $740,315.71.

The illustrated booklet breaks down dollar earnings this way: 63.5 cents for rail cars and trucks, 33.5 cents for the loading and unloading for terminal use of the Alabama State Docks by vessels and 3 cents for miscellaneous services such as stevedoring, crating and drumming.

The Docks spent forty cents of each dollar it earned on salaries and wages, 16.6 cents on bond interest and principal, 15.1 cents on indirect expenses, 12.9 cents on maintenance and repairs, 7.6 cents on supplies and materials.

McGown emphasized that the Docks sustains itself entirely through its own income and does not receive a state appropriation. He said the Docks "must be operated efficiently for a profit with which to pay current expenses and maintenance, bond principal and interest, and to carry out the constant improvements which are necessary for any business to maintain a competitive position."

"To make a profit," he continued, "this agency must attract tonnage. For this purpose a program of solicitation and promotion is directed from Mobile with branches in New York, Chicago and Kansas City."

"But our principal service is to provide terminal facilities and handle cargoes. The state is doing this at Mobile and at sites on the state's navigable rivers."

The state itself cannot generate tonnage. The responsibility for developing trade rests on buyers and sellers of commodities, importers and exporters, support from rail, truck and steamship lines, and all the elements involved in port business. And the degree of success in each community will depend in large measure on the effort of the local people.

During the fiscal year the Docks completed three new berths, 1,500 feet in length with 200,000 square feet of covered, sprinkler-protected storage area. Like all general cargo berths here they have marginal tracks.

In addition, the State Docks put in a four-lane roadway to give better access to Dock areas.

Worship Service 7:30 p.m.
Prayer meeting Wednesday 6:00 p.m.

Our Sunday school superintendent Perry Burnett was made to rejoice Sunday when we reached our 100 mark again. Let's keep it that way. Come for Sunday school and stay for the preaching services.

Your reporter was absent Sunday night therefore I hadn't got a report on Training Union and the night services. Mr. H. I. Campbell the Training Union Director gives every one a special invitation to be present.

We still have several sick in our community. Mrs. Roy Lane is slowly improving from an attack of the flu.

Mrs. Moody was painfully injured in a fall last week and is confined to her home.

Mrs. Earl Cobb is home from the hospital and doing as well as can be expected.

Mr. C. F. Figg is in Carraway Methodist hospital where he underwent surgery last Thursday. The outcome of this operation is still pending. Please pray that his eye sight will be restored.

Mrs. James L. Hawkins (Zelda Ellison) sister of Mrs. Leter North-Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ray wishes Texas. Please pray for her recovery.

A good football year. I want to thank their friends who contributed to flowers for their uncle Tom Ray who was laid to rest at Mars Hill on December 31. They ask God's richest blessings on every one who helped the family in every way during their bereavement.

Jimmy Sullivan and Terry Lynn of Union Springs community attended church services with his mother Mrs. Edward Glass at Oak Grove last Sunday. We had several other visitors and welcome them back real soon.

Our regular 5th Sunday singing is coming up this month, we are expecting several special singers and especially you.

Don't forget church and Sunday school next Sunday.

CCHS Students Attend Speech Clinic

Eight Chilton County High School girls, accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Roper, Guidance Counselor, were guests of the Speech Club of Alabama College on Thursday afternoon, January 5. Shirley Campbell Joyce Lawrence, Julie Wade, Connie Baker, Patsy Baker, Lucy Barkley Sarah Chambers, and Judith Waites observed classes in speech therapy. Miss Vivian Rowe, Director of the Clinic, and Dr. Wright, head of the Speech Department, arranged for individual demonstrations of the techniques used in working with children with speech and hearing difficulties. During a coffee hour students from Montevallo High School joined the group, and a question period followed.

This visit was made for the purpose of familiarizing the young people with the functions of a speech therapist. They were told that this is a growing occupation and that there is a need for qualified personnel in this field.

Our sympathy goes out to the Hamilton family in the loss of their loved one, Mrs. Deale Hamilton. She lived to be 97 years old. Her daughters should be so thankful they had her as long as they did.

We were so glad to have all our visitors at both services Sunday and invite them back at any time. Don't forget our prayer services each Wednesday night. Come and bring someone with you. Anyone is always welcome, no matter what church you belong to.

Stover was challenging to all of us as he spoke on the subject, 'The Church and its Message.' Special music was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Davis.

A group from our church attended the Sunday school quarterly meeting at Thoraby on Monday night.

Thursday night, January 12, the men's brotherhood will have a special meeting with a chicken supper to follow. Bro. J. T. Tolar, pastor of the West End Baptist church will be the speaker. All the men and boys of this community are urged to be present.

SPECIAL—Beginning on January 23, we will have as outstanding privilege to have in our church Dr. Charles Mashburn, world traveler, lecturer, evangelist-teaching the Book of Acts and tracing the journey of the Apostle Paul. He will be showing slides of the routes of Paul's ministry as the countries took today. These pictures are in beautiful color, big and life like and

Awarded President's Medal For Saving Life

W. C. Wallace, Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation employee, was on January 4, 1961, awarded the National Safety Council President's Medal for his part in reviving a victim of suffocation, in April 1960.

The President's Medal award is granted only for successful resuscitation by approved manual methods from "any accidental cause that results in prolonged suspension of voluntary or natural breathing. It is the National Safety Council's only award for the saving of human life."

Wallace, of Transco's Compressor Station in Eunice, Louisiana, and two other employees were working with a contractor who had worked head first into a small tank last April with a flashlight and air hose to inspect its interior.

Wallace and the two other Transco men, Bernard Daire and Gardie

MsManus, waiter on the outside and talked to the service man as he worked. When at one point they could receive no response, the three men pulled him through the small opening by his feet and Wallace administered artificial respiration.

The victim had already become rigid and his hands had to be pried from the flashlight and air hose before the back pressure arm lift method of artificial respiration could be applied. It was the method taught the men by Transco's safety engineers.

The three goddesses of fate from Greek mythology appear on the face of the medal: Clotho, who spins the thread of life; Lachesis, who determines its length; and Atropos, who cuts the thread of life. The figure symbol of Safety stays the hand that would cut the thread.

Engraved on the reverse side of the medal are the names of the recipient and the person resuscitated and the date of the resuscitation.

E. Clyde McGraw, Transco's president, made the presentation in his office in Houston after the three men and their superintendent, A. E. Hamalainen, were flown in for the ceremony from Eunice.

ABUNDANT LIFE

How a Little Girl Who Was Turning to Stone Was Healed Through Faith

"Our little five-year-old daughter, Linda, was literally turning to stone. The doctors said she had a rare and fatal disease and that there was no way to keep her from dying," wrote a mother a few weeks ago.

Linda stopped growing in 1954," the mother continued. "Her height, weight and even the expression on her face stayed the same. Since this rare disease had stricken all her body at once, the specialist said she couldn't live more than 12 months."

The doctors said she would get more and more rigid. Her skin would become glossy. Her hands would set like claws, and when her heart could no longer pump blood through her hardened arteries, she would die of a heart attack.

"When Linda awoke in the mornings, her hands were set in a claw-like position. She had no feeling. She couldn't breathe through her nose. Her only nourishment was in liquid form because she couldn't swallow solid food."

"My husband and I had almost given up hope. Our daughter was dying a horrible death right before our eyes, and there was absolutely nothing we could do. We had tried medicine and everything at our disposal, and it seemed that nothing was doing any good."

"But Linda's faith in God never wavered. 'Don't worry, Mother,' she said. 'Jesus will make me well. Just don't try to hurry God.'"

"We had written to you, Mr. Roberts, and you assured us that you were praying. When we read your answering letter to Linda, she said, 'You know what? I feel God making me well all over! And she was right. Soon after this, for the first time in almost a year, her body became soft!'"

"When the doctor pronounced Linda completely well, he said to her, 'Don't ever let anyone tell you that it wasn't a miracle of God that made you well. Your healing was strictly a gift from God.'"

The age of miracles is not past. Who can explain how little Linda was healed? Not even the doctor knows. But he does know that she is well today!

God can meet your need, too, no matter how big or small it may be. Just use simple, child-like faith and believe that Christ will make you whole and give you abundant life.

When Linda trusted God, He worked a miracle and made her well. It can happen to you, too.

Rambler Announces Results of Progress Sharing Plan

DETROIT—Rambler's unique customer progress-sharing plan got off to a flying start in December, topping its first plateau and helping to set new all time sales records.

U. S. savings bonds in $25 denominations will be mailed, beginning Friday, to 34,324 customers who took delivery of Rambler cars in December, George Romney, president of American Motors Corporation announced today.

Romney said this carried the company over the first plateau of the progress-sharing plan which called for a 10 per cent increase in December over the same month a year ago.

The progress-sharing plan, announced December 15, calls for payment of bonds to Rambler and Metropolitan customers on a sliding scale related to Rambler sales increases in the four-month period ending March 31.

The scale range from a $25 bond if the sales increase is 10 per cent or above, to $125 in bonds if the increase is 50 per cent or above. The plan is both cumulative and retroactive, through the period.

Mailing of bonds to Rambler buyers is being handled by the National Bank of Detroit, largest of the U. S. Treasury Department's bond-issuing agents. The Rambler mailing is believed to be the largest single bond distribution yet made.

THINGS About Town
by Ben

You know Bro. Kimbrough got an eagle the other day at the Golf Course. No, not the kind that fly—the kind that golfers usually like about. Well Bro. Kimbrough isn't telling me fib cause he didn't tell us about it. Somebody else did. On a par-4 hole he shot a two, which as any fool can plainly see gives him an eagle. Plenty of golfers go through wishing they could get an eagle.

Got a call the other day from Lawrence Calfee. Haven't seen Lawrence in a long time but he said he was doing fine. He said he stayed in the hospital though more than he stayed out. Lawrence also told us to tell you he deeply appreciated the many kindnesses he and his wife and the children received during his sickness and thru the holidays. He said he very much appreciated your prayers and ask they be continued through the year. He said he especially thanked the West End Baptist Church for their kindness. He said to sign it, Lawrence and Bernice Calfee and children.

Old Cecil Ramsey is walking about town with a two-dollar haircut. Guess that, not out of the ordinary but Cecil got his hair cut. He went into a barber shop that charges only one-dollar and came out with a two-dollar haircut because Cecil had let his parking meter suffer from malnutrition from the lack of feeding. Anyway as we said, Cecil is walking around town with a two-dollar haircut.

A sculptor was finishing a statue of an enormous elephant. "What did you use for a model?" a man asked. "I didn't have one," he said. "Then how could get such a perfect likeness?" "Well, you see, I just chipped off the pieces that didn't look like an elephant."

John Ponder Lawrence says if this is retirement he don't want any. The other day he was painting a sign for the Big Four Hardware and it was up on the top of the building. The wind blowing that day said it was colder than a woman's bare feet. John like to freeze to death. We had to take him down every hour on the hour and pour hot coffee over him.

News comes from Ruby Ellison that her granddaughter is going to be all right. Ruby has been with them about a week and she says the operation was a success and they expect the baby to be alright. We wish them a lot of good luck and best wishes in the child's recovery.

Moatts Makes Move To New Location

THE Pinedale Gardens, owned and operated by Mr. Morris Moatts has moved to a new location in Clanton at the corner of Lay Dam Highway and Airport Road. It was previously located at his home on Pinedale Road. Mrs. Dex Cutright is now associated with Mr. Moatts and will assist him at the new location. Drop by and see their displays of cut flowers and trees.

otted plants as well as shrubs and The average American's weekly fare is eight pounds of milk and dairy products, 10 pounds of fruit and vegetables, four pounds of meat, seven eggs, one pound of fat, nearly two pounds of sugar and three pounds of cereal products. This means that the housewife hauls 100 pounds of food a year for every member of the family.

Prior to the use of DDT there were 13 species of insects, ticks and mites known to be resistant to insecticides. Now there are 137.

SUB-DIVISION OPENS SOON IN CLANTON

The Westhaven subdivision is opening here on Second Avenue North where the old W. L. Popwell property.

Decker Development Corporation of Tuscaloosa is opening the development and Mr. R. W. (Bob) Decker and Mr. Maney Neighbors of Tuscaloosa were here this week in regards the project.

A new home is constructed every two days by the new company when in operation and they claim to be the largest home builders in West Alabama.

You can drive out to the new development in a very few minutes and there will be salesman on the property to give you any information that you desire.

PEACHES RUN GAUNTLET WITH 920 HRS. TO DATE

According to C. C. Carlton, Supt. of the Chilton Area Horticulture Sub-Station north of Clanton reports this week that Chilton peaches now have 920 hours of below 45 degree temperatures, as of January 16th.

This compares favorably with other years and Mr. Carlton states that if the weather holds up "we're doing alright."

During the past five years, dormant hours have run as follows:

1960	828
1959	969
1958	735
1957	676

These figures represent dormant hours counted during the same period of time as this year's, that is, up until January 16th.

'Big John' Accepts Scholarship From Jacksonville State

Judge J. C. White Predicts--

1961 Will Mark Chilton's Most Progressive, Active Year

THE year of 1960 was most gracious to our County in many ways, but the year of 1961 promises to be far in advance of any year in history.

The building boom of so many new homes throughout the County, the start in construction of the new courthouse and jail, the new lunchroom and Home Economics buildings at Isabella, the new gymnasiums at Verbena, Thorsby and the Training School, the near completion of the giant Super-Highway crossing the County, the new Gulf States Paper Industry at Maplesville, and the many improvements made in our County road system has certainly made the year of 1960 look like Chilton County is on the move.

Some of the projects completed in 1960 were as follows:

	MILES	COST
1. The Posey Store Road	5.5	$100,446.81
2. The Thorsby-Pleasant Grove Road	6.5	147,626.58

TOTAL PAVED	23.3	$451,600.67
TOTAL GRADED	2.0	17,000.00

Now, never in the history of our County has so many costly and much needed projects been scheduled to be completed in any single year as are scheduled to be completed this year (1961). Some of them are:

1. Th New Courthouse and Jail	$275,000.00
2. Three New Gymnasiums, One Lunchroom and One Home Economics Building, Presently under construction (Approximately)	327,774.00

FLOOD CONTROL FOR CLANTON AREA

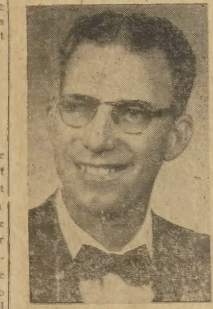

IN a letter this week to Rep. Armistead Selden, R. W. Love, Colonel, U. S. Corps of Engineers stated:

Dear Mr. Selden:

"Reference is made to your letter of 21 December 1960 in regard to the flood control project at Clanton, Alabama.

The project for the improvement of the Posey Bridge, Goose Pond and Walnut Creek channels in Clanton was authorized by the Chief of Engineers on 22 July 1960 under section 205 of the Flood Control Act of 1948 as amended by Public Law 685, Eighty-fourth Congress. At that time, funds sufficient for the preparation of plans and specifications were allotted. Planning for this project is underway. As soon as land requirements are fully determined, local interests will be requested to obtain rights-of-way and meet all other conditions of cooperation. It is anticipated that the work will be advertised to obtain bids before the end of this fiscal year. Additional funds necessary for construction will be requested at that time."

The 'Independent'--

HOORAY for the Lee County Bulletin! In a recent editorial they commented: "The political situation in our part of the country would be helped as much as anything else by Republicans being Republicans and Democrats being Democrats. That is self-professed, out-in-the-open, one or the other."

We, being a self-professed Democrat, do not like the state of things in some of our County government. The overlapping of different political parties and beliefs or, the mongrelization of those parties, it at a point to make them nearly indistinguishable, one from the other.

When you can't tell who your friends are, politically speaking, it is something indeed to determine who are your enemies. We for one, are very definitely in favor of registration by party affiliation. . . it would clear up all the muddle. . . and also put quite a number of "so-called" Democrats into a crack and out of the picture, as things stand today!

Those who rave and rant so much about having 'slave Democrats' as the Bulletin so ably describes it, are ten times worse in that they are unimpressed by political and party loyalty (or any other kind) and pretty much go as the wind blows.

In other words, they follow the line of least resistance along which the possibilities of personal gain are so abundant.

Being a staunch Democrat is no more being a 'slave' than is the so-called Independent, who votes the way the big-wigs suggest and who determines his party affiliation by the spoils to be picked up when all is said and done. And they call themselves "Independent"!

Parking Space On The Highway--

A SUGGESTION was made recently that when the new Inter-State Highway is completed -- which will by-pass Clanton -- the City make two-way parking on Highway 31 once again!

The suggestion even went so far as to assert that a petition would be distributed among the businessmen affected to see if this could not be accomplished.

Aside from the additional revenue from the parking meters, the idea should not be too attractive to the City Officials.

We will agree that traffic will be cut considerably when the new highway is opened up, but we do not think it will be down to the minimum which would be required to close up the main thoroughfare through the City.

We are a City and a County on the grow and cutting the streets down narrower to traffic is not our idea of growth and progress. It would be far better for the sidewalks to be cut in half and thus gain the needed space than to close off one of our most traveled traffic lanes. This too, is impractical and though it may not be a solution for the businessman seeking parking space in front of his establishment, neither is the first suggestion one of progress for the community. Before we bottle up the streets, it would be far more sensible to seek other solutions to help the businessman find ample parking space and thus satisfy both needs; primarily maintaining the progressive efforts and appearance of our community!

Crippled Children In Chilton--

IT is appalling to note that though Chilton County has well-above the average of children on register under the State Crippled Children Society program, that this County is well below average in giving to this most worthy cause.

In 1960 Chilton County had 267 children on register for services through the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults. The only two counties in the Central Alabama District (16 in all) with a greater number of beneficiaries were Dallas with 383 and Montgomery with 705. The big difference is, Chilton County is next to the bottom on the "giving" list and therefore receives much more from the Society than it puts into it.

Dallas County and Montgomery County are among the top donors in the district. That put our County of Chilton in the undesirable position of 'spooning' off of other counties in the Central Alabama group in order that our 267 needy children will receive necessary aid. We know for a fact, that the Alabama Society is not quibbling over our lack of interest in this cause; they are doing their job. Our own Mr. Doc Levine has given 25 years of service to this cause and he is the only one in the County of whom we can boast such service.

It is doubly appalling because of all the 'local' drives for aid, this, for the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults is the most 'local', far and above all the other charities, of its nature combined.

It is embarrassing to sit in a meeting of representatives of all the counties with the knowledge that the county you represent is not pulling its share of the total load.

If every citizen in Chilton County could see the good that this organization achieves, through the financial assistance of county donors, every citizen would want, most sincerely, to 'pull his share of the loaf'. It is evident that we need organization and education along these lines and some persons in the County, with the capable assistance of Mr. Levine, who is 'retiring from active duty' so to speak, are seeking new ways and means of setting our county straight in this program of rehabilitation and aid for our unfortunate children who are crippled and incapacitated in some way.

We, in Chilton County, literally receive 100% and more of the money which we donate to the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Something which you can say about few charities and something to consider the next time you give to a worthy charity. The money given at home, stays at home, where it most definitely and surely does much good.

We Have A Dateline, Too--

We have many contributors to our news columns each week from all over Chilton County, which is why we are proud of the standard "Your Community Newspaper" . . . because it's true.

We'd like to ask a favor if we may.

Several times recently we have received articles, which we are sure, are of much value to the reader, or parties involved, or they would not have taken time to send them. However, we do try to maintain a "dateline" so to speak and January 19, for instance, is a little late for us to be printing articles about Christmas Parties.

We appreciate the articles, but you can understand what our readers think of us when we are as late as that with news. They think we're way behind, when in reality, we just received the article.

If it is at all possible, let us know about happenings which concern you, immediately after they happen . . . or preferably before they happen . . . that's real news! Then we can run a follow-up on how the event came off.

Your cooperation will be appreciated and if you think the mail will not quite make our deadline of Tuesday p.m., call us on the telephone (32) and maybe we can work something out which will be suitable to all concerned.

We don't like to run month old 'news' because we don't feel our readers appreciate it!

Thanks ever so much!

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
 Congressman, Sixth District

Southern members of Congress who have been waging a fight to prevent the ouster of Rep. William Colmer (D. Miss.) from the House Rules Committee won a victory last week when Speaker Sam Rayburn announced he had abandoned plans to purge the veteran congressman. The battle to liberalize the Rules Committee was still very much alive however, with a show-down expected before the end of this week.

Rules Group Important--
 Before legislation reaches the House of Representatives for consideration, most major measures pass through the powerful Rule Committee. The ability of the committee's conservative coalition to block liberal legislation prompted moves to liberalize the committee's membership.

To make the committee more palatable to its opponents, a plan was formulated to replace Rep. William Colmer, the ranking member, with a liberal Democrat. Rep. Colmer's removal was justified as a purge for his support of an independent slate of candidates in the recent national election. As I pointed out last week, however, no purge was undertaken against Negro Rep. Adam Clayton Powell who openly campaigned for President Eisenhower in 1956 and who this year will assume the chairmanship of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Those of us who oppose any change in the make-up of the Rules Committee realize that the committee for many years has obstructed measures unacceptable to the South. Although anti-Southern legislation has been enacted in recent years in spite of the efforts of Southern Rules Committee members most impartial observers will agree that such legislation would have been more punitive had it not been for the present composition of the Rules Committee. The fact that the NAACP is among those groups urging a liberalization of the committee is an indication the NAACP is not satisfied with past action of the Rules Committee in connection with civil rights measures.

Support For South--
 An all-out effort to purge Rep. Colmer, which was almost a certainty at one time, has now collapsed. His retention on the committee means that a conservative member will remain second in rank to the chairman, Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia. Colmer's removal would have placed an ardent advocate of civil rights legislation in a position to assume the committee chairmanship in the event of the retirement of the 77-year-old chairman.

Membership Increase--
 Speaker Rayburn has now announced that an effort will be made to add two Democrats and one Republican to the committee, increasing its membership from twelve to fifteen. This proposal to pack the committee will also run into Southern opposition but Speaker Rayburn has indicated he has the votes necessary for adoption. A Democratic Caucus has been called for Wednesday to consider increasing the committee membership and a House vote on the proposal will probably follow on Thursday.

Alabama Politics--
THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL
 BY CARL GOGGINS

Since Atty. Gen. McDonald Gallion's interpretation of the Patterson administration small loan bill a number of legislators are presently admitting they didn't know what the bill said when it passed during the last session and further stated the measure was "misrepresented" to them by its author.

One legislator went so far as to say "the only member of the legislature who claimed to have understood the bill was the Governor's House whip, Morgan Rep. Bob Gilchrist, and that he was unable to explain it to anyone satisfactorily. And sources close to Gallion's office reported.

"The bill is confusing and may have to have legislative clarification during the next session." Some of the lawmakers claimed, "If Gilchrist has to wait certain phases of his small loan bill before both Houses again--then he might find the dancing right rough."

However, in a recent daily newspaper article, Gilchrist insisted the legislators did understand the bill and that the attorney general's ruling was contrary to legislative intent.

Then too, this writer was informed at a Mental Health Assn. meeting in Tuscaloosa recently it was that group's intention to draw up legislation which would levy a 33,000th of one percent tax on bank debts, exclusive of all government checks. The proposal would place all bookkeeping and collecting on the banks and was termed "a very new and novel tax."

Talk at a Solicitors meeting, also held in Tuscaloosa, had it Gov. John has asked the administration's Director of Conservation, Bill Younger, to take the Middle District, Southern Division, U. S. District Attorney's position now held by Hartwell Davis. The informant added Younger had agreed to accept.

Lauderdale Sen. Bert Halmot told this scribe the other day he has interested in running for a statewide office, but wouldn't say which one. Some folks feel he will go for the Governor's chair, while others are sure he plans to run for Lt. Gov.

And if he chooses to get into the Lt. Gov. chase, big talk has it that his competition, thus far, is Congressmen Bob Kendall and former Tuscaloosa Sen. E. W. Skidmore who ran second in that race last time, and possibly many others.

The patient whom the physician has been treating for asthma could also be the victim of another disease that needs treating--alcoholism. Many alcoholics are under medical care for other reasons than drinking. The physician may suspect excessive drinking even though he has not discussed this problem with his patient.

Individuals who are alcoholics often have no one to whom they can talk, so one who will take the time to understand their discomforts and miseries. It is in this situation that the family doctor can play an important role. The general public is likely to picture an alcoholic as one who has lost all control or as a derelict of the skid-row type. As a matter of fact, scarcely three per cent of alcoholics fall into this category. The great majority of people who become alcoholics are patients whom the family doctor already knows.

The physician's suspicions should be aroused when a patient begins to use alcohol not as a drug to produce definite effects. A history of excessive drinking over a period of time which has caused an adverse reaction in the patient or his family and others in his environments, can be considered the problem of alcoholism. If there is a consistent adverse effect with drinking, the physician should caution his patient, just as he would with any other illness which is suspected when early unconfirmed signs are noted. The physician can help his patient gain insight into his problems and help him to recognize where his conflicts lie.

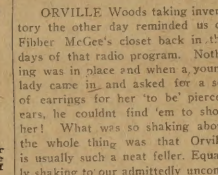

One of the greatest contributions the family doctor can make to such a patient is to listen as he airs his troubles. Full discussion with members of the family is also important so they will cooperate in understanding the patient, not as a weak or willful person but as one who is ill and needs help.

ONE fellow said the other day when we remarked that the peaches were getting 24 hours of dormancy every day, that "the weather is good for the peaches; better than for the cattle." Obviously this was a cattman talking, and he had every right to believe as he did. However, we know a lot of 'peachers' in the County who might take a different outlook on the situation. Those old Elbertas and Dixie Reds need lots of rest before their busy season comes spring and summer. Tell you one thing though, we get peaches and honestly desire local industry, the move by a few individuals to acquire this much-needed 'shot-in-the-arm' for our economy will be thwarted. Nothing of this nature was ever accomplished over and above the will and desire of the people represented. When we set our sites on industry, as a whole, we will get industry and it will be energetic industry with opportunities for every citizen and businessman in Chilton County! We cannot ride the train of unconcern and 'let-John-do-it' without paying the fare and the fare in this case is the lack of industrial development for our community! A pretty stiff price to pay for a one-way ride on a road that holds our County back in its efforts to come up and out into the world of economic progress.

PEOPLE kept coming in and asking us for 'black cardboard' so by jove we finally found out about it from our paper salesman and can now get it for you, in any quantity you desire. We presently have no need for black cardboard and we'll bet a Chilton County planing mill to a Civic Club yearbook that we went find one person in the next six months with a need for it either. Oh well, just wait! Hello--we!

ORVILLE Woods taking inventory the other day reminded us of Fibber McGee's closet back in the days of that radio program. Nothing was in place and when a young lady came in and asked for a set of earrings for her to be pierced ears, he couldn't find 'em to show her! What was so shaking about the whole thing was that Orville is usually such a neat fellow. Equally shaking to our admittedly uncommon taste was the fact that there was a young lady whose highest ambition at that particular moment apparently was to get holes poked

FRED Russell, sports writer, who does feature stories for The Saturday Evening Post, and the only sports editor I know who was ever made a member of the firm and director on the publication, is Vice President of The Nashville Banner. Fred also appears before Quarterback Clubs over the country as principal speaker. I heard a new one from him recently and also one that dates back to when the century warranted teen-age classification.

Possibly it would be better to unloose Russell's oldie but goodie "Way back yonder when Bill Fincher was a one-eyed tackle for Georgia Tech, he played with his glass eye in, and one afternoon in the muck and mire as the Yellow Jackets played in the rain, Bill was shaken up considerably in taking his opposite tackle out of the play. As a result the glass eye was knocked out of its socket. Then, upon lining up for the next play and facing his adversary, Fincher gazed at him with his one good eye. He then noted the synthetic peeper in the mud, reached down, picked it up and placed it in the empty socket. Whereupon the opposing tackle threw up his hands in horror and yelled to the bench: "I can't knock against this guy, Coach. I'll knock him in his eye, but he stuck it back in his eye and is ready for the next scrimmage!"

Freddy's new one was about Combie China. Two great heroes of Chinamen had been placed on one side of a mountain and put to digging a tunnel. The head man explained to a stranger that the great crews of diggers would meet half way under the mountain, thus completing the tunnel. "But, what if they don't meet?" demanded the stranger. That's question be okay also," explained the Generalissimo. "Then, we'll have two tunnels!"

into her ears. Heck, we've had holes in our ears for night now 27 years now and we didn't know it was unusual.

THANKS to our wonderful little family, we enjoyed one of the happiest birthdays this past Sunday in our history of happy birthdays. They treated us like true royalty and that would make any man's birthday a happy one. From the Missus/right down to the one we call Mark, they all treated us with kindness and respect and love. We could say "we ain't used to a kind of treatment" but we can honestly and happily proclaim that they don't treat us any differently all throughout the year. A fact, which understandably makes us grateful for the opportunity of being a father to them and humble for the love and devotion which we all bask in at our house! Such love is sustenance to the spirit and heart just as bread is to the body. And we must say, we don't understand why but we are blessed with both.

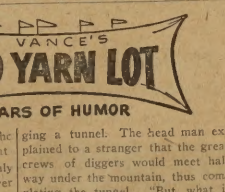

SOMEBODY said something about a robin red-breast was the sign of something! We wish we knew what sign it was, because we are more ready for a change in the weather. What you don't know can hurt you. . . said somebody else! Anyway, we just saw a robin red-breast; a couple of 'em as a matter of fact! Now, what does that mean? It means they understand about the birds, friend; and were pretty certain they knew something about the bees!

PROGRESS has been simply defined as "getting somewhere!" It isn't a matter of choice, but if that is true, we simply aren't very progressive. We prefer progress but we're not too active in it; like we said, not a matter of choice, but ability. Guess that sort of makes us a 'conservative-unfortunate-progressive'!

The pangs of the holiday rush season are subsiding and most everything is back to the normal routine. Even the local business establishments are coming to the realization that holiday buying is not continuing their business on through the year and they are using "seeking effective advertising to attract buyers to their stores once again. When it comes to business and keeping trade at home, our "proverb" holds true all the way: "If you don't tell them, how will they know?" We might add another thought to that: "If you don't tell them, . . . somebody else will!"

SEE you down at the store folks!

WE are the only 'multi-billionaire in the world, who doesn't have to pay most of it out in taxes!

But rather seek ye the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you. --(SL Luke 12:31)

Those who love God with all their hearts and souls, who surrender their will to His and trust Him completely, will find that all their just and good needs are met abundantly. There is always more at the Point than we can absorb.

Washable silk becomes weak in water, so it should not be rubbed, twisted, or wrung when wet.

The Individual--
 Is he or isn't he?

FROM recent close observation, it seems that our society today is requiring too much of a "normal attitude" . . . people and individual characteristics and "God-given" talents are being shoved to the rear.

It is more a trend than a reality now, but it is well worth observing. For instance, the way people have 'progressed' in our day and time, ability is a word which is used less and less because its application is needed less and less. Continued along the lines now being traveled ability will one day be an 'extinct' word in our dictionaries.

The trouble with that is, ability is or should be, one of the most important considerations in a society which has so much to offer to the rest of civilization and the world.

NO JOKE!--
 Too many jobs today require too much "presence" and not enough "know how" and it is deteriorating to our whole system of living. We have always used the term "you don't get something for nothing" truth in that statement? Why jokingly, but why shouldn't there be should so many of us appear to get something for nothing just because they know the right people or because they get on the gravy train.

The Birth Of Inflation--
 The old saying still holds true in our country and those who think they are getting something for nothing (they know who they are) are only fooling one another. In the final analysis they lose. . . as we all do, because that's the thing from which inflation and higher prices are born.

This same attitude of conforming to the normal is slopping over into every facet of our living today, until we are reaching the point where the hard working man or woman is an 'idiot' and those who think individually are 'ridiculous'. That is not a healthy state for any society and at the rate we are traveling toward this unfortunate situation, in a few years our entire outlook on values will be changed and we will have no perspective for the things which surround us and rule our living.

Maze of Conformity--
 We will not accept the accepted point of view that the thing to do is to 'be like everybody else'. If this were such a desirable thing we would have never had any great men or women and progress, as we know it today, would be lost in the maze of conformity.

You find this attitude in politics, in business, in public life and private life; you find it in every level of society and you find it in nearly every classroom. Individuality has become a dirty word and the theme is, it seems, "don't be different, be yourself, but don't be different."

God made us all different; every race of people and every individual of every race of people. If he had intended us all to act alike and perform alike, he would have made us all to look and think alike.

Degrading, Nauseating--
 There is definitely a need for collective thinking and acting, but only after the individual has thought it out for himself. We are strongly against the accepted form of "it's all laid out for you if you have a vote to give." It's not only degrading to our society and our people, but it is degrading and nauseating as well!

Differences of opinion has always made the good changes in our society as well as some of the bad. But, there would be so change at all without difference of opinion and the only way to gain an intelligent difference of opinion is to be educated to the points and ideas in question.

There Is No 'Neutral'--
 Ned ideas are the raw material for progress in this world and the smothering of the individual in a mass of 'normalcy' is the same as blowing up the world. The same thing holds true of progress that holds true of thinking: "If you're not for us, you're against us." There's no such thing as 'neutral'. If we aren't progressing, in our thoughts and ideas, in our ideals and values, then we are surely falling behind and that is a situation for which the world was not intended!

We cannot gain world peace without individualism and ironically that is what creates dissension in the world. But as we said, before it is dissension and lack of knowledge of the situations at hand and the cause the continuation of unrest and confusion: "It is certainly not individual thought and expression

Donations to the 'New March of Dimes' Will Help Prevent Crippling Diseases

Millions of families throughout the United States this month have received March of Dimes "mailers."

If the millions on the receiving end of this gigantic mail operation coast-to-coast and in Hawaii and Alaska have not already done so, now is the time to return the familiar envelope with a donation to the county March of Dimes chapter, local leaders, urged this week. The world's largest voluntary health organization is seeking to prevent crippling diseases, with its sights set at birth defects and arthritis and at continued work in polio.

These mailers, which reproduce the campaign theme, "Prevent Crippling Diseases—Please Say Yes to the New March of Dimes," were addressed in great part by selfless volunteers who, by combing through telephone and other directories, were able to "spot" just about every family in their county. Addresses of new homes, not included in telephone books, were obtained by these volunteers from real estate boards, tax lists, from other official records, and from chambers of commerce.

Hopefully, each of the 44 million families in the United States will have an opportunity to help prevent crippling diseases by contributing to the March of Dimes between now and Jan. 31.

The blue mailer contains an envelope with a pocket for a March of Dimes contribution by check or cash and with space for the donor's name and address. A brief message addressed to "Dear Neighbor" explains the expanded program of The National Foundation, and elsewhere on the mailer a few health figures are given, for example, that birth defects cripple one out of every 16 babies in the United States; that arthritis and rheumatism afflict 11 million Americans; and that polio can still strike down any one of more than 85 million unvaccinated persons in the country.

County chapter officials say

"Mailers, mailers everywhere!" says Linda Bress, of Columbus, Ohio, 1961 March of Dimes National Poster Child, as the "models" one of the contribution envelopes. Mailers are to be returned this month to local chapters of The National Foundation to support expanded health program in birth defects and arthritis, and continued work in polio. Linda is recovering from birth defects of an open spine and excess fluid on the brain.

that they "hope our mailer message brings speedy replies in the form of cash, money orders, and checks because March of Dimes contributions

A record $33,100,000 was spent last year by Southern Bell Telephone Company to expand its plants here and in the firm's 92 other Alabama exchanges, according to a joint year-end progress report by the utility's local and state officials. The expenditure exceeded 1959's by more than $1,200,000 to become the telephone company's largest annual outlay for expansion in its history in this state.

W. R. Waters, Southern Bell's local manager, said the multi-million dollar expenditure was effected to meet telephone service needs in Clanton and throughout Alabama. Locally, the expansion program enabled the company to add facilities to serve some 200 more telephone at year's end than at the beginning. The gain raised the total to 3794 now in service.

Frank Newton, vice-president and general manager of the utility in Alabama, said the increase in the number of telephones during the year was general throughout the state.

At the end of 1959, the total for the company's 93 exchanges was 742,507; today it is estimated at 746,531. With more telephones in service, the demand for long distance service increased. Company operators handled approximately 7.1 percent more toll calls last year than in 1959.

To expand and maintain its telephone plant in Alabama (estimated at $266,200.00 as of December 31) and to render day-by-day service Southern Bell employed an average of 6756 people during the year. Total estimated payroll for the period was $3,149,955, an increase of $1,735,000 over the total for 1959. The record annual expenditure was based on the expectancy that the company will be allowed to earn a reasonable return on its investment in the state, Mr. Newton said.

Local Manager, W. R. Waters said among the major telephone expansion projects begun or completed in Montgomery during the year included the new East Montgomery Exchange and an addition to the downtown central office to provide space for equipment needed to introduce customer long distance dialing in 1962.

Outstanding in Southern Bell's service expansion elsewhere in the state was the installation of facilities in Athens and Birmingham that makes it possible for subscribers to dial many of their long distance calls direct.

Continued extension of telephone service into new areas and expansion of facilities throughout Birmingham, Bessemer, Montgomery and Mobile necessitated additional central office space. Dial service was introduced in Athens and Eufula. New buildings were built or existing ones enlarged to meet the needs.

Mr. Newton said the upward trend in expenditure by Southern Bell for new facilities and improvements to satisfy telephone service needs reflects the vigor of Alabama's expanding economy. He emphasized the fact, however that

Selden Introduces Bill To Increase Retirees Earnings

REP. Armistead Selden has introduced in Congress a bill that will increase to $1800 annually the amount of outside income an individual may earn while drawing social security benefits.

Under present law, retirees must not receive more than $1350 a year from employment if they are to remain eligible for payments from the Social Security Administration. If they do not work, however, they are permitted and unlimited income from dividends, interest or other sources, without forfeiting any old-age benefits.

"An increase at this time in the amount that retirees can earn over and above their social security benefits is justified," Congressman Selden said, "by the constantly rising cost of living."

Getting Ready For Inauguration Day
January 20th

5406 Ferndale Street
Springfield, Virginia
January 13, 1961

The Editor
Chilton County News
Clanton, Alabama
Dear Sir:

For
take 666

Years ago before I married I wrote the Jensen social news for your paper.

Recently I have wondered if a column written about the Washington scene view from the suburbs would be of interest to your readers.

I am enclosing some sidelights about the inaugural festivities which I've gleaned from scanning three Washington dailies. If you think the material has reader appeal I'll be glad for it to be used as I enjoy writing. If you feel it does not hesitate to say so. I know Alabama and Virginia are miles apart.

I thought you might enjoy the Star's souvenir edition of the inaugural and I am having the set of three papers mailed to you.

If you do desire to print the enclosed in the Jensen news or elsewhere I could send you other material in a like vein when the children are well etc.

My husband is now stationed at the Pentagon and we live in Springfield about ten miles from the District.

Sincerely yours,

Paralee Henson Bethany
Mrs. Charles M. Bethany
The Washington Scene Viewed From The Suburbs

With the inauguration only seven days away Washington is being prepared for the great day. Inaugural stands are being rushed to completion in the Court of the New Frontier. Army equipment is on a stand-by basis if needed for snow removal. Caterers are trying to add one new party after another to their schedules. The decorator is ready to move into the great ballrooms with bolts of red and blue satin.

The Inaugural Housing Committee is trying to find new ways to say no. Hotel rooms are sold out. Some rooms are available in motels and in private homes. Inaugural officials are turning down offers ranging from $1,000 to $10,000 for single boxes at the Inaugural Balls where boxes seating eight have long been sold out at $320 each.

The American Bakery and Confectionary Workers Union is readying 5,617 pounds of cake. The 2½ tons of ingredients include 500 lbs. of butter, 500 lbs. of sugar, 6000 lbs. of flour and 335 dozen eggs. The cake on display at the Army will be crowned by a three-foot long model of the White House.

In the proper place, in front of the White House, doing its work without injury to the cake will be a real spouting fountain. The cakes will be given to charity. They will be baked in New York and shipped to Washington by air. The estimated cost of $10,000 includes transportation costs. It is to be noted the cakes will be baked by union men. The baker, originally chosen to create the cakes withdrew rather than "embarrass the president-elect" when his non-union shop was criticized.

Fashion editors can't wait for Mrs. Kennedy's ball gown to be unveiled. Ladies, to be presented at the balls, may be doing some last minute shopping. They are being asked not to wear gowns that will clash in color with that of the first lady. Since no one but Mrs. Johnson will know until the last minute the color of Mrs. Kennedy's gown, the emerald green gown some lady plans to wear may not do. It is removed the first lady's gown is white. If this is so, the ladies can breathe a single sigh of relief. Meanwhile glove counters over the city are doing a brisk business—the 16 button kid glove being the only one acceptable.

Men's clothing stores are glad the president-elect indicated he would wear a silk topper several weeks ago. The stores had had standby orders for either topplers or hombergers at their suppliers. Some law-makers regret the topper decision. They say elections have been lost in some states because constituents saw their representatives in top hats.

Dramatic Suspense

A suspenseful Cinemascope production called the "Crack in the Mirror" will be featured at the Clanton Drive-In Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, January 31st and February 1st and stars Bradford Dillman and Juliette Greco, pictured above.

Municipalities Take Advantage Of P.I.D.B.

Half of the 258 incorporated cities and towns of over 500 inhabitants have received planning assistance from the State of Alabama, Russell B. Johnson, manager of the City Planning Division of the State Planning and Industrial Development Board, said today. Sixty cities are at present taking advantage of this service of the State Board. Thirty-six of these also receive Federal aid through the State. The other twenty-four cities are receiving continuing service through consultation contracts with the State. Johnson stated that the chief function of the City Planning Division is to aid municipalities in helping themselves by providing technical assistance in the city planning field. The main objective is the formulation, adoption and use of a comprehensive general plan for the community. As important as the plan itself is the continuous implementation of the plan by the local municipalities.

Since city planning is a highly specialized field, it involves substantial cost, both in effort and monetary funds. State Planning and Industrial Development Board assistance is available to any municipality in the state under 50,000 population through contractual agreements between the City and the State.

100 YEARS AGO!

One hundred years ago this month on January 4, 1861, Governor A. B. Moore of Alabama ordered state troops to seize Ft. Gains and Ft. Morgan at the mouth of Mobile Bay to prevent their reinforcement by U. S. troops. The Alabama troops also seized the United States Arsenal at Mt. Vernon.

Three days later, January 7, 1861 the Alabama Secession Convention assembled in Montgomery. Each Alabama county sent delegates, totaling 100, with those in favor of secession in the majority from the start.

Units are arriving every day for the inaugural parade. A 150 pound mountain lion flew from Nevada by jet to join a sheriff's posse. This group gained international fame in 1952 when one of the members, Jesse James, shot down the inaugural parade. When a hotel wouldn't accept the mountain lion he was offered quarters at the zoo.

The Army has issued an 84 page booklet titled General Order No. 1 Inaugural Parade, which contains most of the details involved in the participation of the parade. It will be a complete closed circuit television net along with the parade route. About 15,000 military will be marching. Military installation around Washington have made arrangements to billet and feed 6700 personnel from other stations.

The Navy is repainting a PT boat similar to one commanded by president-elect Kennedy during World War II. The boat will be placed on "floats" to be moved along the parade route. Meanwhile suburban residents are making plans to stay home and watch the inaugural festivities on television. The "natives" wouldn't think of bucking the weather, the traffic, and the crowd to go into D. C. That, they say is for the tourists.

The children and I will have to consider ourselves "tourists"!

We can't be this near history in the making without attempting to be on the scene. We may regret the attempt as we do not have seats purchased in the stands. Ticket cost from $3 to $15 and the weather being what it is, we thought their purchase too risky. If you live in the suburbs and it snows you can't get to D. C. If the inaugural weather cooperates (it is credited with killing one president) we will go in by bus at day break. We will then try to find a curb to stand on.

We hope we won't have to tell our grandchildren the only thing we saw on inauguration day in 1961 was the back of a fellow American. At least we can say we were in the District, although no doubt we would be more comfortable at home.

TB Campaign Leaders Ask For
'Extra Push'

"Christmas is over, but there's a bigger need than ever for Chilton County to help push the 1960 Christmas Seal Campaign over the top," Christmas Seal Chairman Mrs. R. M. Tucker said today.

The Chairman called on citizens to answer the plea for an "extra push" now that the hustle and bustle of Christmas is past. In fact, said the chairman, "Contributions are needed and appreciated just as much now as before Christmas."

To date $1023.94 has been contributed toward a county goal of $1325.00 needed to finance a year round TB control program. Reminders, not "nuns" have been sent to all those who have not yet responded to this year's appeal. We sincerely urge all those who received reminders to take a minute out and consider how much the continued health, happiness and productivity of himself and his family mean to him. For those afflicted with TB, it's quite a different story. TB leaves its mark on the health, happiness and productivity of each of its victims.

"When you stop to think of the 10,859 sufferers of TB in Alabama today and in Chilton County there are 73 known cases of TB. The local Health Dept., has given 153 Tuberculosis tests, made 536 sputum examinations, 430 chest x-rays, checked with 177 patients at the local clinic and the nurses from the local Health Dept., have visited 145 patients in their homes.

Therefore it makes all of us want to give an extra push to help them. With this spirit of giving, contributions are more meaningful."

"We sincerely hope to reach our goal and thus broaden our program of TB protection in Chilton County. More contributions mean much more safety from TB for very home every family in the county," the Chairman concluded.

Just check with your local Health

Dept. to see just what is being done to remove the, Mark of TB from your county!

How to save money
before you get it

It's easy to spend money when it's in your pocket. And often you spend it for things you don't need. But thousands of Americans have found a way to save money before they get it: U. S. Savings Bonds, on the Payroll Savings Plan. All you do is ask your company to set aside a specific amount from each paycheck. From that moment on it's automatic, and you get the Bonds as they're paid for.

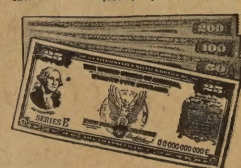

There's no easier way to save for the things you want. Why not join the Payroll Savings Plan today?

Some more advantages you might think about

You save more than money. You help save the peace. Every Bond you buy helps keep our Nation and our Nation's economy strong.

Here's how you can reach your savings goal with U. S. Savings Bonds in just 7 years, 9 months

If you want about $2,500 $5,000 $10,000 each week save $5.45 $10.85 $21.70

You now get 3½% interest, to maturity. This new rate, which went into effect June 1, 1959, makes your Bond money grow faster. Series E Bonds now mature 14 months earlier than before—in just 7 years, 9 months. Bonds bought before June 1, 1959 earn more, too—an extra ½% from then to maturity.

You can get your money, with interest, any time you want it. Bonds are a ready cash reserve, although it pays to keep them.

Your money is guaranteed by the U. S. Government. Bonds are an absolutely riskless investment. The Government promises you that the cash value of your Bond will not drop—it can only grow.

Your money can't be lost or stolen. The Treasury will replace your Bonds, free, if anything happens to them.

In Chilton Retail Sales Below Average In Year Just Past

Retail sales statewide this past October were some four percent higher than October, 1959. But for the third straight month, they declined to a new low for 1960.

The Bureau of Business Research at the University of Alabama reports the shift in its month publication Retail Trade index on this week (January 2).

Chilton County sales at retail in October showed a 0.1 percent hike from September while the October 1959 to October 1960 shift was an increase of 12.5 percent for the County.

A sharp decline in building, especially residential building, is probably responsible for a very poor showing by hardware and lumber concerns over this 10 month interval. Food stores, gasoline service stations, and drug stores have made particularly good showings for the first 10 month of 1960 as compared with the same period a year earlier. Although retail concerns as a whole increased sales from September to October, this increase was less than might have been expected on the basis of past September to October increases.

Sales of concerns dealing in apparel and automotive equipment recorded the greatest September to October increases, with the introduction of new model automobiles undoubtedly having a stimulating effect on the sales of automotive concerns. Other concerns show a mixture of gains and losses in sales, with no important movements in either direction.

Compared with sales in October a year ago, retailers sales in October 1960 were higher by approximately 4 percent, 3 percent less than the average year-to-year increase in 1960. Sales of gasoline service stations and food concerns continued to show large year-to-year increments, as they have done for most of this year.

Nearly 1500 Pounds Of Food For Average Person in '60

Wondering where those excess pounds are coming from? Here are some of the figures that may shed some light on the problem.

If you ate as much as the average person in 1960, you ate 1,499 pounds of food. And if your pattern of food intake was also average, you should have consumed 414 pounds of dairy products, 409 pounds of fruits and vegetables plus 109 pounds of potatoes, 178 pounds of meat and fish, 146 pounds of flour and cereal products, 108 pounds of sugar and syrup, 67 pounds of fats and oils, 41 pounds of eggs and 17 pounds of coffee, tea, and cocoa.

In 1961 consumption of food per person and average retail food price will remain about the same, says Dorothy Overby, Auburn Extension consumer education specialist. However, she adds, you'll probably eat more beef, veal, and poultry this year, and perhaps less pork and fewer eggs.

Social Security Reporting Time Once Again!

It's social security reporting time again for employers whose trades and businesses come under the social security law.

By the end of January, covered employers must file a quarterly report and pay the social security taxes due on wages paid to their employees during the months of October, November and December.

Cecil L. Simpson, manager of the Birmingham district social security office urges employers to be certain to show the correct social security number of their employees of these reports.

The social security account number Simpson says identifies the old age survivors, and disability insurance account of the individual worker. Since social security payments are based on his earnings the omission of his social security number from one of these reports means that he doesn't get credit for all of his earnings. It can also mean reduced payments or none at all when the time comes for him and his dependents to claim them. Workers should see that their employers have their correct social security numbers.

SNUG AS A BUG?

What could be cozier than these cold winter nights than to curl up with a good book with a handy extension phone within reach? And, the lovely little Princess is a favorite for bedrooms—so small it fits neatly on bedside tables. Pretty and colorful, it also has a night light for greater convenience. And say, extensions in other rooms too make life easier all year 'round. Wall phone in the kitchen, chair-side extension in the family room—pretty handy for quick, cheery chats and carrying on business, too. Our telephone business office or installer-repairmen will give you the details for ordering.

A SURVEY brought out the startling information that the average man, in his lifetime, spends 8,760 hours telephoning—the equivalent of one full year. It didn't mention how much time was spent in getting to the telephone when it rings, but if it did, we're sure it would persuade telephone users to have phones in convenient locations in their homes and places of work.

FOLKS and THINGS About Town by Ben

Herbert Dennis is among the workers now. He has gone into the insurance business for himself and will have offices down on 7th St. Looks like an insurance salesman now.

Dave Norman is in trouble. He got in a shipment of nails this week and in one of the kegs all the heads of the nails were on the wrong end, he said.

Man it's cold outside! We got fleeces hanging all over the place at home. The weatherman says it's going to get colder tonight but we think this another time he is dead wrong. Personally speaking we just can't get no colder.

The State Selective Service Director has sent out his call for another group of men to go to the service. Some time there ain't anybody going to hear him and then there will be heck to pay. Anyway for the month of February the old men and we want him old Chilton County to furnish three of them—at any price unless you are one of the three that has to go.

Sorry to hear that Don Sumrall lost his home. He had a beautiful place and everything was lost in the fire. The family was away and everything but the clothes on their back was lost.

Congratulations to Herbert Dennis in his new venture and we hope he makes good in the insurance business. Young men like Herbert are few and we need him in the business life of Clanton. We wish him all the luck in the world.

Marion Wood has a nice place down in South Clanton. In fact, it's about the best dwelling place in town. Those salted peanuts can starve you to death. We were down there taking pictures and if it hadn't been for dreaming of those goodies we'd have froze to death.

Two fellows were out on the town a Saturday night and they really tied one on. When they woke up the next morning in their rooms they each had black eyes, broken teeth, torn clothes and heads that felt awful. One called the other on the phone and asked what had happened. It so happened that the other fellow didn't remember what happened so they decided they would meet and ask the bartender what had taken place the night before. As they walked in the door the bartender looked up and with a warm smile said: "Well, I see you two decided to make up."

Car Thief Brings Havoc Before Capture Afoot

THORSBY, Ala., Jan. 21—Thorsby police ran down an accused automobile thief on foot Friday night after a wild highway pursuit in which six cars were wrecked.

Eleven persons were hospitalized in the accidents.

Police Officer Richard Bush led the force that went into the woods after a roadblock set up by Bush stopped a car reported stolen near Tuscaloosa.

A youth identified as Lee Ashens 19, of Anniston, was lodged in the Bibb County jail in Centreville after his capture ended a 1 1/2 mile foot race.

Highway Patrol Sgt. Ernest Peters said the chase began when a car reported stolen from a Tuscaloosa parking lot was seen in Duncannon, A. D. Wheat, a patrol radio operator alerted Centreville police who attempted to stop the car. When Chief James Lawrence and Willie James A. Mitchell in another saw the stolen vehicle they gave chase on the U. S. 82 bypass.

Traffic was heavy and both police cars were wrecked in collisions involving four other vehicles. A sheriff's car which gave chase fell out because of engine trouble.

When the fleeing car was halted by the Thorsby roadblock, the young driver leaped out and fled into the woods along the road, only to be run down on foot.

Mark Your Calendar! The Chilton County Hospital and Nursing Home Auxiliary will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday, February 14th in the Dining Room of the Nursing Home, at 9 a.m.

Special Announcement!

We have several important projects to discuss Old and New. Be there, won't you?

Thank You!

BEARD GOING. ANYONE?

Hudson Wins 'Wool' Wager; Whiskers Fly!

SHADES of Shakespeare and Abraham Lincoln, with Hercules thrown in for good measure! Leland Hudson and Bob Sewell had on some kind of wager over a game of bowling and the winner (Hudson) got to shave off the beard of the loser (Sewell). You will note that the 'Barber of Seville' here is not using a straight razor and for good reason... he ain't no barber! If you think Bob looks relaxed, you're right... he's scared stiff! New Stamp Machine at local P.O.

HERE you see Clanton Postmaster Russell Subley assisting Dr. C. O. Lawrence in the operation of the new stamp machine at the Clanton Post Office. For years the employees and the public have been hampered by 'stamp buying' at the windows at the Post Office and it is hoped that this new facility will relieve that situation a great deal. A new version of the one-armed bandit, only this way you win very time... we think! (News photo by SCOTT)

Methodists To Hear Capt. Bondoc Sunday

Captain Enrique O. Bondoc of the Philippine Air Force will speak at the evening service at the First Methodist church of Clanton this Sunday, January 29, 8:30 p.m.

Captain Bondoc was born of Filipino parents in the City of Manila, Capital of the Philippines. Later his family moved to Los Banos, Laguna Province, a town famous for its Hot Springs and site of the State University's College of Agriculture. During his High School days, he was a member of the Philippine National Youth Council. During the time of the Japanese occupation, Captain Bondoc studied in the University during the day and was part of the Underground resistance by night. He spent time at about the time his situation was untenable, the American Liberation forces arrived.

In December 1949 he was commissioned 2nd Lieutenant. During 1954, he had instrument pilot training at Moody Air Force Base, Georgia. He later served in Japan as the Officers charged with the responsibility for quality control inspection, test flights, and final acceptance of all training aircraft.

A positive sign of progress for our community is the growth of our banks over the past year. Deposits have increased considerably and when you start measuring economics, that's a pretty good yardstick!

CONGRATULATIONS to Mr. Acie Mims on his first official meeting as a member of the Board of Revenue and Control. Chilton's future prosperity and growth is largely dependent on the harmonious actions of the Board and Mr. Mims is a willing young man who can do much for the County in his new official capacity.

MR. E. S. Monroe, who is chairman of the March of Dimes Drive in Chilton County this year is having a time recruiting workers for this most worthy cause. If you can help, in any way, he would appreciate your contacting him we are sure and it is in the interest of the betterment of mankind. What better endeavor is there?

Another Step--

ANOTHER step in the right direction for Chilton County is the completion of the new Post Office at Jemison. According to Mrs. Dezzie Littlejohn, Postmaster at Jemison, her new building is completed and they moved into it on January 16th. It is located on Highway 31 and is equipped with new facilities throughout. Charles Burnett, local contractor, constructed the building for the U. S. Postal Department.

Every Chilton County citizen, especially those at Jemison, will agree that this was a much needed and welcome addition to the community. This new structure will not only serve the people better, but will remind one and all that Chilton County is growing and is proud of that progress being made.

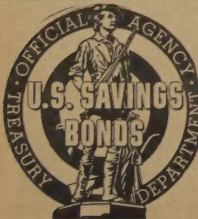

Loss By Fire--

THE Don Sumrall's home on the Old Thorsby Road in Clanton burned to the ground Sunday evening about 9 o'clock and everything the family had in the way of clothing and furniture went with it. They were not at home. A neighbor saw it, tried to phone the fire department and finally drove to Clanton to fetch help. By the time the Department got to the scene, he house was burning out of hand. They saved the barn and the tractor. Loss by fire is a painful and unexpected catastrophe and it strikes without warning and does not play favorites. Too many people congregate on the scene and though we have had no official complaint, we are sure the Department would appreciate your cooperation in staying away from the scene. We're all thrill seekers, but many times the efficiency of the Department is greatly hampered by spectators who serve no more than to get in the way. If you must 'chase the fire truck' keep your distance, remembering that you are not the only curious bystander and that multiplied many times it becomes a mob in which it is difficult to maneuver, especially since nobody knows what is to happen next. Cooperate with the Firemen.

Stream Pollution

Man has contaminated the waters flowing in our rivers and streams, but in spite of stream pollution the tap water in the country is second to none in the world. Maintaining a high purity of the water we use has not been easy and has necessitated a continuous fight to keep it that way. We have seen the death of many streams for the discharge of waste in volumes too great for the capacity of the streams to absorb.

The death of a stream is a result from odors and unsightliness, the disappearance of game fish, and the decline of boating and swimming. Health authorities are concerned over the possible long range poisonous effects on people by the wastes that are by-products of modern life. The expansion of the synthetic chemical and petrochemical industries in recent years has created new water pollution problems.

By known, living, bacterial organisms. A few years ago waterborne epidemics and disease outbreaks were usually localized and mainly caused by foods which could be identified and brought under control. Today, the problem of controlling pollution is vastly more complex because of the changing industrial technology which has created a whole new range of contaminants. The residues of millions of pounds of detergents, insecticides, herbicides, solvents, and cleaners now find their way into watercourses. Water pollution experts are studying the possibility of the potential hazards in radioactive contamination of water. Some of the new types of wastes are only partly or not at all affected by the protective processes available to treat water and sewage. It is known that tiny amounts of contaminants remain in the water-even in the water we drink.

*We see
and hear*

AFTER taking a very serious dose of medicine the other night, the little girl at our house was very serious about her description of the foul dose. "You know what it taste like, Daddy?" she said. We instantly admitted we did not. You could tell she had studied it over carefully and her conclusion was one of conviction. "Sick milk!" she proclaimed and you know what, she's right; that's about the sickest 'milk' we ever tasted, too!

We started out on a mustache and beard just for the heck of it; but now it's partly pure cussedness we guess and mostly it has turned into an experiment of just how far people will go to let you know that you look different from them and they don't like it. Some folks sling phrases at you that clearly indicate that they are conforming to the accepted trend to look like everybody else and they are upset at the fact that anyone has the unmitigated gall to do otherwise. We're getting an idea of what fat people go through, just because they look different, or on a larger scale, what one nationality goes through from individuals of another nationality just because they look different (funny). A mustache or a beard is neither here nor there but the principal of the thing, which is the clearest freedom of choice is something else again. How many men would dare to wear a double-breasted suit, when the accepted fashion says nix? How many ladies know they cover their heads with silly looking hats on a Sunday? Mostly because everybody else is. It boils down to the fact that people just don't like things to be different. We do not suggest bad taste and do not condone it. However there is clear cut bad taste regardless of the society in which you live; and there are differences in good taste. We would not want to do anything that we felt in bad taste or that would harm another individual. Folks like the normal, the just so-so, just alikeness, stereotype, everydayness. They look upon change or difference as something to shun.

As we said, as far as we are concerned, a beard is neither here nor there, but we are concerned about the principal involved. Do you honestly accept people for what they are, or are you one of those who find themselves 'liking' only the shell of the human being and overlooking the soul and mind which the shell houses and is the true basis for our alikeness as well as our individuality?

proached us the other evening about an article which we did not print in a recent issue (although we did handle according to our policy) and was chastizing us severely for not doing so. We would like to make clear that any announcement made in the community interest will be welcomed and printed in our columns, at no cost whatsoever. But, an article or announcement which clearly refers to business establishments and is designed only to advertise products or services is considered 'advertising' and thus requires payment for the printing of same. We do not feel that this is unfair, since our sole source of income is derived more or less from advertising products and services. It would be foolish for us to give our product away, just as it would a dry goods store, an automobile dealer or a beauty shop. Since our product is not as clear cut as a can of beans, we must maintain a policy governing its sale and use.

Anything solely for the public good is public service and we are proud of the fact that we have won an award from the Alabama Press Association for Community Service. Business promotion is an entirely different matter and though we are always willing and seeking to assist local business in any way — it is still not public service in the literal sense. When you assume that we veer from this policy on occasion it is usually in connection with some community project from which we all benefit. Public service is our standard — and we're proud of it. Advertising is our bread and butter and we like that, o.k., too! Advertising is the means by which we can serve the community in public service endeavors and we cannot overlook that fact. We would indeed have to be magicians in the most literal sense of the word, to bring you an entirely 'free of cost' newspaper and we don't think you would appreciate such an arrangement anyway. Thanks for your support and we pledge you ours!

We would like very much to know what is planned for the future development of the Clanton Country Club. The founding fathers' dreams of development were large indeed and the men who financed its beginning were leaders of this community. The development of the golf course has progressed over the years, but the Country Club itself has not. It is no doubt, a matter of financing, but it would certainly be a beautiful spot were it developed to the extent that its charter members had anticipated and expected in the beginning.

Alabama Politics --

This Week On Capital Hill

Reapportionment in any form to Black Belt legislators is no nearer now than it ever has been!

Thus was the opinion of most Black Belters on reapportionment. Lawdnes Sen. Carl Golson termed the "reapportionment effort" as only a sham to shift Black Belt power to some of the north Alabama counties.

And as regards reports that some north Alabama lawmakers might possibly threaten the Black Belt to reapportion the state during the next session by using the Congressional Redistricting issue as a weapon, Sen. Golson reported calmly "I have talked with several of the Black Belt senators and none of them seem shook up over the possibility of having the state's congressmen run at large."

Sen. Golson continued: "No, we are not taking a reapportionment bluff from north Alabama legislators. Montgomery is more important to the people right now than Washington. The Black Belt is satisfied with the way things are. Even a good number of north Alabama legislators don't want true reapportionment. Because true reapportionment would give Jefferson County about 21 house members and nobody wants that."

Several weeks ago it was conjectured here that the real cause of the reapportionment issue was: Will the Black Belt risk their Congressional running at large elections or release their control in Montgomery by going for reapportionment? This scribble along with many politics felt the Black Belters would risk their Congressman.

Perhaps this was one of the underlying facets why Perry Sen. Norman Crawford told a Mental Health Assn. Board of Directors that the next legislative session meeting in Birmingham recently would probably be remembered as the "do-nothingness" session in the history of the state.

And while talking on the next session, it seems fairly well established that unless a great many legislators have a change of mind then the likelihood of new tax programs of any kind, for any purpose or group, will not be favorably accepted this summer. Therefore prospects are dim that the Mental Health Assn. will seek the legislative to endorse a proposal to levy a .00033 of one percent privilege tax on bank checking accounts, mentioned in this column last week.

This came as a result of advice given the board by seasoned legislative battlers Sen. Crawford, former Sen. Richmond Flowers and Charles Bingham, vice pres. of International Paper Co., Mobile. Another political highlight of the meeting was the re-formation of the recently-formed State Group Against Mental Illness, which Sen. Crawford claimed had not been recommended by the board.

Some folks across the state are asking what's behind the Gallion-Patterson loan interpretation dispute. Question sought are: Who's behind the big sharks? The little ones? One thing appears certain from the talk of things. This is that a flip of the coin would apparently reveal: Heads all the big sharks win! Tails the borrowers lose!

American farmers fed us and our allies during two world wars. And they did it without drawing on the manpower needed by the armed forces or by industries producing war materials.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

A million people lined the streets of Washington last week to witness the swarming-in ceremony of our new President and the inaugural parade which followed. Undaunted by icy winds and below-freezing temperatures that followed a snowstorm, the crowds cheered enthusiastically as John Fitzgerald Kennedy was inaugurated as the 35th President of the United States.

Members of the House and Senate met in their respective chambers before the noon-time swearing-in ceremony and then proceeded in a body to the front steps of the Capitol where we sat while President Kennedy took his oath of office and promised to the world that the United States "will pay any price and bear any burden" to assure the survival and success of liberty.

Although this was the third inaugural ceremony I had attended it was the first time I had witnessed the inauguration of a Democratic President.

River Funds--

Former President Eisenhower's last budget, the one for fiscal year 1962, was submitted to Congress early last week. In it are included funds in the amount of $750,000 for construction work on the Holt Lock and Dam on the Warrior and $375,000 for further development and elimination of the Millers Ferry Multiple Purpose Lock and Dam on the Coosa-Alabama System. Although budget figures recommended by President Eisenhower are subject to revision by the new Administration, the members of the Alabama Congressional delegation will make every effort to see that sufficient funds for these two important river projects are appropriated by Congress this year.

In connection with river improvement, two residents of the Sixth District were in Washington last Tuesday to attend a meeting of the Kennedy-Johnson Natural Resources Advisory Committee. Judge R. K. Greene of Greensboro appeared before the Advisory Committee in behalf of the Warrior-Tombigbee Waterway, and the Coosa-Alabama River System was represented by State Commissioner of Agriculture R. C. (Red) Bamberg of Uniontown.

Rules Committee--

Speaker Sam Rayburn's plan to liberalize the Rules Committee by adding three new members was approved last Wednesday by a Democratic caucus. Although I voted against the proposal, those who favored it were clearly in the majority.

There is every indication there will be a record vote in the House of Representatives on Speaker Rayburn's plan some time this week. The vote could be extremely close if Republicans join certain Southern Democrats who are fighting any change in the present size and composition of this important committee.

One of the strangest stories I ever heard was told to me by the late Luther Patrick, then Congressman from Alabama. I asked at least three of Luther's legal friends and they substantiated the story, each saying he would be willing to make an affidavit that what Luther recited was true.

A colored woman who knew very little about baseball was in attendance at a game in Birmingham. The Umpire seemingly was pretty rough on the home team, and after several apparently bad decisions the crowd remonstrated vociferously. "Kill him -- kill the Umpire!" many shouted in unison. The rather wild woman immediately pulled a bulldog pistol out of the folds of her dress, also the trigger. There was an immediate explosion and the baseball arbiter fell dead.

She was arrested and carted off to jail, later to be indicted on a murder charge. She had no legal advice, so the Court appointed Patrick to defend her. Luther got several postponements, the case cooled down measurably, she was finally tried. And, believe it or not, the penalty imposed was only several months in jail. In fact, she almost got off Scot free.

When I asked Luther how he had accomplished the miracle, he explained: "I convinced them she had never before seen a game, and got so excited over the trend of events that when she yelled: 'Kill the Umpire!' the stress and strain of the excitement got the better of her -- and on the spur of the moment encouragement from the crowd was all she needed. That was practically all the defense I had -- but it worked!"

Incidentally, the woman he saved from the death penalty outlived Patrick by a good many years.

The Sermonette

BY RAY FELKINS, Pastor
Mulberry Baptist Church

"Christ the Miracle Man"

You will notice from a study of the second chapter of John, that the writer introduces Christ as the Miracle Man. It is this chapter that we have recorded the first miracle of Christ. This miracle was the turning of water into wine.

Before noticing the miracle I think we need to understand, though contrary to the opinion of many, that Christ the Miracle Man was not retired from the world or from public notice. He was not a person who lived in seclusion; but one who enjoyed people and mingled freely with them, and was even abused for it. He accepted invitations from all classes of people.

Of all the festivities and celebrations the marriage ceremony and the feasting that usually followed were perhaps the most hilarious. Christ along with his disciples had accepted an invitation to such a marriage in Cana of Galilee. While in attendance at the feast the wine gave out. The news of this, seemingly disaster, reached Christ through his mother Mary. She came saying, "They have no wine." As Mary leaves their presence, she tells them to do whatever Christ says.

The ceremonial requirements of the Jews made it necessary that stone waterpots be easily accessible in this case there were six such pots with a capacity of about twenty gallons each. Jesus ordered them to fill the pots with water and then draw out and bear to the governor of the feast. They did exactly what they were told to do and the water served to the guest had turned to wine. Evidently this was wine of the best sort; for the governor of the feast called the bridegroom and said "Every man at the beginning doth set forth good wine; and when men have well drunk, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept the good wine until now." There is no doubt that Christ changed the water into wine, for the guests so recognized it. Why should there be doubt, for he who could create the water undoubtedly could change it into wine.

From this first miracle Christ went on to perform many great and marvelous miracles during his ministry on earth. Of all his miracles the greatest is the transformation of a man's soul. The making of a man a new creature. Have you been made that new creature? Have you experienced that miracle of miracles in your life? If not, look now by faith to Christ, the Miracle Man.

Time To Plant Dallis Grass Is Here

Some Chilton County farmers will plant Dallis grass during the next few weeks. Some will be seeding new pastures, and others will be seeding an old, established sod. There are no short cuts to getting and keeping a stand of Dallis grass in your clover-grass permanent pastures.

Use the best known practices, and increase your chance of getting and keeping a stand.

Success begins with having your soil tested and applying lime and fertilizer according to recommendations of the soil testing laboratory. Prepare a smooth, firm seedbed by breaking, disking and harrowing the land. Allow rain to settle the soil. Before seeding, freshen the seedbed tightly with a section harrow.

Drill or broadcast about 20 pounds of seed (10 pounds pure live seed) per acre the latter part of February or as soon as danger of freezes is past. Cover by pressing seed into the soil with a roller or cultipacker. If a cultipacker or roller is not available, cover seed lightly with a section harrow or weeder.

If you are seeding Dallis grass in old stands of white clover or other plants, plant the seed with regular drills or sod seeding equipment. Or you may disk the sod lightly, broadcast the seed, and follow with a cultipacker. Seed should not be planted over one-fourth inch deep.

Some growers have been successful in establishing of Dallis grass on old sods by using a combination of a section harrow and a fertilizer distributor. Small plows are used to open narrow, small furrows.

It is best to keep cattle off newly planted stands until plants are well established.

Your County Agent is available to further assist you with developing your pasture program.

Farmers receive about 29 cents for the cotton in a man's shirt which costs $4.

Sheep Good Way To Increase Farm Profit

Many livestockmen over the state are saying that sheep are returning land utilized than any other live-more profit per dollar invested and stock they own, says Bob Farquhar, Auburn Extension Service beef cattle and sheep marketing specialist.

And there are some very sound reasons for getting into the sheep business to supplement regular farm income, the Auburn specialist continues.

Sheep require, a small original investment, comparatively speaking. Forty to 50 ewes and two rams make a good start. Ewes are bred in May and June, and lambs are born in the fall and winter months. These lambs will be large enough, weighing 70 to 100 pounds, to market in regular lamb pools the following May and June. Farquhar says that fat lambs selling at this time of year always bring top prices because the supply is low.

Overexpansion in the sheep business is not a worry, either, the livestockman says. This country still imports more wool than it produces, and consumers are constantly demanding more lamb than they are getting.

A farmer can produce sheep on a

World Farm Production Headed For New Record

World output of farm products in the year ending June 30, 1961, may surpass population increase and set an all-time record, predicts A. W. Jones, Auburn Extension marketing specialist.

The United States, Mainland China, and the Soviet Union, the three largest producers, will probably account for about 40 percent of the total. On a per capita basis, U. S. production will probably be about twice that of Russia and about four times that of China. However, Canada may equal our production per person, and Australia and New Zealand may double it.

Small amount of land. Normally, five sheep require the same acreage that one brood cow uses.

Farquhar says that sheep require more attention and better management than the average beef herd. But, he continues, when the payoff comes, the farmer is usually rewarded for extra effort.

Sheep producers over the state will gather in Auburn Feb. 9-10 to attend the state convention of the Alabama Sheep and Wool Growers Association.

Spicy Raisin Drops

Spicy Raisin Drops — crunchy with corn meal and tangy with spices — will soon be number one on your family's list of cookie favorites.

Treat the cookie jar and the school lunch box to a tasty surprise. Fill them up with Spicy Raisin Drops — a sure hit with the hungry horde constantly invading the kitchen for handouts.

These crisp spicy cookies can be mixed, ready to bake almost before you know it. The reason's no secret — it's in the enriched self-rising flour, coupled here with enriched self-rising corn meal. The name "self-rising" means time and energy saved in any recipe, for there is no need to measure and sift the leavening and salt with the dry ingredients. The correct amounts are already blended into the flour and corn meal. Besides simplicity and efficiency, enriched self-rising products give Spicy Raisin Drops extra nutritional values of iron, calcium and B-vitamins.

With such convenience, in a few quick steps you'll have a cookie jar full of these crunchy cookies with the zesty ginger flavor. Better make lots. They're guaranteed to disappear — quickly!

SPICY RAISIN DROPS

1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 egg
1 cup sifted enriched self-rising flour

1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 cup enriched self-rising corn meal
1 cup raisins

Cream butter or margarine and sugar. Add vanilla extract. Add egg and beat well. Sift together flour and spices. Add corn meal to flour mixture. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture gradually. Add raisins. Mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 5 dozen cookies.

Tourists Lured by Ja'ita Underground Wonders

Some of the spectacular stalactite and stalagmite formations of the Ja'ita Caverns.

Less than an hour's drive from Beirut, Lebanon, near the sparkling-blue bay of Jounieh, is found one of the underground wonders of the world.

Sightseers and archeological sleuths for years have been left breathless as they peddle small boats slowly into Magharat Ja'ita, the Dog River caverns, and behold the wondrous and exotic shapes of the stalactites and stalagmites, eroded-rock formations and growths of molds.

Still much less commercialized than the famous "Blue Grotto" of the Isle of Capri, Ja'ita has an unusual grandeur reminiscent of an Oriental temple. The black waters of the subterranean river, on which the curious enter, reflect in shimmering elegance the wonders of the artificially illuminated formations which transform the depths of the earth into a wonderland.

Ja'ita has been known to the modern world only since 1936, when an archeologist by the name of Dr. Thompson first stumbled on the cavern while exploring the remains of ancient life and civilization which pervade the Lebanese coast. At the entrance he discovered a mass of bone breccias composed of bones and teeth and chipped flints. The components had been gradually cemented together into a hard, rock-like formation, a lasting reminder of the primeval beings who once inhabited the cavern.

Dr. Thompson's find was left alone for nearly 40 years until revisited in 1973 by a party consisting of President Ezeriel Dr. Daniel Bliss, founder of the American University of Beirut, Dr. R. W. Brigstocke, and Messrs. J. J. Maxwell and H. Huxley, engineers engaged in constructing the Beirut water works.

Forging beyond the entrance on a raft of planks and the team penetrated the Ja'ita cavern to a depth of some 200 yards before being halted by a huge boulder. Even at this depth the cave's interior suggested to the explorers the interior of a cathedral.

Returning a week later, Dr. Bliss and his companions clambered over the boulder carrying a small boat, and went deeper. They passed a maze of mammoth, erie-white stalagmites, but finally were halted at a depth of about 1,000 yards by rapids.

Since then many have taken up the challenge of the Ja'ita caverns, and to date the quest of eye-filling beauty and adventure has carried explorers to a distance of over 6,200 yards. Not only have the wonders been more fully recognized and photographed, recorded through the years, but also, in the early '50s, topographical maps of the interior were drawn.

American College Brings Sports to Lebanon

A.U.B. soccer field, track, basketball court and tennis courts, as viewed from an upper-campus vantage point.

The American University of Beirut, formerly the Syrian Protestant College, is credited by the top sports authority in Lebanon with introducing modern sports to its land.

In fact, according to Nassif Majdani, "Dean of Lebanese Sportswriters," the college campus was the site of the country's first track and field meet on March 22, 1902.

Given this impetus, it was not long before Lebanese sportsmen turned players, formed their own club, where they built the necessary facilities and began practicing swimming, track and field, tennis, wrestling, boxing, weightlifting and gymnastics.

As time passed important organizations were made. The Lebanese-Syrian Amateur Sports Federation was set up to carry the burden of attracting athletes and organizing sports activities among scouting groups and in the secondary schools. In 1922, Hussein Sejan, a prominent Lebanese sportsman, formed the Lebanese Football Federation, which shortly became affiliated with the International Football Association.

In 1944 Majdani, Sejan, and other leaders in the sports field combined their efforts, met with government leaders, and succeeded in obtaining official government sanction for the promotion of sports activities on a national scale. This government entry into the field of sports took the form of a presidential decree setting forth 14 resolutions. The decree prescribed, for example: Compulsory introduction of sports into all educational institutions; the establishment of sports facilities in all the cities and towns; that municipalities and villages construct playgrounds; that annual sports conferences be held; and, perhaps most important, that the Sports Department be established, attached to the Ministry of Education, in order to coordinate sports activities throughout the country. The presidential decree was issued on December 7, 1944.

Since 1946 Lebanon has participated in all regional, Olympic and other international games. In the fall of 1959 the Mediterranean Games were held in Beirut's new "Camille Chamoun Memorial Stadium," as Lebanon played host to its first major international sporting affair. And in 1960 Lebanese athletes carried their country's colors to Squaw Valley for the Winter Olympics, and to Rome for the summer games.

Sixty years after the AUB started the ball rolling, Lebanon has reached maturity as a sporting country. Not only are its younger people enthusiastic about many sports, but also many of its leaders are former participants who continue to be sports-minded.

Prime Minister Saeb Salam was an AUB boxer in 1922. Minister of Defense Amir Majed Arsalan was a cyclist in 1929. Minister of Finance Pierre Gemayel was soccer team captain of the "Circle" club in 1933, and former Premier Rashid Karami was a basketball and table-tennis player in 1937.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

I OWE MY LIFE TO DIVINE HEALING

I owe my life to divine healing. When I was a boy of 17 I was dying with tuberculosis in both lungs. I also had a severe speech impediment. Life didn't seem worth living. I had lost everything—my health, my ambitions, my dreams. I didn't want to become a Christian because people told me that God had made me sick because of my sins. If Christ were spiteful and mean, I reasoned, I wanted no part of Him.

But my parents helped me to realize that God is a good God and does not bring evil and suffering upon people. My mother told me that if I would accept Christ and give my life to Him, He would raise me up and make something out of me. She told me I could be healed by God's power. For the first time in my life, I wanted to be healed.

My desire for healing caused me to study the Bible. I discovered that Jesus spent two thirds of his earthly ministry healing the sick. I began to believe in divine healing. Lying in my bed, I accepted Christ.

After my conversion I received my complete healing in a revival meeting where I was prayed for by an evangelist who asked God to make me completely well. As he prayed, a wonderful feeling swept over me, and suddenly I realized that the tuberculosis was gone. I could walk and run and tell people that I was healed. Suddenly, I noticed that I didn't stammer and stutter any more.

Shortly after this I began my ministry. Soon I was pastoring small churches. The crowds were small; the results meager. I was dissatisfied, knowing that if I ever moved people toward God, I would have to try to be like Jesus and minister to the needs of the people. One day, sitting in a college classroom, I realized I could do for the people of my generation what the disciples had done for the people of the first century because Christ had promised healing to all people of all ages.

I plunged into the ministry of divine healing wholeheartedly. In the past 13 years God has blessed, and thousands of people have received help.

What would divine healing mean for you? Would it mean a newly found life in the world and a chance to accomplish something worth while? You can be healed. God has this blessing for you. Expect to receive it.

I do not know how God performs miracles and healings from rampant disease and completely changes a life. I only know He does. It happened to me.

2 Million Women to Join Mothers' March To Support March of Dimes Health Goals

The Golden Key of Hope — a new symbol for a new decade of medical progress against crippling diseases — is the badge some two million volunteers will proudly wear in the 1961 Mothers' March climaxing the New March of Dimes.

Symbolizing the need for research to unlock the mysteries of such major crippling as brain defects and arthritis, the Golden Key also represents the vaccine "keys" to polio prevention perfected through research made possible by the March of Dimes.

In most communities, the Mothers' March will take place the evening or afternoon of Tuesday, Jan. 31. Volunteers identified by the Golden Key badge will call on their neighbors for support in the campaign against tragedies which affect one in every four American families.

Each of the estimated 40 million households visited in the Mothers' March will receive valuable health information including the Dime's and Dime's for expectant mothers, Arthritis Warnings, and Vaccination Alerts for the almost 85,000,000 Americans still not protected against polio.

Beclouded by centuries of superstition, birth defects are considered by medical authorities to be the nation's most serious child health problem. Yet the fields of cause and prevention were largely unexplored until funds from the March of Dimes began to make intensive research possible. Pointers derived from early research are included on the cards to be distributed by Mothers' March volunteers.

The cards are also designed to bring home the realization that more than 11,000,000 Americans suffer from some form of crippling arthritis. Many victims, grasping at straws, pay out a total of more than $250,000 annually on quack "cures." The fact is that the causes of arthritis are largely unknown. There is no known cure, no known preventive. But research to find the key is being rapidly advanced through March of Dimes support.

Glimped through a keyhole, three small victims of dread crippling diseases hold the Golden Key of Hope, 1961 Mothers' March symbol of March of Dimes-supported efforts to unlock the mysteries of their afflictions. They are, left to right, Gail Berg, 3½ years, arthritis patient Allen Markowski, 5, polio victim and Rosalie Porretto, 7, born with a birth defect, all of New York City.

To improve treatment and rehabilitation of those crippled by birth defects and arthritis, a network of clinical study centers is being established by means of March of Dimes funds. Techniques developed by the National Foundation in aiding polio sufferers are applied to children suffering from birth defects and arthritis. All of this research and patient care would be impossible without health manpower—and manpower—to put it to use. To help meet this drastic problem, March of Dimes funds support a health scholarship program in every state each year. Thus the Marching Mothers also seek support for an increase in the critical supply of doctors, nurses, physical therapists and others dedicated to the improvement and protection of the nation's health.

Mystery Tunnel Puzzles Diggers

Almost any day now the world may hear news of one of the greatest archeological discoveries in history—the result of more than 70 day's excavation in a long, narrow tunnel in Luxor's famed Valley of the Kings.

For the past two months a wizened Egyptian living only a few miles from the burial ground of the ancient Pharaohs has been directing diggings into a rock-hewn tunnel leading from the tomb of the mighty and famous Pharaoh Seti I.

Seti I. Sheikh Ali Abdel Rassoul believes the tunnel will lead to treasures and relics which may even surpass the fabulous riches of King Tutankhamen, discovered in 1923. Abdel Rassoul and his 22 workmen, having reached a depth of 145 yards in the approximately 6-by-6-foot subterranean passage, believe they are nearing the end. They expect to come across the door of Seti's real burial chamber any day. Abdel Rassoul thinks that the burial chamber previously discovered was a decoy, built to deceive grave robbers.

When Abdel Rassoul will reach his goal, and what the secret chamber, if found, will contain, is a bit of a guessing game among Egyptologists. Dr. D. Maxfield, professor of Egyptology at Munich University, maintains that the tunnel leads to a temple of the god Osiris, because King Seti I held this "God of the Underworld and Judge of the Dead" in great veneration.

Egyptologist Dr. Mohammed Abdel Kader holds that the subterranean passage was designed as the spirit's route to the underworld, and expects stone solar boats to be discovered.

Abdel Rassoul, who also is financing the diggings, claims he learned about the passage from his grandfather, who worked with some European archeological missions at the turn of the century. He said he kept this revelation a secret until he had enough money to undertake the diggings.

There are altogether 507 tombs in the Valley of the Kings across the Nile from Luxor, the ancient Pharaonic capital. The tomb of Seti I, the biggest in the valley, extending 105 yards into solid rock. The tomb contains five corridors and six side chambers, including the burial chamber, where a well was drilled to mislead robbers. The big burial chamber at the end of the room contained a marble sarcophagus where the King was laid.

The subterranean passage discovered by Abdel Rassoul begins beyond the burial chamber. Seti's tomb, which is about 3500 years old, was apparently known to the Romans during their conquest of Egypt. It was mentioned in Roman historical writings.

The tomb was rediscovered by an Italian circus clown called Belzoni who came to Egypt in 1817 to entertain the Khedive. Belzoni succeeded in getting the Khedive's permission to excavate in the region of Luxor.

With the help of Abdel Rassoul's grandfather, Belzoni succeeded in opening the tomb, but apparently all its contents, except for a huge marble sarcophagus, were stolen by grave robbers many centuries ago. The marble case is now in the British Museum in London. The walls of the tomb and the ceiling were covered by beautiful multicolored designs and hieroglyphic inscriptions which have remained vivid throughout the years. There were 78 representations of the sun-god Ra performing his different duties.

Paving Way To Progress In Chilton County

IN the year 1960 Chilton County made more gains in the fields of economic progress and individual business achievement of any time in its history.

This fact is vividly pointed out by the progressive steps made in the interest of the community good through the business establishments and through the public facilities during the 365 days just past.

We, in Chilton County, are on the threshold of great new economic advantages and merchants and public officials as well as the people in general are showing their awareness of this through the 'faith in the future' which they are counting on to bring about prosperity and better living for our community!

The businesses represented here, on these pages are only a part of the development in Chilton County during the past year and they give evidence that there will be even better progress and achievement during the year and years which lie ahead of us.

These business people have faith in the future growth of our County, but without your support their faith will not materialize into progress for our people. That's why we are so concerned and interested with our people "Trading at Home." The only sure way for our community to expand and to grow is when the people support the local businesses who have so much of themselves, time and money invested in their business.

That is your part—and responsibility—in a growing Chilton County. The businessman has faith in you, the citizen, helping to bring about a bigger, better, more prosperous community in which we can raise our children and live together.

In Step With Chilton's Progress...

Bridge Over Yellow Leaf Creek

IF you have ever been to Lay Dam, near Clanton, you have probably crossed the rickety old 19th Century bridge that used to span Yellow Leaf Creek.

Above you see County Engineer Bob Alexander and Probate Judge J. C. White admiring the scenery from the new span across the Creek. It was built by G. W. Norrell of Georgiana, Ala. at an overall cost of $64,813.20. County: $8,190.00 and State-Federal: $55,813.20. Without question, a true sign of progress for Chilton County.

Peoples Savings Records Biggest Year In History

The Peoples Savings Bank had its best year in earnings last year. The Bank paid a larger Dividend than it has ever paid before, in addition to paying a larger Dividend the Bank still had more money to add to the undivided profits than has ever been added before and also added more than $500,000.00 to Reserves.

Each employee received a nice Christmas Bonus. The Bank had its annual Stockholders Meeting January 9th and reelected the same Directors for the year 1961 and had the regular annual organizational meeting of the Board of Directors on Jan. 16th and the Directors re-elected the same officers for the year 1961.

Deposit Increase 40% In 1960 At First National

DURING the year just past the resources of the First National Bank in Clanton increased from $3,165,840.28 at the end of 1959 to 4,440,362.08 at the end of 1960.

That is quite an indication of progress for our community. According to Otto Jones, President, deposits in 1959 totaling $2,865,810.28. Stockholders of the bank re-elected the same officers and directors as in 1960.

12 months is the greatest progress. This outstanding growth inside of every made by the bank in its long history of serving the people of Chilton County.

ONE of the youngest and most active businesses in Chilton County is Don Sumrall's Trim Shop on 1st Avenue in Clanton. Don started out rather confined, you might say, and has built his business up to quite an impressive member of Chilton's growing concerns.

The specialty of the house is Automobile Upholstery work and Glass Work of all kinds. A number of business houses, new and old, have had Sumrall's Trim Shop install front window and door glasses in their place of business. They also do glass work on automobiles... and just about anything with a 'pane' in it!

The new and larger quarters which Sumrall's now occupies enables them to handle a larger line of materials for custom tailoring and upholstery and they can also serve you better and faster. Their new location, in the old Hayes-Stokes Chevrolet building gives them twice as much floor space than when they started.

And, says proprietor Sumrall, "business is good, but we'd like it to be better, come in and let us show you what we can offer to make life better for you!"

Correspondent Gets Chased By Runaway Airplane Saturday

Mrs. Fannie Lawley, Joyce and myself were coming home from Birmingham Saturday p.m. We were in West Blotlon community when a jet plane crossed the highway in front of us. He looked like he was hardly above the trees. Joyce said mother he's in trouble and hunting a place to land so in a few minutes he came back to the highway straightened up and looked like he was trying to land on the highway. Joyce almost stopped the car to let him land and by that time he was up over our car. So she sped up her car to get out from under him he was turning from one side to the other up over us. We were scared to death. He went a little piece down the highway and turned right toward Birmingham. I saw black smoke coming from the plane he went a few minutes with this black smoke following him then dropped straight down out of sight. We stopped at the home of Mrs. Georgia Norrie of West Blotlon, Alabama, the first house we saw and called West Blotlon Police then we stopped a highway patrol and reported what we saw. They immediately started investigation, but so far I have not heard where the plane has been found or not. I hope the pilot got out safe. Our car was the only one on the highway at the time. State Wide Search Continues For 'Mother Of The Year' 1961

Members of the Alabama Mothers Committee are actively searching every corner of Alabama for the right person to wear the "1961 Mother of the Year" title. Mrs. David W. Vess, 1959 Alabama Mother of the Year and State Chairman for the American Mothers Committee of New York, is directing the annual search. "We are most anxious to find a wonderful Alabama Mother for our State title, and are seeking the very one who can bring home from New York the title 'American Mother of the Year,'" said Mrs. Vess.

Nomination blanks have been distributed to District and County Chairmen over the State. Nomination blanks may be obtained from newspapers, radio and TV stations and Chambers of Commerce through out the State. Individuals are encouraged to secure nomination blanks so that they may nominate their own Mother or some Mother they deem worthy. It is not necessary for a Mother to be sponsored by an organization to qualify. Nomination blanks can also be obtained by writing to Mrs. David W. Vess, 1857 Shades Crest Road, Birmingham 16, Alabama. The committee is seeking at least one nominee from every County in Alabama.

The search for Alabama's favorite Mother will end at midnight, March 1, 1961. A group of outstanding Alabama citizens are being appointed by Mrs. Vess to study the nominations received and make the selection of our next Mother of the Year.

The standards which must be met by nominees for Alabama Mother of the Year have been set up by the Mothers Committee as follows:

(1) That she be a successful Mother as evidenced by the character and achievements of her individual children.

(2) That she be an active member of a religious body.

(3) That she embody those traits highly regarded in Mothers, courage, cheerfulness, patience, kindness, affection, understanding and homemaking ability.

(4) That she exemplify in her life and conduct the precepts of the Golden Rule.

(5) That she be qualified to represent the Mothers of America in all responsibilities attached to her role as the National Mother, if selected.

(6) That she be active in service for public benefit and have a sense of responsibility in civic affairs.

The Alabama Mother of the Year will be honored at a banquet given in her honor during April, 1961, at which time Governor Patterson is expected to make the presentation of the citation and the announcement of the selected Mother.

The selected Mother will then be honored within her own town and State, prior to her trip to New York where she will be considered for the National title along with Mothers from the other 49 states. The District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. She will spend a week at the fabulous Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and attend the annual Mothers Conference. Sightseeing trips are planned by the American Mothers Committee to entertain the Mothers while in New York. Remember the deadline is March 1, 1961.

Deadline In Essay Contest Is Feb. 1st

Principals and students in Alabama schools are reminded of the deadline for submitting entries in the National Essay Contest for Employment of the Physically Handicapped, Ralph R. Williams, Director of the Alabama Department of Industrial Relations, said today.

Williams, speaking for the Governor's Committee on the Employment of the Physically Handicapped, said information pertaining to the contest had already been supplied school officials over the state and the deadline for the contest is February 1.

Governor John Patterson will award the state prizes in the contest which will be $100 for first place; $75 for second place; and $50 for third place. Also some county governing bodies are sponsoring local prizes to contestants.

National prizes consist of $1,000 for first place and range down to $100 for the fifth place, plus transportation and expenses to Washington, D. C. for the first place winner. All national winners through tenth place will receive certificates signed by the president and sponsors will be awarded to the High Schools of winners at the national level.

Dr. Woodrow W. Boyette, Department of English, University of Alabama, said members of the English Department will again judge the contest. Williams said. He said that more information pertaining to the contest may be obtained by writing Charles H. Voltz, Jr., Executive Secretary, Governor's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped, Room 502, State Office Building, Montgomery, Alabama, or by contacting the principal of your local school.

Clean Filter Means Extra Cash, Comfort

Cleaning the filter in your central heating system may increase comfort and decrease utility bills at the same time.

In a central heating system, filters must be replaced or cleaned regularly in order for the heating system to work efficiently, says Bill Cox, Auburn Extension Service engineer.

When air cannot move through the filter freely, it takes longer for the heat to get thru the house. The furnace and the motor on the fan must run longer, and both increase the utility bill. So to see that you are getting your money's worth from your heating system Cox recommends checking the filter regularly.

So. Bell Earnings Drop Below 1959

The 1960 annual earning of Southern Bell Telephone Company dropped one cent per share below those of 1959, it was reported today by company officials.

The utility, which operates in nine southern states, earned $1.88 per share during the year just ending. In the preceding year of 1959, the earnings were $1.89 per share.

Despite the lower earnings, Southern Bell's construction expenditures in Alabama continued to rise. Spending during 1960 was a record $33,248,000 an increase of $1,326,000 above the outlay for 1959. The company also reported that Southern Bell Operators handled approximately 7.1 per cent more long distance calls last year than in 1959, during 1960. However, 8070 fewer telephones were gained than during the prior year.

$130,000.00 worth of the 'tools of progress' is a lot of 'tools', but Chilton County's officials have used them wisely in bringing our County out of the 'mud and slush' and today we can boast of one of the most progressive Road Departments in the State of Alabama. Chilton County roads have improved beyond imagination in the past 10 years. Signs of progress? You bet! And though the maintenance of our roads is a continuous process, we have, as you can see above, the necessary equipment and know-how to do the job effectively and economically! So, look up the road for big things in Chilton County in the decade before us.

RAYS OF HOPE

Virginia H. Stover

IT is an accepted idea now to all thinking people that a human being is more than just organism. We are all physical plus mental plus spiritual. To ignore one of these is to bring hurt to the other.

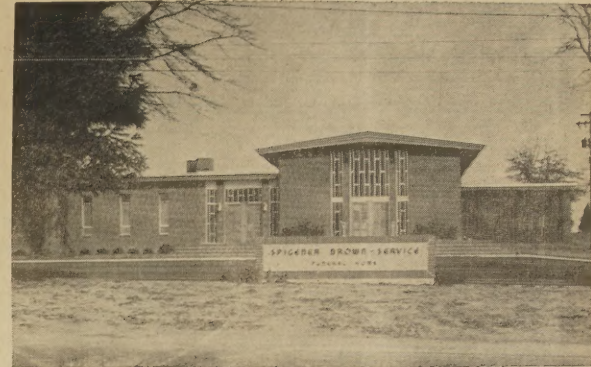

If we think only of the physical—to eat, to sleep, to play, to groom we can almost become a moron. If we major on the mental and ignore the physical, just study, read, do research, delve into mysteries and develop the mind to the exclusion of all else; then we are likely to break down the physical.

If we are reasonable about developing the physical and mental abilities and ignore the spiritual we are leaving off the 'balance staff' of life. Man was created by the living God and implanted within us all is an inherent desire for worship. It is the satisfying of this desire (worshiping and serving God) that promotes, stabilizes and harmonizes the physical and mental part of man.

How many people today suffer physical breakdown because of deep seated fears, hates and anger or frustration? There is no way to know but more and more the medical authorities are leaning on the ministers to help cure the ails of their patients by getting them to confess to man and God their bitterness and the empty feeling within that robs them of their rest and dulls their mental powers. A lot of times this is brought on because of neglect of the spiritual life. So we see the necessity of living a well-balanced life. Developing and caring for ourselves physically, learning new things, thinking deep thoughts to strengthen us mentally, attending the house of God, reading the scriptures and being diligent in our prayer life thus developing our spiritual life so that we are 'every whit whole.'

THIS column honors this week Reverend M. G. Fields. In April 1960 the Chilton County Baptist Association employed Bro. Fields as the County Missionary to promote the work among Baptists of this area. Bro. Fields is a native of Pickens County and has held Pastors and served as Missionary for a number of his churches and counties of Alabama. He came to Clanton from Bessemer. His favorite scripture is Romans the 12th Chapter and the 1st verse. He chooses this one because he has a deep conviction that every Christian should be a dedicated Christian. Clanton is fortunate to have Bro. and Mrs. Fields as citizens of their town.

Termites occasionally attack living plants.

THE most striking new structure in Clanton is the new $75,000 Spigener Brown-Service Funeral Home on 4th Avenue North.

Mr. Bob White and his capable staff are very proud of their new building, which includes a very beautiful chapel for the convenience and use of families and other groups. The new structure, completed in August of 1960 is completely modern throughout and conveniences for you at a time when convenience is welcomed, is a primary concern.

General Contractors for the building were Scott Bros. of Alexander City, Alabama and many local firms had a hand in this progressive step for the community.

Mr. White and all his employees have a reputation of handling every detail to your complete satisfaction and their new home aids greatly in this their first concern.

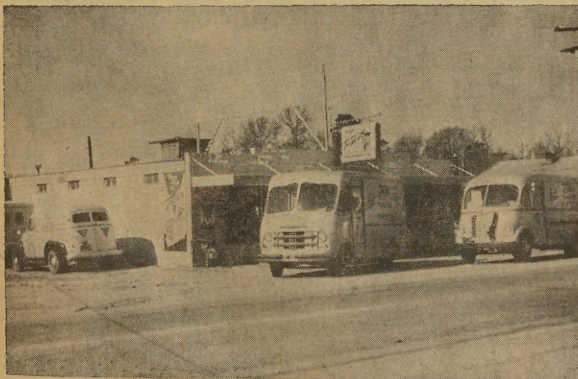

Mr. White, who is the County Coroner, reminds us too, that Spigener has Ambulance Service available any time of the day or night with the latest in facilities as well as competent drivers when you need them most. When you need help, guidance and reassurance, let the folks at Spigener take charge. To help those in need is their business and they add enough extras in the way of courtesy and comfort to make them worthy of your trust!

DURING the past 13 years Marion Wood, local distributor for Tom's Toasted Peanuts and related products, has built that business up until today it's volume is four times that of its beginning and they are happy in new, spacious quarters in South Clanton with five delivery trucks serving the people and businesses of Chilton County. A far cry from their beginning with one truck and a very small warehouse.

What is the reason for this phenomenal growth?

Well, it's a combination of good management, excellent product and an eye for the future which has enabled Tom's to grow right along with Chilton County. Some of the best products you can find - in the snack line - are distributed by Mr. Woods and his energetic staff and made by Tom's, a quality name built through years of satisfying the desires and wishes of their customers.

The new warehouse is located on Highway 31 South in the building formerly occupied by Acme Building Supply. These new quarters enables the staff of Tom's Products to serve the community with a large variety of products and their fleet of trucks enables them to get the product to you while it is still fresh and delicious.

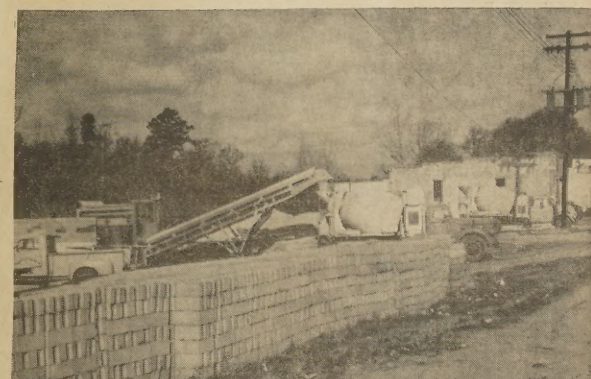

Another of Chilton's outstanding business success stories!

UNEMPL'YMENT BENEFITS MOUNT
Payments Still Low In State

Alabama is now paying some $3 million every month in unemployment compensation.

But the state's payments to unemployed workers are among the lowest in the entire nation, says Industrial Relations Director Ralph R. Williams. He hopes both the amount and duration of payment can soon be increased.

The maximum weekly payment in Alabama at present is $28. Only one other Southern state - South Carolina - pays a smaller weekly benefit, and that is $26.

Kentucky is tops with $37. Georgia and Louisiana each pay $35 and Florida $33 while North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia allow $32 each.

In Alabama, the maximum duration of unemployment compensation is 20 weeks. It is the same period in Virginia.

In all other Southern states, benefits are paid over a longer period - 26 weeks in most states and 28 in Louisiana.

When you multiply the maximum weekly benefit amount by the maximum duration, Alabama pays less benefit than any state in the South, Director Williams said. The total benefits an individual worker could draw in Alabama would be $560 annually compared with $980 in Louisiana.

The unemployment compensation program is financed through contributions by both employers and employees. The program paid out $26,781,979 in benefits to an estimated 113,600 persons last year.

Farmer Still Low Man On 'Profit Pole'

Who's getting the extra cash you're paying for food? To keep track of food prices, the USDA has set up what it calls the market basket which contains various food items that the American homemaker buys each year, says Dorothy Overby, Auburn Extension consumer education specialist. And in the last 10 years, the price of the articles in the basket has risen $243.

Of this $243, the farmer received only $2; transportation took $33; labor consumer $130; the government got $4 in taxes; and packaging, advertising, financing, products research, etc., received $73.

The large rise in labor costs is due to the consumer's increasing demand for more maid service with food. Similarly, the transportation rise is a result of the demand for variety - more than in-season food locally grown.

However, food is still a bargain, Miss Overby says. Only one-fifth of the family's income goes for food as compared with one-fourth 30 years ago.

Thirty years ago, the average hen in the United States laid 121 eggs per year; today she lays 206 eggs.

Serve Soup And Crackers

On a winter night there's nothing more delightful... or more inviting... than a warming bowl of mug of soup and crisp crackers. This "go-together" is sure to chase Jack Frost right out!

With canned condensed soups you can prepare tempting winter treats in minutes time. For instance, take a can of tomato rice. Its old fashioned goodness of rich tomato broth... accented with chunks of tomato, selected whole grain rice, and other garden vegetables... can be further complemented by the addition of canned okra, bacon, and onion. This mouth-watering soup will remind you of a specialty famous in the sunny South. It's satisfying and spoonable from bowls or mugs.

The perfect cracker-mate for the Tomato Rice Bowl is salines, spread with butter and sprinkled with basil. If this is a winter night supper menu, round it out with a simple dessert of a basket of fresh fruit and spice cookies, milk, and coffee or tea.

The soup recipe goes like this:

Tomato Rice Bowl
1 slice bacon
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed tomato rice soup
1 cup cooked sliced okra
Cook bacon and onion, in saucepan, until bacon is crisp; remove and crumble. Add soup, water, okra, and bacon. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Herbed Crackers
Spread salines with butter; sprinkle with basil. Broil until lightly browned. Serve with hot soup.

Supper on a Bread Slice

Crisp fall weather sharpens appetites, and hearty food is the order of the day. The home economists of the Carnation Company had just this thought in mind when they developed a delicious new hamburger dish. Evaporated milk is mixed with ground beef, cheese, mushrooms and seasonings, and spread on French bread halves. The bread is wrapped in aluminum foil, and baked. The meat mixture is juicy and firm-textured, thanks to the better blending qualities of evaporated milk.

Your family will ask you to repeat this recipe often.

MUSHROOM HAMBURGER SUPPER
(Makes 6 servings)
1/2 cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 cup cracker meal
1 egg
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup (4 ounces) grated Cheddar cheese
1 cup chopped mushrooms
1 1/2-inch loaf French bread
Heavy duty aluminum foil Strips of cheese for garnish
Combine first eleven ingredients. Cut French bread in half lengthwise. Spread meat mixture evenly over cut surface of each half. Wrap heavy duty aluminum foil around crust side of bread, leaving top uncovered. Place on cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 25 minutes. Garnish with strips of cheese. Bake 5 minutes longer. To serve, cut slices across or diagonally.

Construct A Disposal Pit

Even the best poultrymen lose some chickens to diseases and must dispose of the bodies pointed out Hubbard. If you have a small flock and lose a bird occasionally, bury or burn the carcass. But if you have more economical. A pit requires some labor and expense to build; but once finished, it will save time and labor. Only a few minutes are required each day to lift the lid and drop in the dead birds.

The size pit to build will depend on the number of broilers you have. A pit five feet square and six feet deep should take care of the dead birds from a 10,000-capacity broiler house. For larger flocks, a deeper and longer pit will be necessary.

For complete details on how to build one of these pits, see your county agent.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Pippen of Montgomery County find that a disposal pit is the answer to their problem of getting rid of dead broilers. The Pippens, who manage 42,000 birds for W. C. Duncan, say that the disposal works satisfactorily.

Cattle Grubs Cost Producers

PACKERS annually throw away enough grub-damaged meat to feed 85,000 people a year. And the cattle raiser is the man who suffers this loss. Cattle grubs cost the cattlemen of this country over $100 million annually. Alabama contributes a large share to this waste.

Bob Farquhar, Auburn Extension beef cattle and sheep specialist, says that one of the most difficult of these pests to control is the heel fly because it never bites the host animal. Each summer the heel fly lays its eggs on the legs and underside of cattle, the specialist says. These eggs hatch and live in the body of the animal through the summer months. Then about this time of year, the insects eat a hole in the hide of the animal and emerge.

When this occurs, cattlemen can use insecticides (rotenone) is usually considered best) under heavy pressure as a spray. The insecticide penetrates the holes cut in the animal's back and kills the grubs. Treatment should be repeated every 30 days, Farquhar says.

When smaller groups of cattle are treated, rotenone can be applied as a one to two percent dust sprinkled on the back of the animal and rubbed in with a stiff brush.

New insecticides are now available for grub control which penetrate the hide and circulate through the blood system, killing the insects before they damage the hide of the animal in the emerging process. However, these insecticides must be applied in late summer or early fall to be effective.

The Auburn livestockman says the first symptoms of grubs are bumps or swelling along the back or loin area of the animal.

RESEARCH RESULTS

Auburn University Agricultural Experiment Station

FERTILIZING COASTAL HERB-MUDA has made it possible to grow a high rate of nitrogen forage desired and use of the crop. If used for grazing and hay, coastal needs 40 to 50 pounds of nitrogen before spring growth starts and again after each cutting. Lime, phosphate, and potash should be applied according to soil test. Removing large ton-nages of hay (six to eight tons per acre) increases potash requirements.

APPLE SCAB CONTROL. Dithane is a new fungicide that has been outstanding in controlling apple scab. It is noted for its ability to kill the fungus in diseased tissue 36 to 48 hours after infection. Other materials are more effective at the time of infection. Dithane (sold as Gypex) is applied at rates of one-half to three-fourths pound per gallon of spray through petal fall. In severe scab years it can be applied at one-fourth to one-half pound rate throughout the season up to seven days before harvest to control secondary spread. Dithane is not effective against summer diseases, whereas Captain controls bitter rot and other fruit spotting diseases.

BRUCHID RESISTANT VETCH. Warrior vetch, developed by the Auburn Agricultural Experiment Station, is not damaged by the vetch bruchid. This insect does extensive damage to seed of susceptible varieties, such as hairy vetch. Warrior has produced higher seed yields than hairy and is recommended as a green manure, grazing, or seed crop in the southern two-thirds of Alabama.

PREPARING EGGS. Cleaning, grading, and case-packing consumer-grade eggs cost $1.35 per case. This was learned in a survey of 23 Alabama egg producers in 1959. Cost of labor amounted to 40 percent of the total.

STRAWBERRY VARIETIES. More and better varieties of strawberries are now available for commercial planting in Alabama. Driedland is the best variety for early maturity in localities, Tennessee Beauty, and Earlday have merit. In Alabama, these varieties show merit. In Alabama, these varieties will remain under observation. Others being tested include Redglove, Midway, Florida 90, and Headliner.

NITROGEN FOR POTATOES. Spring-grown Irish potatoes need at least one-third of the nitrogen applied in the fall. When all nitrogen is applied in the fall, sources, crop yield and plant vigor are reduced, and physiological leaf roll was increased. In the Auburn studies, effects from the ammonium nitrogen were more noticeable as soil became more acid.

FLOWER GERMINATION. Annual flower-seed germinates quickly if thinly sown in pots or flats containing sterilized, sterilized soil. According to Auburn studies, these practices give best results: (1) press seed into the soil; (2) water thoroughly, preferably from the bottom by placing the container in a pan of water; (3) keep the container with glass or plastic; and (4) keep temperature between 60 and 70 degrees until seed germinate.

Shrub Planting Time

Soil Preparation -- A Must Before Planting

By Troy Keeble
Ornamental Horticulturist

EVEN though the cold outside still makes noses red and fingers numb, spring is chasing closely behind old man winter. When February comes, it's time to think once more about flowers, lawns, and new plants around the house.

Outside plants add to the beauty of the home, and make the home blend into its surroundings. However, careful planning is necessary before buying any shrub, flower, or tree. Consider the plant from the standpoint of growth habits, flower, fruit, and foliage color, as well as how well it fits into the landscape.

Prepare Soil

Soil preparation is very important. Shrubs and trees are fairly permanent plantings, so very little cultivation is possible once they have been planted. Remove any stones or trash from the area and work the earth to a depth of at least 12 to 15 inches. Use very little, if any, fertilizer, especially that which contains nitrogen if plantings are to be made soon. Well-rotted manure, peat moss, or leaf mold used about one-third to one-half the volume of the bed or hole will help the drainage, organic content and fertility.

And now you're ready to get your plants. Buy them from a reliable nearby nursery so you can avoid long shipments to the store. Be sure they are well-rooted. Unless your shrubs or flowers are to be planted right away, heel them in by digging a trench to hold the roots or ball of soil, and cover them with soil. Never let the roots dry out.

Now, dig the individual holes at least 12 inches wider and 6 inches deeper than the root system. Have the hole as wide at the bottom as it is at the top. If soil has not been prepared beforehand, put the topsoil in one pile and the subsoil in another. Also, have the soil moist at transplanting time. Soil seems to become packed when water is added. If it is too wet, while dry soil needs more water and attention.

Prune Before Planting

Prune away any broken roots or stems before putting the plant in the hole. Then be sure the plant, when settled, will be at about the same depth and level as it was in the nursery. For instance, shallow rooted plants like azaleas, camellias, and hollies must be planted shallowly if you are to grow them successfully. When you place your plants in the hole, be sure the roots are not cramped. Cover the roots until the hole is half-full with soil prepared earlier or with the topsoil from the hole. Fill the remaining space in the hole with water, let it soak in, then refill. Finish filling the hole with soil. Be careful to leave a slight dish-shaped depression on the surface to collect and hold water from waterings or rainfall. A two- to three-inch mulch of pine straw, peat moss, or leaf mold will help reduce moisture losses from the soil. For several days after planting sprinkle the foliage of evergreen plants. Also, make a frequent check to see if the soil needs watering, and so help the plants to recover faster from transplanting.

Act Now

Plant Or Release Cotton Allotment

Every farmer in Alabama should either plant or release his cotton allotment in 1961. If a farmer doesn't want to plant his allotment, he should release it by March 15. By doing this, the cotton acreage can be reassigned to the farmer who wants to plant more cotton.

The farmer who wants more cotton should make written application to his county ASC office by March 15. The amount requested should not be greater than the farmer will actually plant. If the farmer wants to release his allotment, he should file a statement in the last two years, and the farmer wants to keep his allotment, the rule says that he must plant one-tenth of an acre in 1961.

Alabama cotton income could be almost $200 million if this goal is reached. The 1960 cotton crop brought farmers $140 million.

More than 200 agribusiness, educational, and government leaders from all over Alabama have laid plans to reach this goal. Each county in Alabama will spearhead an intensive drive to get all of Alabama's 1,089,000-acre cotton allotment—104,000 acres higher than in 1960—planted this year.

Need More Hay

Plant Coastal Bermuda For Grazing And Hay Crops

By O. N. ANDREWS
Extension Agronomist

Cecil Ward, Jr., right, and Lee County Farm Agent Dick Teague are examining coastal bermuda grass. The Auburn Rt. 1 farmer is in the process of cutting his coastal bermuda grass for hay.

WILL you need more grazing during the dry summer months and more hay next winter? You will if you are a dairy or beef producer and coastal bermuda may be the answer for you. This grass has helped to solve the feed problem on many Alabama farms since its greatest help is during the hot, dry summer months when other grasses have stopped growing.

Not many years ago farmers in the state began to turn away from row crops and toward livestock production. Most of the three million or more acres taken out of cotton this land was turned to pasture to support the increasing livestock program.

These new livestock growers soon found that they did not have a summer grass adapted to the droughty upland soils that could support a profitable livestock enterprise.

The introduction of coastal bermuda, a deep rooted hybrid bermuda grass, has solved this situation. It is well adapted to droughty, hot and high yields of hay. Research workers in Alabama, Georgia, and other southeastern states soon proved that coastal was more productive on the upland soils than Dallis, Pensacola bahia or common bermuda.

At first, farmers were somewhat skeptical of the outstanding results with coastal bermuda grass reported by research workers. County agents and other agricultural workers encouraged a few farmers to give coastal a chance. The results they received proved that coastal was the pasture and hay crop that Dr. Glenn Burton, the developer, and research workers in the South claimed it to be.

Some of the first coastal bermuda growers in the state were L. G. Bell, Monroe County; Bryan Massey, Crenshaw; L. G. Libby, Autauga; Owen Murphree and other producers grew coastal and sold them to other farmers in the state. Bryan Massey furnished 4-H boys in his area sprigs free of charge to start their own 4-H coastal project.

About two-thirds of this acreage is interplanted with crimson and white clover. The Wadsworth Brothers, Autauga County who have one of the best forage programs in the state, use reseeding crimson clover and coastal bermuda to provide grazing and hay for their beef herd.

Coastal bermuda has now proved itself on thousands of farms in the South. Evidence of this is that cattle producers have established over 140,000 acres in the state. This increase is used to support our greatly expanded livestock program in the state.

And this is why. Coastal stands dry weather well and makes good use of water and nitrogen. It responds to high rates of fertilization and is well adapted to the increasing livestock program. University Experiment Station coastal bermuda fertilized with 150 to 200 pounds of nitrogen per acre plus necessary phosphate and potash. However, several farmers over the state reported higher yields.

Coastal bermuda grows well in combination with vetch and crimson clover. At the Piedmont Substation at Camp Hill, this combination without additional nitrogen furnished grazing for more than one beef cow and her calf for a six-month period. One acre of coastal averaged producing 400 pounds of beef. Calf gains averaged three pounds per day from late April to early June.

Don't be satisfied with a "get-by" or second best feed production program. Grow coastal bermuda. Have some of the best grazing and hay possible.

Coastal bermuda provides good grazing.

tests with dairy cows it has not maintained milk production of high producers after July 15. However, it furnished good grazing for dry cows and replacement heifers.

Most people agree that as a hay and pasture plant for brood cows and calf herds on upland soils, coastal bermuda establishes better than any other grass. It is a quick planter by seed. However, it is just as cheap as crops established with seed, and farmers are getting a cutting of hay or some grazing the same year they plant the sprigs.

Experienced growers say these rules must be followed to get a good stand. 1. Plant only when the soil is moist. Early spring after danger of frost is past. Any spring or summer month will do it if it is wet. 2. Use live, freshly dug sprigs. The best way is to get them from your own nursery or nearby farm so sprigs can be dug and planted within a matter of hours. 3. Plant just deep enough to cover most of the sprig with moist soil. Firm the soil around the sprig.

4. Control weeds after planting to give the young plants a chance to get a start and spread quickly. 5. Fertilize with nitrogen as soon as grass begins to grow. Established stands must be limed, fertilized and good grazing can be expected. 6. Have coastal bermuda pay off in grazing and hay.

Don't be satisfied with a "get-by" or second best feed production program. Grow coastal bermuda. Have some of the best grazing and hay possible.

Check THAT HOME FREEZER

By Isabelle Downey
Food Preservation Specialist

DO you check your home freezer everyday to make sure it is operating properly? If you don't, you may find a freezer full of thawed food someday.

Partially thawed frozen foods can be refrozen. But many precautions must be taken. Thawed fruits can be refrozen if they still taste and smell good. Or they can be used in cooking and baking or for making jams, jellies and preserves. Fruits usually ferment when they start to spoil. A little fermentation will not make the fruits dangerous to eat, but it may spoil the flavor and make them unwholesome. Therefore examine each package of food before you decide what to do with it. If the food still contains ice crystals, it may be safely refrozen. But if the odor of the thawed food is poor or questionable, throw it away. It may be dangerous to eat!

Recent tests show that you can refreeze beef, veal, and lamb that show no sign of spoilage. If the package has not been opened, the meat's juices can be reabsorbed by placing the unopened package upside down in the zero compartment. If the package has been opened, the meat should be rewrapped before freezing. However, the rewrapped meat may be drier than the meat in an unopened package.

Be careful when you refreeze vegetables, shellfish, and cooked meats. Cooked meats, shellfish and cooked foods have spoiled. Bacteria multiply rapidly in these foods, even at 50 degrees. So don't refreeze any of these foods when they have thawed completely. If ice crystals are still in the food, you can refreeze it immediately. Usually, it is safe to do so, even though the quality may suffer.

Many studies show that the family with home-produced food eats better. Families that raise their own vegetables and fruits tend to eat more of these foods. Having developed this standard, when they go shopping they will choose them at the counter. In addition, the child's approach to eating vegetables is better if he helped to raise them.

Add Spring To Your Meals

Fruits - Vegetables - Chicken

D O February days leave you cold? If so, try putting warmth in your meals with some of the springtime foods. Fried chicken is welcome anytime, not just during the picnic season. Add a little spring to your meals with fruits, vegetables, and chicken. The nicest thing about this main dish and accompaniment is that it's so kind to the food budget.

Improved marketing methods move the early greens from the warm climates where they are grown to our markets in good condition. In your selection, you have a choice of out greens, which are sold by the pound or washed greens sold in pillbox bags or by bunches with the roots on.

Young, tender greens need only a few minutes to cook. They are very tender, serve them raw in salads for your family's enjoyment.

You have more than 50 different fruits and vegetables to choose from at the market if canned and frozen goods are a part of your diet.

Ironers are most frequently injured by dropping them or letting them slide from the ironing board to the floor. Such accidents can be avoided if a sturdy level ironing board is used, if the iron is always rested on the heel or side, and if the electric outlet is on a level with the ironing board or slightly above it.

Iron plugs and cords will last longer if they are used and cared for properly. Always disconnect a detachable iron cord first from the wall outlet, then at the heel of the iron. This prevents excessive sparking and wear at contact points. And always grip the cord, not the cord in removing it from an outlet.

Select a safe place for the iron to stand while it cools after use. If the cord is permanently attached, wrap it loosely around the iron handle after the iron is cold. The original box or other container is an excellent place for storing the iron when it is not in use.

Keep the iron free from dirt and burned-on starch. Wipe the bottom of the cold iron with a wet soapy cloth. Rub a paste of household ammonia and Spanish whiting on the bottom and let it dry. Rub off with a cloth. Repeat this process after each use. It will also remove any waxed paper that has stuck to the soleplate.

Two to three pounds of unfrozen food per cubic foot of freezer space is the limit to put in even when the freezer is at zero degrees or lower.

So play it safe, check your freezer daily.

Make Your Man Sit Up And Take Notice

By GAY PHILLIPS

RECORDED in legends and folklore all the way from the ancient and Roman tales through the literature of the Middle Ages to many beautiful love stories. And most of these stories involve a sorcerer, magician, or other supernatural being who enchanted the lovers with certain magic mixtures designed to inspire affectionate feelings.

These magic love potions were made from top secret recipes, and they usually contained such ingredients as flower seed, herbs, berries, powdered turtle dove, vegetables, spices, and even hearts and tongues of toads, winged ants, and bat's blood. And the women stopped believing in the love potion was not forgotten. In 16th century France, young girls kept love apples—actually tomatoes—and even in our own country Daisy Mae tried a special mixture of turnip preserves to capture the heart of Lili Abner.

The latest idea in love potions came ago when some lady scientist experimenting in her kitchen set forth the principle, "a way to a man's heart is through his stomach." The very best time to put this principle into action is February 14—a day set aside especially for such experiments. You may have your own tried-and-true recipe, but if you haven't, here are a few that are guaranteed to make any man "sit up and take notice."

Helpful Hints On

By Anne Patterson

IRONING is a chore which most homemakers put off until last. It's tiring and requires a lot of time, but the job must be done and it should be done right.

A well-groomed appearance is so essential today that good habits in regard to personal care and grooming must be established early and practiced regularly. One of the most standards high on the list of good grooming habits is the ironing of clothes.

Today, however, the textile industry produces so many new and different fabrics that some of the time-honored ironing methods no longer apply. It becomes necessary, therefore, to learn correct techniques for ironing garments fashioned from the new fabrics. This is important so that they will be ironed satisfactorily and with the least possible effort. It's also worthwhile to spend a few minutes reviewing ironing techniques for some of the older fabrics and fibers.

Cotton—Dampen well. Iron with hot dry iron at cotton setting for smoother, better-looking finish. Iron dark cottons on wrong side to eliminate shine.

PATTERSON

Chocolate-Mint Flip

1/4 cup cocoa malt
1 cup hot milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon peppermint
1/2 cup vanilla ice cream

Add cocoa malt to hot milk; stir until dissolved. Add cold milk, salt, and flavorings. Chill. Just before serving, pour into shaker. Add ice cream; shake until smooth and blended. Makes 1 1/2 quarts.

Dreaded Chore . . . Ironing

entures, fabrics may shrink, stiffen, glaze, or melt. Touch up collars on right side using a smooth heavy press cloth.

Nylon—Needs little or no ironing. If pressed, do so while damp-dry on wrong side with yellowing, shrinking, or glazing.

Dacron—Needs little or no ironing. If pressed, do so while damp-dry with a barely wrinkled iron. Don't let iron come in contact with material; use press cloth.

Acrylics, Dynel, and Orlon—Little or no ironing needed. Press dynel at a very low temperature. Iron Acrylics and Orlon at 300 degrees. Don't let iron come in contact with material; use press cloth.

Vicara—Needs no ironing.

Glass fibers—Never iron glass-fiber fabrics.

In ironing, make the job easier for yourself. Standing and lifting make ironing tiring, so sit while you iron, do not lift the iron, and bring the work to the iron. Also, arrange the garments as little as possible, and use both hands. Heat, not weight, does most of the work in ironing. The automatic dial control types of irons are designed to make ironing easier.

Proper care will greatly prolong the efficiency and useful life of an electric iron. (Continued on page 7)

THE WAY I SEE IT...

by Dr. E. I. York, Jr., Director
Auburn University Extension Service

WE here in Alabama are confronted with a strange paradox. Few, if any, states are blessed with better natural resources. Yet few states suffer from lower levels of economic development.

During the next three months, this column will examine the problem and point to some of our potentials for expanding our state's economy through agriculture and industry and to present plans for a program of economic development which can help us realize these potentials.

The Problem

Alabama's per capita income is a mere $1,409; only two other states have lower incomes.

Our unfavorable economic position is made more acute by our large farm population and its comparatively low income. In 1959 Alabama's net income per farm was $1,440—fourth from the bottom of all states. The net per capita income of our farm population was only $320.

Our problem results in part from the fact that we are falling far short of our potential income from agriculture. Our production of most commodities is relatively low and inefficient. During the past 20 years, we have lost about one-third of our agricultural land through the entry in the rate of expansion in farm income.

This low level of farm income has contributed to a mass exodus of people from the farm.

Alabama's total population has increased about seven percent in the last 10 years. During the same period, U. S. population has gone up 18.5 percent. Although national growth has been rapid, Alabama's farm population has decreased approximately 50 percent. And 45 of Alabama's rural counties have lost population. One major consequence of our lagging population growth is the loss of one Alabama congressman.

Throughout the state, hundreds of once prosperous and thriving rural communities are literally dying. As people move out, the churches and schools are abandoned and local businesses have to close. When this happens, state and county governments lose tax revenue, and the entire economy suffers.

The problem is not one of trying to maintain the same number of people in agriculture that we had 10 or 20 years ago. Indeed, with the tremendous advances in technology in American agriculture in the last two or three decades, fewer farmers are required to supply our needs.

The problem, therefore, is twofold: helping people to improve income and standard of living, and helping those people who are moving out of agriculture find suitable employment opportunities in business or industry preferably within their local area. The absence of local employment opportunities has resulted in thousands of farm people leaving their home county, with many of them moving from the state. When this occurs, a community, a county, or a state loses some of its most valuable resources for future development.

Keeping Ahead in Farming

by A. W. Jones
Auburn University
Extension Marketing Specialist

There's Meat Supply Falling Behind Demand

THERE are two basic diets among the peoples of the world—meat and rice. Meat is gaining in popularity. We have watched a build-up in beef cattle numbers to over 100 million head in the U. S. Some tend to worry about it; however, some look at it in another way. The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations says meat production is not rising fast enough over the world to keep up with demand. A slight decline in exportable surplus of beef next year would mean the expansion of world meat trade almost to a halt.

Strong Industry Demand for Food Technologists
Although the number of farms and farmers in the United States is decreasing, there are ample opportunities for farm youth in other branches of the food industry, according to a recent study by the Institute of Food Technologists. The survey discovered that:

1. Industry wants to hire more than twice as many food technologists during the next five years. Prices will average a little lower than in the previous year, but USDA forecasts. The food technologist is in demand.
2. Predicted concentrate supply—consisting of corn, grain sorghums, barley, oats, and by-product feeds—will be about three percent larger than last season and 29 percent above the 1964-68 average. A total of 75 million tons of feed stocks were on hand October 1. The available stocks next October are expected to rise to about 82 million tons, with supply still exceeding demand.

Peanut Potential

Peanuts are one of the most promising crops in the picture for thousands of Alabama farmers. This is emphasized in many different ways. First, the adaptability of peanut production to our conditions, the rate of expansion, and the favorable combination we can make with peanuts and other enterprises gives this enterprise a favorable outlook.

Evidence of the adaptability of peanuts is the rapid rate of expansion and the fact that we are producing area that stretches from North Carolina to Texas.

The peanut is a relatively new crop—averaging 18,262,000 pounds in Alabama during the last 10 years—about 12 times as much as the average of the 1920's.

When a producer does everything possible for an ideal pasture, he has also created a good situation for a productive peanut tree—two profitable enterprises on the same land at the same time.

More and more peanuts are being shelled and sold in confections, baked goods, and fancy nut mixes, as well as direct sale of peanuts in the shell to consumers.

Dependable local peanut buyers in all producing areas make peanuts one of our easiest and least expensive crops to market. The thing for prospective producers is to get a supply of planting stock lined up for setting during the 1960-61 planting season.

Brighter Future for Cotton

The 1961 national acreage allotment of 18.4 million acres exceeds last year's original allotment by slightly more than two million acres. It is about a million acres above the 1960 revised allotment, including the 1.2 million extra acres planted under

Alabama's problem of low income, particularly in agriculture, results from the failure to utilize fully our physical and human resources in rural areas. A solution to this problem should have a twofold objective: increasing the efficiency and productivity of agriculture and thereby expanding agricultural income and providing employment opportunities for those people moving out of

Centennial Caravan to Be Here Saturday

A caravan from Montgomery containing 30 or more cars will visit Clanton Saturday in the interest of the Civil War Centennial being observed this year.

Mayor Earl James of Montgomery will be with the group plus all the Belles and Beaux of the Civil War era.

The Highway Patrol will meet the caravan at the City Limits and escort them to the Old Hayes lot across from where acting Mayor L. E. Diefenderfer will meet them with the other councilmen and welcome them to Clanton. The Mayor of Montgomery, Earl James will present the officials some mementos for the City. Mayor Hollis Jackson Mayor of Clanton, will be in Mobile on official duty.

Arrangements have been made for the old Hayes lot to be roped off as a parking area for the visitors and the presentation of the gifts to the City will be made there. They will remain here for thirty minutes or more.

Portrait of Patriot To Be Hung In 'Archives'

Capt. William Armstrong Middleton, C. S. A.

WILLIAM Armstrong Middleton, above, recruited a company of soldiers and was mustered into the service of the Confederacy as Company G, 1st Battalion, Hilliard's Legion, C. S. A. at Montgomery, Alabama. In 1863 this company became a part of the 23rd Battalion.

100 YEARS AGO!

One hundred years ago this week on February 4, 1861, deputies from six seceded Southern states—South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, and Louisiana—met at Montgomery to organize a provisional government of Southern states. Howell Cobb of Georgia was elected to preside over the proceedings. The Montgomery convention met at the invitation of Alabama's secession convention.

Also one hundred years ago this week, February 4, 1861, a Peace Conference, initiated by Virginia, opened in Washington, D. C. Aimed at persuading Northern and Southern states to compromise, the Peace Conference did not get approval for its suggested constitutional amendments on slavery.

Alabama Sharpshooters, Middleton became a Captain of Company G of that Battalion. He was desperately wounded at Dandridge, Tenn., January 28th, 1864 and was retired to the "Invalids" Corps until December 2, 1864. Capt. Middleton died at Clanton on November 11, 1911 at the age of 84 a man of stainless life, of proven courage and patriotism and a descendant of some of the greatest men in history of the United States including Henry Middleton, President of the Second Continental Congress; Arthur Middleton, signer of the Declaration of Independence and Governor of South Carolina; and many other distinguished Americans.

Capt. Middleton was the father of Judge J. O. Middleton, a resident of Clanton and Chilton County since early childhood. Judge Middleton is a Methodist, like his father before him and among his other duties in his lifetime, served as Mayor of Clanton in 1907, four years before the death of his father.

The above photo, (courtesy of the family and Scott's Studio) will be donated by the family to the Alabama Archives and History and the statue pictured here will also be presented to the State. A fitting tribute to one of Chilton County's and America's great patriots and leaders. (Portions of the above were taken from "Chilton County And Her People" a history by T. E. Wyatt, editor-publisher of the Union-Banner).

Patterson Eyes Unemployment; Plans Program

Gov. John Patterson is moving fast to cope with rising unemployment in Alabama.

The governor has called on local officials in 46 counties to take note of conditions in their areas and to consider the distribution of surplus foodstuffs. Needy families in 20 counties are already receiving the commodities, and Jefferson County has re-entered the program.

Also, Alabama is making plans to cooperate in several Federal forestry projects in areas of high unemployment.

The forestry program is aimed at using some of the idle manpower and Gov. Patterson has ordered the State Conservation Department to take full advantage. The U. S. Forest Service is pushing the program as an emergency measure.

It would be financed by the Federal government, and the forestry projects might include such items as road work in state forests and the construction of fire towers. Work might be undertaken on state or private land.

Conservation Director William C. Younger said the Forest Service was surveying rush-up projects within a 30-mile radius of Birmingham, Florence-Shedfield, Gadsden, Jasper and Talladega. The program is still in the planning stage, however and not yet definitely authorized.

Unemployment is on the increase in Alabama, and the percentage here is above the national average Gov. Patterson said. The situation is becoming serious, and we want to do to aid all persons who want to work everything possible on the state level but cannot find a job.

ADVERTISING CONTRIBUTES TO GROWTH

A protracted campaign to inform Americans about the real role played by advertising in their lives and in the national economy was launched this month by the Advertising Federation of America and the Advertising Association of the West.

Much of the current comment about advertising that finds its way into print originates with its enemies, the groups observed. In circulating untruths about advertising, these comments omitted its achievements.

The new campaign, to be carried on in newspapers and other advertising media, stresses the positive contributions. It emphasizes that advertising permits the marketer or seller of goods to inform the public of their existence. Only in this way can mass demand be generated.

Mass demand makes possible low prices through mass production; thus, advertising saves the public money. Mass demand also results in mass employment, and jobs are urgently required now because of the growing labor force. In these ways, advertising makes a positive contribution to America's economic growth.

CHILTON County may have a Trade School in the very near future. Rural Development Director M. R. (Red) Glasscock, Supt. of Education W. A. (Bing) Lecroy, Rep. Francis Speaks, Senator Joe Graham and other interested citizens met recently to discuss the problems and procedure necessary to obtain a Trade School for our County of Chilton.

Residents Show Active, Varied Interest

In response to direct mail questionnaire relative to interest in the trades school, a total of 670 Chilton County householders responded and 498 indicated one or more members of the household interested in receiving trades training of some type. A total of 493 different individuals indicated a desire to have an opportunity to receive trades training.

It is interesting to note that the largest number of respondents to the question of a Trades School for Chilton County were in the 15 to 20 year age group (149).

Major Road Project For Chilton Gets Underway

Governor John Patterson and Highway Director Sam Engelhardt today signed a contract for another major project in Chilton County which will result in the building of 3.38 miles of grading, drainage, and bituminous treatments in Chilton County.

This is State Project No. 1215 Chilton County from Jemison northeast via Rocky Mountain church to Chilton County Road No. 51.

Director Engelhardt said he low bid contract in the amount of $106,089.51 was awarded to Wilson Brothers of Childersburg, Alabama.

He said the work on the project should get underway in the next 14 days.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank everyone who stood by us in any way during the passing of our loving husband and father. May God richest blessing be yours as our prayer. Mrs. Charlie Blalock and children.

"We would like to see the County get this School, although no one in this household is interested in any training as of now."

The Trade School would not only suit the people but would help attract industry to Chilton County. The Chamber of Commerce heartily endorses and supports this project, as does this newspaper.

Ye Olde Groundhog--

BET some of you haven't even thought about it being time for the old Groundhog to show up! Well, today's the day and if we don't miss our guess too badly he will show up, but we still are favoring the hope that he won't be able to see his shadow. Another month of the kind of weather we've been having will be about as welcome around these parts as an elephant at a mouse square dance! B-r-r-r--!

We await Mr. Groundhog's 'decision' but somewhat apprehensively to say the least -- after all, who is he to say. . .

National Advertising Week--

THE week of February 5-12 is National Advertising Week and it serves well to remind all merchants and sellers of products and services that they depend largely on advertising to sell their wares, whether they realize it or not. Advertising your business is most essential to the success of that business and if you haven't given it much thought, you should do so! The economy of our nation and right here at home in Chilton County depends on how well we advertise ourselves and our products and without the advertising media which serve this community, we would fast become extinct, in relation to the rest of the world.

Advertising truly has a place in our society and we salute all advertising people everywhere. . . and that just about includes all of us, in one way or another!

The key to effective selling and thus the success of a business is found through promotional advertising and while we're about it. . . your community newspaper is a pretty good "seller" for your business. Why? Because it goes straight to the consumer and that prospective customer expects to find the services and products he needs in the pages of his hometown newspaper!

The 'Tool' Which Is Labor--

WE predict that in the next few years the death of Unionism, as we know it today, will come to pass for the sake of something better for our country and its people. Ironically, and just the way of all unsatisfactory systems of governing anything, it is causing its own demise. We base our creeds and beliefs on the Democratic way of life; but what pray tell is Democratic about a man or a group of men telling another in business, how he will work his employees, who they will be and how much he will pay them?

The childish antics of Unionism in particular instances is degrading to the integrity and self-respect of every American and it cannot last. The original intent of Unionism -- to better the working conditions of the average man -- has been swept up in the tide of graft and corruption brought about by hundreds of little dictators seeking to earn themselves a fortune and an empire at the expense of all of us. Ironically too, this malignant growth has succeeded using the working man as a willing 'tool' because he felt he was helping his cause.

The original ideals of Unionism are no longer predominant. It has the economy gasping for breath and therefore should be replaced by something better for our people. The salvation of this idea stems from the fact that more and more the working man is realizing that the system is unsatisfactory for him and therefore the 'tool' which built the Union machine will also be the tool which tears it down, or modifies it. The American worker, realizing this abomination on our society will act and be able to devise new methods of representation and governing of the sale of his time and labor. This will not only bring about better conditions for the laborer, but will strengthen the economic stability of the nation, satisfy more of our people and renew the vigor and vitality of the society in which we find ourselves.

Proof Positive of Progress--

THE feature (exclusive in the News) this week on the progress in Chilton County Schools is mock evidence of what local taxes, paid at home and spent at home, will do for a community. The One-Cent sales tax which the people of Chilton County imposed upon themselves should be a precedent followed by many other communities when they see the good which has come of it.

We are also happily justified in giving the people of Chilton County a big pat on the back for making this possible. Anyone who knows about such things will tell you it is next to impossible to get the citizenry interested enough in anything to burden themselves with a tax of any kind. The citizens of Chilton County have done it, after an educational program on the

Now here's an interesting political comment: Gov. John's Press Sec., Harry Cook, has a "hunch" that despite recent rumblings of a rough legislative session in May the session will be smooth and very productive. Some politicians are wondering if Mr. Cook knows something they don't.

Usually when the Ala. Press Association gets together he function deals primarily with problems, etc. of news folks. However, from the looks of the politicians who plan to be on hand for the Feb. 9-11 meet in Huntsville, it might develop into a real political gabfest.

Among those participating, and who may politic include: Atty

Christ The Divine Teacher

In the third chapter of John, he introduces Christ as the Divine Teacher. Certainly this is in order for he was of divine origin and the things he taught were of a holy and spiritual nature. Nicodemus noticing in him a characteristic which was not to be found in other teachers, called Christ a teacher come from God. His reason for doing so is to be found in his statement that no man could do the miracles which Christ did except God be with him.

Christ, the Divine Teacher, taught anywhere and anytime the opportunity presented itself. It may be on the mountain side where the multitudes are gathered, in the synagogues where the congregation has met, in a home where the family is assembled, or somewhere with an individual, but in every case that which he taught was of spiritual value. From the third chapter of John, we find that it was to an individual that Christ taught some of the most profound doctrines of Christianity. These have to do with the New Birth, Conditions of Salvation, and the Love of God.

With reference to the New Birth Jesus said, "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." Here is the positive statement that regeneration must take place before man can even see or begin to understand the kingdom of God. We must recognize the fact that Christ said that the new birth is an absolute necessity. This

Gen. McDonald Gallion, Florence Sen. Bert Halm, Supt. of Ed. Frank Stewart, former Sen. Richmond Flowers, Revenue Comm. Harry Haden, Harbour Rep. McDowell Lee, Tallapoosa's Fletcher Farrington and probably many others.

There seems to be no doubt among editors talked with this AFA session should give them a keener insight into some of the key problems concerning the May Legislature and the latest developments in the coming Gov., Lt. Gov., Atty. Gen. and Ag. Comm. races. Reports on this will follow.

While on the subject of the meet predictions of Rep. Lee's feeling toward reappointment in the planned debate in Sen. Halm, are that he will tell the editor's he is for reappointment provided the lower House is apportioned on a population basis with a limit placed on the large counties.

He is also expected to come out for the 67-Senator plan. Talk has it, with those persons who should know, Lee's idea is the 'typical' Black Belt maneuver to really get around reappointment.

Because, the claim is Lee and other Black Belts know the 67-Senator Bill has been rejected by Alabama voters three times in the past. As mentioned before, Sen. Halm, with the avowed backing of Gov. John, will favor his 60-Senator, 120 House member measure.

Former Ag. Comm. A. W. Todd said recently, if the situation doesn't change he will probably be a candidate in that race in 1962. Halm, with the avowed backing of Gov. John, will favor his 60-Senator, 120 House member measure.

Over 50% of all deaths (14,350 persons) in Alabama in 1959 were caused by diseases of the heart and blood vessels. It is obvious that the results of research have a direct bearing on the health of the citizens of our state.

In its search for the conquest of the No. 1 killer, your Alabama Heart Association this year alone is sponsoring seven research Grants in Aid and one Fellowship within the state. Total research expenditures this year by Alabama Heart are almost $76,500. Alabama sends 25% of its funds to the American Heart Association; over one-half of which is earmarked for research. As a result of this National Research Plan, two additional Grants in Aid and one Established Investigator are being supported in Alabama this year by your Heart Fund dollars. Since the founding of the Alabama Heart Association, over $400,000 has been invested in cardiovascular research. $266,000 of which has supported research in Alabama.

In addition, Heart Fund dollars in Alabama through research have helped to create new types of synthetic arteries - replacing defective natural arteries, and new surgical techniques for their use. To establish Alabama's only state wide Congenital Heart Laboratory. To assist in establishing in Alabama one of the nation's finest operating facilities for heart surgery.

To help create a new and better heart-lung pump for open heart surgery.

The latest information for diagnosis, care and treatment is brought to the practicing physician through Scientific Sessions and Professional Publications such as the "Heart Bulletin" and "Modern Concepts of Cardiovascular Diseases," etc., by your Heart Association.

Heart Councils and Committees throughout the state conduct educational programs for the general public - for a better understanding of the heart problem.

Your Heart Association's program is supported entirely by voluntary contributions made through the annual February Heart Fund. As an independent health agency, it is not affiliated with nor supported by any type of federated or united fund.

Due to the magnitude of the problem and to the prohibitive costs of individual care and treatment, the Alabama Heart Association believes that it can best serve the greatest number of people in the state through its broader program of research education and service to the community as a whole.

Research has already given us many answers. However, there are an even greater number of unsolved mysteries. Hundreds of worthwhile cardiovascular research projects go unsupported each year due to the lack of sufficient funds. Continued and increased research investments leading to the total conquest of heart diseases are the goals of your Heart Association.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

There was little or no legislative business last week pending a final decision on the composition of the Rules Committee. A vote scheduled for Thursday was postponed when the outcome appeared uncertain. In the meantime, pressures from all directions have mounted.

Purpose of 'Packing' Plan-- After abandoning the proposal to purge Rep. William Colmer of Mississippi, House Speaker Sam Rayburn threw his support behind a plan to increase the size of the Rules Committee from 12 to 15 members. The announced purpose of both of these proposals is to wrest control of the Rules Committee from a coalition of Southern Democrats and Republicans.

The principal reason advanced for packing the Rules Committee is that unless enlarged, this committee will not allow the House to vote on the Kennedy legislative program. There are at least two things wrong with this reasoning, however. First, a majority of the House, if it wants to vote on a bill, can always bring it to a vote by rules of the discharge petition -- by Rules Committee or no Rules Committee. This has been demonstrated on a number of occasions since I have been a member of Congress. Second, Chairman Howard Smith (D. Va.) has stated publicly that if efforts are abandoned to change the present make-up of the Rules Committee rules will be granted promptly.

The five-point program announced last month by President Kennedy Chairman Smith has refused, however, to guarantee committee passage of all future legislation President Kennedy may propose, as there is a serious possibility the stringent civil rights legislation will be among the President's recommendations for the Second Session of the 87th Congress.

Vote Rescheduled-- Most observers agree that this proposal to increase the committee will not be voted on unless Speaker Rayburn is certain of the outcome. Since the vote has been rescheduled for this week, the Rules Committee will probably be settled affirmatively by the time this column is in print. Whatever the outcome, however, there is every indication the vote will be extremely close, and my vote will be cast in opposition to the proposed change.

Suddenly the conductor's all-boarded train the air, & Mr. Moon snapped out of it, making a spurt to deliver the transportation orders. A pair of trucks with which they hauled bales of cotton were in front of him and were standing on the platform. One of Lovick's things was caught by the steel front of the truck and he was gashed to the bone in his leg, which after all was covered only by a layer of skin and practically no flesh at all.

As the blood spurted Mr. Moon grabbed the aching wound from the floor where he had fallen and gasped: "Why in the world did the Creator put all the meat on the back-side of a feller's legs? He might have realized a person would back over anything!"

A common toad, according to one estimate, is worth $25 a year to a farmer because of the large number of insects it eats.

Committee Important-- The Rules Committee often serves as a buffer to pressure groups. It has on occasion modified, or even buried, legislation that members knew was unwise but which they could not politically afford to oppose if it reached the floor of the House. For example, the Rules Committee has been the strongest deterrent to civil rights measures. Only last week a Washington Post columnist pointed out that any legislation of the Rules Committee would make it that much easier to pass more civil rights legislation. The fact is further evidenced by the pressures presently being exerted to increase the membership of the Rules Committee by both the NAAACP and certain national labor organizations that publicly advocate strong civil rights measures.

Since the vote has been rescheduled for this week, the Rules Committee will probably be settled affirmatively by the time this column is in print. THE stalwarts who first proclaimed freedom and coined the phrase 'Civil Rights' would no more recognize what they call Civil Rights today than they would a B-58 bomber. We would, therefore, like to request our Congressmen from the Deep South to stop referring to this false legislation as Civil Rights Legislation. There is nothing civil about it (using the word in the literal sense) and as for 'rights', they are being trampled on right and left by the farce called Civil Rights.

It takes an ironical intestine indeed to get up and bewail the manifest sin against the Negro and at the same time drive the state of chicanery and oppression into the chest of the white people in the South. We don't know what it takes to make a man stand up and carry out such tyrannical rule, but we do know that we want our Southern Senators and Representatives to stand up -- speak out for the South and true Civil Rights -- regardless of the consequences. We are sick and tired of all the pussy-footing around! It is indeed time to stand and not only be counted, but be heard as well!

WE believe in Civil Rights but the difference in us and some of our judges, Congressmen and (lawyers?) is that we know what 'Civil Rights' means and we didn't have to ask the NAACP either!

AS short a while ago as a six, newcomers to Clanton complained to us that there is nothing to do in Clanton for entertainment! Of course, they didn't know their way around to be able to enjoy the River and such things. But today things are different! The newcomer to town, used to artificial entertainment, so to speak, can find bowling alley, pool hall, skating rink, drive-in theatre, etc. all here at home. Yessir, Clanton and Chilton County has blossomed forth in the past 12 months. Now, we predict, if the trend continues, industry will pick up likewise in the next 12 to 24 months. Watch our smoke then! (And we don't mean the industrial variety, either!)

ONE of the most beautiful and enjoyable sights we have ever seen came to us completely by surprise Friday afternoon in Birmingham. The Magic City. As we came up the mountain the Sun was just past its zenith and looking back from whence we had come the entire countryside looked as though it had been sprayed silver by a giant spray gun. The ice on the trees, the snow on the ground, the white clouds presented a spectacular that would make the television producers green with envy. It was beautiful and

Foreign Bodies In Ear, Nose And Throat

Foreign bodies frequently lodge in the ear, nose, or throat. This occurs most often in pre-school children. Symptoms of a foreign body in the ear may be loss of hearing, pain, discharging, ringing in the ear, reflex cough, and dizziness.

Removal of a foreign body in the ear is a necessity and should be done with care and skill. General anesthesia may be successful in removing an impacted foreign body, although if it is a bean or a pea it will likely swell with introduction of water into the ear canal. Foreign bodies in the nose are extremely common in young children. Symptoms may be pain or sneezing, followed by discharge. Thorough inspection of the nose will usually reveal the presence of the object.

Generally it can be removed through the nostril, but if located extremely deep in the nose it may be necessary to push the object into the pharynx and recover it from there through the mouth. Foreign bodies in the mouth usually can be removed by the person in that predicament or by someone in the family, but foreign bodies in the tonsillar area and beyond are likely to require the skill of a physician for removal. we were privileged to pause a moment and marvel at this wonder of nature! One we'll long remember and talk about.

WE cannot stand the attitude of the government employee who is so secure in the knowledge that he is invulnerable to any more taxpayer that he is loathsome to deal with. Since we owe them money we presume they can say what they please, but loaning money does not give license to insult -- at least we didn't think it did. Most private businesses engaged in loaning money (there are pitiful few left) are at least courteous. . . not so with the Government agency! It's put up and shut up and don't fall behind and tote dat bar and lif' dat tale! Civility is a virtue which can be practiced even by employees of the U. S. Government. Bet that will be an astonishing bit o' news to 'em now won't it?

THE argument that is being pursued about the Presidential Electors in Alabama and whether or not they were pledged or unpledged; and just how justified they were in their actions and blah, blah, is to our way of thinking putting the cart before the horse. Every discussion we see on the matter takes for granted that the voters knew just what they were doing! Har de kar har! To say that the six independent electors voted and their constituents wanted them to is stretching the far-fetched a considerable amount. The average voter did not know 11 of these men from Adams' house cat. Six of them happened to be Independent and happened to be elected. The voter did not know what he was doing and it wasn't his fault entirely. The system of electing electors with our population what it is today is as outmoded as drawing a bucket from a well to get a drink of water. Most voters vote blind when they come to the Electors slate and if a voter doesn't know the man he is voting for how can he possibly know how that man will vote? The truth is, those independent electors' could do as they darn well pleased, regardless of what the voter thought. A system of Political Education might not be a bad approach to the problem, but it is a certainty that no problem such as this, can be solved without a complete knowledge of that problem -- that's where the voter falls flat and the politician takes over. Too many voters don't know a Delegate-At-Large from an Elector or an Elector from a Delegate to the National Convention, if there is any difference! We don't know either!

AT CONVENTION—

Ala. Publishers - Editors To Hear Debate On Reapportionment

Alabama newspaper publishers will hear reapportionment debated by two of the state's outstanding legislators one from the state's TVA area and the other from the Wiregrass section when the Alabama Press Association holds its 90th annual convention February 9, 10, and 11 at Huntsville.

Scheduled to give newspapermen a preview of the issue which is expected to keep the Alabama Legislature busy next summer are Sen. E. B. (Bert) Halton, Jr. of Florence, and Rep. McDowell Lee of Clio in Barbour County.

The debate which will include discussion of Halton's proposed reapportionment bill, will follow the major banquet of the convention Friday night, February 10.

Both Halton and Lee were first elected to the House of Representatives in 1954. In 1958 Lee won re-election to his seat in the House and Halton was successful in his campaign for election as state senator representing Lauderdale and Limestone Counties.

Following the 1958 regular and special sessions of the Legislature the two men were chosen by the capitol press corps as the best debaters in the House and Senate.

Halton, 38 year old advocate of reapportionment, is a native of Florence where he is a practicing attorney. He served in the U. S. Army Air Force in World War II and since his return from service has been active in civic and church affairs.

The 35-year old Lee is a native of Clayton in Barbour County. A Clo farmer and banker, he was elected mayor of the town at the age of 21. He served in the U. S. Navy during World War II and for two and one-half years was a special agent for the FBI.

During the convention, publishers will tour Redstone Arsenal where they will hear lectures by Maj. Gen. August Schoenburg, commanding general of the U. S. Army Ordnance Missile Command, and Dr. Werner von Braun, director of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center.

Widows, Widowers Comprise Nearly One Half Of All Pensioners

Nearly 79 percent of Alabama's old age pensioners are 70 years of age or older, Pensions and Security Commissioner Alvin T. Prestwood said today. He released findings of a detailed study just completed which was based on a representative sample of the approximately 99,000 pensions recipients during a recent month.

The largest number of pensioners nearly 32 percent had been receiving aid for five but under 10 years, Prestwood continued. He said the average length of time a pensioner had been carried on the rolls is 5.2 years. Nearly 3 percent have received pensions for 15 years or longer.

There are more than twice as many women as men receiving pensions, according to the Commissioner. He said that over 68 percent of the total are women, as compared with about 32 percent men. About one-fourth of the pensioners are married couples, both receiving pensions. Nearly 11 percent are married to persons not on pension rolls.

It was noted in the report that widows and widowers comprise more than half of all pensioners. Despite this fact, Prestwood said only 18.9 percent live alone, among the more than 63 percent that live in their own homes. About one-fourth of the pensioners live in the home of a son or daughter and less than 2 percent are in nursing homes.

White persons outnumber Negroes and other non-whites and represent 92 percent of the total receiving old age pensions.

For the group of pensioners the report showed the average amount needed according to agency standards to be approximately $79 with the average pension just under $53.

For the total group, there was an average income of about $14 and an average unmet need of about $12, again according to agency standards.

Only two-third of the recipients actually had income other than their pensions, however Prestwood said. For the group with income the amount other than pensions payments averaged nearly $22.

Apparently the other one-third of the pensioners depend on the amount they received from the Department of Pensions and Security.

Sources of income included earnings, contributions from children, OASDI benefits, other pensions, and other cash income. In addition, some of the pensioners have income in kind which a money value is assigned.

About a fourth of the recipient received some contributions from their children either in cash or in kind. It was noted, however, that more than 16 percent of the pensioners had no living children.

More than 60 percent of the pensioners live in rural areas with just under 28 percent living in urban areas of 10,000 or more population.

The Commissioner continued. He said the remaining 12 percent live in small towns with population ranging from 2,500 to just under 10,000.

The housing conditions of many recipients were sub-standard, according to the report, although nearly 90 percent had lights and refrigeration. However, only 62.5 percent of the recipients had running water in their homes, while only 44.2 percent had flush toilets available.

Central heating equipment was available to only 7.6 percent of the recipients. The largest number used wood for heating and the largest number used wood for cooking.

The health of the recipients was indicated in a general way by the fact that nearly 70 percent needed no care in the home and no help in getting around outside their homes. However, another group, nearly 17 percent of the pensioners, are confined to their homes due to a physical or mental condition.

Prestwood said December payments to old age pensioners numbered 98,989, including 1,776 recipient for whom center payments were made for nursing home care. He said average payments continued to be slightly under $53. At the end of December 1,770 applications for old age pensions were in process of investigation by county departments, he added. He said each old age payment is for a single recipient.

Total payments for December to old age pensioners amounted to over $12 million within this total was $152 million. The amount paid for over $122,000.

The Washington Scene Viewed From The Suburbs

The following poem appeared in a Washington Daily before inauguration Day.

The folks back home are so impressed (and likewise so of jealousy), The wish they lived in Washington, They're written notes to tell us.

For how they love to spend the day within the District's reaches For we can mingle with the crowds and listen to the speeches!

We'll be a part of all the fun We'll hear the triumphs blare; We'll see parade and marching bands attending the affair.

We'll see young Jack, we'll see his wife in person as they pass And in the evening we'll attend some function with the brass.

Nor do I tell them differently Nor chide them with derision— But just like them, at home I'll view it all on television.

Like the authoress, Evelyn Wade the Bethany's viewed the inaugural festivities on television. Unlike the authoress they didn't plan it that way. Like Herbert Hoover the Bethany's couldn't get into the District because of the snow. Hoovers plane circled Washington for an hour then returned to Miami. The Bethany's couldn't get out of Springfield!

Now that it is all over we learn that January 19 was the Eve of St. Agnes. No real lovers of poetry should have been much surprised by the eight inch snowfall and since the first part of the week fierce and frigid winds. However, had been ideal inaugural weather sunny and warm, we were surprised.

Federal employees were released from work at four (an hour earlier than usual) yet my husband didn't arrive home until seven. Our neighbor reached Springfield at eleven and some residents didn't get home at all that night.

As one commentator wrote the inaugural weather was appropriate for swearing in a president who called for hard work, courage and sacrifice to meet the crisis ahead. There was crisis, work and sacrifice on every hill that night. The inaugural chairman declared it a miracle that the parade route was cleared. The miracle was accomplished by the District Highway Departments 1000 man crew manning 300 trucks, sanders, and plows.

With president Kennedy's inauguration over, the inaugural stands are being torn down. The National Lumber Manufacturers Association estimated there was enough lumber in the stands to build 100 new homes. I noted an ad for the sale of the one million board feet. Meanwhile there is a move underway to save the inaugural platform for the re-inauguration of Abraham Lincoln's first inaugural on March 4. If the weather cooperates perhaps the Bethany's will get to that inaugural which is being planned as part of the Civil War Centennial celebration. At this along with GI's manning GI equipment from nearby bases. They used 200 tons of rock salt at $16 a ton on Pennsylvania Avenue.

Police towed away 400 stranded cars to assist snow removal. The began giving tickets at 7 a.m. ($5 for cars parked on any of the 81 main District streets and $3 for cars without chains or snow tires). The Bethany's were not of course the only frustrated people in town.

Ethel Merman was in tears at the gala because she couldn't get to her elegant evening dress at her hotel. A retired Marine Colonel we know had marched in three inaugural parades and was unable to take any pictures. Equipped with film galore he took his place along the parade route. After he had taken a few shots the film in his camera broke and he was afraid to reload it for fear he would ruin the pictures he had already taken. It was just as well, he said, because the only person he could see in the presidents car was John Sparkman.

Yesterday we had another snow officially noted as six inches but admitted to the 7.5 to 12 inches in some places. Add that to the 3 inches remaining from the inaugural snow and you will know the area is indeed a winter wonderland. Last night before anything or anyone had tracked it, and the street lights provided just enough light to throw shadows of the bare trees on the drifts, it was a picture to remember. Today it belongs to the children who have a school holiday. I wish I could transport it to Clanton County for the enjoyment of the children. I'm sure the Highway Department would be happy to get rid of it.

Counting On College? Act Now To Insure it

Seniors in Chilton County High School who are planning to enter college next fall are registering now for the American College Testing program exams, said Mr. S. E. Waters, principal of the school.
They want to be sure that their registration blanks are received in plenty of time for the closing date of registration, Saturday, February 4.
The three-hour tests, to be given Saturday, February 25, in 48 states and the District of Columbia, are required or recommended for admission to more than 100 colleges and universities in 23 states.
These 23 states which have ACT-affiliated college testing programs are Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas and Wisconsin.
Participating colleges use ACT results for student guidance and admissions and for awarding scholarships aid to applicants, as well as for placing freshmen in classes or programs suited to their abilities.
The ACT test has four parts that yield five scores—a composite score indicating over-all college potential and four separate scores indicating levels of general capability in English, mathematics, social studies and the natural sciences.
ACT scores and manuals explaining how results may be interpreted are furnished colleges indicated by students and are sent to the student's high school for his and the school's use in guidance.
Further information about ACT tests, taken by more than 125,000 high school seniors last year, may be obtained in the guidance from Mrs. Roper, guidance director, through expanded facilities.

Miss Bennett Serving In Navy At Great Lakes, Ill.

MISS Virginia Bennett, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Bennett of Clanton is serving with the U. S. Navy (Wave) at Great Lakes, Ill. and is in pediatrics at the Navy Hospital there.
Miss Bennett practiced Chiropractic for three years following her graduation from Career Chiropractic College in Oklahoma City. She then joined the Navy for three years and is studying physiotherapy and related courses in Pediatrics.
On her retirement from the service in April of 1961 she plans to take a 2-year post graduate course at the Chiropractic Clinic of the field.

Spears Hospital in Denver Hospital. The possibility that Miss Bennett may then see fit to come to Chilton County and work with the people here is evident. We are sure there are many in the County who would welcome her experience in this field.

FOR A CHANGE—

Farm Problem To Be Faced With Air Of Hope This Year Says Senator Sparkman

During the last three years have tried to keep a cross-section of my fellow Alabamians informed of my Congressional activities through this newsletter. A great part of this cross-section consists of farmers and those particularly interested in farm activities.

In 1961 I expect to continue this practice. In fact, this newsletter may be counted as my first one of 1961 to farmers.

Exciting Session Expected—
Members of Congress are expected an exciting session, one in which there will be controversies and differences of opinion on many farm and farm-related legislative proposals.

For a change, Congress will attack the farm problem with an air of hope. When Congress goes into session it will mark the first time in the past eight years that a Congressman or Senator can introduce a farm bill of major importance with any expectation that it will become law. It will be the first time in eight years that the country will have a President and a Secretary of Agriculture both of whom understand and want to help solve the problems of the family farmer.

Important Farm Problems To Be Considered—

The Problem Of The Family Farmer—This is the Number One domestic issue in the United States today. President-elect John F. Kennedy stated at a Democratic farm conference in Des Moines, Iowa, on August 21, 1960. Our platform pledges positive action to raise farm income to full parity levels. I stand behind that pledge and I intend to make good of it.

I strongly support that statement. I believe it will substantially guide our new President's thinking, planning, and acting as he and his new Agriculture Secretary, Orville L. Freeman, set about rescuing the family farmer from the gristmill which has almost ground him out of existence during the last eight years.

Farm Parity—
This means the relationship between farm costs and farm prices. Between what the farmer pays for what he must buy and what the farmer gets for what he has to sell. In 1952 the parity ratio was 100% exactly what it should be when farm prices and farm production costs are right. Under the Eisenhower Administration parity fell to as low as 77%. During 1960 it hovered at about 80%. Since 1952 parity has declined about 20%. A salaried employee can perhaps understand this decline best by looking at it in terms of what a 20% reduction would mean in his or her paycheck.

Surplus Food Disposal—
We have limped along too long under Secretary Benson's flexible price support program which has served to drive down prices to the farmer while simultaneously building up the cost of taking care of surplus commodities. The effect of driving down prices has been in an effort to make up for lower prices. On the other hand, not enough understanding has been developed regarding the need for a sane program of food stockpiling.

It is just as important to stockpile foods against possible future shortages as it is to stockpile strategic metal or other natural resources. In the case of atomic attack our surplus foods stored about the country would be of immense value in helping us to recover from an attack.

Surplus Supplied Survival Depots
During the last session of Congress I introduced a bill which would establish a program of survival depots to be located strategically in communities near target areas. These depots would provide emergency food, clothing, shelter, medical supplies, and sanitation facilities for people evacuated from target areas. A two fold purpose is embodied in this bill, the main one being to save lives, and the secondary one being to make wise use of some of the vast quantities of surplus food stored by the Commodity Credit Corporation.
I believe that a survival depot program could bring about the processing of surplus agricultural commodities into items of food, clothing, shelter, and medical supplies, providing employment for many people, and thus serving to boost many segments of the economy. Vast quantities of surplus agricultural commodities would be used to provide the stocks needed in survival depots. This would help reduce current surpluses, strengthen markets, and increase agricultural income.

In the very near future I expect to re-introduce my bill to provide survival depots.

Reorganization of the Department of Agriculture, spending by the Department of Agriculture since January 1, 1953, has been greater than the combined spending total during all the 90 previous years of the Department's history. The total for the period 1862 through 1952 is $35.8 billion. From 1953 through July 1, 1960, Secretary of Agriculture Benson had administered the spending of slightly over $37 billion. I firmly believe that policies and practices which resulted in this gigantic expenditure will be changed. I know the Democratic Congress stands ready to cooperate with the new President and the new Secretary in seeking ways to halt useless spending of the taxpayers money. I believe that the family farmer, who has profited very little under these programs is anxious to see the nation's farm program reorganized and redirected to helping the small independent farmer to help himself.

Cotton Legislation—A grave situation exists for Alabama cotton farmers during 1961. This situation grows out of the fact that existing law would allow the Secretary of Agriculture to drop cotton price supports to 70% of parity in such a parity cut. Alabama farmers could lose as much as $14 per bale on the 1961 crop if this cut goes into effect.

In meeting the challenge of the farm problem and in trying to solve other crucial problems, President-elect Kennedy faces a tremendous task. Especially in the farm situation he has inherited many unsolved problems. Others are piling up daily. It is going to take all the ingenuity, perseverance and firmness that the new President and the Congress can muster to solve these problems.

Loans Made To Students In Alabama Colleges $1,000,000

Senator Lister Hill (D. Ala.) has received a report from the United States Office of Education showing that more than 2,600 loans, amounting to almost $1,000,000, were made to Alabama college students between February 1959 and July 1960 the first seventeen months of the National Defense Student Loan Program.

The program, authorized under Title II of the Hill-Elliott National Defense Education Act, established loan funds at institutions of higher learning to provide low-interest, long-term loans to deserving students who might not otherwise be able to complete their education.

Senator Hill was author of the National Defense Education Act and led the successful fight for the program in the Senate. The Bill was sponsored by Representative Carl Elliott (D. Ala.) in the House of Representatives.

The participating colleges and universities contribute one dollar for every nine dollars in federal funds.

During 1959, less than 600 Alabama students were able to obtain NEDEA loans totaling slightly less than $300,000. The number of Alabama students receiving Title II loans in 1960 jumped to more than 2,000 and the amount of federal funds available to these students totaled more than $750,000.

According to the figures made available to Senator Hill today, the number of participating colleges and universities in Alabama increased from nineteen in 1959 to twenty four in 1960.

The average loan per student increased from $336.00 in 1959 to $368.00 in 1960.

Said Senator Hill: "Title II loans are especially designed to encourage students to continue their education in the science, mathematics, engineering and foreign languages. Up to 50 percent of the loans made to these students will be forgiven by the federal government if the students, after completing their education, teach for a minimum of five years."

The senior Alabama Senator emphasized that under the Hill-Elliott Act, the individual schools administer the loan program at the local level and allocate the funds to students applicants whom they determine to be deserving and qualified.

Signs of Progress In Chilton County

Scene On The Verbena To Coopers Road

THIS 4.75 miles of roadway in Chilton County was built by the County Road Building Unit at a total cost of $121,335.68 with the County and State going 50-50 on the project. It is one of hundreds of roads being improved in Chilton County.

FARMERS FACE LOSS FOR NOT PLANTING ALLOTMENT

Alabama farmers lost $14 million last year by not planting the full allotted cotton acreage, says Foy Helms, Auburn Extension Service economist.

Cotton growers planted or put into the soil bank only 91.8 percent of the 989,046 acres that were allotted for 1960. And the $14 million in lint and seed on the 87,000 acres which went unplanted is a loss we can't afford, Helms says.

What can be done about the situation in 1961? The money making opportunity will be even greater because 100,000 acres have been added to the state's total acreage allotment, making a total of 1,046,000 acres available for 1961.

Every acre of this cotton should be planted on somebody's land, the economist says. It will not only make a greater cash income, but unless growers protect the allotment by using it, much of our acreage will move to other states.

Wildlife Course To Be Offered To Landowners

Landowners who want to improve their hunting will be offered a three-day short course in management of both native and pen-raised game at the University of Georgia in Athens, April 9-12.

Earl Kenner, Auburn Extension Service wildlife specialist, says that this is probably the first such all-inclusive course offered in America for laymen.

Those interested in taking the course should give their names and addresses to the county agent within the next few weeks. The cost of the course is $6.

Subjects will include native quail, wild turkey, waterfowl, dove, kennel management, game bird protection, research and incubation, and pen-raised game.

Sawdust Is Useful Down On The Farm

Sawdust can help eliminate or reduce one of agriculture's biggest problems—the lack of organic matter in the soil.

Dr. Walter Sowell, Auburn Extension Service soil management specialist, says that it pays to use all available wood wastes for maintaining humus whenever possible. Sawdust, however, decomposes more quickly than such things as chips, shavings, and bark. And it also absorbs and holds water better.

The Auburn specialist lists four practical ways to use sawdust—as a mulch, as bedding for livestock, as a component in compost, and as a direct application to the soil. In any of these uses where growing plants are concerned, it's usually necessary to apply extra nitrogen, he adds.

FOLKS and THINGS About Town by Ben

That neighbor, Rendel Caviness, of ours is a dandy. The wife told him that she heard a chip in the side porch and went out to investigate and he thought she was talking about me.

That Maddox couple up at the Dairy Deite, Wilson and Louise Maddox, are nice people. If you have sickness in the home and are required to take milk shakes home for them they fix you up at no charge. It is a public relation move by the Dairy-Deite and it is a good one.

We were down at the store the other day doing the shopping for the week and was standing at the front of the store. A lady came by and had her groceries checked out and while getting her money she dropped her pocket book. Now a lot of jokes have been about a lady and her pocket book but this one we saw. It hit the floor upside down and things went all over the floor. We bet it would have filled a skuttle.

That new Commissioner, Acie Mims, is working hard and doing a good job. He started fast and we hope he keeps up the good work.

Chilton County, along with rest of the country has been experiencing some god-awful weather for the past several days. Got a lot of rain which the farmers needed badly and those who were using wells had need for also. Course those with sinus trouble ain't enjoying it too much.

"My father doesn't approve of my seeing you," the girl told her current boy friend, "So I'm afraid we will have to stop seeing each other any more." "On what grounds does your father object to me?" asked the young man. "Well, answered the young girl, on any grounds within a mile of the house."

The zoo's only elephant had just died of old age. All the employees looked sad but the trainer of the brute carried on something awful. Finally a friend said, "Now, listen, you shouldn't take the death of an animal that hard." "It's easy for you to say," said the trainer, "I'm the one who has to dig the grave."

One hundred year ago this week on February 7, 1861, the Choctaw Nation of Indians declared it would adhere to the Southern states in case the Northern and Southern states did not reach an amicable settlement of their differences. The next day, February 8, 1861, a temporary constitution for the Provisional Government of the Confederate States of America was adopted at Montgomery by a Convention of delegates from six states, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina. A seventh state, Texas, was later authorized to sign the Provisional Constitution. Montgomery was designated the seat of government.

The following day, February 9, 1861, Jefferson Davis was elected Provisional President of the Confederate States. To this position, Davis brought eight years of army experience and twelve years in public office. Between 1845 and 1861, he had served as U. S. Representative and Senator from Mississippi and as U. S. Secretary of War under Franklin Pierce.

SHORT AND SWEET

BEAR Bros. Construction Company has offered a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the vandals who defaced the new County Jail Building, now under construction here. Dye or paint was strewn all over the new structure over the week-end.

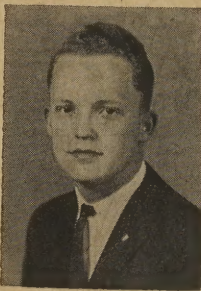

AND while we're in the realm of ree-wards, the Masonic Hall in Clanton offers $50 to any person giving information leading to the apprehension of the person or persons shooting air rifles at the plate glass windows of the new building on 8th Street. The windows are most expensive and anyway there's a principle involved. Information should be given to Roy Baker, Russell Lewis, R. L. Duffey or any member of the local Masonic Lodge.

CLANTON Mayor J. Hollis Jackson returned this week from a trip to Mobile and he says that the Corps of Engineers will be here on Monday of next week to complete the details on the Flood Control Project for Clanton. The preliminaries to the actual program are in the final stages.

A SALUTE this week to the Boy Scouts on the observance of their 51st Anniversary. They form one of Chilton County's most respected organizations.

Bank Stockholders Offer Tribute To Late John D. Mullins

This community was shocked and saddened by the sudden death of John Durwood Mullins at the age of 31 years, whose death occurred on Sunday afternoon, on the 20th day of November, 1960, at his home in Clanton. He was a life long resident of this community and his name, with that of his father and grandfather, has been synonymous with banking and mercantile circles of this community beyond the memory of many people now living and John Durwood, following the footsteps of his forebears, has actively taken a part in the religious and civic life of this community.

He was, at the time of his death and many years prior thereto, a stockholder and director of the Peoples Savings Bank, where his spirit of cheerfulness, optimism and his helpfulness to the bank will be greatly missed.

BE IT, THEREFORE, RESOLVED by the Stockholders, Officers and Directors of the Peoples Savings Bank, assembled in the bank building, on January 9, 1961, that we memorialize his passing and the loss suffered by this institution and the community at large and that we extend to his widow, Elizabeth M. Mullins, and the members of his family our sympathy in their loss.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this memorial be published in the minutes of this bank and that a copy be given to the widow, Elizabeth M. Mullins, and to Mary Elizabeth LaVette, his daughter, and that a copy be published in the local newspaper of this county.

The above resolution was adopted at the Stockholders' meeting on January 9, 1961.

Over a year ago the bank began making plans to expand its operations, to keep pace with the increasing developments in the Maplesville area, and the State Banking Department, when approving the new building plans, commended the bank for having tripled its capital in the last year.

In January the bank moved into temporary quarters and the old building has been removed.

The new building will be considerably larger than the old one and will include several new facilities - a drive-in teller window (the first in Chilton County), a 24-hour depository with slots for envelopes as well as bags, and a civic room with kitchen facilities for small group meetings.

ONE feller said the average "man on the street" doesn't show any interest at all in Orthodoxy. He says "they merely string along for the sake of domestic harmony". Does this fellow know people very well?

NOTICE, if you will, the progress reports each week in the News and you'll see what we mean when we say "Chilton County is on the move". It's progress alright, in every corner of the County and it surely does look -- and feel -- good!

Boy Scouts -- Symbol of Progress--

PROGRESS means many things to many people. However, the accepted term "progress" denotes "moving forward" "bettering of relations or conditions" and that is certainly the standard of the Boy Scout Movement in Chilton County.

For many years the Boy Scouts were more or less dormant in this area with a smattering of interest and with a few individuals trying to hold the organization together locally. Then, something happened; the people got behind this wonderful builder of character and achievement in young boys and the fire got going.

Since that time hundreds and hundreds of Chilton County boys have received valuable training and inspiration from this organization called the Boy Scouts of America.

This week, during the celebration of Boy Scout Week, which is their 51st Anniversary this Newspaper voices the opinion of thousands of Chilton Countians when it says that there is no greater influence outside the church and the home for building young boys into good men and citizens than the Boy Scouts. We are proud to have had a small part in the strengthening of this organization and also to have witnessed their phenomenal growth locally in the past six or eight years.

Y'all Come!--

A gentleman was in to see us the other night as we were putting your News to bed (one time) and we got into a discussion about the way people "don't" seem to visit one another the way they used to. "Why even my members of my family don't visit me and I don't visit them. It's going to be rough on the coming generation to even know who their kinfolks are", he said.

You know there is a lot of truth in those words. Folks just don't seem to put the importance on going to Aunt Beulah's or Uncle Ted's house, that they used to. We don't think it's because they are busy so much as they just don't care anything about it. Communications have gotten to the point where you can talk or write to relatives and friends much faster than you can go to see them and an awful lot cheaper.

"Y'all come" seems to have gone out with the horse and buggy; at least in its most sincere meaning. We're kinda sorry to see it go, too! It's always a lot of fun to say it. . . "Y'all come!"

How You Use It--

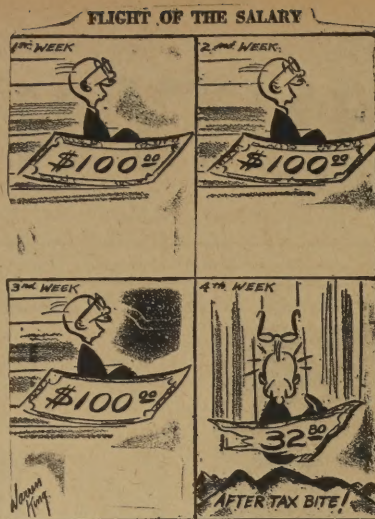

A recent suggestion was that we change the name of the good old Chilton County News to something like the Chilton County Courier, Champion or Chronicle. In our opinion you build a reputation in the community or you tear it down regardless of the name you use and we've gotten used to the name we use. In fact, since our primary concern is "Chilton County" and its people, we're right proud of our name. We serve the people of Chilton County and our readers find the contents of the News reasonably digestible. And we always say: "the way to a reader's heart is . . . pretty hard to find sometime!"

Not Much To Brag About--

WHEN one looks at the national debt figures ($291 billion an increase of $24 billion over the past eight years and then looks at the unemployment figures (the highest in 21 years) one wonders how President Eisenhower can make a farewell address in which he says the country is in much better shape than it was when he took office.

This has been an administration in which economy in government has been the key theme and yet that very economy in government has resulted in the drying up of job opportunities.

The unemployment figures have constantly risen in the past eight years even though income of those working has increased and corporate profits have risen to all time highs in these same eight years. — (The Birmingham Post Herald).

The Psychological Approach--

AN enterprising weekly newspaper publisher in Minnesota is trying to shock his employees into realizing just how much the Federal government is taking from them in taxes. Publisher D. R. Peterson of the Truman Tribune is paying his staff their full salaries each week, except the last week of the month. At the end of that week, he'll deduct the entire month's withholding tax.

Now let's suppose a Tribune employee makes $100 a week, and this month of February happened to be composed of four equal weeks. For three consecutive weeks, said employee gets $100 intact. And, being human (and hard up), he spends most of it. Then he gets his fourth-week pay envelope. In's-de, he finds $32.80 -- if he's married -- or $23.60 if he's single!

We don't know where the gentleman got his figures, but await with keen interest the results of what could be a noble experiment. If we tried that the possibility would be too close that the staff would leave for parts unknown at the end of the first three weeks.

DAYS OF HOPE

Virginia H. Stover

"Take time to think; It is the source of power. Take time to play; It is the secret of perpetual youth. Take time to read; It is the fountain of wisdom. Take time to pray; It is the greatest power on earth. Take time to love and be loved; It is a God-given privilege. Take time to laugh; It is the music of the soul. Take time to give; It is too short a day to be selfish. Take time to work; It is the price of success."

Though the author is unknown the above words are certainly good advice. How long has it been since you sat down and calmly asked yourself what you wanted from life? Not what you thought others expected you to do but what you wanted for yourself. "Too many people are letting their entire lives be dominated by the examples of others. No longer do we build our houses just to suit our families need but we copy the latest fads. Our clothing is what fashion demands, our food is purchased through the power of suggestion from some TV commercial. If we aren't careful we will lose our individuality. Personally I would like to see more people who think for themselves. It is rather refreshing to see someone occasionally who defies the ordinary if it means he has to do so in order to be himself."

The Sermonette

BY RAY FELKINS, Pastor

Mulberry Baptist Church

Christ The Great Physician

Turn in your Bible to the fourth chapter of the Gospel according to John. Begin reading and immediately you find that John is depicting Christ as the Samaritan. He had said earlier, in the third chapter, that God had not sent his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through him might be saved. This all certainly agrees with the declaration of Luke when he declared, "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." Luke 19:10.

The significant thing about Christ's departure from Judea to Galilee was that he must go thru Samaria. Why was this so important? It was not because it was the only way, nor because it was less hazardous, and it was certainly not because it was the choice route. In fact, because of the Jews' prejudice toward the Samaritans, they always refrained from traveling this route. Then why go this way? It was because that there was a poor, benighted, sin-sick soul in need and Christ had a message of universal importance to deliver to and through this woman of Samaria. Furthermore, since John's picture of Christ is that of the Saviour of the world, regardless of race, creed or color it is natural for him to record this incident.

It was in the land of the Samaritans, near the city of Sychar at Jacob's Well, that Christ met the Samaritan woman. He had said down upon the curbstone of the well to rest. His disciples had gone into the nearby town for food and Christ was there alone when the woman appeared to draw some water. It was through this natural need that the conversation between the two got underway. Christ asked her for a drink of water and she was surprised that he being a Jew, would ask her a Samaritan for a drink since the Jews and Samaritans had no dealings with each other. The way is now opened and Christ tells her that if she knew that asked her for a drink, she the gift of God and who it was would have asked him and he would have given her living water. He further tells her that whoever drinks of the water she is after he shall give him life in a water springing up into everlasting life.

This seemed very strange to her for a while, but eventually, after Christ had told her much about himself, he also disclosed his identity as the Christ, the long expected Messiah. This was his first announcement of his messiahship and he thing to notice about it is that he made it to a disreputable character whose confidence he had won. She believed his words and on the strength of her own conviction spread the news of the Messiah to her townspeople. Christ, The Soul-Winner had won another to himself.

Tukabatchee Serves Chilton and 5800 Boys Over Central Alabama

This is Boy Scout week all over America, and in the fourteen Central Alabama Counties served by the Tukabatchee Area Council 7,681 boys and adult leaders launch the second half century of a movement which in fifty years has become the world's largest volunteer organization for boys.

Meanwhile, the year 1960 was one of the busiest and most successful for the Tukabatchee Council, it was reported today by J. Allen Reynolds Jr., President of the council. Reynolds said that the Tukabatchee Council now serves a total of 5,800 boys in Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting, and Exploring. This total represents an increase of 143 boys over the close of 1959, he added.

There are now 72 Cub Scout packs 134 Boy Scout troops, and 19 Explorer units within the council. There is a net gain of 9 units over the previous year.

Serving these units and the local council as adult volunteer leaders 286 women serving in Cub Scouting are 1,595 men. Together with the 58 Den Mothers, these persons represent an increase of 111 adult Scout leaders, making it possibly the largest body of volunteers in a national organization dedicated to the cause of youth.

The National Council of the Boy Scouts of America reported from its headquarters in New Brunswick, New Jersey that 1960 closed with 5,160,938 boys and adult leaders enrolled on Dec. 31 last. This is an all-time high in active membership. Also, the 130,368 units represent the largest total of these service stations for youth in its history.

In its fifty-one years the Boy Scouts of America has touched the lives of thirty-three million Americans.

A new record was established in camping last year in the Tukabatchee area. The 130,368 units represent the largest total of these service stations for youth in its history.

During the year, Tukabatchee Scouts earned 3,282 merit badges and made 2,554 advancement points in rank. A total of 72 Scouts and Explorers achieved the rank of Eagle, the highest in Scouting.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

In an extreme close vote, which had been predicted in my column, Speaker Sam Rayburn's proposal to increase the size of the House Rules Committee was adopted last Tuesday by a vote of 217-212. I was among those who opposed this plan, as I believed it would weaken the bargaining position of the South and thereby pave the way for certain civil rights measures that I am quite sure will not be in the best interests of the people I represent.

Assignments to most of the other House committee have been held up pending a solution of the House Committee controversy. It is expected now that all committee assignments for the 87th Congress will be completed this week.

State of the Union Message
In the most frank and sober State of the Union message delivered since I have been a member of Congress, President Kennedy challenged the American people to face up to problems on the home front and to increasing dangers in our international relations. At the same time, however, he promised swift steps in an effort to improve our position both at home and abroad.

Informing the Congress that the economy of the United States appears in trouble, he said that the present Administration does not intend to stand helplessly by. Kennedy promised to propose within the next two weeks ten steps to reduce unemployment, to put unused capacity to work, to spur new productivity, and to foster economic growth within a framework of sound fiscal policies and relative stability.

Turning to world problems faced by our nation, the President said that no man entering the White House could fail to be staggered on learning of the harsh enormity of the trials through which we must pass in the next four years. He stated frankly that the tide is not favorable at the present time and that there would be further setbacks before the tide is turned. But turn it we must, he said.

President Kennedy was no stranger to the members of the joint session he addressed last Monday, as he had served in both the House and Senate Prior to his election to the Presidency.

Being in New York shortly after the story's climax, I called upon personal friend of mine, and who Editor MacLean, who was quite a bit of my fiction. I remarked to him that Witwer seemed to have improved with age, and voices of opinion that he was actually better with something serious than with his laugh lines.

"I'm glad he has swung off boozing," I told Mr. MacLean, "as it had been whispered around by some that he was fast developing into an alcoholic. I thought his story about how he triumphed over boozing and conquered liquor was great."

A twinkle came into MacLean's eyes, and immediately he replied: "Yeah, he wrote the story here in come better prepared for the years ahead.

Last summer 825 boy attended Camp Tukabatchee and Camp Atkins of the Tukabatchee Council. Plans are currently underway to expand the camping season this summer to accommodate more boys.

Yet, while this record attendance was chalked up at the local council camps, the Tukabatchee Council was well represented by 136 Scouts, Explorers, and leaders at the greatest single non-military encampment in United States history. This was the Fifth National Jamboree which saw a new 2,500 acre tented city spring up at Colorado Springs, Colorado. There last July 22 to 28 some 58,986 boys and leaders camped together.

Just before Election Day, Scouts of the area distributed 75,000 Liberty Bell doorknob hangers urging every one eligible to vote. This was the largest single one-day activity of the year. It was the third consecutive nationwide and non-partisan campaign sponsored by the Boy Scouts and Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge.

During the year, Tukabatchee Scouts earned 3,282 merit badges and made 2,554 advancement points in rank. A total of 72 Scouts and Explorers achieved the rank of Eagle, the highest in Scouting.

Visitors

We enjoyed a visit last week from Mr. Jon Will Pitts of Clanton.

Back in the '20's a very humorous writer by the name of H. C. Witwer, who patterned lots of his sports fiction on the lines of the incomparable Ring Lardner, but who made more money out of it than Ring ever did with his "You-Know-Me, Al" series, was well known for his fraternalizing with Backus. It was commented on nationally about his ability to store alcohol away in his system.

Witwer had graduated from Popular Magazine, having been discovered by Charles Agnew MacLean, head editor of Street & Smith to become a featured writer for Collier's Weekly in that publication heyday. Well, he up and did a several part story for Collier's entitled "Barleycorn." It was written straight out of "Hooch I Conquered" John Collier. It was a humorous line being included, and it was conceded by the critics to be the best thing he had ever written.

Being in New York shortly after the story's climax, I called upon personal friend of mine, and who Editor MacLean, who was quite a bit of my fiction. I remarked to him that Witwer seemed to have improved with age, and voices of opinion that he was actually better with something serious than with his laugh lines.

"I'm glad he has swung off boozing," I told Mr. MacLean, "as it had been whispered around by some that he was fast developing into an alcoholic. I thought his story about how he triumphed over boozing and conquered liquor was great."

A twinkle came into MacLean's eyes, and immediately he replied: "Yeah, he wrote the story here in

THINGS We see and hear by BOB

FROM Mount Pisgah's lofty heights you can get a command view of the countryside of Clanton and parts of Chilton County. If you have never been south on the Enterprise Road to Mt. Pisgah Methodist Church you have been deprived yourself of quite a sight. It's one you'd expect to find in the foothills of the mountain ranges, but you'll be surprised at the breathtaking beauty of the heights right here in our own Chilton County. They have been doing a lot of clearing down there around their new church building of which they are justifiably proud, and we just pulled up, got out of the car to admire the surrounding view of the countryside. Greasy Ridge would make a nice site for a home. We haven't the least idea who named such a charming spot 'Greasy Ridge', but whoever it was, he certainly didn't have much of an eye for natural beauty. It should have been named Angels View or maybe even Lofly Heights, neither of which is very original but either one would beat Greasy Ridge!

MR. Isaac Byrd shares the distinction of being one of the few government employees who is not only civil in his manner of working with the public, but is most conscientious in the carrying out of his duty. With Mr. Byrd there is no loafing or beating around the bush and no sharp-tongued smart aleck attitude. He is the exception to the rule and we're proud of the fact that he is with us here in Chilton County. We had no reference to him whatsoever in last week's column when we suggested that some of our government employees could use a little more civility in their dealing with John Q. Anyway, one of his constituents called his attention to the paragraph and he wasted no time in calling our attention to the fact that it just could be him we were referring to! No such thing, of course!

Think a heap of Mr. Isaac and his fine family and that notwithstanding he does his job -- and does it well. Sorry if we caused him any undue embarrassment!

WE'RE still seeing Robins all over the place. Use even saw what appeared to be Cock Robin the other morning and we know for a fact it was. It was Mack Freight Truck! All over the highway!

RECEIVED a letter this week from one Dewey Collier congratulating us for being broad-minded enough to print atheistic letters in our newspaper. We appreciate his kind words, but do not want to be anyone else misinterpreting our motives for such action. We believe in "siring all views" as he puts it and that's the 'why'. He also stated in his letter: "Up here in Ohio (Box 20, 4364 Reading Road, Cincinnati 29) I hear plenty of bad things about Alabama -- how low it ranks educationally, how it discriminates against the Negroes, etc. Now the next time I hear some sharp criticism about Alabama, I shall say: 'Well, I know at least one good thing about that state'. . . 'It has at least one editor of a newspaper who is modern enough and fair enough to publish atheist letters in his weekly.' Mr. Collier then concludes with 'so keep up the good work, Mr. Tucker, in utilizing fair play in your columns.' The above note of praise hardly justifies the following comment, but we pride ourselves on being fashioned and we feel compelled in all fairness to say: If Mr. Collier judges Alabama by what he hears up North he is indeed misled and confused on the state of things here in our State. Speaking especially for Chilton County, we have one of the finest educational systems in the State or anywhere and we not only have some exceptional teachers, but turn out of our schools some of America's finest citizens: professional, business and educational men and women.

As for the discrimination against the Negro; it is apparent that Mr. Collier is judging us by what is going on in his own backyard. No, doubt about the fact that we have a long way to go, both education and in racial harmony; but as things stand today, we are making great progress and gains in our educational system and we have racial understanding that far surpasses anything the North (or most of the South) has or ever did have. Some of discriminate against the Negro, 'tis true, but nine times out of ten those same individuals discriminate against everyone, given half the chance. Most of our 'better' citizens are fair in their dealings with the Negro and wish no discrimination against anyone. Most as here in the South, do not judge discrimination by the so-called Civil Rights legislation before our Congress (it is an abomination to all mankind) or those somewhat twisted rulings of some of the courts of the land (we question the integrity behind such moves).

Judge Civil Rights! We discriminate just as we do honesty, fairness, love and integrity and we never have and never will need anyone to tell us how to form our opinions and govern our actions about those things.

Any 'discrimination' in the South is due to social status and not due to color as some would have us believe. Judgement of persons according to their social level is a malady of our civilization and certainly not confined to our South or to Negroes and whites.

When we do get to the disgusting point where we must have others form our opinions and draw up our creeds and beliefs for us, we shall permit hold out our arms and legs for the shackles and turn in our textbooks and Bibles for a handful of pious charity from our self-righteous brothers who feel that we are too ignorant to govern ourselves and too glibble to understand right from wrong. We do not anticipate such a condition as long as the first of freedom born in the hearts of men and as long as we strive for the humble grace of God in our dealings with others! We certainly hope it never comes!

RESEARCH

With its prime objective as the prevention or treatment of illness, medicine strives constantly to find out why people get sick, the cause of the sickness how to recognize disease, and how to treat it. The process is known as research, a constant hunt for more and more knowledge about disease.

In its progress, medicine has determined the cause and treatment of tuberculosis, yellow fever, malaria, cholera, typhoid, plague, and many other infectious conditions which once brought death to thousands of persons every year. New techniques in surgery, after childbirth, anesthesia, and many other life-saving facts have similarly resulted from medical research.

Searching constantly, the scientists in their laboratories continue their efforts to learn causes of diseases which as yet remain unexplained.

were built last year in Alabama than there. And he was so plastered that he fell out of the chair twice as he wrote it!"

plained. Research is now going forward on cancer, on rheumatic fever, on various diseases of the nervous system, and numerous other diseases.

Investigative work on dogs and other animals resulted in the discovery of insulin for the person with diabetes; the development of special surgical procedures in conditions of the abdomen, chest, and blood vessels; and the determination of proper dosage of vaccines and serums used in remedies. Study of heart disease, which kills one out of three males, has been greatly advanced by research performed on animals.

Dogs are indispensable for many phases of medical research work. They can live a healthy life in real all kinds of food, both animal and vegetable. Their bodies utilize food in the same manner as the human body.

Functions of a dog are similar to man, permitting similar surgical procedures. He alone has chest walls nearly equal to man's in elasticity to allow experiments in artificial respiration. Many experiments are not conducted on dogs until the final stages. Before being applied to man, the tests are taken on animals. The dog is most like man in physiology and anatomy. Of course, the dog is not human, but often it is the monkey.

If all of the offspring in a single season from a pair of house flies lived, the United States would be covered with these flies to a depth of four feet.

Progress Important Here Too-

Local Dan River Plant Boasts One Of Cleanest, Most Modern In The South

ON a tour of the local ranch of Dan River Mills last week your correspondent learned a little bit about what it takes to "keep the wheels turning" of an industry which employs nearly 3,000 Chilton County people and which produces cloth for the industry at a phenomenal rate.

General Improvement—
The plant Superintendent, Mr. J. P. Holder and Master Mechanic H. C. Giles showed us through the plant and impressed upon us the fact that safety for the employee was a prime concern; cleanliness in the operation actually increased production and new and modern machinery was doing the work which, one time, took many men and many more manhours.

Increased Production—
The plant is modernized; which means that machinery takes the load off of the worker to a great extent. This efficiency, rather than decrease the number of employees actually enables the plant to operate on a much larger scale. At peak production and will most likely, in the future, require more Chilton County citizens at the looms and spinning and carding machines.

Remodeled in '59—
In the summer of 1959 the plant embarked on a project of modernization which increased the plant's productivity by a large percentage and some of the results were as follows:
1. Twenty-five additional frames were installed and the frames were modernized with one of the best drafting units in the industry. The improvement enables three men to do the work of nine under the old methods. These additional frames also made the plant self-supporting. Before this addition it was necessary to purchase yarn from an outside source.

- 2. Three additional roving frames were installed.
- 3. Slackers were modernized.
- 4. Automatic floor sweepers were installed in the spinning room. And you should see these varmints at work.

Sp's And Span—
5. Inside plant lighting was increased by 100%.

There are just some of the major overall improvements of course. They fail to tell you about the power plant room which is, as one of the fellows put it, "cleaner than my living room at home." We won't tell you who said that because his wife might not understand. But he's not for wrong. You'd never think that motors compressors could be kept as spotless as these are. The president of the company, who was down a few days ago declared that this was one of the cleanest plants he had ever seen. That's high praise.

New Project Underway—
A new project underway at present, due to be completed in the spring will add 18x42" Card coils where they are now using 12" coils. This one simple maneuver required two rows of machinery to be set back several inches so that a working aisle could be maintained. We learned that in an operation this size no maneuver is simple due to the complexity of machinery in the plant.

The South's Finest—
Complete new units of Within Roving and Within Drawing will be installed under the new progress plan and when completed Chilton County will have one of the most modern textile units in the south in the local branch of Dan River Mills. We'll give you a complete run-down including pictures when the latest program of development is completed.

THE entrance to the offices of Dan River Mills is spotless clean and very pleasing to the eye. Employees donated much of the shrubbery around the large plant and it adds greatly to the appearance of this, Chilton's largest industry.

ANOTHER view of the Dan River Plant in north Clanton shows the parking area, which is lighted and in the background is the playground, both of which were built in cooperation with the City of Clanton and Chilton County.

New CTA Officers Visited By National and State Directors

Superintendent W. A. LeCroy, his office staff, and the newly elected officers of Chilton County Teachers' Association were honored last Tuesday, January 31, by a visit from Mrs. Mary Titus from the National Education Office, and Mrs. Callie Locke from the Alabama

Better Dairying Methods Aid To Increase Production

In four to six years an Alabama dairyman with a herd producing 5,000 to 7,000 pounds of milk a year per cow can increase production to 10,000 pounds a year.

Sound unbelievable? John Parrish Auburn Extension dairyman, says that a recent study made by Dr. K. M. Autrey, head of Auburn University's dairy department shows that these results can be obtained by following certain principles.

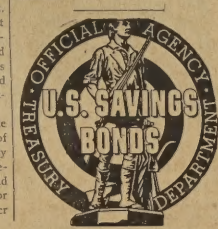

In a herd belonging to the Dairy Production in North Auburn, Autrey found that in 1955 the herd, consisting of 29 cows, was producing an average of 7,158 pounds of milk and 342 pounds of butterfat. But the figures for 1960 show that the herd, numbering 56, had a record of 10,539 pounds of milk and 147 pounds of fat. This herd was being used for feeding research, and consequently, did not reach its maximum potential.

Through the use of desirable proved bulls, the genetic ability of the cows was increased. This ability plus careful herd management, adequate feeding, strict culling, and the use of capable skilled labor were the basic reasons for such rapid development, Parrish says.

Educational Office. Miss Mary Titus is National Consultant for local teachers organizations and Mrs. Callie Locke is director of professional relations in the State of Alabama.

Mrs. Crumpton is commercial teacher at Maplesville High School. Mr. Maddox is principal of Thorsby High School and is past Superintendent of Chilton County. Mr. Conway is principal of Isabella High School.

Buying Good Seed Corn Best Value For Farmer

First generation hybrid seed corn outyields by 15 to 30 percent hybrid corn from the crib. That's what farmers and scientists alike have found over the years.

Melvin Moorer, Auburn Extension Service seed marketing specialist says that if planting crib corn, second generation hybrid seed, would yield 40 bushels to the acre, an extra $1.50 per acre invested in good seed would raise the yield to 50 bushels per acre on the average. So the little extra cost of purchasing good seed is not an added expense it is a wise investment, says Moorer.

Farm Road Program At New High, County Commissioners Told

More rural roads and bridges were built last year in Alabama than in any other year since the enactment of the Farm to Market Road Act in 1944.

This glowing report of the county road program appeared this week in the February issue of "Mr. County Commissioner," the monthly journal of the Association of county Commissioners of Alabama.

The year 1960 has been a banner year in road construction, wrote Winston Stewart, the association's executive secretary, in his year-end review. This tremendous progress can be attributed to the fine relationship between the Administration and the counties.

Mr. Stewart's report noted that rural roads were constructed under both the Farm to Market Program and also a Special Aid Program advanced by Gov. John Patterson and Highway Director Sam Engelhardt.

The highway Department has put forth special effort to offer an agreement to each county in the state, giving the counties extra funds for road-building purpose, the article said.

The Special Aid Program was set up to help fulfill the needs of individuals counties.

The State Highway Department made it possible for the counties to construct projects under the Special Aid Agreement by actual contract or by negotiated contract whereby the counties could use their own forces, Mr. Stewart reported. This action was a great boost to those counties who did not have matching funds.

Mr. Stewart reported that prestige in county government in general had reached a new high in 1960. For this achievement, he credited the cooperation of the State Legislature and the Patterson Administration.

In addition to the county road program, this article pointed to headway on the county level in services rendered by the Extension Service, the old age pension program and the county health program.

An Arcadia, Kansas woman opened her family Bible recently and found the deed to her home for which she had been searching fruitlessly since 1937. It was just where she had left it.

FEAR NOT, ONLY BELIEVE

A little girl awoke from a nightmare, screaming out her terror and fear. "Oh, help me, save me! Two big black bears are going to get me!" she cried. Her parents rushed into her room to try to calm her, but no amount of comfort and reassurance could reach the little girl. She had become thoroughly terrified, and neither dad's strong arms around her nor Mother's soothing words could convince her that two ferocious bears were not about to get her. Her parents were almost at their wits' end. And still she kept screaming, "Oh, help me! The bears are about to get me!" But her older brother saved the day. "What's wrong, Sister?" he asked.

"The bears are about to get me," sobbed his little sister. "Where are they?"

"Over in that corner." Pulling an imaginary revolver from his pajama pocket, the brother shouted, "Bang! bang! I got both of them!"

The little girl, her fears allayed, went back to sleep, feeling just fine. This story sounds ridiculous. "It's silly," you might say. But the point is, whether its cause is real or imagined, fear can be a terrible thing. It is a brutal, blighting, crippling force that often leaves its victims marked for life.

Many people today live in constant fear. Some are afraid of storms with their thunder and lightning. Others are afraid of shadows and darkness. Still others are afraid of illness and of diseases such as cancer and leukemia. Thousands are afraid of failure. I am told that one half of all hospital beds are filled with people suffering from mental difficulties or from an organic disorder resulting from them. Their fears have dominated them and made them irrational.

But the Bible says, "God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind" (1 Timothy 1:7). That means that God does not want people to suffer the consequences of fear. In the place of one negative force—fear—he has given us three positive ones: power, love and a sound mind.

The next time you are afraid and the world seems to be closing in around you, remember that fear does not come from God. Believe that God has given you power to overcome fear, love to lift you and a sound mind to deal with your problems. And if you have trouble going to sleep at night, remember that God stays awake all night, watching over you, and that His words to you are, "Fear not, only believe."

DOES GOD HAVE A SURPLUS FOR US?

I once heard about a man who was very wealthy. He lived on a large, beautiful estate. He drove a long, sleek car. He was able to dress in the latest fashions and enjoy all the luxuries of life. But no one was envious of this man's wealth—no one resented his having so much. He knew how to use his surplus.

Many small church groups worshiped in lovely buildings that this man had given them. The hospital in his city built and furnished an entire wing with his donations. Charitable organizations were never refused aid from this great man. He even supported an entire mission school and contributed to the missionary teacher's support. And God blessed him and prospered him even more. His surplus was a blessing to his fellow man.

Is God interested in people having a surplus? Does He ever give more than is needed? I believe He does. In my opinion, while a surplus is not necessary to the salvation of a soul, it is vital to the well-being of a witness for Jesus Christ.

From the very beginning God has given surpluses to His followers. Remember how God provided food for the Israelites in their forty years of wandering? He gave them manna six days a week and on the sixth day provided a surplus for the Christ has offered us the abundance of His eternal life. He said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." Here is a promise of surplus. Christ specifically mentioned have life more abundantly.

God is pleased to bless all of us with a surplus of everything we need in this world if we will dedicate it to His glory.

God has a surplus for you.

Enlisting In Army
Gives Benefits

The difference between being drafted and enlisting in the career field of your choice.

No assurance is given that a young man who is drafted for six years will receive the schooling or training he desires. On the other hand, by enlisting for only three years a qualified young man is given a written guarantee before he actually enlists that he will receive training in the career field of his choice. In addition, that extra money advanced training in his field and through the practical application of his technical knowledge, become highly proficient in his skill.

It is only by contracting for that extra year that a young man is assured of Choice, Not Chance. Further, during that extra year he has more opportunity for advancement, education, travel and numerous benefits that are not ordinarily available to the inductee.

Young men wanting to fulfill their military obligation and at the same time obtain a firm foundation in the career field of their choice should see Sergeant Hoyt G. Greene Monday each week at Post Office Clanton, Alabama. He will give you full details about the Army's slogan "Go for Three - With a Guarantee."

HOPE, PROGRESS, SIGNIFICANT WORDS IN CANCER FIGHT

Hopeful and progress are two recurring words used in any analysis today of cancer research.

Such a report has been issued on the 1960 research program of the American Cancer Society, Inc., which receives support yearly from Alabama contributors through the Alabama Division.

A highlight of cancer research in 1960 is the work done in the area of viruses.

There have been sporadic outbreaks of discovery in this field in 1911, in 1936 and again in 1950. In 1911, the fact that a filterable virus causes cancer in chickens was first discovered 25 years later a scientist demonstrated that virus like agent affected the incidence of cancer of the breast in mice; fourteen years later a virus was implicated in the causation of mouse leukemia.

Today some 47 scientists are working on ACS grants in this very active and promising field.

A virus is an infectious agent which penetrates cells and compels them to make viruses in place of their normal products. The common cold is thought to be caused by a virus, and influenza and poliomyelitis are known to be so caused. Does a virus cause any cancer in human beings? This is one of the great scientific questions of our time. Unique viruses have been found in human cancer tissue, but there has been no proof that these viruses actually caused the cancer.

Preaching at 11 a.m.

Health of this community is pretty good a present. We have a few on our sick list. Mrs. Jack Bice has been pretty sick, but is improving. Mrs. Whitman Martin has been sick at her mother-in-law's, Mrs. Leonard Martin, but she has got able to go home in Bessemer.

Mr. Bill Mims, the mother of Mrs. Whitman Martin is in a serious condition at this writing. Let's all pray for the sick that the Lord will heal them.

The family surprised Mr. Charles Littleton with a birthday dinner Sunday. Those present were his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Littleton and Rev. and Mrs. Sam Connell Joe, Wayne and Eugene Littleton. They reported a nice time.

If you missed her messages that Bro. Connell delivered Sunday and blessing.

When we become Christians, Sunday night, you really missed a service are watching our lives and if our lives are worthy, to become dirty with sin, we are like a window that is splattered with dirt and filth. There is no light coming through it. The same applies to a Christian, if we do things that we shouldn't, we can't let our light shine.

The meaning of a Christian is to be Christ like, and if we are not Christ like, we are not a Christian. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gore, Mr. and Mrs. Rennie Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dobbs, Mrs. Ola Maddox and Mrs. Emery and girls. We are glad to have visitors and welcome them.

Don't forget prayer service each week back any time.

Wednesday night. We will be glad for any one to come worship with us. Let's all remember to pray for the sick and the lost souls of the world. Our sympathy goes out to the Varden and Davis family in the death of their mother, grandmother and other relatives. Mrs. Inez Comfort in your sorrow is our Davis Varden. May God bless and prayers. Let's pray for the leaders of our country and for each other.

Homemaking Can Be Made Easier

By FAYE DAVIS
Assistant County Home Agent
It can be done! Yes, homemaking can be made easier and the homemaker will have a little strength left from her homemaking duties to carry out the other side of her things—a wife, mother, civic worker, life. Today's homemaker is many things—a wife, mother, civic worker, chauffeur, and purchasing agent—just to name a few. All of these titles place added responsibility on the woman in the home. Frequently at the end of a day the homemaker is too tired to really enjoy her family. If this description fits you, try work simplification. Study each job so you can learn to do it in a quicker, easier and better way.

According to the pamphlet, Home Making Made Easier, prepared in Auburn by Elizabeth Bryan, Extension Economist in Home Management, the first step in simplifying housework is to recognize it as a problem with which you need help. Next, you need to analyze the factors required in housework. They are: the mind, the body, and tool used. You must train your mind and your body so that the tool takes on most of the load for it is the tool that makes the job easier or harder to do. Cherish it with wisdom and care.

Rudyard Kipling gave us the key to work simplification when he said, I have six honest serving men. They are: What, When, Where, Who, and How. Modern industry has given us a key to six serving men for making our work easier—six principles of work simplification. They are:

1. Leave out any part of the task you can. Decide whether the job really needs to be done, or if part of it could be left out. Throw out work habits based on whim or fancy. Lower some housekeeping standards, if necessary, to make way for higher homemaking standards.

2. Make one task of two or more. This means combine tasks when possible so that one job can do the work of two or more.

3. Keep everything within easy reach. Take a good look at all storage space.

4. Use the best tool. Using the right tool for doing a task will pay off in the use of time and energy and the way you feel about the task.

5. Make both hands work. Divide efforts so both sides of the body both feet. Don't just use the left will have an equal load. Stand on hand as a leaning post or clamp. Make it work to.

6. Use the best posture. Getting too tired is caused more often by poor posture habits than by the job itself. Arrange equipment, work surface, cabinets, etc., so work will be easier. Exercise develops nerve force, muscular resistance, and work tool fit the body, not the body fit the tool.

Cpl. Edgeworth Participated In Inaugural Parade

Woman Marine Lance Cpl. Lila F. Edgeworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carvin U. Edgeworth of Route 1, Clanton, Ala., participated in the 1961 President Inaugural Parade in Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.

These six principles, if applied will help to lighten the load of housekeeping. An added suggestion would be to do your house cleaning by a plan. House cleaning by a plan simply means that you schedule cleaning tasks throughout the year so that no day or week is overburdened and so that a general house looking spic and span all the time and you eliminate that frantic hurrying to get things done before company comes.

Pork Was Big Seller In January

By FAYE DAVIS
Assistant County Home Agent
How's your meat shopping these days? Are you having trouble making your money dollar stretch far enough to satisfy the family's appetite? Maybe this information on meat prices sent to your Home Agents from Miss Dorothy Overbey, Specialist in Consumer Education, Auburn Extension Service, will be helpful to you.

Reports meat-wise say January is BIG for pork. Supplies are not quite as plentiful as they were in '60 which means prices will not be quite as favorable to food buyers. Beef supplies and prices for January are expected to be about like they were in '60. The best selections for the economy shopper continue to be from the less demanded cuts.

Marine Company stationed at Marine Corps Headquarters in the Nation's Capitol. The company, as part of a 1,200 man Marine contingent, marched the length of the parade route and passed in review before the new President at the White House.

Members of the Woman Marine Company normally perform a variety of duties at Headquarters Marine Corps, the Marine Corps Institute, and in the Department of Defense.

A Well-Planned Diet Means Better Health For Everyone In The Family

The nutrients in food are not labeled in the grocery store. You can't go to the protein department or the vitamin A section but it is important to know which foods contain these important elements says Dorothy Overbey, Auburn Extension consumer education specialist.

A well-planned diet does not depend on the amount of money spent for groceries but it does depend on a basic understanding of nutrition principles and a plan which incorporates family preferences and the food budget into meals.

To simplify the task of selecting a nutritionally adequate diet, Miss Overbey gives the following checklist. There are four basic groups including milk, meat, vegetables and fruits, and bread and cereal.

Children need three to four cups of milk each day, the specialist says. And adults require two cups or more. Cheese, cottage cheese, or ice cream can be substituted to fill the milk requirement.

The whole family needs two or more servings daily of beef, veal, pork, lamb, poultry, fish or eggs. Alternates in this category are: dry beans, peas, nuts, peanuts, and peanuts butter.

Four servings daily is the minimum for fruit and vegetables. Include a citrus fruit, tomatoes or raw cabbage everyday and a dark green or deep yellow vegetable yielding vitamin A at least other day. Miss Overbey says.

Four or more servings of whole grain or enriched bread or cereal complete the basic needs. This group may also include flour, grits, rice, macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, quick breads, and baked goods.

In 1960 this country supplied 17 percent of the world's agricultural export volume. This took the output of $7 million acres—one-sixth of our harvested cropland.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mr. J. W. Garner on his 82nd birthday Anniversary. They had a shindig at Maplesville last Sunday for Mr. Garner and most of the offspring were there.

LOOKS like the warm weather of the past few days has brought out the hibernators. We have several blooming in the yard with about a jillion or more buds ready to blossom out of the drop of a hat.

THE gentleman went to the druggist and told him, "Listen, you will have to take this back. It doesn't work." "What is the trouble?" asked the druggist. "Well it's marked vanishing cream, and I have rubbed it all over my wife, and she is still there!"

HAVE you noticed the Service Stations alternating on their Sunday closing? That's a great help to a lot of people. Now every other week everybody gets a holiday and you still get service for your car, if you keep up with when who is open where!

TALKING to a fellow the other day about the "dormant" hours the peach trees had and he said he didn't know about the peach trees but he sure had enough dormant hours this winter.

HAVEN'T heard the first thing about who they are going to appoint "County Attorney". When and if they do, we will let you know. Some we have talked too, say they wouldn't be without one and others say we don't need one all the time, even if it's just the way you look at it.

ALERT!
To the Editor and Editor of the Chilton County News

One hundred years ago this week, on February 16, 1861, Jefferson Davis arrived in Montgomery, after a roundabout train trip from Mississippi, prior to his inauguration as president of the provisional government of the new Confederate States of America. Davis had stated, en route, his belief that "war, long and bloody", would be occasioned by secession.

On his way to Montgomery, after making a speech and having supper in Opelika, Davis had stopped in Auburn, where he received the Auburn Guards, believed to be the first company thus honored. Davis train had also passed thru Loachapoka, which was reportedly ablaze with excitement.

When he reached Montgomery that night (February 16), Davis was greeted by a large crowd at the station and a parade to Exchange Hotel. From the balcony of the Exchange Hotel, Davis made a brief speech. It was on this occasion that William Lowndes Yancey, Alabama's eloquent secessionary orator, declared, in the much-quoted phrase, "The man and the hour have met."

Two days later, on Monday, February 18, 1861, Davis was inaugurated provisional President of the Confederate States of America. The Vice-president, Alexander H. Stephens of Georgia, had been inaugurated a week earlier, on February 11.

Cotton farmers in 1961 must plant or release at least 75 percent of their farm cotton allotment or be subject to a reduction of up to 50 percent in their allotment for 1962. According to Mr. Eddie Owen, Chairman, Chilton County ASC Committee, this requirement as to planting or releasing cotton in order to protect future allotments was passed by Congress in 1959.

In order to release cotton acreage that will not be planted, farmers must sign certain forms at the County ASC Office on or before March 15, 1961. If the entire allotment was released in 1959 and in 1960 some cotton must actually be planted in 1961 in order to protect the farm allotment in 1962.

WE'D like to know how the folks up in Washington come to the conclusion that businesses are going to prosper and plan expansion when they want to raise the minimum wage per hour; realistically claim that taxes will get worse before they get better and maintain that prices must stop going up so that inflation will not devour our economy. It seems that the owner of a business is the only one not being considered and if that's not putting the cart before the horse we never heard of free enterprise!

IT'S still a mystery to us why, after all the fuss that was gone to to change Court Square in Montgomery to Confederate Square and with all the "Rebel" signs down there for the past few months, nobody has gotten around to changing the name of "Union" Station. Shades of Jefferson Davis, how could this have slipped by unnoticed?

SOMEBODY said it would take 15 days of this warm weather we've been having (had) to bring out the buds on the peach trees in Chilton County. Judging from the first part of this winter, the chances of that happening are slim indeed!

Chilton Sweeps Through January Without Traffic Fatality--

DURING the month of January Chilton County was fortunate enough not to have had any fatal accidents on the highways. We say fortunate, because there were 10 traffic accidents; only two persons were injured.

Over the State it was a different story, however, with 49 people losing their lives on the highways.

These counties reported one traffic death each during the month: Autauga, Calhoun, Covington, Crenshaw, Dallas, Escambia, Franklin, Geneva, Lawrence, Lee, Madison, Montgomery, Morgan, Pickens, Pike, Shelby, St. Clair, Sumter, Tuscaloosa and Winston.

Reporting two traffic deaths were: Blount, Bullock, Butler, Cullman, Mobile and Tallapoosa.

Walker County reported three, Limestone four, Washington four and Jefferson reported six.

Where Did These Fatal Accidents Occur?

Sixteen were on Federal highways, sixteen on county roads and twelve on state highways in 30 counties.

When Did These People Die?

11 were killed between 6:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon; 19 were killed from 12:00 noon until 6:00 p.m.; 14 died between 6:00 p.m. and 12:00 midnight and five were killed between 12:00 midnight and 6:00 a.m.

Fifty-one per cent of the January rural traffic deaths occurred on week-ends. Four traffic deaths occurred on Monday, six on Tuesday, six on Wednesday, one on Thursday, eight on Friday, eighteen on Saturday and six on Sunday.

How Did These Fatal Accidents Occur?

The prime contributing factor in the forty-four fatal accidents were: Excessive speed 15; driving under the influence of alcohol eight; driving on wrong side of road seven; following too close one; improper passing one; ran stop signs three; failure to yield right-of-way three; pedestrians four; two stepped into path of automobiles; one hit standing between two wreckers; one a victim of a hit and run driver; one vehicle ran into side of train and a farm tractor stalled on a grade crossing one.

Who Were Involved In These Fatal Accidents?

27 males over the age of twenty, 13 females over the age of twenty, eight teen-agers and one ten-year old child.

This group consisted of 28 drivers, 16 passengers, four pedestrians and one bicycle rider.

23 percent of the January traffic deaths were people over 60 years of age.

The more we know where, when, how and why traffic accidents occur, the more we can do to avoid them.

At this time there are 37 counties in Alabama (including Chilton County) that have not reported a rural traffic death for 1961. Let's be one of the counties in the State that doesn't have any the entire year!

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

I had the privilege last Thursday morning of hearing President Kennedy address the International Christian Leadership group at a prayer breakfast. Vice President Johnson and Dr. Billy Graham also spoke at the meeting. Others attending included several members of the President's Cabinet and a number of senators and congressmen.

The prayer breakfast, held annually in honor of the President of the United States, was started in 1953 at the beginning of President Eisenhower's first term of office.

President Speaks--

In his remarks at the breakfast, President Kennedy recalled that our nation was founded by those who were dedicated to a strong religious conviction and a recognition that this conviction could flourish under a system of freedom.

"I think it appropriate," he said, "that we pay tribute to that great great constitutional principle which is enshrined in the first amendment of the Constitution, the principle of religious independence. . . But I think it is also important that we pay tribute and acknowledge another great principle, and that is the principle of religious conviction."

"In this nation," the President emphasized, "freedom has no significance unless it is accompanied by conviction."

He went on to say that although they came from a wide variety of religious backgrounds and beliefs, each of our Presidents in his own way has placed a special trust in God.

Those who were strongest intellectually," he added, "were also strongest spiritually."

The President closed his talk by reminding his audience that "the guiding principle and prayer of this nation has been, is now, and shall ever be 'In God We Trust.'"

Messages To Congress--

Two messages, embodying legislative proposals that were included in his campaign platform, were transmitted to Congress by President Kennedy last week.

In the first message he asked Congress to give prompt consideration to legislation providing a gradual increase in the $1.00 hourly minimum wage to $1.25 in three annual steps. He also asked that the minimum wage law be extended to four million workers not now covered.

For the 24 million workers already covered, the wage minimum would be raised this year to $1.15, next year to $1.20, and in the third year to $1.25. Newly-covered employees would be eligible for the $1.00 per hour minimum this year and subsequent increases over an additional three-year period.

A bill containing these proposals has already been introduced in the House of Representatives and is pending in the Education and Labor Committee.

Health Program--

The President's second message dealt with his plan for medical care. In it he requested assistance through the social security program for persons over 65 with hospital, clinic, and nursing costs; federal scholarship for medical and dental students; aid for construction of medical and dental schools and nursing homes; creation of a federal research institute in child health; and an increase in funds for medical research and vocational rehabilitation.

A third message, concerning the President's federal aid to education program, will be referred to Congress this week.

The Sermonette

BY RAY FELKINS, Pastor
Mulberry Baptist Church
Christ The Great Physician

In the fifth chapter of the Gospel according to John, the writer introduces our Lord as the Great Physician. From the human standpoint, as well as from his life record while here on earth, no title is more fitting to Christ than this. Truly he was the 'Great Physician' in the fullest sense. Though his main mission and ministry were in interest of men's souls, it seems that the greater portion of his recorded life on earth deals with the healing of men's diseases and the relieving of physical distress. As we realize that it seems that it would tend to increase our faith in times of sickness and distress.

One question that is often asked is, can Christ heal today? I don't think anyone who recognizes the fact that there is a God would deny that Christ has the ability to heal today. Christ said, All power is given unto me, both in heaven and on earth, and surely this includes the power to heal. Does Christ heal the sick today? To this question there are many opinions, thus various answers. Let me say that whether the healing comes direct or whether it comes through the instrumentalities of the physician, surgeon, nurse or medical compounds; if here he healing, ultimately it comes from Christ the "Great Physician". Frankly, we believe that his healing power is available today just the same as it was when he was on earth, and the reason that it is not more in evidence is because of the lack of man's faith and his tendency to rely upon the knowledge and skill of others.

In this chapter John tells us about Christ meeting an impotent man at the pool of Bethesda. He had been placed there, perhaps, by his relatives or friends, with the hope that while the waters were troubled he would be able to get in so he could be healed. When Christ saw him he knew that he had been in that condition for a long time and he wanted to help him. Therefore, he said unto him, "Wilt thou be made whole?"

The impotent man answered him by saying that he had no one to put into the water while it was troubled and before he could get in, another stepped down before him. Then Christ said unto him, "Rise, take up thy bed and walk." And immediately the man was made whole and took up his bed and walked. This is a perfect illustration of the fact that man's faith, plus God's power, equals healing.

Certainly this incident in the life of Christ, along with all the other similar ones, has caused him to rightfully merit the title of "Great Physician."

Volunteers In TB Campaign Needed

I would like to commend the volunteers for their services in the Christmas Seal Campaign.

Without the help of the volunteers, we could not have a successful campaign or tuberculosis control program, in Chilton County.

We are grateful to those volunteers who have devoted countless hours of work in the interest of their fellow countrymen.

We are also grateful to the public for the splendid support of this year campaign. To date $1064.84 has been contributed toward our county goal of $1,365.00 needed to finance a year-round TB program.

As the campaign reaches its closing stages, the public needs to be reminded that the fight against tuberculosis is continuing, and must continue, full speed ahead. With 10859 cases of TB in Alabama today and many of those cases are right here in Chilton County, we cannot cease our efforts.

Everyone's help is needed in the massive fight against tuberculosis and Christmas Seals give everyone a chance to help. And to those who have not already given to Christmas Seals, it's not too late to help. Contributions will be appreciated just as much now as before Christmas.

Over the top we must go, so that we can better protect every family and every home in Chilton County from tuberculosis.

Thank you again!

DAYS OF HOPE

Virginia H. Stover

Words are our building material. With them have been built all the good literature and all the trash that was ever scribbled. Words are the brick, the lumber, the common property of all who write. They are the tools of the good conversationalist and the great orators. They are a needed part of our life, and can be used to our advantage or our disadvantage.

One person may use words to write material of inspiration while another arranges the same words to degrade the mentality of all who read their work. Good words spoken lovingly can help transform a dark moment to a bright one. They can bring healing to the soul of those we seek to comfort.

Harsh, bitter and cruel words are like poison gas, once they are turned loose it is impossible to gather them up again. According to I have chosen their estimation of some of our most learned writers certain words. One has said the most beautiful word in the English language is Tranquil and forgive.

The world has a thousand books, And the home but one; Yet the light of a whole world dies When that is gone.

This column honors Mrs. Bertha Mitchell this week. She has lived in Chilton County all of her life. Mrs. Mitchell is 65 years old and has been sick for a long time. She has been a Christian since she was 13 years old and a member of the Maple Springs Baptist church all of this time. She gives as her favorite scripture verse, Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest. We wish for Mrs. Mitchell a speedy recovery.

SAFETY WITH DRUGS

The indiscriminate use of drugs can be costly not only from an economic standpoint but in the value of lives lost or damaged.

Because so many antihistaminic mean that they are safe or that they drugs are now marketed does not are the answer to the mystery of the common old which is characterized by symptoms similar to forms of allergy, such as itching and swelling of the nasal membranes, tearing of the eyes and the like.

Taken indiscriminately, the antihistaminic drugs can kill. They can also be the means of causing death and injury, since they produce side effects in certain persons that make them unsafe to drive a car, for example. These side effects include nausea, vomiting, headaches, poor coordination, and drowsiness.

Antibiotic drugs are another group which must be handled carefully. Taking its name from anti, meaning against, and bio, meaning living tissue, this group then fights organisms or bacteria either by destroying growth. There are numerous anti-therapeutic or decreasing their biotic drugs all of which work differently in various conditions. They too produce different reactions requiring the watchful supervision of a physician.

Research is necessary to learn the cause and cure of disease. Research brings knowledge and knowledge is power - the power to save life and relieve pain. But indiscriminate use of drugs will undo the good that is being accomplished. Self-medication is not the answer to the product of medical research, for it brings illness and unhappiness instead.

Too much of one drug can produce toxicity or poisoning in the condition which results in drowsiness, a mental stupor, a difficulty in chemical substances of the body, a walking and talking and noticeable tremors of the tongue, lips and fingers.

Don't listen to the boastful advertising on drugs. Be suspicious of anything that is presented as a cure-all. Be cautious. You don't know how a drug taken blindly may affect you.

The People Of Chilton County Are The Primary Concern Of This Newspaper!

William Paley, chairman of the Board for the Columbia Broadcasting System, has a great sense of humor, and in that he organized C.B.S. and has been with it ever since, he naturally has heard a long share of stories, both funny and dramatic.

I knew Mr. Paley before his company had become the international economic giant that it is today, and heard from his own lips what he likely considered top stories of those days. Percy Rosenberger and I had gone to New York at his request to let him hear our black-face skit which was going over good nationally on the radio at that time. He stood right in the middle of CBS getting a shoe-shine as he unfolded this one: It had to do with a fellow who had been troubled for many months by two nagging maladies. One of his troubles was a constant rinking in

It always seems to sadden me to come across a "For Sale" sign on some pretty little house in my neighborhood.

Especially so when the family has moved out and left it, empty and alone. Its blank, curtainless windows, like sad, staring eyes, make it look so forlorn.

But I always try to be an optimist about it, and hope that the family has moved because good fortune has smiled - that it has departed for a better job, a bigger and better home.

Maybe more babies have come to bless the family, and added room is needed. I hope, too, that the house left behind will prove to be just the right size and price for a home-sweet-home couple with stars in their eyes but little cash in the bank!

I wish it could become a community custom that, when a family moves up and out, from such an attractive home, they would leave a few dainty curtains in the windows, to make the left-behind home seem a little less abandoned. How about taking a note, also, onto the realtor's sign, saying to all who pass or come to inspect, that "This was our happy home, and we are pleased to leave it. It is a nice friendly place. We know that whoever buys it will be happy here, too!"

Somehow just a curt "House For Sale" sign seems so dog-dogged downright heartless!

THE phone rang the other evening and the wife answered and a wee small voice said: "Who is this?" She told him who it was and asked him what number he was calling. "10978-J!" or something like that. She told him he had to hang up and tell the operator for the correct number he wanted. She reluctantly did and a few minutes later the phone rang again.

"Who is this?" and the same thing all over again with the little woman trying to tell him how to call his number. Then she finally asked him who he was calling. "Betty Sue," came the meek reply. This went on for some time and the little feller hung up again. In about fifteen minutes the phone rang again and the wife answered and guess what. She went through the whole thing one more time and finally told the youngster to hang up and call her right number and he would get who he wanted to talk to. By this time the little boy was exasperated having tried with such determination and failed. "If I do," he said, "you'll just answer again!" And with that he hung up for the last time.

AND while we're on the "youngster" set another gem came to us from nephew Jay Andrews up Birmingham way. Jaybird (for short) is sixteen months old and is having his fair share of trouble with the English language. We thought their regular fare of vittles was steak and gravy but after his pronunciation of his favorite food, it leaves us wondering. You know what his favorite food is? "Dit dogs and poupl!" Heck we have that at our house all the time. (And to a hefty start in this old world, 8 pounds, 6 ounces we believe! Bob gave us a cecar and w do appreciate it. It's a first for the Atlanta so don't expect too much out of Bob for the next few months. What time he isn't on Cloud Nine impersonating a 'big shot' (smoking cecars yet) he'll be asleep on the job. That floorwalking at one a.m. is exhilarating ain't it?

THANKS to Mr. Harris (he didn't ditch his first name, so we didn't ditch it) from over Stanton way. He dropped by to subscribe last weekend, but didn't. It seems he didn't know he could get a lot more newspaper now for three dollars than he ever could for two! Hope to hear from you Mr. Harris, and soon! so you can keep up with the progress of our fair County of Chilton. . . and glimpse at the past on occasion, too!

ORVILLE Wood has a dummy watch in his place of business and he did have it located in the window for all to see. It reads ten minutes past eleven we think, and it reads that all the time! That's one way to save time, huh. Anyways, a gent came by his window, passed and looked at the five and one-half inch square biscuit set on a watch by it. (The dummy, not Orville). He proceeded on down the street and soon returned to check his watch once again. (He knew something was amiss this time.) When he saw somebody was wrong and it wasn't him, he entered the store to see what was the matter. It seems Orville had repaired his watch some time before and he wanted to know if Orville just could not fix his watch or if he had trouble with his own too! Now, if that doesn't fool you up good, this will . . .

Orville can fix just about anything (watch the eyes) and if he can't fix it, he will obligingly sell you a brand new one. . . that says ten minutes after eleven, all the time!

WE receive, each week, more elaborately put-together books and pamphlets that tell us absolutely nothing, than you ever dreamed existed. From how much and what kind of meat is eaten by folks in different states to how much dirt it takes to fill a two-ton truck going forty miles an hour. We appreciate the publisher thinking enough of us to send us this material, but it would certainly be a step in the direction of right if they'd compile them so we could understand what they're talking about! Nothing but charts, diagrams and percentages.

To the trained mind (such as a bookie or a roulette operator) this cause they can grasp it, but to us it's just charts, diagrams and percentages and we get nowhere at all! It's as bad as the tax forms which are 'so simple' anybody can understand them! Wonder who the jokers are that think up these 'simple' fied' forms anyway?

THERE'S a message here, some- where: "While 'Christian' flocks' use bars and locks

To protect the homes they leave. The Pygmy and the Eskimo, somehow do not seem to know.

Why their fellowman should there. So, in Brotherhood they share, when they have anything to spare."

J. M. Chadwell entitles that "Primitive Practices" and it does have a moral indeed, but he fails to mention that the Pygmies and the Eskimos have 'primitive practices' that far exceed stealing and we do not envy them for their 'primitive'! And they probably don't envy us for ours!

WE know now why some folks say that dog is man's best friend. Some of 'em are treated so much like one until they feel like one of the 'pack'.

THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

BY CARL GOGGINS

Political plots begin to thicken! According to a Montgomery newspaper, political columnist, rumor has it former Sen. Richmond Flowers won't be a member of the Folsom staff if and when he runs for Attorney General in 1962, as is now expected.

The columnist opined in a recent article it has hardly a secret. Flowers has been running for something for months, presumably for Attorney General. That scribe went on to say it has been also presumed that to Flowers' service above and beyond in behalf of the former Gov. in the past, Flowers would have the big man's endorsement.

But it was continued, rumor now is Big Jim will give his blessings to state employee Willard Livingston in that chase. He is the son of Ed Livingston of the State Supreme Court, to whom the newspaper writer claimed, Folsom owes some political debt.

When asked by this reporter during a recent visit to the Capitol to comment on the matter, Flowers, known to his senate colleagues as The Red Fox, replied in the words of a famous Admiral:

"Damn The Torpedoes! Full Steam Ahead!" Flowers then turned and strolled down the Capitol hall, wearing his usual contagious smile, apparently as confident as was the Admiral himself.

So many Alabama Democrats way of thinking, the state's newly-formed Democratic Campaign Steering Committee's election of Decatur Circuit Judge James Bloodworth as Chairman of the group was a definite step in the direction of Democratic Solidarity in the state.

The thought no doubt, was that Judge Bloodworth, who apparently has no state political axis to grind, was the man who could bring a factions of the state's Demo Party together into a hard-hitting, hard working campaign organization.

It was apparent to Bloodworth and those attending the recent Birmingham meet that the Steering were not formed to usurp the powers of the elected State Democratic Executive Committee, but to merge in act as a permanent campaign group for elections of national importance.

Ice-Damaged Timber Requires Attention

January's icy weather may have left timbermen with some disturbing souvenirs.

The ice-damaged trees should be cut and removed, says Ike Martin, Auburn Extension forester. But he cautions timbermen to avoid damaging sound trees while removing damaged ones.

Start the cutting process in the areas which were cut last and salvage ice damaged timber from them first, says the specialist. Limbs and tops left after logging increase insects which feed on the cambium layer of the tree, and the pests will aged trees that have been logged in most likely build up faster in damage the past year.

Martin lists several steps to follow for timbermen planning to sell damaged trees.

1. Cut and sell damaged logs and limbs.
2. Log and scatter remaining limbs and tops to increase drying rate. Leave limbs on the underside as props to keep the main stem of the ground.
3. Pull limbs and tops away from sound trees.
4. Cut and sell leaners. Their root system are probably broken up badly.
5. Spray logs decked in the woods with BHC. It's better to haul them out if possible.

The forester also advises timbermen to check their damaged stands regularly from early spring through fall checking carefully for fading of yellow tops. Such signs indicate an infected tree. When these signs appear, cut at once and spray BHC, he adds.

Any excessive insect damage should be reported to the county agent or to a forester in the area.

MAPLE SPRINGS BAPTIST CHURCH ADOPTS BUDGET

The Maple Springs Baptist church voted in their regular business conference to adopt a unified budget and also to remodel the rostrum and choir space in the auditorium. These two items prove the people are interested in the future welfare of their church and this is a big step toward a more progressive membership.

The attendance and offering were up this Sunday and the Pastors message on, A Half Baked Cake, was most stirring. He used the Script, Hosea 7:1-10 using as the text the 8 verse.

Linings Help Hold Shape Of Fashions

Linings the hidden assets that mold and hold the shape of a garment, says Jeanne Priestet, clothing specialist with the Auburn Extension Service.

A lining improves a garment's crease resistance, prevents sagging, increases the life of the garment and gives it a professional look. When choosing fabric for a lining, think in terms of style and garment fabric, she says.

For lightweight wool dresses and skirts, Miss Priestet suggests sheath lining, china silk, or lightweight taffeta. For silk shantung and similar fabrics, suitable linings include silk organza, net or marquisette. And for heavy cottons or rayons, use batiste, lightweight broadcloth, or percale. In general, the specialist advises, select a lining fabric that is preshrunk, firm, and does not ravel.

Social Security For Chilton's Farmers

Chilton County farmers who had a net profit of at least $400 in 1960 from the operation of their farms are covered by the Social Security Law. They have no obligation to make social security reports and pay the social security taxes due by the Internal Revenue Service by April 15, 1961.

There is a special provision of the law which makes it possible for many self-employed farmers to get social security credits in years in which their net profit is less than as much as $600, and not over $400. A farmer whose gross sales $1,800 in a year, can report two-thirds of his gross self-employment income instead of his actual net profit. This means that he can get a year's social security credit if his gross income is as much as $600. If his gross income is $1,800 or more and his net profit is less than $1,200 he may report his actual net profit, or $1,200.

According to Cecil L. Simpson, manager of the Birmingham district social security office, some self-employed farmers think they can wait until they are ready to retire or become disabled and file returns for prior years to make up the needed social security credits. That Simpson says, is not possible. They can only get social security credits for the three back years. Valuable social security protection has been lost by many self-employed farmers because they failed to file reports for the years 1955 and 1956. Credits for 1957 income will also be lost unless a return is filed by April 15, 1961.

The social security manager points out that self-employed farmers may obtain the necessary reporting forms including Schedule F, which is necessary in filing reports of farm income, from the Internal Revenue Service.

CARLTON SPEAKS TO JEMISON FFA

Mr. C. C. Carlton, Superintendent of the Horticultural Experiment Station at Collins Chapel, spoke to the Jemison Vocational agriculture students last week on the work that is being done at the sub-station and about the job opportunities to be found in agriculture and related occupations.

Mr. Carlton mentioned some of the detailed work that is being carried on at the station with peaches, grapes, tomatoes, sweet potatoes and other horticultural crops. He discussed chemical weed control in strawberries and the work that is being done with chemicals as a means of thinning peaches. Mr. Carlton also told the students that most producers were using too much phosphate fertilizer on their peach-

The students were told that the investment per worker is only 115,000. He also stated that 40 percent of all private employment is agricultural or related to agriculture. Only 20 percent of the disposable income in this country, Mr. Carlton stated, is spent for food while Russia 50 percent of the disposable income is spent for food. He said that the farmer receives only 38 cents of each food dollar.

The students enjoyed Mr. Carlton lecture and they are happy to learn that he has accepted a position as ex-officio member of the Advisory Committee for the Jemison High School Vocational Agriculture Department.

CREED

I believe in the future of Farming, with a faith born not of words but of deeds — achievements won by the present and past generations of Farmers; in the promise of better days through better ways; even as the better things we now enjoy have come up to us from the struggles of former years.

I believe that to live and work on a good farm is pleasant as well as challenging; for I know the joys and discomforts of farm life and hold an inborn fondness for those associations which, even in hours of discouragement, I cannot deny.

I believe in leadership from ourselves and respect from others. I believe in my own ability to work efficiently and think clearly, with such knowledge and skills as I can secure, and in the ability of organized farmers to serve our own and the public interest in marketing the product of our toil. I believe we can safeguard these rights against practices and policies that are unfair.

I believe in less dependence on begging and more power in bargaining; in the life abundant and enough honest wealth to help make it so—for others as well as myself; in less need for charity and more of it when needed; in being happy myself and playing square with those whose happiness depends upon me.

I believe that rural America can and will hold true to the best traditions in our national life and that I can exert an influence in my home and community which will stand solid for my part in that inspiring task.—(Copyright).

Plant Better Varieties For More Cotton Profits

To make higher yields and more profit from cotton, Alabama farmers should plant a variety that has proved to be an outstanding yielder in their areas of the state.

Jasper Jernigan, Auburn Extension Service cotton specialist, recommends the following wilt-resistant varieties for the entire state: Dixie King, Auburn 56, Plains, Coker 100-A, and Rex. Empire may be planted in the northern part of the state, and All-in-One is another acceptable for South Alabama.

Wilt-susceptible varieties do not grow well in extreme southern Alabama, but Pope, Stonville 7, Hale, Fox 4, and Stardel can be grown successfully in the noninfested soils of northern Alabama, Jernigan says.

If you want chintz to keep its place after cleaning be sure to buy material with a durable finish. Not all chintz on the market has this finish; so if washing and wearing qualities are important to you, double-check before you buy.

If you must sit with your coat on for any length of time, unbutton it and pull it up slightly in the back to lessen strain.

Rains Continue--

Chilton Surrounded by Flooded Areas; No Great Damage Here

THE past week of 'solid water' over Chilton County and the State of Alabama has given us some idea of how old Mr. Noah must have felt when the rains came.

Chilton County has seen days past when as much rain as has been falling during the past week would have resulted in isolation of many areas and widespread damage to low lying farms and pastures. This malady of the year was greatly due to the road system in the County not being what it should be. Today, however, according to most County and city officials, Chilton's road system is holding up unusually well and this fact can be attributed largely to the work of the Board of Revenue and Control and the County Road Department. We have, thus far, passed the test of whether or not our County has come up and out of the mud and mire... we think we have!

No great damage or flooding is reported in Chilton County as of

FROM 'NOT ENOUGH' TO 'TOO MUCH'

From a 1961 rainfall deficiency of nearly five inches, Birmingham in three days, has registered an excess of nearly four.

In the 24-hour period ended at 4 p.m. Friday a total fall of 3.82 inches was registered at the Weather Bureau.

For this far this year we have had 36.6 inches, 3.67 more than normal for the period.

At 4 p.m. last Friday the 1961 rainfall totaled 3.58 inches, which at that time was a deficiency of 1.45.

Total rainfall here between 4 p.m. Friday and 4 p.m. yesterday was 3.88 inches.

Wednesday afternoon, some residents in the West End area of Clanton have been forced to abandon their home temporarily because of the flooding of creeks in the area. Ironically, the Corps of Engineers has been here since last week to begin work to alleviate just such conditions.

Schools were closed Wednesday noon in Chilton County due to the continuous rain and also because of storm warnings which were released over a wide area of the state and tornado warnings were issued for as far south as Shelby County.

R. M. Tucker, publisher of the News, thought he had struck oil Tuesday of this week when a large oilfield appeared in his backyard. After investigation, it turned out to be an old, abandoned septic tank.

County Cattlemen To Hold Annual Meeting

THE Directors of the Chilton County Cattlemen's Association have planned a very interesting and educational program for the Annual Meeting to be held at Bob's Drive-In on March 1, beginning 10:00 a.m.

Considerable time and effort have been put forth to secure some of the state's outstanding authorities on pasture and livestock for this meeting according to Dan R. Mims, Assistant County Agent, and secretary-treasurer of the Association.

Program Outlined--

The 10 o'clock business meeting will feature Dan Thompson and Bill Lee Dan Mims, Wallace Fox, and C. Godwin speak.

At 11:00 a.m. Frank Boyd will speak on Pasture Production.

Lunch will be served at 12:00 noon after a brief recess.

At 12:45 Glenn Stebbins will speak on the Importance of up-grading beef cattle and timing of market which was unknown to him. Evidently the extra weight of the saturated earth had caved in the top of the tank. No oil, just water!

After nearly two weeks of almost continuous rain, Chilton County is in for a let-up with regards to precipitation. The farmers in the area have been praying for rain and it's quite evident that they have been amply rewarded.

New Feature To Help You Decide On That Vacation

A new feature begins this week in the News (on the Woman's Page) to better acquaint you with "The Magic Circle" of the different states of the Union and their vacationland possibilities. We think you will like the feature each week, if for no other reason, than it educates you on the nation's wonderlands.

This week, we start off with Alabama (Mobile) naturally. Watch for it each week, exclusively in the News! And... there's no advertising involved -- just information!

The MELA-TONES trio from Springfield, Missouri will be singing at a special musical service at the Temple Assembly of God on Friday night.

The trio is traveling in behalf of Evangel College, the Assemblies of God liberal arts college. They will be accompanied by Rev. Grant Wacker who is field representative for the school.

At Bob Jones University

Five students from Alabama are included on the Bob Jones University Dean's List for the first semester of the 1960-61 academic year.

Named are those students who have earned at least a "B" average during the semester.

Those included on the Dean's List from Chilton County are:

Miss Glenda Sue Campbell, daughter of Mrs. Alvin Campbell, Route 1, Verbera, sophomore, School of Education.

caloosa, Montgomery, Prattville and other cities are reporting widespread damage from high water. The main waterways in the State are expected to reach flood-stage today or tomorrow causing much damage to low-lying farmlands and homes. Evacuation of many areas has been necessary in the Birmingham area and also in the Prattville-White City area just south of Chilton County.

Yessir, the humidity has been excessive for the past week and most everyone is looking forward to the first sunny day, in order to dry out themselves, as well as their homes, clothing and livestock.

Story of the Week--

BEGINNING this week the News will run a feature under the heading of "Story of the Week" each week and it will be, what we consider to be, the most interesting and unusual story of that particular week. The idea is to stimulate interest among our readers (and maybe some of those who aren't) and the prize is (get this now) a by-line on the story chosen for that week. No, we're not giving away Cadillacs or $15,000 homes, but we feel like most folks would like to say they had "written" a story for their newspaper and got it into print. This week's "Story of the Week" is contributed by Mrs. Lavada Wilson of Maplesville and we think it's a good'un! How about yourself? Do you know of an interesting story this week? It can be news, humor, public relations or just plain 'folks'. Let us hear from you next week and get your "By-line" under the "Story of the Week". THE EDITOR.

Letter of Appreciation to A2C Robert J. Wilson, AFRTS, Ramey AFB, Puerto Rico. Airmen Wilson: Your efforts on the night of 8 November 1960 to provide up-to-the-minute election returns through the radio station were of great value to the people stationed here at Ramey.

Despite the fact that this information was made available to them only through your remaining on duty throughout the night, many perhaps took it for granted without realizing the efforts required to do so.

However, those of us who do know appreciate your work of that evening, and I would like to extend my appreciation personally to you for a job well done.

IMPROVEMENT ON ROCKY MT ROAD

Governor Patterson and Highway Director Engelhardt have entered into a contract with Chilton County for the Construction of grading, drainage and pavement on 5.385 miles of road from Jemison via Rocky Mount church to a point on the Jemison-Mineral Springs Road.

The estimated cost of this work is $116,600.00 being financed by $37,500.00 1959-60 public road and bridge funds, $37,500.00 1959-60 Public Road and Bridge fund, $30,800 by State Highway Department and $20,800 by the County.

The work was let by State Contract, and construction should get underway in the near future.

This work is being done as a part of the Special Aid Program for the Counties whereby the Counties can construct roads and bridges with other than regularly allocated money under the Farm to Market Road Act.

The regular program provided by law and the Special Aid program as granted by the Governor and the Highway Director will be the means for the construction of 1000 miles of County roads and bridges within the State during each year of the present administration. Chilton County will construct its proportionate share.

This is the first administration that has entered into an Agreement with every County covering the granting of special funds for road and bridge construction on the County road system.

The Importance Of Chilton's Woodlands

WE use in our daily lives more than 5,000 articles made from wood. That's why better living in Chilton County is greatly a result of good farming management and care of our natural resources such as our woodlands. More than 90 percent of the wood used in the United States is a tree from private lands.

You, as a tree farmer, or as a prospective tree farmer, know the value of trees and care of them. It is our job to educate others to the importance of tree crops in Chilton County. Keep America and Chilton County green by taking care of our woodlands. They are not only important to us, socially and financially, but are extremely important to our children and future generations.

A Look At 1861 Through The Eyes Of Ginger

A trip through the 1861's has been a lot of fun, pretty dancing girls, with golden curls.

How the war was thought, the way it was fought. The negroes danced, with colored pants.

There were women, there with hats over their hair, there was a girl named Carolina. On the table was a lot of china.

A queen was there, with a crown in her hair, there were rebels and yankees that knelt on their knees. They shot a cannon twice, that would make you freeze as stiff as ice. The Civil War begun when they shot a lot of guns.

"Your ability to turn simple things about as into beautiful and useful pieces has made us all happy." This statement shows the appreciation fellow club members have for Miss Lena Downs of Clanton Rt. 2.

Beautiful and useful are words that seem to fit the lady called 'Miss Lena'. According to Home Agent Johnnie Lane, the Poplar Springs Home Demonstration Club and community recently honored Miss Lena at a luncheon when they gave her an orchid and a 30-year pin. And all of Chilton County's HD members can thank her for requesting a home agent and starting home demonstration in the county back in 1933.

Since that time, the industrious lady has served as first, second, and third vice president of her local club. And she also likes to attend county leadership schools so she can bring a lot of information back to other club members.

Miss Lane states that Miss Lena is making handicraft items such as pinecone trays, baskets, hearth brooms, plaques, shuck dolls and chipping and decorative pinecone birds.

Parks on Coosa Get Underway

FRIDAY night the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce held a special meeting at the office of Liberty National Life Insurance Company to make plans for a membership drive to begin within the next few months.

Present at the meeting were: J. P. Lawrence, Jr., H. Gains Burnette, John Vines, E. S. Monroe, I. S. Levine, Jon Pitts and John M. Higgins.

Promote Economic And Industrial Development--

It was pointed out to the board members by Chamber President, John Higgins, that the Chamber, to have maximum effect and results must have broad support from all segment of Chilton County business activity.

"The primary objective of the Chamber of Commerce is to promote and encourage economic and industrial development throughout Chilton County.

Chamber Projects--

In addition, the Chamber sponsors and promotes certain programs which it feels will be of great benefit to the county. As a whole these include:

The annual County Fair, support of the Chilton County Library Association; seeking to obtain a county-wide library system and bookmobile to service all of Chilton County; and the development of recreational facilities on the Coosa River.

Lake Parks Project Underway--

Mr. H. Gains Burnette, who is Chairman of the Committee on the Coosa River Development in Chilton County, reported that the Chamber's project to promote public parks and boat launching ramps on Lay Lake and Lake Mitchell are progressing rapidly.

Land Available; Roads To Be Furnished--

Land for this project has been made available by the Alabama Power Company and the Board of Revenue and Control has agreed to provide all-weather access roads to the three sights.

Boat ramps, picnic facilities and general construction will be done by the Alabama Department of Conservation under the direction of Mr. Bill Younger, who heads the department.

Survey Completed; Construction To Begin--

Mr. Burnette reports that the construction survey has been completed. Initial construction and clearing will begin next week, weather permitting.

Foe Example Of Teamwork in County--

This project is an example of industry, state and county government and the Chilton County Chamber of Commerce working together with full cooperation for the advancement of this County's economic prosperity.

Tourist Attraction--

The Chamber expects that the completion of these three parks will result in a tremendous increase in the number of people who visit Chilton County for fishing and recreation. The marks will not have any commercial concessions which will in any way compete with local camp operators.

Judge J. C. White and the County Board of Revenue and Control have pursued this project with the Chamber of Commerce with great vigor and initiative and without their full cooperation the project would have been delayed considerably.

The FFA has 380,000 members affiliated with 9,000 local chapters.

The Trials Of Freedom--

NO nation has ever founded a free and just society based on chaos and rioting such as is prevalent in the Congo at this time. The passion for freedom has caused wars, yes; but the desire for freedom and the pure love of confusion for the sake of anarchy are worlds apart in the final analysis.

We do not pretend to know what is right for the Congo. Our greatest concern is the effect it is having and will have on us and the rest of the world. It is apparent that "the powers that be" in the Congo situation are ignorant as to the usefulness of their power. They have the power, but have no earthly idea of how to use it or what it is good for. There is nothing that the people of the United States had rather see than for another nation to rule itself, freely and without intervention from any quarter. But when the lack of education, social understanding, religious integrity and brother love is obviously leading the peoples of a nation to disaster, the rest of the world cannot easily afford to sit idly by and watch.

Free nations have been born and created out of the minds of dedicated men and from the sweat and determination of the people working together -- under God. A nation, to survive, must have strong leadership, whether it be a Democracy or any other. The Congo does not have such leadership in its own ranks at this time; neither does it have the co-ordination of power necessary to calm a situation well out-of-hand. The peoples of the Congo are highly illiterate and therefore are easy political puppets. They believe what they are told.

It is true that "we must take the current as it serves" but we, of the free world will surely "lose our ventures" if we fail to act in a time of crisis such as we now face. It is a well-established truth--written in sacrifice--that freedom is worth fighting and dying for.

We must use every resource at our command, and teach the people of the Congo to use their own and educate them to the blessings of freedom and love and respect for our fellowman and then set about to show them the way to self-government and civilized negotiation when differences of opinion and belief come.

Why We Observe--

FOLKS who say they don't see any sense in 'celebrating' a defeat such as that which the South suffered in the Civil War or those who say there is no logic in 'celebrating' something that nearly ruined the country; are thinking shallow and are missing the whole idea of the Centennial celebration. We are not celebrating a defeat or a national calamity, but recognizing those individuals who made a supreme sacrifice for something in which they believed and those on both sides of the struggle who had the strength, integrity and determination to stand up for what they believed to be right--which is our American heritage. Could we have been the great nation that we are if there hadn't been this Civil War with all its struggles and hardships? We cannot answer that, but it does point to the idea of the whole thing: trying times and situations strengthen us, individually and collectively. We do not recommend violence as a substitute for understanding, but we do maintain that the differences between the north and south 100 years ago, cleared the air for a new go at it. We are still struggling to understand one another, but we do not think the Civil War increased that struggle. . . on the contrary; horrible though it was, it strengthened the United States of America in its purpose, just as did the Revolution bring about freedom for our oppressed nation and its people -- at the time, there seemed to be no other way!

Our Hats Off--

SINCE our objective here is to recognize the historical value as well as the journalistic contribution to the whole nation of the Montgomery Advertiser-Journal with their "Confederate Centennial Edition" last Sunday we will state it here, publicly for all our readers to see, rather than send them a private note of congratulations.

We looked forward with great anticipation to this historical documentation of facts and were amply rewarded for our waiting. The editors and writers have done a magnificent job on this endeavor and the State of Alabama, as well as the nation should thank them sincerely. We're especially proud for and of them, since they represent the highest ideals of our field of journalism with such fine examples of achievement by the free press of America!

The Sermonette

BY RAY FELKINS, Pastor
Mulberry Baptist Church

Christ, The Bread of Life

As we turn to our series on John's presentations of Christ, we come to the sixth chapter of John where he introduces Christ as the Bread of Life. In fact, it is Christ himself who declares in this sixth chapter of John that he is the Bread of Life. Coming from his lips, referring as it did to himself, this declaration is natural enough.

I am sure you recall that it is in this chapter that John tells us about the feeding of the five thousand and by our Lord, using the lad's lunch which consisted of five barley loaves and two small fish. When the people had seen this miracle they began to say, "This is of a truth that prophet that should come into the world." Then Christ, perceiving that they would come and take him by force to make him a king, departed into a mountain alone.

The very next day the people came seeking Christ again and when they had found him they said unto him, "Rabbi, when camest thou hither?" It seems that they were puzzled as to how Christ had gotten across the sea to Capernaum, knowing that his disciples had crossed, in their ship, while he was still alone in the mountain. Christ knowing their hearts and the motive for which they have sought him, ignores their question and very frankly tells them that their interest in him is not due to his miracles but to the loaves with which they had been filled. He takes this opportunity to warn them not to work for meat that will perish, but for the meat which endures unto everlasting life, given unto them by the Son of man whom God the Father had sealed.

With some measure of sincerity, seemingly, the people then asked what they should do to work the works of God. Christ answered them that the work of God was to believe on him whom God has sent. Then they asked for a sign that they might believe on him. Apparently they had forgotten the miracle of the day before. They then recalled that their fathers ate manna in the desert, which Moses gave, but Christ explained that Moses was not the giver of the bread from Heaven, but that it was the Father who gives both the manna and the living bread. As the daily bread is to our physical life, so is the living bread to our spiritual.

When Christ had thus spoken, they cried out, "Lord, evermore give us this bread." As to just what they meant here, I am not sure, but Christ answered and said, "I am the bread of life, he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst."

Does Less Work For More Money Make Much Sense?

The people who want 40 hours' pay for a 32-hour week are not only kidding themselves, but they are taking you -- out in left field.

That's the gist of a study-indeed by the National Association of Manufacturers, which has taken a new look into the proposal to reduce the work week. The NAM study found:

1. A shorter work week would inevitably be accompanied by an increase in hourly labor costs, and
2. It would result in aggravating rather than relieving the jobless problem.

In colorful language, the NAM pointed out that if the American people were willing to live at the standard of living prevalent 100 years ago, they could produce enough goods and services for that purpose by working only 12 hours a week.

"It is not likely that modern man would be content with the same standard of living as his great-grandfather. The choice is up to the people."

Dr. E. F. Scouten, vice-president in charge of personnel of the Maytag Company, Newton, Iowa, served as chairman of the NAM subcommittee studying the problem. Said Dr. Scouten:

"The unions want a cut in the number of hours but the same weekly pay." This can only result in raising the cost of goods. That means reducing the market for them -- hence, a curtailment in the number of jobs. When foreign competitors are invading our market, it is especially serious."

Dr. Scouten said that the slogan "40 hours pay for 32 hours work" is sheer self-delusion and economically unrealistic.

The NAM group said that while shorter hours might spread the work it also would spread the hardship resulting from an insufficient demand for labor.

The NAM study refutes the argument that the shorter work week is necessary to cushion the impact of the loss of jobs due to automation.

"Since 1910, the nation's over-all productivity has increased two and one-half times. As a result of this productivity increase, it takes only two-fifths as much labor on the average, to do a given job as it did in 1910.

"If it were true that increases in productivity or technological advances threw men out of work, we could conclude that three-fifths of our work force would be unemployed."

According to the NAM study, the chief current danger comes from a public misunderstanding -- "The notion that somehow we can have a shorter work week without giving up anything in return for it."

The only real cure for unemployment, the NAM pointed out, is to enlarge job opportunities through the growth and expansion of business, the development of new products, and the improvement of the competitive position of American business concerns in relation to foreign producers.

The NAM said that probably most people "want more leisure" in the sense that they would gladly take it if they did not have to give up anything in return.

"This is an unrealistic way of viewing the problem, for where choice is put before employees of more leisure or more income, they almost invariably choose more income, they almost invariably choose more income."

The American productive system has performed great things in providing both more leisure and more goods for the American people. There is every reason to believe that it can continue to do so provided that decisions on economic issues, such as the shorter work week, take into account these realistic considerations."

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

Strategically and economically the security of our nation depends to a considerable degree on the friendship and cooperation of our Latin American neighbors. Yet, during and since the end of World War II most of these countries to the South have been taken for granted while we concentrated our efforts in other parts of the world.

In recent months, there has emerged a much needed revival of interest in United Latin American relationships. His re-awakening has resulted at least in part from fears intensified by the Castro government in Cuba and other communist gains elsewhere in the hemisphere. President Kennedy emphasized our concern in his inaugural address when he proclaimed:

"Let all our neighbors know that we shall join with them to oppose aggression or subversion anywhere in the Americas, and let every other power know that this hemisphere remains to remain the master of its own roof."

Earlier in his inaugural statement the President pledged to our sister, republics to the south a new alliance for progress to assist free men and free governments in casting off the chains of poverty.

Issues Report

As Chairman of the House Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs, I have followed events in South and Central America very closely for several years. Last fall Congressmen Dante Fascell (D, Fla.) and I visited six Latin American countries. On Monday of last week we issued our report. Favorable editorial comment on both the mission and the subsequent report has appeared already in a number of nationally circulated newspapers including the Miami Herald, the Chicago Daily Tribune, and the New York Times.

The 47-page report contains individual studies of the six countries we visited -- Venezuela, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Bolivia, and Panama. Also, in the report we make a number of general observations in connection with the Latin American area and offer 16 specific recommendations.

Latin Hopes High

We found that Latin Americans have great expectations of what the new Administration may do in the way of aid. Throughout our travels we attempted to dissuade them from unreasonable expectations. We emphasized then and in our report that an assistance program of the magnitude of the Marshall Plan is unrealistic, not only because we are unable to absorb massive infusions of capital.

Many new, dedicated leaders in the Latin American republics realize that foreign assistance alone cannot construct sound economies in their countries. The countries are in the incipient stages of industrialization, and their needs are calculable not the least of which is for technicians to carry out necessary development programs. A major obstacle to progress is the fact that 50% of all farm land is owned by 1% of the landholders. The situation is further complicated by communist propaganda and other pressures from Castro's Cuba.

Reasonable Aid

Despite the many problems facing the nations of Latin America, the United States can ill afford to allow communism and Castroism to continue to spread in that area. Therefore, we must stand ready to render reasonable assistance to those of Latin America that are shouldering the responsibilities necessary for them to remain free and independent.

We see
and hear
by BOB

We grew a beard upon our chin,
And took the poking jibes;
We let it stay for 60 days
Amidst the threats and bribes.

We shaved it off, to satisfy
Those friends and 'dears' at home;
Just as we thought, those 'most concerned'
Don't even know it's gone!

SOMETHING we've been wanting to say for some time now is expressed very well by one Mr. Al Look in the February issue of the American Press. Mr. Look is the author of 'Advertising at Retail and is an old hand at selling; hence is a good authority on the subject.

Newspapers Are Not

On Trial

"The reader of a book is produced by the author. Irving Cobb once said, there are no dull subjects, just dull authors. You can't measure the readership of the newspaper. The reader is produced by the story. The newspaper develops no readers, only prospects."

The newspaper cannot put interest into advertising any more than the publisher can put interest into a book. Interest and readership are determined by the reader and if produced by the author, the article gets readership.

The continuing Study of Newspaper Reading found one advertisement got 84 percent readership, another advertisement 60 percent readership, and another advertisement got 5 percent readership; and in the same newspaper. It is the author of the advertisement that produces those ratings. Daniel Starch & Staff have confirmed that different advertisements get different readership, even when on the same page.

The newspaper delivers identical copies to all readers. It is the material in the advertisement that creates the readership. The newspaper actually puts the advertisement before the eyes, but it is the author of the advertisement that makes them read. Readership studies do not measure the potency of a newspaper as an advertising medium any more than a broadcast network is a measure of the program's selling power.

The newspaper can only deliver the message given to it by the advertiser, nothing more. Newspapers are not on trial. Only the users of newspaper advertising are variable."

RAYS OF HOPE

Old Photographs! Gee, how an old picture can turn back the pages of time and open up the wells of memory to pour forth scenes long, long forgotten. Faces of the past come into view and voices clear even colors of some particular event become vivid. The influence of some loved one now gone on into eternity is felt anew and becomes a sobbing whisper in our ear. How blessed to be able to capture again bits of the past through a simple snapshot!

Much care used to be exercised in the "taking" of our pictures, posing smiling etc., but now we have learned to just be natural. However we do it we will some day be glad we took the time to click the camera. This is perhaps the best way to preserve a little bit of the present.

sent, at least the best tangible way for our present moment will be future tomorrow.

One's memory may hold a bit of the "now" but even that fades sometimes. However memory is a funny thing. Perhaps it is a part of the eternal part of man for even after death does not leave us, or as I believe. This should remind us to build up good memories. They can be a great preventive of loneliness in our old age. Bad memories can haunt us forever. The good we do will serve to bolster our memories while the bad cause us much regret and sorrow.

Just as Photos remind us of the past, so our deeds, good or bad, rise up in our memory to bless or curse us.

If you're a weight watcher, make good use of cottage cheese - it's low in calories, rich in calcium, and rich in protein. Since the end of World War II, consumption of cottage cheese per person has more than doubled, chiefly because of weight control diets.

It Pays To Demonstrate - 4-H Way

Cullman and Washington county 4-H girls won 1960 state honors in bread baking demonstrations, according to the Cooperative Extension Service. They received $50 U.S. savings bonds donated by Standard Brands, Inc. of New York City.

Junia Jones, 16, of Vinegar Bend, won in the individual competition for her demonstration of making cloverleaf rolls.

Junia Jones

Nell Harbison, 17, and Nell Rodgers, 18, both of Cullman, joined in a demonstration of yeast rolls to win the team competition.

Junia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Jones, has been in 4-H for seven years and was president of the Washington county group in 1958.

Food preparation has been her main interest, but she's also had projects in forestry, beef, hogs, clothing, personal grooming, leadership and entomology.

Now a junior at Fruitdale High School, Junia hopes to study home economics at Auburn University because, in her own words, "I would like to help other farm girls learn better homemaking practices and more scientific farming methods."

Nell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Harbison, who operate a 60-acre farm. She has been a 4-H member for seven years, served as club president for two years, and in 1959 was treasurer of the state group.

Nell has also demonstrated her leadership ability, and in 1958 was state garden winner. The second Nell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Rodgers, has been in 4-H for eight years, and served a term as president of the county 4-H organization.

She has had projects in food preparation, canning, freezing, garden, clothing and room and home improvement.

Three times school spelling champion, Miss Rodgers was an honor student and a salutatorian of her graduating class at West Point Senior High School.

This Week With Soil Conservationists

Terrace lines were staked out and built on Tom Littlejohn last week. Most of these terraces are parallel and will empty into grassed waterways.

Carey Mullins the operator of the places stated, the waterways don't take as much silt as the wet area did before planting them and I like those long rows. The waterways will serve as a field road also.

A. R. Taylor poisoned and killed 100 acres of worthless hardwood last week.

One and three tenths acres of waterways were staked out on S. A. Ware's place last week. This is part of his District Conservation Plan. Cecil Giles is cleaning 15 acres of land to be seeded to pasture. Wallace 'Shorty' Headley is clearing 4 acres.

The Soil Conservation Service workers assisted the Chilton County Horticulture Station in putting in a parallel terrace system on 20 acres.

Ray Miller is preparing land for 5 acres of Coastal. If you don't believe Coastal is a paying crop ask Ray.

James Wilson, of Vermont community prepared lime and put out fertilizer on 40 acres for Bahia and 40 acres for Coastal bermuda last week.

A livestock watering pond was completed for L. J. Cofer of Union Grove community last week.

J. N. Dennis set 6000 slash pines on his place at Maples Springs. The Chilton County Hospital are thinning their planting of pines to a 8x9 foot spacing.

Produce Container Must Be Suited To Customer

Consider the customer when packing produce for market, advises Fruit and Vegetable Marketing Specialist Melvin Smith of the Auburn Extension Service.

Large produce buyers will probably demand containers that provide maximum protection to the fruit or vegetable, give adequate ventilation and cooling and are suitable for shipping. But when the grower is selling directly to the retailer or consumer, split or card-board baskets may be preferable, he says.

Improper containers have been a problem for a long time, but using the one most appealing to the customer is always the best bet.

Everyone surely have been enjoying these beautiful spring days. And we should thank the good Lord for them.

Help For The Needy

Our government has a wonderful food for the needy program on. I wonder why the Chilton County officials have not put in for the welfare people of Chilton County. They are just as much in need as any other county. They don't get half as much money as they need. We have some who needs to be on welfare that can't get on. People wake up go to Clanton and look and interview some of our people. You must remember that none of these people own a peach orchard. In

I'm praying that you will do something soon.

Another Sign Of Alabama Progress-- Southern Bell's 750,000th Telephone!

In Mobile, city of industry, shipping, carnival and azaleas, Southern Bell's 750,000th telephone in Alabama has been installed -- still another indication of the faster beat in the "Heart of Dixie."

This stepped-up tempo of activity is moving Alabama on to greater progress -- with new homes, new factories, offices and stores, new products and services to sell, and new markets to buy.

Progress extends throughout Alabama -- bright prospects appear everywhere. And the 750,000th telephone might as easily have been installed in Birmingham, in Huntsville, in historic Montgomery . . . in Eufaula, Selma or Clanton.

To help provide fast and dependable communications for a busy people, your telephone company has been on the move, too. Since 1945, we have added 562,320 phones in Alabama -- a 300% increase -- and spent $309,214,000 in our telephone expansion program to insure the kind of service which a progressive state must have.

And now, confident of Alabama's continued growth, we're working toward that not too distant day when we'll proudly connect the state's one-millionth telephone.

Fourth Graders Attend Centennial Celebration, Capitol

On Wednesday, February 15, members of Mrs. Martin's fourth grade class of the Clanton Elementary school chartered a bus to Montgomery to take part in the Civil War Centennial Commemoration. This year, 1961, is the 100 anniversary of the birth of the Confederate States of America in Montgomery. Mrs. Sutley's fifth grade students went with us.

We arrived in Montgomery about 1:15. Mrs. Martin checked her roll to see if all of us was nearby. We then went inside the Coliseum to see the pageant, The Man and the Hour.

We enjoyed the pageant very much. The people in those days dressed differently from the way we do today. The ladies wore long dresses with hoop-skirts. The Confederate soldiers wore boots and grey uniforms.

We also saw a scene which showed Jefferson Davis become president of the Confederacy.

I liked the singing and dancing also. I heard "Dixie" song by a group of people. We students aroud the writer in our Alabama History book. He was Daniel Emmett.

After the pageant was over we went back to the bus where our driver was waiting for us.

We got back at the school about 5:30. My family was waiting for me.

Start Now With Household Pest Controls

Annoying household insects will soon be scouting about again. And perhaps some of them, especially silverfish and roaches, are already visible.

Now's a good time to begin making preparation to control these pests, says Walter Grimes, Auburn Extension Service entomologist.

Silverfish, which cause considerable damage to stored articles containing starch, can be controlled with household sprays of five percent DDT or two and one-half percent chlordane. And roaches can be eliminated by spraying infested areas with three percent malathion, two percent chlordane, or one-half percent DDT.

With the coming of a few warm days, other pests such as ants, earwigs, and millipedes will likely begin moving about. These pests can be prevented from entering the house by placing a barrier of insecticide around the foundation wall. Grimes says that 10 percent dust or granules of chlordane are the most effective materials to use.

Average Hen's Production Is 94 More Than In 1925

There's a lot of cackling going on, but the hens have a reason for it. The average hen laid two more eggs in 1960 than the 206 she laid in 1925, 72 more than in 1940, and 94 more than in 1925, the earliest year for which there are records.

Jim Hubbard, Auburn Extension Service poultryman, says that this production record shows real progress in breeding, feeding, and management. However, the specialist adds, Alabama poultrymen should set a goal of 240 eggs per year per hen. Although some egg farmers have already achieved this number, many are making less than 200.

ABUNDANT LIFE

DON'T LET FEAR GET A HEAD START

by ORAL ROBERTS

A minister was driving along the highway on a cold, rainy night, headed for Colorado. He was alone in the car. Wheeling down the road, he became lost in thought.

"Suddenly," he related later, "I was engulfed in the thickest fog that I have ever seen. It seemed as if my car were literally swallowed up, and as if I were just hanging there in the midst of nothing. I couldn't see a foot ahead of my headlights."

"Fear gripped my heart. I broke out into a cold sweat, and my heart began to pound. My eyes fell instinctively to the gasoline gauge. Almost empty! Fear was getting the best of me. Suddenly I began to panic. I jammed on the brakes and stopped the car right in the middle of the highway."

"I couldn't see to drive, not even to pull over to the side of the road."

"Fear began to magnify itself. What would I do? Each new fear seemed to bring an onrush of other fears."

"Then the presence of God manifested Himself. Immediately a Scripture came to my mind: 'Fear not, for I am with thee.' Then I recalled the Psalmist's words, 'I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help.' And as I glanced up instinctively, I caught a glimpse of the moon, hanging low over the distant mountains. The fog lifted as suddenly as it had overwhelmed me."

"I started the car. And just over the next hill I found a service station. I encountered no more fog that night!"

In his moment of difficulty the minister said that he began to do just what he had urged his own church members never to do. He let fear get a head start.

"That was a good lesson for me," he said. "I knew I had to begin practicing what I had preached. I believe God threw that fog at me to test my faith, to show me how important it is to trust in Him first!"

Friend, the thing for you to do is to nip fear in the bud before it gets a chance to bloom. Stop fear before it gets a head start on you. If you let fear get ahead, then you're sunk because fear will multiply upon fear, to the point that you will actually panic.

Don't let fear get a head start on you! Trust in God to see you through any difficulty, no matter what it is. He can help. But you must give Him the chance to help.

SOME FACTS ABOUT CANCER!

We have learned that viruses have been found in human cancer tissues. Viruses can multiply only within a cell. In human beings, these are some 26 trillion cells, give or take a few million, which we do year by year in normal wear and tear. In the study of viruses, the electron microscope can magnify by more than 100,000 times, is an essential and extraordinary tool. Despite the infinitely small amounts of material involved, viruses play an important part in cancer research.

Through viruses may turn out to be important in the causation of human cancer and many scientists think they are - this does not mean that cancer is contagious in the sense that the common cold is. No evidence at all has been found that cancer is catching.

It has been suggested that viruses might be linked with solid cancers of human origin. A virus has been isolated from both human cancers and the non-cancerous tissues of cancer patients. The virus can be detected in cancerous tissue or human origin only after it has been grown in laboratory animals.

The virus affects bone and teeth and interferes with the further normal development of these structures.

The total area of the County is 447,360 acres. The agriculture of the County is diversified in addition to such crops as cotton, corn, tomatoes, watermelons, beans, peas, squash, strawberries, and many other truck crops are grown commercially. Chilton county is in the state and one of the largest in the south. It is estimated that the peach acreage is around 19,000 acres at the present time.

In February of 1959 the landowners of Chilton County voted to dis-annex from the old North Central District and form the Chilton County Soil Conservation District.

The Chilton County District was granted a certificate of incorporation on April 10, 1959 by the Secretary of State. Organization of the District was completed shortly after that time and the following District Supervisors were appointed for the new Chilton County District.

R. O. Williams, chairman; Herbert H. Dennis, Secretary-Treasurer; Q. R. Cummings, B. S. Mullins, S. A. Jones.

The Board of Directors has met each month on the second Wednesday with the exception of two meetings. One special called meeting was held making a total of eleven meetings during the year.

All members were present at a county meeting of the County Government heads, State Senator, local press and Agriculture workers, the purpose of which was to spread the District news to all of Chilton County. Julian Brown was guest speaker.

The District, in cooperation with Shelby County District erected boundary signs. The committee has gone on record assisting the Rural Development Program to help in any way possible the low income families.

All members with the exception of two attended the State Meeting of the Alabama Soil Conservation District Supervisors at Birmingham in December 1960.

Soil Stewardship week also appropriately observed and many of the ministers in the District preached sermons on the stewardship of the soil.

The Chilton County District Supervisor voted to buy 100 pounds of netiridge peas and rent land to plant some. The seed were bought and land rented; however at planting time found out the land was not available so the seed were stored.

The District also received from the plant material center 50 pounds of Topy peas. The peas were planted and worked; however the yield was very low. We plan to try again in 1961.

We lost a crop of Ky-31 Rescue seed by letting them go through a heat; however the project will be carried again in 1961.

The Supervisors are in agreement that very effort possible will be used to build up the financial condition of the District so the entire program can go through at a faster rate.

The recent survey made by the Chilton County Conservation needs Committee accurately reflects the changes that are taking place in the agriculture of Chilton County. The trend is for more cropland to be converted to pasture and woodland and less average devoted to row crops.

Soil Conservation Service technicians completed 65 basic type plans during the year. Some of the more important practices accomplished are listed below:

Conservation Crop rotation, 145 acres; vegetated watering, row crop land, 85 acres; pasture planting, 922 acres; rotation hay and pasture, 43 acres; firebreak construction, 0 acres; tree planting, 681 acres; wildlife food planting, 8 acres; woodland weeding, 2078 acres; farm pond construction, 19 acres; contour orchard layout, 65 acres; hedge row planting, 200 rods; terracing, 8 miles.

It is felt that with the experience gained during the second year of operation we supervisors are in a position to move forward in a better way. We hope to be able to report a greater number of accomplishments next year in all activities.

R. O. Williams, chairman; H. H. Dennis, secretary-treasurer. B. S. Mullins, Q. R. Cummings, S. A. Jones.

Talentrama Proves Huge Success

The YWA Talentrama of the Chilton-Unity Association was declared a great success on last Thursday night. There were seventy-three present and the program was certainly one of variety.

The young women present proved that indeed Chilton County is not lacking in talent. The girls were original and poised in the skits, pantomimes, piano solo, duets, vocal, solo, quartets etc. For one hour and forty minutes the program went from one item to another with splendid participation from all. One group gave a demonstration in flower arrangement and then pinned a lovely carnation corsage on Mrs. Johnson President of the WMU and an orchid corsage on Mrs. Stover, the YWA director for the Association.

Lets all remember to pray for the sick. Lets remember Mrs. Jack Bice, Mrs. Flossie Davis, Mrs. Bernice Peters and all the others in our prayers.

Our sympathy goes out to the Vincent family in the tragedy that happened to James Wallace Vincent. We pray that God will heal him and that the one that done the crime will get justice. We never know one minutes what will happen to any of us the next. It pays to be ready at all times. We want Leon, Laura Bell and Ruth to know that we share their burdens. We feel for them, yet we know we don't actually know how they are hurt until we have the experience. May God comfort them in our prayers.

Bro. Connell's text Sunday night was, Make Up Your Mind. Its time we were all making up our mind who we are going to serve and serve them.

We can't serve two masters. We can't serve God and Satan both. We have to turn loose one or the other and don't you think it will be better to serve God, the one that can do so much for us, and also give us eternal life.

We have the word of God and regardless of what church you belong to we will be glad for you to come worship with us. The word says, Who si ever will, let him come.

We don't feel we are the only ones that is right. If you are a borned again child of God you are our brother and sister. So come, our brother and sister. Don't forget prayer service each Wednesday night, beginning at 6:30 p.m. If you are tired when time comes to go, we guarantee you will feel better when you get there.

Lets all hold up the blood stained banner of Jesus Christ and let the world know he is still real.

Improved Hog Herd Gives Grower More Cash; Here's Why

It takes sense and cents to improve the grade and quality of commercial herds of hogs, says G. B. Phillips, Auburn Extension Service specialist in animal industry.

And a good way to start is to use a tested boar. Phillips says that hogmen can afford to pay $50 or $100 more for a good boar. And here's why.

On 20 sows the extra cost is only about 36 cents per pig. But recent tests indicate that hogmen can expect the resulting meat-type hog to save 20 pounds or more of feed for every 100 pounds of pork gained. On a 200-pound sow, from weaning to market, this amounts to about 30 pounds at 3 cents a pound, which is a 90-cent saving on feed costs. At many markets, he adds, these hogs bring 50 cents per hundred more than the average, which amounts to $1 per hog; therefore, the grower receives $1.90 for a 36 cent investment.

FLAMELESS Electric WATER HEATERS

Look Good Anywhere

Round, square, counter-top or tall ELECTRIC water heaters can be installed in closets, pantries, alcoves, utility rooms or basements. Counter-top models provide extra work space in kitchen or laundry.

Only ELECTRIC water heaters can be placed anywhere (often in space that otherwise would be wasted) and they look good anywhere.

They're clean — require no vent, no chimney, because they're flameless and fumeless.

With the quick-recovery, automatic ELECTRIC water heater it's nearly impossible to run out of hot water. Ample insulation keeps the stored water hot, and the heater is "on" just enough to keep water at the desired temperature, with no continuously burning flame.

Ask about our LIBERAL WIRING ALLOWANCE if your outside wiring needs to be heavier

Our wiring allowance offer, which includes installation of the new Outdoor Housepower Box, applies to installation of an ELECTRIC clothes dryer, "quick recovery" water heater, range or ELECTRIC heating, whether bought new or used, from us or an ELECTRIC appliance dealer. It applies also if you already own one or more of these appliances which you are moving to a new location. If your outside wiring needs to be heavier, inquire about how you can qualify for this wiring allowance at any of our stores or other stores selling ELECTRIC appliances.

"Liberty National Life Insurance Company faces the future with the utmost confidence in Birmingham, in Alabama, and in the other southeastern states where it has major operations. We anticipate even greater growth in the future than in the past and are planning accordingly."

So states Frank P. Samford, Sr., chairman of the Board of Liberty National, in reporting substantial growth in all phases of the Company operation and revealing for the first time major expansion plans.

We have acquired property (200 x 140') on Third Avenue South in Birmingham immediately adjacent to our present 10-story Home Office Building. This will adequately provide for our expansion needs in our present location, Chairman Samford reported.

SPRAY DAMAGES PINES. Foliage spraying for hardwood control damaged young pines in tests at the Fayette Experiment Forest. Two years after spraying 44 percent of pines on treated acres had died, as compared with 10 percent on untreated areas. Initial damage was also observed on living stems. Pines on treated acres averaged one foot taller than on sprayed areas.

FIREBLIGHT CONTROL. Excellent control of fireblight of apples was obtained in two experimental orchards in 1960 by spraying with streptomycin sulfate during bloom. The first spray was applied at 10 to 25 percent bloom, followed by one or two more sprays at three- to five-day intervals up to petal fall. Timing of the sprays is critical, since treatment was not successful in varieties that bloomed earlier or later than Red and Yellow Delicious.

FREEZING TURNIPGREENS. Turnip greens are excellent for freezing. Surplus greens in winter or spring gardens can be preserved in the home freezer. Extra rows may be included in spring plantings for freezing to replace summer greens. For highest quality, as revealed by Auburn studies, the greens should be harvested at prime maturity, sorted, trimmed, washed, blanched two to three minutes in boiling water, cooled, packed, and frozen.

FEED EFFICIENCY. The national average feed efficiency in producing beef is about one dozen pounds of feed for each pound of gain. For example, when corn and grain diets are fed. On complete feeds it is one dozen for five pounds. Saving one-half pound of feed per dozen eggs (cutting from five to four and one-half pounds) is equal to getting 44 dozen extra eggs per ton of feed or saving 10 pounds of feed per hen or five tons per 1,000 hens.

AUTOMATIC PLANT CARE. Crops of flowering plants have been grown to maturity with automatic applications of water and fertilizer. In studies, a solution of water and soluble fertilizer, water when water began flowing. The device maintained the desired concentration of fertilizer in the water that reached the soil. Frequency of irrigation and time of each application were controlled by such electric controls as time clocks and magnetic water valves. Savings in labor more than offset the cost of equipment.

ZINC DEFICIENCY. Deficiency of zinc is likely on corn growing on sandy and sandy loam soils in Central and South Alabama where the pH is less than 5.5. Symptoms are white to yellow streaks in leaves and white to yellow bud in plants 6 to 12 inches high. Application of 10 pounds of zinc sulfate per acre in the starter fertilizer corrects the deficiency and may increase yield by 5 to 10 bushels.

MORE FERTILIZER USED. Alabama farmers used 1959 more fertilizer per acre than in 1958. The amount of fertilizer used went from 315 to 346 pounds per acre during the period. This does not include the 2,949 tons of liquid materials used on corn in Alabama in 1959. Dry fertilizer materials applied to cotton increased from an average of 533 pounds per acre in 1954 to 560 pounds in 1959. Lime used in 1954 averaged 0.89 ton, as compared with 1.08 in 1959.

This Month in Rural Alabama

Reclaiming and clearing pastureland is a big project under way on the Choctaw County farm of Clyde Mahaffey. The Melvin cattleman, left, has cleared and reclaimed some 600 acres of land for pastures in the past five or six years. He is shown in one of the fields with County Agent Matthew Sexton checking on the progress of the grass.

Choctaw Cattleman Does Things Right

By Bruce Jetton

COUNTY Agent Matthew Sexton enjoys visiting Clyde Mahaffey at Melvin. It does the veterinarian Extension Service agent good to see a farmer doing so many things the way they should be done.

And Sexton believes the Choctaw County cattleman is doing an outstanding job of raising beef cattle. Mahaffey is feeding out about 200 head of steers this winter and is following the Extension Service recommendations closely. He is feeding the Auburn formula which includes corn, oat hay, cottonseed meal, and molasses.

The calves are weaned by putting them on limited feed and then on grazing. They go into the dry lot about the middle of February when the weather is still cold. From January through May, some weighing from 650 to 700 pounds, Mahaffey figures he increases his profits per head by $15 or $20 by feeding out to heavier weights.

The Mahaffey farm includes 2,000 acres of pastureland. However, some of the land had not been used for around 75 years when the former college professor took it over several years ago. He started a complete reclamation program on the land, and by 1954 had 1,000 to 1,100 acres of good pasture, he has completely reclaimed 600 acres.

Mahaffey says much of the land was badly eroded and tremendous gullies had to be filled in. Extensive clearing projects put other parts of the land in shape for planting grasses. And since most of the land is pretty well run down, soil tests are being made on all of the pastures. "If I hadn't done something to the pastures I would have been out of the cattle business in a hurry," declares Mahaffey.

Want A $200 Course For Only $6?

WANT to get a $200 course in developing a hunting area for only $6? You may live in town now, but have plans to buy and develop a hunting area a business opportunity. You could produce a $4,000 to $5,000 yearly income.

If you are interested in finding out how to develop a hunting area, make your plans to attend a three-day short course on managing and developing native and pen-raised game at the University of Georgia in Athens, April 9-12.

Earl Kenamer, Auburn Extension fish and wildlife specialist, says this is the first course

At the present Mahaffey has 325 brood cows in his herd and 30 head of calves. He purchased Herefords, Hebrales, and to increase his herd to 500 cows and to increase the improved and expanded. And to help build up his herd, the cattleman has secured an outstanding purebred bull from the Chatterton Hereford in Hale County. Agent Sexton says the Hereford bull scored 15.8 out of 16 on a rating system.

As rapidly as he can, Mahaffey is getting around to fall-dropped calves. And he identifies the cows with a number on a neck chain and a brand on each side, one number being the year of birth and the other the number of calves born. The calves are sold when they are about 10 years old.

Since Mahaffey believes he can make more money by feeding out his calves, he saves most of the ones his cows drop for this purpose. He buys the corn needed, but this season he has 90 acres of oats and 125 acres of rice, the oats being grazed and cut for hay.

There are 300 acres with Caley peas, and Mahaffey is allowing White Dutch clover to take over the peas. With Johnson grass and dallis grass the main hay crops, he puts up from 12 to 15,000 pounds of each type of hay. Plans call for making use of coastal bermudagrass to be planted for hay and grazing also.

"Clyde is also busy in a lot of other activities," says Agent Sexton. "He is a member of the Choctaw County Board of Education, a director of the Farm Bureau, past president of the cattleman's association and now on the board of directors, and a lay Methodist speaker. And in all of his activities you can count on him doing a good job," declared Sexton.

ever offered in the U. S. for laymen rather than for professional workers. Experienced hunters and sportsmen in their fields will conduct the school.

Those who attend will gain information that would normally take two or three years to learn through reading and general discussion, Kenamer states.

The first half of the school will be devoted to growing quail, dove, turkey and waterfowl. Developing private shooting preserves for income with emphasis on bobwhite quail will be covered during the second half.

Anyone wishing to attend this school should contact his county agent immediately.

yields. Remember that crop rotation will also increase cotton production.

Fertilizer and lime. Be sure to make a soil test as early as possible and apply lime if needed. Follow recommendations from the Auburn Soil Testing Laboratory for most efficient use of fertilizer. If you plan to irrigate cotton, be sure to note this on the form that accompanies the soil sample. An increase in the amount of fertilizer will be recommended by the laboratory.

General recommendations call for 60 to 70 pounds of nitrogen and 60 pounds each of P₂O₅ (phosphorus) and K₂O (potash). On Sand Mountain the rate of nitrogen can be stepped up to 70 to 90 pounds per acre. On the fertile, red soils of the Tennessee Valley, 40 pounds of each element are recommended.

Varieties and seedling rate. Several varieties are recommended by the Auburn University Experiment Station. They are listed on page 6. Seed at least one bushel of registered and properly treated certified seed of one of the recommended varieties per acre. If acid delinquent seed are used, use 12 to 16 pounds per acre.

Planting date. Planting on time costs nothing extra but will result in increased yields.

Recommended planting dates in Alabama are: South Alabama, March 25 to April 10; Central Alabama, April 1 to 15; North Alabama, April 10 to 25.

Weed control. Weeds can be controlled in cotton without much hand labor. However, growers must use chemicals properly to get good results.

Pre-emergence chemicals recommended are Karmex DL, Karmex DW, and CIPC. Use one-fourth pound of Karmex DL and Karmex DW per acre on sandy land and one-third pound on clay soils.

Use CIPC at the rate of 1 to 1.5 pounds per acre on sandy soils and 2 to 2.5 pounds per acre on clay soils. These rates will treat a 12-inch band over the center of 40-inch rows. In making and applying these materials, be sure to follow the manufacturer's recommendations. These chemicals will control small annual grasses for four to six weeks after planting.

For more details, visit your county Extension office. The county agent has a booklet, "Cotton Handbook for Alabama Farmers," which will answer many of your questions. There will be information on post-emergence spraying and insect control in the next issue.

In the congratulatory column this month are Alabama's 132,000 4-H'ers who are observing National 4-H Week, March 4-11. The 4-H program is undoubtedly one of the finest citizenship programs of our youth. And I am a firm believer in the fact that the state's 4-H'ers are doing an exceptional job in taking advantage of their opportunities. However, much credit for the success of the 4-H program goes to the parents for their support and encouragement, to local leaders over the state who assist in carrying on the work, and to the individuals and organizations who sponsor 4-H events.

4-H Beef Scholarship

One of these sponsoring organizations is the Alabama Cattlemen's Association. Bob Ferguson, Extension specialist in beef cattle and sheep marketing, of the Extension Service, is sponsoring a scholarship through the association. The organization plans to give a $400 scholarship to Auburn University to the 4-H'er with the top 4-H beef cattle project provided that he is a member of the Junior Cattlemen's Association. If the boy is a nonmember, the scholarship will amount to $300.

While Johnson of Macon County won a $400 scholarship this year, Wayne Davis of Walker County, and Frank Jones of Autauga County were awarded embroidered leather plaques for holding district titles.

Hifers From North Carolina

Records in Alabama North Carolina, and neighboring states show that hifers from desirable proved bulls are the best bets for herd replacements. John Parrish, Extension specialist in beef cattle, tells me.

Bearing out this theory are the results from the experimental herd at Beltsville, Maryland. Daughters from low-producing cows in the herd sired by proved bulls produced more milk than the herd average. Parrish says that dairymen should save these hifers from good bulls to replace other low-producing cows in the herd.

If daughters from low-producing cows had been culled at the start in the Maryland herd, approximately 176 cows that are better producers than their mothers and the herd average would have been lost. Dairy bulls are serviceable in 69 Alabama counties. Four commercial breeding organizations are now serving Alabama.

Dairymen who are interested in finding out where proved bulls are available, can contact their county agent or other agricultural workers.

Yearbook of Agriculture

The 1960 Yearbook of Agriculture, "Power to Produce," is available now. This year's edition tells the dramatic story of the change from horse-drawn operations to the marvels of push-button control. Published by the USDA, it includes the development of tractors, electricity, and communications, and predicts the developments to take place in the future.

Keeping Ahead in Farming

by A. W. Jones Auburn University Extension Marketing Specialist

Bright Soybean Picture

SOYBEANS present a brighter picture than some crops. Total U. S. production has risen from about five million bushels in 1925 to 562 million bushels in 1960. Nationwide in 1925, soybeans averaged an 11-bushel-per-acre yield on less than one-half million acres. However, by 1960, the average per acre yield had increased to 23.3 bushels on 24 million acres.

Estimated shipments to foreign countries in 1960-61 are forecast at 140 million bushels—about the same as last year. Major importing countries, such as Western Europe and Japan, need U. S. soybeans to compete effectively priced in their world markets and will probably remain this way. With world population rising and higher levels of economic activity, soybeans are expected to increase in importance in worldwide distribution.

With usage running high in 1960-61, carryover stocks of soybeans on October 1, 1961, may be around 10 million bushels. This would be a very small reserve supply and only half as much as last year.

Wider Markets for U. S. Poultry Abroad

European markets are good prospects for American poultry, according to William J. Fulbright (D., Ark.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. The great opportunities for the future are shown by the fact that the total U. S. poultry exports in 1959 were 60 percent greater than in 1955. Sales of U. S. poultry in West Germany have increased from practically none in 1955 to almost 38 million pounds in 1959. However, the West German government still prevents free exportation of this market through exchange controls.

The 1960 U. S. pig crop totaled 38.7 million head, a decrease of 11 percent from last year, according to the Crop Reporting Board. The spring pig crop totaled 47.1 million head—a decrease of 17 percent, while the fall pig crop decreased three percent for a total of 41.6 million head. In Alabama, the 1960 pig crop was placed at 1,465,000 head, 16 percent below 1959.

For the spring of 1961, reports based on farmers' intentions indicate 7.1 million sows farrowing in the spring of 1960. If these intentions materialize and the number of pigs per litter equal the 1959 average, the pig crop would be 49.5 million head—five percent above the 1960 spring pig crop.

New Record in World Farm Production World output of farm products in the year ending June 30, 1961, is expected to outpace the population increase and set an all-time record, according to "World Agricultural Situation."

The three largest producers—the U. S., Mainland China, and the Soviet Union—will account for about 40 percent of the world's food supply. The U. S. is about 30 percent larger than that of the Soviet Union. On a per capita basis, U. S. production is about twice that of the Soviet Union and about four times Mainland China—but about the same as Canada's and only half that of Australia and New Zealand.

Special events, such as school chapel programs, will be held by over 3,000 local clubs in Alabama. Club officers and adult volunteer leaders will assist in directing these events. Many club members will put up posters while others will work on the 4-H Self-Help U. S. map. They will also make 4-H projects to raise money for 4-H projects and to build 4-H camps in the state. Forty counties are having special 4-H exhibits.

Adds Thrifty Flavor To Any Meal

By Fairs Prickett Specialist in Foods and Nutrition

CHEESE, an old established favorite, can add a great deal to any meal. Valuable as a food and festive in flavor, cheese is easy on the budget and can be used in countless ways.

PRICKETT

When leftover meat isn't enough for a casserole, combine it with cheese to make up the needed protein. Or add a flavorful cheese sauce to your vegetables, and make them something special. If a hearty green salad is a favorite at your house, increase its nutritive value and flavor with a little crumbled, cubed, or grated cheese.

Cheese contains nutrients that are important to the health of your family. Protein, for strong bones and teeth in adults and children, is also important in the clothing of blood. Calcium in the blood aids in the contraction and relaxation of the heart muscles, also contained in cheese, is an essential part of every living cell and is necessary for the work of the muscles. And vitamin A is very important for healthy skin. This vitamin is necessary for vision and has an influence on the development of the teeth.

Cheese may be used as one of the two or three servings of meat needed daily. Two-thirds cup of grated Cheddar cheese or one-half cup of cottage cheese contains about half cup of cottage cheese contains about satisfied that your will does what you want it to, he will supervise the signing. There are certain formalities about signing a will. In Alabama you must have two witnesses. They do not read your will; they simply witness that you yourself signed it. No one mentioned in the will can serve as a witness, and it's a good idea to select witnesses younger than you are.

Sign only one copy. If you sign more than one, there may be delay and confusion in probating the will because all signed copies must be produced before the will can be probated. When your will is drawn up and signed put it in the hands of a lawyer or those mentioned in the will. You could keep it in a safe deposit box at your bank. You will then be able to relax and know that your wishes will be carried out.

Rainy Day Fun For Children

By Mary Williams

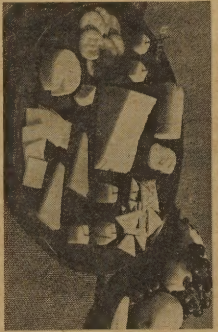

PLAYING artist provides an enjoyable pastime for the young. Creative play equipment for the young child can be made from household materials—paper, plastic, and clear bright colors—can be supplemented by everyday household supplies.

For example, you can mix tempera poster paint with powdered laundry detergent to produce an inexpensive substitute for oil paints. Cardboard provides a good canvas on which to smear the thick paint. The finished picture, when dry, can be preserved with shellac.

On sunny days the youngsters can look for their own paints outdoors. Hillsides the same amount of protein as in three ounces of hamburger. It replaces part of the daily requirement for milk. One and one-half ounces of Cheddar cheese contain about the same amount of calcium as is found in one glass of milk.

Cheese should always be cooked at a low temperature. If it is overcooked, it will be starchy, and the natural flavor will be lost. In using cheese at your house, remember that one-fourth pound of cheese equals about one cup when grated or shredded.

Why not add flavor, variety and good value to your meals with these tasty recipes:

- Cheese Puff: 8 slices bread (crust removed), 2 cups cheese, grated, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2 teaspoons butter, 1/2 cup milk.
- Hot Homemade Vegetable Soup: 1 medium onion, sliced, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup diced ham or other cooked meat, 1/2 cup shredded cheese (sharp).

Hot Homemade Vegetable Soup

By Anne Patterson

ON these brisk March days, nothing tastes better than a bowl of hot soup for lunch or dinner. Just the thought of soup brings back memories of the luscious old-fashioned vegetable soup that came from Grandmas' steaming kitchen.

Hearty, healthy, and husky, homemade soup is back on the table—or should be at your house. Why not forget the modern-day trend of opening a can of soup? Make a big pot from scratch, and you'll be assured of many calls for seconds from your family.

Old fashioned vegetable soup starts with one pound of cubed lean beef. Brown the meat in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in a large, heavy pot or kettle. Add 2 pounds of cracked marrow bones, 1 cup cubed potatoes, 1/2 cup celery leaves, 1/2 cup parsley, 1/2 cup corn, 1 sliced carrot, 1 sliced onion, and 4 quarts water. Cover, heat until the water boils, then remove the soup from the top. Reduce the heat and simmer for 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Strain the stock. Reserve the meat and skim the fat from the stock. Heat the soup to boiling before adding 1 cup diced carrots, 2 cups chopped onions, 1 cup diced celery, 1 cup cubed potatoes, 1/2 package frozen peas or lima beans, 2 cups tomatoes (1 pound, 3 ounces each), 1 teaspoon salt, and reserved meat. Reduce heat, and simmer for 30 minutes. Add vegetables are tender; add 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce. The tantalizing aroma of old fashioned vegetable soup will bring your family running to the kitchen. So beware, the recipe makes only 6 to 8 servings. If'll soon be gone, and dad and the kids will be hounding you to make another kettle! However, if your family is small and you have a little soup leftover, freeze it and save it for another day. It will be just as welcome then.

Story of the Week--

100-Year-Old Negro And Son Rescued
From Floodwaters By Chilton County Rescue Squad; 175 Head Of Cattle Saved
by Alton Sanders

THE Chilton County Civil Defense Rescue Squad has had, this past week-end, what is perhaps their busiest time since they organized the group and they have never yet been idle!

First Call—

Last Thursday night the Squad received a call from Selma where many families had been trapped in their homes by the raging flood waters of the Alabama River.

Several of the local members left for Selma at midnight and some of them did not return until 10 a.m. Friday morning.

To Montgomery—

Saturday night, a call from Montgomery was answered and the Squad was on duty there from 2:00 p.m. until Sunday morning at daylight.

Old And 'Young' Alike—

25 or 30 persons were rescued in the Catfish Creek Area by the Squad and the waters were hazardous to work in due to the number of barbed wire fences that crisscrossed the shallow waters. These had to be cut and in some instances the boats were two miles and more from where the lights were set up for the rescue operation. One boat crew retrieved a Negro man and his wife from a cabin out in the murky, rising waters and learned that he was some months over 100 years old. Another crew of Chilton rescuers went back to the same house a little later and rescued the old man's 'young' son, himself pushing 76 years!

Six, Seven Hours—

Some of the men who worked

Saturday night were with the water without a let-up for six or seven hours.

On Monday of this week, the Squad was called to Prattville where they rescued some 175 head of cattle from the swift waters in that and the Autaugaaville areas.

A Half Ton Of Beef—

"There's a trick to getting a thousand pounds and more of beef in hand and towed two and one-half miles to dry land," said Burton Mullins, Director of Civil Defense in Chilton County and who has been on the scene all week. The head of the animal was severed to the front of the boat and the fellow who wasn't handling the boat had the somewhat dubious honor of holding the cow's tail and they literally floated them to safety.

They were saving a particularly husky fellow until last, at least everybody was avoiding him. He was a Brahma Bull; but according to reports he was one of the easy ones. It was those 'lady' cows that gave the most trouble. "The cattle were so frantic," said Mr. Mullins, "some of them would turn around and run back into the water after we got them to dry land and safety." Good thing they weren't dealing with goats. One group rescued a goat over at Selma and on their return trip for other animals, the old goat napped them swimming like forty. But he didn't get rescued again!

A Real 'Syrup Sopper'

SYRUP FOR GOVERNOR—Gov. John Patterson, left, is shown as he samples a bucket of Chilton County syrup. Holding the bucket is Dalton Champion of Jemison Rt. 2, a member of the Chilton County Board of Revenue and Control. The syrup came from the farm of Joe Ward of Jemison, Rt. 1, who sent it to the governor via Mr. Champion.

Tree Farms Grow Trees - For You!

TREE farms, of which there are several in this area, grow trees, which make the wood, which make the products that we so vitally need in our modern day living.

So many things are dependent upon a sufficient supply of wood from our woodlands that it is everybody's business to conserve and show interest in our natural resources of wood supply.

Nothing can take the place of wood; at least it hasn't been found as yet. Therefore it is important that all be especially careful to conserve and preserve our forests. "Keep America Green" is not just a slogan, it is a vital necessity.

THORSBY TAKES 1ST PLACE TITLE

CHILTON County's Thorsby High eagers, coached by Larry Minor and spurred to victory by Senior Wendell Hayes and Junior James Collins, came away from the Third District Tournament at Thomaston last Saturday night with the coveted first place crown.

Thorsby, in the 20-team affair, eliminated Ft. Deposit in the second round, ousted Uniontown 54-45 in the quarter-finals, stopped Isabella 49-37 to reach the finals and defeated the host team, Thomaston to take the State Class A Tournament first place position. The score with Thomaston was 40 to 36 with Hayes bagging 12 points and Collins hitting for 11.

Four of Chilton's lanky basketballers were named to the all-tournament team. They are: Collins of Thorsby, Floyd Collins of Isabella, Hayes of Thorsby and Jimmy Headley of Isabella.

Isabella's Collins and Hayes were also named to the All-Senior team. Isabella's fine team probably would have made the grade if it hadn't been for their neighborly rivals from Thorsby.

The Thorsby basketball team, with Minor as coach is only three years old, having come into being when the Thorsby Institute was converted to a Junior High School.

IN MAPLESVILLE—

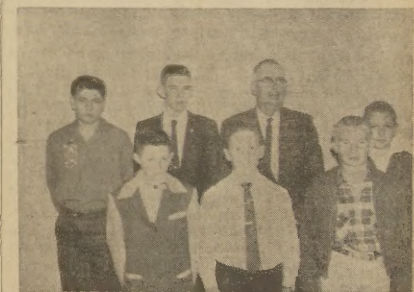

In the Maplesville-Mulberry-Plantersville area the estimated repairs to gas lines, streets, regulators etc., will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000 all told. The Thorsby area reports some $8,000 worth of damages and Jemison in north Chilton suffered only a

A lot of the fellows around town really know what it means to get a bull by the tail, now!

No Minors Allowed!-

"NO Minors Allowed" can mean only one thing: that no minors are allowed! The local billiard parlors, recreation centers or pool halls, whatever you prefer made it very clear that no boys considered to be minors would be allowed in the places when the people voted to allow them to open here. It is the duty of the proprietors then to see that these rules and regulations are carried out.

Personally, we can see no harm in letting a 'minor' shoot a game of pool. Some do not share this feeling and some other don't mind the pool-shooting, but do mind the atmosphere that is usually prevalent at such a place of 'adult' recreation.

Since, it is considered by most people that a pool hall is a place for adult entertainment then we think the rules should be maintained at all times, in order that the establishment can maintain the kind of reputation in the community that it desires in order to stay in business.

Rules are rules, and should be abided by; or either they should be revised or completely changed to suit the need of the community. We have nothing against 'minors', nothing against the game of pool and certainly we have the highest respect for the proprietors of these places of recreation. Nevertheless, if the agreement is in the beginning that there would be no youngsters allowed in these places then 'no youngsters' it should be. We didn't suggest the rule, but we do think it should be observed and enforced.

Chilton's Incomparable Rescue Squad--

THERE is no greater test of the usefulness of an organization than under the fire of the very thing for which it was originated. The Chilton County Civil Defense Rescue Squad have had to prove their usefulness and purpose in the face of disaster many times during the past five years and they have always come out with proof positive that their usefulness was beyond question and their purpose, one of the highest known to man -- the saving of human life.

During the recent flood situation over most of Alabama the local Rescue Squad has been called upon many times and has answered with action.

They were called to Selma to help get stranded persons to higher ground and shelter. They answered the call at midnight and were on their way. They were called to Montgomery last Saturday and some of them stayed all night doing rescue work of whatever nature presented itself. Monday afternoon they were called to Prattville and when we talked to their spokesman, they didn't know 'for what', but they went all the same.

It speaks well of our community and its men to have such an organization as the CD Rescue Squad. They spend tireless hours, after their usual workday, training, planning and maintaining the equipment that they know could be needed in the next hour or day. They also give untold hours of their 'regular' time, away from their job when necessary, to perform the duties that any kind of disaster calls for, whenever and wherever that call may be.

At first, like all necessary and functional organizations, the Rescue Squad was just an idea. We were privileged to observe and take part in some of their earlier endeavors. The progress that has been made and the things that have been accomplished are truly amazing and it is clearly due to the hard work and devoted hours that have gone into this undertaking by a group of men who admittedly love to do things for others... especially something that they do well! Chilton's CD Rescue Squad has been a model for many who have followed in its path, but there are none to compare with it anywhere in the State or nation when it comes to spirit, teamwork, devotion to the job at hand and that which follows naturally... results!

The Sermonette

BY RAY FELKINS, Pastor Mulberry Baptist Church

'Christ, The Water of Life'

In the Seventh chapter of the Gospel according to John, the writer presents Christ as the Water of Life. Actually, Christ presents himself as the Water of Life, for he says, "If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink." "He that believeth on me, as the Scripture hath said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water." John 7:37-38. As I read these words of Christ, I am reminded once again of what he had to say to the woman at the well. Remember, he said, "If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, give me to drink: thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water." He goes on to say that once she has drank of this water she will never thirst. There is another passage of scripture that I would have you to notice in connection with this thought of Christ, the Water of Life. The Bible says, "And the Spirit and the bride say come. And let him that heareth say, come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely. Rev. 22:17.

It is quite a natural thing for the soul of man to thirst. This is so because of the Divine origin of the soul. Since this thirst is within the spiritual realm, the only source of satisfaction is found in Christ, the Water of Life. The world is powerless to quench this thirst. The poet has well expressed this thought in these words: "The frail vessel thou hast made No hands but thine can fill; For the waters of this world have failed, And I am thirsty still." What the world cannot do, the Holy Spirit is able to do. When Christ tells us that if we believe on him the scripture has said, that out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water, He is speaking of the Holy Spirit, which they that believe on him will receive. And so it is that the Bible says, Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness for they shall be filled. The Word of the Lord goes on today. It goes out saying, "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the water." "It goes out saying Let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely.

Report from Washington

BY ARMISTEAD SELDEN Congressman, Sixth District

President Kennedy's recent message to Congress regarding his plans for natural resources development could not be more timely as far as the people of Alabama are concerned. Disastrous floods throughout our state graphically illustrate the need for the full development of Alabama's waterways.

New Plans For Resources--

Since I have been a member of Congress, definite progress has been made on the development of both the Warrior-Tombigbee and Coosa Waterways which flow through our congressional district. Yet because of the reluctance of the Eisenhower Administration to initiate new construction, it has not been possible to proceed as rapidly as we would have liked. However, the new Administration has rejected a "no new starts" policy on the basis that it denies the resource requirements and potential on which economic growth hinges. President Kennedy has promised to institute a "progressive, orderly program of starting new projects to meet accumulated demands."

The President also said in his natural resources message to Congress that he was committed "to strengthening and speeding up our flood control program as rapidly as our fiscal and technical capabilities permit."

Surveys Flood Damage--

I flew to Alabama over the week end and made a survey of the areas in the 6th District that were affected by flood waters from the Warrior-Tombigbee, Cahaba and Coosa Rivers. At my request, I was accompanied on the aerial inspection trip over the district by a representative of the Corps of Engineers, the Farmers Home Administration, the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, and the American Red Cross.

After viewing the damages inflicted by the most extensive flood in my memory, I am convinced that we must accelerate our efforts to develop all of our river systems in Alabama, not only for navigation and hydroelectric purposes, but also for flood control. This includes the developing of watershed projects and the construction of headwater dams.

Canal Justified--

In connection with the development of our waterways, Alabamians will be interested to know that a report issued by the Army Corps of Engineers several days ago shows that the proposed Tennessee-Tombigbee inland waterway and canal is economically justified by a ratio of 1.1 to 1.0. In other words, for every one dollar spent on the project, benefits to the public would amount to $1.10.

The proposed canal would connect the Tombigbee River with the extensive Tennessee System. Along with Rep. Frank Boykin (D-Ala.) and Rep. Tom Abernethy (D-Miss.) I conferred at length last week with Colonel S. E. Smith of the Office of the Chief of Army Engineers. In presenting the economic feasibility report to us, Col. Smith stated that technical advisors of the Corps of Engineers are now studying the report. If the report is in order after the technical study is completed, a hearing before the Board of Rivers and Harbors will then be scheduled. The information we gained from our conversation with Colonel Smith encourages us to believe that the report will reveal the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway to be worthy of support by the federal government.

Alabama Politics-- THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

Carl Greenawald

Morgan Rep. Al Brewer's chances of becoming the next Speaker of the House were apparently bolstered recently when a Black Belt Rep. reported Brewer would get considerable support from Black Belts because, "We appreciate an honest opinion." Opposition is Ebbw Rep. Virgil Ashworth, Gov. John's choice.

Overheard at the recent Ala Press Assn. Meet in Huntsville that Lt. Gov. Albert Boutwell has told fellow citizens he doesn't think $10 million bond issue to move Kilby Prison will pass next May. Reports have it many legislators are already concerned over Alabama's present bonded indebtedness.

Some of the Lt. Gov.'s biggest boosters are presently claiming, some of the potential 1962 gubernatorial candidates don't want to see Boutwell in the race. And along this same line:

Sources close to Atty. Gen. Mac Donald Gallion are saying something will happen within 30 days which might make Gallion a top flight contender in the next Gov. race. That mysterious something could not be disclosed at this time.

Winston Sen. Elwood Rutledge is contemplating introducing a Community Property Bill in May, and is studying California's law on this now. His proposal would require that all property acquired after marriage must be owned jointly by husband and wife. The measure is expected to be highly controversial.

Interesting comments have come from legislators talked with about the newly formed Ala. Tourist & Recreational Assn.'s plan of legalizing state control of dog racing as a tourist attraction. Although there were no yeas and nays, the idea of possibly acquiring revenue without taxation for schools, etc., seemed to appeal to them and indicated the matter was at least worth investigation.

Politicians politicking State Editors in Huntsville about their future political plans and possible post included: Gallion, George Wallace, Boutwell, all for Gov.; Sen. Bert Halm, Lt. Gov.; Richmond Flowers, Atty. Gen.; and Fletcher Farrington, As. Comm. Press Sec. Harry Cook represented Gov. John's office.

Talk has it former Walker Sen. Reuben Newton may run for Lt. Gov. It has also been expressed that State Treasurer Angus Baggett may make the Gov. chase in the hopes of becoming Alabama's first woman governor.

Membership in the Future Farmers of America organization is restricted to boys who are students of Vocational Agriculture in High School.

AMONG other things which the observance of the Civil War Centennial brought to our mind was, and is, the love of country and the spirit which has, through our country's history, been the motivating power which has brought us to the greatness which we now enjoy. We think of John Phillip Sousa, for instance, who added so greatly to the spirit of America with his stirring marches, which are used today, but not nearly enough and not in the proper mood and spirit. Most of the time at football games!

The things which moved our forefathers and inspired them on to greater things are considered by too many in our day and time to be senseless and a waste of time when such serious and ominous decisions must be made and dealt with. We feel compelled to remind those who would do away with this 'spirit' that they are not the only ones ever to have to deal with 'big' decisions and world-shaking events of time. There before us also had billions to make and important things to do, but they never forgot the 'I' important and necessary 'spirit' of any occasion.

The Declaration of Independence, which is used as a battering ram in our day, was revered, respected and held in highest honor by our fathers and grandfathers before us. In fact, our forefathers would never have stooped to the position which some of us now are in using the powers of the Constitution for personal gain and exploitation of other human beings and their rights. It was set up as a standard to live by and some of our generation have turned it into a legalistic weapon for which purposes it was not designed.

Though we classify ourselves as highly civilized, we have lost much of the polish which our grandfathers considered a necessity in everyday life. We throw convention to the wind and sneer at politeness and courtesy as old-fashioned and out-of-date. We have the mistaken notion that progress means doing away with everything which was a part of the past in favor of new things of today, be they good or bad. It is time-tested and proven that many of the things which were good for our forefathers and were a part of their way of life as just as good for us in our day and time. Not in the least of these is integrity and we see an appalling disregard for this ingredient in our modern day living. Too many of us are eager and willing to 'sell our birthright' if it means porridge in the hand. We most certainly should live for today, but it is misguided thinking to believe that 'living for today' simply means living for oneself.

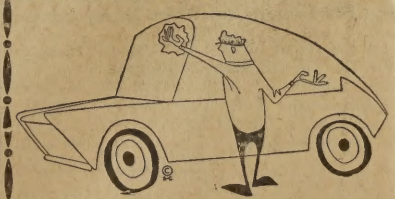

When we finally realize that we are mis-using the statement 'the pursuit of happiness' and buckle down to the effort of being just plain good people, we will see a welcome and decided change in the complexity which we call 'living today'. It seems we're all searching for something and don't know what it is... we think 'what it is' is the very thing our forefathers left to us and we've just stomped it into the dust of our hurried everyday 'living'.

Tops In Dairy Queen Sales men All From Chilton County

CHILTON County is well represented in the Dairy Queen organization which is dedicated to satisfying the taste of the citizens of Alabama and elsewhere with delightful refreshment.

owner of the Clanton Dairy Queen and Luther Kendrick, owner of the Tuscaloosa "Druid City" Dairy Queen. Standing: Ray Bell, Manager, Ala. Dairy Queen Franchise Office, Mrs. Oliver Mims; Mrs. Roy Wilson and Ralph Mims, owner of another Montgomery Dairy Queen. Everyone of these folks are native Chilton Countians with the exception of Mr. Bell.

Johnny Mims was presented with two awards for having the highest volume of sales in the state for two months in 1960. He was competing with all fifty-six other Alabama stores.

The presentation was made at the state convention of Dairy Queen owners in Montgomery, February 14th and 15th. All others mentioned above won awards for outstanding sales during 1960.

Just goes to show you that anybody from Chilton County just has a natural knack for selling dairy products. Congratulations are in order for these Chilton Countians who have made good on foreign soil as well as our local 'salesman' Mr. Johnny Mims.

Best Peanut Varieties Listed By Specialist

In order to make the most efficient use of land, labor, and machinery, peanuts growers should plan carefully so that this enterprise can be fitted into the total farm program.

And the first thing to consider, says Auburn Extension Peanut Specialist Dean Bond, is the selection of varieties on the basis of maturity dates and yielding ability.

Listed in order of their maturity dates, the following varieties are recommended by the specialist. Virginia Bunch 67. Early Runner. Dixie Runner and Southeastern Runner 66-15. Virginia types are G-26 and N. C. 2.

A word of warning. Spanish variety is Dixie Spanish. Bond says. It matures in about 120 days and must be dug immediately; therefore, he warns, a farmer must not plant more than he can dig in three to four days.

Produce Poor Profits

Growers who buy "pegs," small undeveloped peanuts for seed purposes, pay a precious price for them, says Dean Bond, peanut specialist with the Auburn Extension Service.

Even if the producer gets pegs free, they will not produce as much net income per acre as buying No. 1 seed, he says. Recent experiments comparing the two types of seed show that No. 1 seed out-yield pegs by 290 pounds per acre. And when the seed were planted at the same rate, the No. 1 seed made 365 pounds more peanuts per acre than the pegs.

GONE TO PRESS

The last tedious page has been printed. The edges are trimmed and neat. The final folds have been pleated. The lights have been burned long hours. The headlines the readers will greet Can be darkened for rest. The final job has been finished. His life's work has gone to press.

Each phase a story in itself. That required labor and patience of patient old job himself. But with care and sincere devotion Each section has been made the best.

The final job is now finished. His life has now gone to press. The ways of the final composer As he arranged each column in place.

Has sometimes been past our understanding. As we faltered and fell from the pace. But the job has always been finished. Each caption and life given zest. Until not it is finally finished. His life has now gone to press.

The gathering and getting together Of a fact of life that is lived. Has taken long years of labor. A willingness to take and to live. The offer of a hand to the needy. A laugh with a friend as a jest. But now it is finally finished. (Written in memory of a friend C. W. Wright who published Scott County News of Onedia, Tennessee for the past thirty-five years. By H. H. Huffines).

The Chilton-Unity Association School of Missions being conducted at eighteen churches this week is taking a profound spiritual impact on hundreds of Christians and lay people. Holly, from Mayhew, was an inspiring service. There will be a rally Thursday (today) 10:00 a.m. at the First Baptist Church, Clanton. Dr. E. B. Dozier, from Spain, will speak. The congregation will assemble at the Dining Hall of this church to enjoy a meal and fellowship together. Better Speakers Enjoy Surprise Party

There's nothing so thrilling as a happy surprise for the Better Speech Club Thursday afternoon, February 23.

During the free play period Mrs. Thomas's desk was transformed into a spectacle of rare beauty. It was covered with a red and white linen cloth carrying two national flags in front. A floral arrangement of red and white in a milk-glass container formed a fitting background for the white, embossed individual cakes, each holding a miniature United States flag. Beth Henderson furnished soft, appropriate music at the piano as we were seated.

Acting as hostesses for the occasion were, Dian Powell and Carol Hayes who assisted each of us as we approached the table in orderly line, in getting a napkin, a decorated cake, a cup of ice cream, and a spoon. What delicious cake! What tantalizing cold cream.

As we enjoyed the exquisite refreshments we were entertained by the following speakers: James Partridge, Dian Powell, Dian Jones, Carol Hayes, Tommy Powers, Linda Porter and Beth Henderson, Larry Borden led a group in quoting Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. When our desks were cleaned of cups and napkins we all danced Yankee Doodle and Dixie.

This rare treat we owe to Mrs. R. W. Powers and her group of home room mothers. Wonderful mothers indeed, they are. Our sincere thanks go out to each of them.

Samaria Baptist Setting New Goals; And Meeting Them

There were approximately 50 members of the Samaria Baptist Church present at the mid-week meeting last Wednesday, to hear Rev. Morris Jackson, who brought a wonderful gospel message. A sandwich supper and fellowship hour following the services was enjoyed by all present. This provided opportunity for everyone to meet and become better acquainted with Bro. Jackson and his wife. The attendance is growing continuously at the Sunday services. There were 47 at Sunday School, and 31 at Training Union and the preaching services last Sunday. The officers of these organizations will meet this week to enlarge by making more classes and unions to accommodate this increasing growth of the Sunday School and Training Union. A wonderful revival of the Holy Spirit saturate the hearts of all the people who were in attendance at the services last Sunday. After the Prayer meeting, Bible Study, and Choir practice each Wednesday, a number of visits will be made by the members present at 7:30 p.m. All the members of this church are invited and urged to cooperate in helping to reach the attendance goal of 61 at Sunday School, and 51 at Training Union next Sunday.

Accurate Records Help Farmer In Reporting Taxes

Some Ala. farmers were caught napping on January 31st - the last day for reporting to the District Director on Internal Revenue the amount of cash wages paid during 1960 to farm workers covered by Social Security.

Foy Helms, Auburn Extension Service economist, advises all farmers who hire workers to start now keeping accurate records to avoid a recurrence of the same problem next year. These records should include the worker's name, his social security number, an accurate account of the wages he is paid, the number of days he works, and the amount of taxes deducted from his wages.

Helms says that any farm worker is covered by social security if he is paid at least $150 a year or if he works at least 20 days during the year and is paid on a time basis.

FHA Says Additional Funds Available To Chilton Farmers

Additional funds have been made available to help meet the needs of eligible farmers who need operating money to carry out their farming operation, Mr. Isaac C. Byrd, county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration announced today.

$35 Million—

Mr. Byrd said that a $35,000,000 contingency fund provided by the 1961 Agricultural Appropriations Act has just been released to the Farmers Home Administration to meet the growing demand for credit.

This move was taken by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Mr. Byrd said, in an effort to make certain, within the authorities and funds available, that no qualified family-type farmer will be required to give up farming because of his inability to finance his 1961 operations.

20% Higher Than 1959—

Because of high operating costs and unfavorable margins of profits many farmers have exhausted their regular sources of farm operating credit. The amount of operating loans made so far this year by the Farmers Home Administration totals 20 percent higher than last year. The credit Agency's biggest lending season lies just ahead as farmers prepare to start their spring work.

To Improve Conditions—

The Farmers Home Administration makes operating loans primarily to help eligible farm families make improved use of their farming systems. Most of the changes call for adopting better farming practices and improving the efficiency of their farming operations. Loans may also be made to qualified farmers who carry on smaller than fam-

"Thank You" From Christmas Seals Chairman

TO VOLUNTEERS:

Please accept my sincere gratitude for helping to make the 1960 Christmas Seal Campaign a great success. Without your help, it would have been impossible to have gotten the job done.

The success of the 1960 Christmas Seal Campaign which is drawing to a close can be attributed in large part to the excellent newspaper publicity given the campaign during November, December and early January. On behalf of the Chilton County TB Association, I should like to thank you and the good folks at the Chilton County News for the splendid coverage given our Seal Campaign.

With the funds received from the 1960 Christmas Seal Campaign, we hope to expand the services of the TB Association in the community and to serve the needs of Clanton and Chilton County yetter.

We of the TB Association are sure that during the coming year, The Chilton County News will continue to tell the story of tuberculosis control and the need to be on guard against the disease, since, as long as there is one case of tuberculosis in Clanton tuberculosis is a danger to our community.

Many thanks for a job well done. Mrs. R. M. Tucker, Chilton County Chairman.

TB Can Be Prevented: Tuberculosis is not only an individual problem but a community responsibility. This means everyone must work together - physicians, official and voluntary agencies, and all other interested persons and groups. Our prevention program includes:

Teaching the facts about TB and getting people interested in doing something about the disease. Finding the person with tuberculosis early, treating him, curbing him, and helping him return to a useful, productive life in our community. Improving the living conditions and general health of all people in our community.

The Chilton County Health Department is doing a wonderful job of educating these people to the facts and these people all those infected with T. B.

Our thanks to them!

Modern Treatment of TB: Drugs are basic in the treatment of TB today. Of the drugs available three are most commonly used: (1) isoniazid, (2) P. A. S., and (3) streptomycin. A combination of two of these drugs are usually given to a patient.

Surgery, when used, in excisional, removing the focus of infection after the infection has been brought under control, rather than collapse therapy. Rest and a balanced, wholesome diet, properly selected and prepared, are also standard in TB treatment.

TB Can Be Prevented: Tuberculosis is not only an individual problem but a community responsibility. This means everyone must work together - physicians, official and voluntary agencies, and all other interested persons and groups. Our prevention program includes:

family type operations.

Milling.

A very plain, nice picture of Mr. and Mrs. Milling appeared in the Selma Times Journal Sunday, February 26, 1961.

The Milling's have many relatives and friends throughout this section. Winford Miltstead, brother of John, Hill and Mat Miltstead is critically ill at a hospital in Bessemer. Mrs. Janie Hethcox of Plantersville is a sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Edmonds of Fairfield are frequent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chalie Gay. In fact they are relatives. Mrs. Edmonds being the former Minnie Mitchell, daughter of the late Rev. J. W. Mitchell of Brent, Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds had the misfortune of losing one of their daughters last week. She was suffering with high blood pressure and died instantly. To the bereaved family we offer our deepest sympathy.

For Best Care Of

Furniture; Depend On Manufacturer!

Polishing every few weeks doesn't help furniture at all, says Alice Peavy, home furnishings specialist with the Auburn Extension Service.

Much present-day furniture never wears because the finish includes ingredients that make it possible to wipe it clean with a damp cloth. However, she adds, to be safe, follow the manufacturer's instructions. Or get advice on cleaning from the firm who sold you the furniture or from your home demonstration agent.

Most important of all - don't experiment, Miss Peavy says. Wood experts warn that pretreatment with any easy to do polishes form a permanent film, almost impossible to remove, on the original finish.

National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test To Be Given March 11

Fifteen students at the Chilton County High School plan to take the National Merit Scholarship

Qualifying Test, Mr. Waters, Principal, announced today. The test will be administered by Mrs. Cooper, Guidance Director, at the high school at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, March 11. All students who wish to be considered for Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1962 must take the test at that time.

3-Hour Exam
The qualifying test is a three-hour examination of educational development. The test is the first step in the seventh annual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and by sponsoring corporations, foundations, associations, and individuals. The number of scholarships awarded in any year depends upon the extent of sponsor participation. In 1960, 831 scholarships were awarded; 514 were provided by 115 sponsors and 317 by the Merit Corporation. There are 3,132 Merit Scholars attending 391 colleges in the current academic year.

Learn Own Capacity—
The scores of students who take the test on March 11 will be reported to their schools before the end of the spring semester in time for use by the counselor. The scores are used in many high schools to help students make decisions about college attendance and field of study.

Many students who do not expect to win a scholarship take the test in order to learn more about their individual strengths and weaknesses in the areas measured by the test. Some 10,000 semifinalists, the highest scorers in each state, will be named early next fall. Names of semifinalists are published in a booklet which is distributed to all colleges and to other sources of financial aid for under-graduates. Further, their names and test scores are sent on cards to colleges they express an interest in attending as their first or second choice. The order of preference is not known.

Second Exam
Each semi-finalist will be asked to take a second examination. Those who repeat their high performance will become finalists in the Merit scholarship program. The minimum financial need. The minimum.

Winners of Merit Scholarships will be selected from the finalist group on the basis of school records and recommendations, test scores, extra-curricular activities, leadership ability, and accomplishments outside the classroom. Each finalist is awarded a Certificate of Merit attesting to his outstanding performance.

Based On Financial Need—
The scholarships stipends are based on financial need. The minimum award is $100 and the maximum is $1,500. The average stipend awarded to freshman Merit Scholars in 1960 was $827. Each scholarship constitutes a form of educational insurance, since the stipend may be increased at any time if the student's financial situation changes during the four-year term of scholarship. Supplementary grants are usually made to the colleges which the Scholars attend.

Commendation Awards—
An additional 25,000 students, selected on a national basis, receive Letters of Commendation for their high performance on the qualifying test. These students are considered for special awards made through the Merit Corporation, and their names and test scores are also sent to their first and second choice colleges.

26 Last Year—
Last year 26 juniors from Chilton County High School took the National Merit Test. Although there were no scholarship winners from this group, four of this number ranked between the 91st and 94th percentile. This means that, of all students taking the test in the nation, from 91 to 94 percent of these made lower scores than these four students.

Additional Funds For Local Farm Housing

An additional $50 million has been made available to the Farmers Home Administration for farm housing loans, Mr. Isaac C. Byrd, the agency's county supervisor announced today.

He said that the new loan funds assure an adequate supply of this type of credit for eligible farm families during the balance of the fiscal year. Loans made so far this year, plus those being processed had practically exhausted the funds previously available.

Farm housing loans are made throughout the rural areas of the United States. The loans provide farm families with an opportunity to acquire an adequate house and efficient service buildings.

Applications for farm housing loans may be made at the local office of the Farmers Home Administration in the Higgins Building, Mr. Byrd said. The loans bear 4 percent interest and are payable over periods up to 33 years.

The major demand in Chilton County is for loans to construct and modernize farm houses, and most of the funds are used for new construction.

Improvements financed with the loans include the installation of central heating, and pressure water supply systems, the addition of bathrooms and the modernization of kitchens.

To be eligible a farmer must own a farm that will annually produce for sale or home use at least $400 worth of commodities based on 1944 prices and be of sufficient value to adequately secure the loan. In addition, he must lack the resources needed to obtain credit elsewhere and have sufficient income to pay farm operating and family living expenses and meet payments due on his debts.

The Future Farmers of America was organized nationally in November, 1928 during a meeting of students and leaders held in Kansas City, Missouri.

Alabama has approximately 15,000 FFA members in 262 High School departments of Vocational Agriculture. The teacher of vocational agriculture serves as FFA advisor.

You Can Help Speed Up Your Tax Refund!

District Director of Internal Revenue George D. Patterson has released a statement made by the new Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Mortimer M. Caplin. This was one of Mr. Caplin's first official statements made after he was sworn into office at noon on February 7, 1961.

Mr. Caplin stated that there are 35,000,000 taxpayers who can help speed up payment of their share of the more than $4 billion in Federal tax refunds due them by filing their 1960 income tax returns now. He further stated, we want very much to pay out these refunds as rapidly as possible to help stimulate the nation's economy during this period of economic slack, but we need the cooperation of taxpayers to do so. Taxpayers should file their returns immediately, especially those who have refunds coming, because their returns constitute the refund applications we need to process the payments. We are geared to handle far more returns than have been filed to date. So if returns are filed now we estimate only five weeks will be needed to check and process the refunds. If they are filed later, they may get caught in the late filing tidal wave and take much longer to process. By helping yourself in this way you will be helping the nation's economy.

Mr. Patterson, in commenting on the statement made by Mr. Caplin, further suggested that taxpayers should use care in preparing their returns. He stated that the most prevalent errors discovered to date are those where taxpayers have failed to properly sign the return or properly fill in the names of dependents. The failure to fill in these blanks correctly causes additional processing and correspondence and necessarily slows down the refund. In line with Mr. Caplin's statement, Mr. Patterson advised that only 65,000 returns out of the approximately 900,000 returns to be received during this filing period were received in January.

Did You Give Your S.S. No. To "Boss"?

"Some workers and their dependents in this area stand to lose valuable social security protection because they failed to give their social security account number to their employers." These words of warning came today from Cecil L. Simpson, Manager of the Birmingham district Social Security Office. Simpson points out that the social Security number identifies the worker's account from millions of others. If he fails to give his number to his employer his earnings must be reported without it, and this means he get not social security credit for them.

"Social Security payments," Simpson says, are based on earnings. If the worker fails to get credit for all of his earnings, his social security payments may be reduced when the time comes for him and his family to claim them. It could mean no payments at all. The best safeguard against loss of social security credits is for the worker to give his correct social security number to his employer the first day he goes to work.

We wish to give a belated congratulations to Gene Grey of Grey Sons Equipment Co. on the big success of their Deere Day. The big nice lady in the office who worked so much to the success of the occasion, Mrs. Robinson.

One of Chilton's oldest and most respected citizens died Monday evening. Mr. Will Reynolds passed away. He had long been a member and supporter of the local Methodist Church and we grieve with his family in his passing.

Your attention is called to a scholarship plan which the Alabama County Association is presenting to High School Seniors. The Seniors have a copy of the letter and Rules governing the scholarships.
Rules governing the scholarships are as follows: Walking is for young folks. Tuesday afternoon we run smack out of about half-way home. Well, thought it was a nice warm day we would walk the rest of the home. About a block later it turned to get hot and we weren't walking along fast enough but we weighed a ton each and the heavier and heavier. About time Mrs. Nettie Lancaster came along riding with her sister she gave us a lift home. There was no place like home, because me. And don't let anybody tell you that Mrs. Nettie don't look up an angel.

The Tin Shop has moved into the building where "Bill" Hays was. That's just across the street from the service entrance to Lamar Motors, on Selma Road, just the over-head bridge. By golly it's pretty good. Course we're dressed up and a little confused, but that's where they are.

Mr. W. E. Elmore and family moved clear out of the County.
He is our new administrator at Hospital. We remember well that was way out in the country. Now it seems pretty close own. He bought the Leonard home out on Lay Dam Road the property adjoining. It's right out there. We hope the new one is like our County.

Deeply disturbed by the prevailing of juvenile delinquency in his community, a certain writer was made to make this statement: Our love luxury. They have manners, contempt for authority. Disrespect for older people.
Children nowadays are tyrants.
No longer rise when their parents enter the room. They contempt their parents, chatter before company, gobble their food and annoy their teachers. The writer tury before Christ.

Unexpected Donation--

Rescue Squad Finds Lost Man; 24-Hours

THE Chilton County Civil Defense Rescue Squad went into action again last Friday, when one,
Mr. John Henry Johnson, an elderly resident of Clanton, was reported missing.

The Squad searched the woods in the area Friday and part of Saturday, utilizing their new radio equipment to keep in touch with one another. Mr. Johnson was found about 11:00 a.m. Saturday in a patch of woods near Verbena.
It appeared that he had spent the night there in the woods.

The Probate Judge and the Sheriff's office worked with the Rescue Squad in the search.
It was learned this week that the Rescue Squad received a check donation from the City of Clanton in excess of $200 for their part in the Gas Pipe Line repair back in December. Some of the Squad, along with the City and local gas company employees worked around the clock in sub-zero weather to repair the line when it was broken twice by construction crews on the new inter-state project. The Rescue Squad wants to make public their appreciation to the City. According to our report; they can make good use of such donations, since their work is completely voluntary and their equipment must be kept in top shape. New equipment is also needed regularly.

AGO

One hundred years ago today, on March 9, 1861, the Alabama Secession Convention, which had taken Alabama out of the Union two months earlier, voted to transfer arms and munitions of war from the state of Alabama to the government of the Confederate States of America. According to David L.
Darden in an article in the Alabama Historical Quarterly in 1941, the Alabama Secession Convention, on March 9, 1861, also approved transfer to the Confederate government the Customhouses which the state had seized at Mobile and Selma, together with all money held there. Also to be transferred to Confederate government were the United States Marine Hospital at Mobile, the light, lighthouses and buoys in Mobile Bay, and the revenue cutter
Lewis Cass, all formerly the property of the United States. On the same date, the Alabama Secession Convention voted to give the Governor of Alabama power to turn over to the Confederacy, under certain conditions, Alabama troops which were enlisted under an ordinance of the Alabama Secession
Convention had passed on January 19.

Two days later, on March 11, 1861, the permanent Constitution of the Confederate States of America was approved at Montgomery by the Confederacy's provisional Congress.
Johnson J. Hooper, Alabama editor and humorist, who had created the comic character "Simon Suggs," was secretary of the provisional Congress and made the official copies of the Constitution.

4 YEAR OLD KILLED AT LOMAX

A Negro child, 4 year old Mamie Bailey, was hit at Lomax Monday by an automobile and killed.

Little Mamie was crossing the Highway, to go to the store for her mother when she was killed.
The driver of the car was Preston Bailey of Andalusia, Alabama. According to witnesses, he was released after questioning and the accident was determined unavoidable. According to witnesses the child walked directly in front of his car and by the time he saw the child it was too late to avoid hitting her. She was dragged 108 feet after compact and the driver of her car took another 107 feet to stop. It was estimated by the Coroner that the speed of the vehicle was driving approximately 45 miles per hour.
Funeral announcements are announced in this paper.

Easter Seals Help ALL Crippled Children In Chilton County!

CRIPPLED Children all over the state, such as
support of your county Easter Seal Chapter. Each year one month prior to Easter Sunday, Easter Seals are sold. Money from sale of the Seals helps crippled children and adults regardless of the cause of crippling.

The 1961 Easter Seal Campaign began last Friday and hundreds of volunteers over the state are busy raising funds for Alabama's crippled children and adults.

Last year interested citizens raised over $350,000 and directly served over 11,000 handicapped people. The Society serves all types of crippling conditions.

Chilton County Chapter Chairman
I. S. Levine says that this Chapter plans to hold a vigorous campaign this year.

COURTHOUSE FOR SALE TO HIGHEST BIDDER

TAKE a good, long look at what will probably be the last time you get to see the old Chilton County Counthouse. . . at least under present circumstances.
You can buy it and make a home of it if you wish, because as of this month it is being sold to the highest bidder to make room for progress.

UPON saying "so long" to this old Courthouse we feel it only fair to say that we like its looks very much. Those white columns give it a classic look that really suits our taste. However, the "innards" of this striking shell are shot to pieces and we grieve very little at its demise. It has served our County well and we hope whoever purchases it, gives it a suitable setting in keeping with its most illustrious past.

Many wonderful and many tragic things have happened in the confines of this old structure and as its reconstruction for Chilton County by officials serving the people from this building.

Yes, we hate to see the old place go, but if it comes to a matter of choice between the two; we heartily say "good riddance" and "we're for progress" as time marches on.

County and State Officials Endorse Trade School For Chilton As Perfect 'Shot In Arm' For Industrial Development

THE Trade School Subcommittee of the Chilton County Rural Development Program, in a recent meeting, made efforts to inaugurate a Trades Training Program for Chilton County.

M. R. Red Glasscock, Area Agent in Rural Development presided at this meeting with Probate Judge J. C. White as Chairman of the Sub-Committee.

Others present and some of their ideas and opinions on the matter were: W. A. Lecroy, County Supt. of education who related certain pertinent facts relative to problems encountered in present school building program plans. Estimated costs of school building construction and repairs in Clanton, Map-leville, Jemison and Thorshy, and other areas total $2,120,000.

Presently available funds from all building and equipment money sources total $1,400,000 leaving a deficit of $700,000 now frozen because of a recent tax revenue falling below estimates. Mr. Lecroy stated, when approached by Senator Graham with the direct question "Would you be willing to proceed with construction of trades training center in conjunction with a centrally located high school of the (estimated) $150,000.00 could be secured from sources other than those presently available?" I would recommend to the County Board of Education and exert all possible influence to see that they include if such funds are offered from trades facilities and trades school other sources. We would be foolish to turn down needed building money. Also, Mr. Lecroy stated:

If the one-cent sales tax program can be extended another 10 years the Board would be in a position to borrow an additional $150,000.00 specifically for construction of trades training facilities in a centrally located high school.

Mr. J. E. Ingram, Trades Training Program, Director, State Department of Education, outlined the following procedure for economically establishing an efficient trades

★ Story Of The Week ★ March 15th Is Deadline For Cotton Men

'Plant Or Release' Says ASC Committee

March 15, 1961 is the last date for farmers to release their 1961 cotton allotments to the County ASC Committee. This announcement was made here today by Mr. Eddie Owen, Chairman of the Chilton County ASC Committee. Mr. Owen stated that March 15 is a very important date to cotton farmers who do not intend to plant their full 1961 cotton allotment. The reason for this, he stated is that the law requires that a farmer either plant or release to the County ASC Committee at least 75 percent of his 1961 cotton allotment in order to protect the cotton history for his farm for future years.

Acres in the Conservation Re-at the regular rate will be considered Program of the Soil Bank ed as land planted to allotment crops for the purpose of netting the 75 percent requirements.

In order to release cotton acreage farmers must sign certain forms at the County ASC Office on or before March 13. Mr. Owen urged all farmers who have any questions on this matter to contact the county office as soon as possible.

Farmers releasing cotton allotment acreage may not designate the farm to which the County ASC Committee reapportion the acreage. Present law, likewise, does not authorize a farmer to sell or lease a cotton allotment to another farmer.

Training Union Meeting At Liberty Hill March 13th

The Associational Director of the Training Union Department, R. C.
Vazey and his co-workers, request every church to take the opportunity next Sunday at the services to announce and enlist the officers and members to attend the quarterly
Training Union Meeting at Liberty
Hill Baptist Church, March 13th,
7:30 p.m., to witness the Junior Memory Drill, and Intermediate Sword Drill eliminations and participate in the departmental conference that will be devoted to the discussion on Christian Stewardship.
This will be a great spiritual service and every one is cordially invited to attend.

Refrigerator temperatures help to keep nuts from becoming rancid.
Store in airtight containers.

County Agent Urges Immediate Action

Attention: All Chilton County farmers are urged to join with other Alabama farmers in achieving one-hundred per cent participation in the Cotton Planting or release drive. The state goal is to plant one million acres and gross a twohundred million dollar income.

March 15th is the deadline for checking with the ASC office in order to secure additional cotton acreage or releasing present cotton acreage you don't intend to plant.
Remember if you do not plant or release, you not only lose your individual cotton allotment but also the county allotment in this amount is lost. Over 300 Chilton County farmers will lose their cotton allotment acres if they fail to check with the ASC office manager, Mr.
Howard Johnston, by March 15th.

Pioneer Methodist Layman Dies Here

Will A. Reynolds, of Clanton, age
90, died Monday, March 6, funeral services were held Tuesday, March 7, at the First Methodist Church,
Interments in Clanton Cemetery.
Conducted by Rev. Lloyd Kim-brough, Carlisle Miller, J. Gilbert Hutchinson, Martin Funeral Home in charge.

Surviving include, Mrs. Will A.
Reynolds, wife; 4 daughters Mrs.
J. J. Hammett, Mrs. Percy Pitts,
Mrs. Guy H. Roberts, Mrs. Sam
Box; one son Hoyt B. Reynolds; one brother, S. J. Reynolds and one sister Mrs. Lella Langston. 13 grandchildren. 29 great-grandchildren and 1 great-great-grandchild.

ATTENTION— BLACKBERRY GROWERS

Immediately after hanging berry vines, spray for leaf Spot and Trithracose with 4 gallons of liquid lime sulphur to 100 gallons of water;
if leaves and buds have appeared, use only 1 gallon of liquid lime sulphur. If Red Spider has been a problem, an application of Ethion before bloom. The rate of application recommended is 1 pint per acre. Not only vines should be sprayed but also roadside ditches, fence lines and bordering areas surrounding the berry fields. This will eliminate mites wintering in or near the berry fields.

Education, and offered other thoughts:

a. Should Chilton County elect to proceed to develop pilot project, all possible assistance would be given to make this first-of-its-kind in Alabama a model project of county-wide service.

b. The previously pursued idea of scattered trades training classes in different sections of a county is not economically sound or operationally practical.

c. The State Department has a keen interest in development of a Pilot project. Seventeen (17) other sections of the State are not now served by technical trades training.

d. Estimated cost of housing above-described program is $150,000.
00 as compared to average cost of approximately $1,000,000 for established Area Trade Schools.

Francis Speaks, Chilton County Representative, stated: "I have a very keen interest in aiding development of trades school for Chil-

Prefer Rescue Work--

WHEN the Chilton CD Rescue Squad is not rescuing flood victims they are retrieving the bodies of unfortunate who have drowned in the Coosa and elsewhere. We've got it first hand that they much prefer the former type of work, and we certainly don't blame them for that, but we're glad they're available for whatever need comes along.

More Noise--

WE'RE all ready to hear some more noise on the local industry bit. Those who are 'striving' should not do so in secret. Nothing concerning the community, as a whole, can be favorably accomplished without the people knowing about it. How can we help, if we don't know what's going on?

The Law Must Be Honored--

A legitimate argument, concerning the pool halls in Clanton is to the effect that most of the prospective trade for this sport is composed of teen-agers and the State law forbids teen-agers to participate in the game of billiards within the confines of a so-called pool hall.

The argument is, "why can't the law be changed or revised so that the local administration or governing body can decide if, when and how much the teen-agers use the facilities of a local pool hall?" As far as we can see it is a legitimate question, at least in our own particular situation. As it stands the law is creating a condition which is cancelling out its own purpose. Laws are made to be respected, and when you start bending them, because they don't suit the situation you are doing teen-agers more harm than any 'pool hall' atmosphere ever could. How many of you parents honestly try to abide by the law and keep your teen-agers out of the pool halls? We don't think it should be left up to the proprietor -- it's your business to know where and what your children are doing. If you see nothing wrong with your son playing pool in the pool halls, you are no less breaking the law, unless you accompany him. The letter of the law is hard to abide by when its technicalities seem so unimportant. However, the law is the law; should be respected and if not suitable to the majority or the situation that prevails, should be fixed so that people can respect it and follow it.

Tragedy Strikes--

OUR sincere condolences to Mrs. Kate Harris, who is the County correspondent for the Alabama Journal, and her family on the loss of her husband, Mr. Marlin J. Harris, in an automobile accident just north of Montgomery last Friday. The Harris family lives at Mt. Creek and Mrs. Kate has been doing a mighty fine job for the Journal in this area. Mr. Harris was an electrical engineer with the Central Alabama Electric Cooperative.

They're Wearing 'Em Now, Doc--

SEE where some "so-called" expert doctor on the matter, advocates little girls wearing trousers now, so they won't be 'burned alive' by catching their dresses on fire! We heartily disagree with the good doctor. In the first place, it's carelessness, not dresses, that cause the accidents and in the second place there are too many females wearing the pants now, to suit us!

'Mud In Yer Eye'--

LOOKS like the daily newspapers are setting out to re-elect 'Big Jim' the next time around. They're slinging mud at him with both fists nowadays and if there's anything that 'Big Jim' likes, it's mud in his eye!

Let's Grow The Best Peaches--

FOLKS are saying that they wish everybody would 'lose' half their peaches this year and then all of them would make something off their crops! Nature is not so thoughtful as to kill exactly half of everybody's. Some would lose all and some would lose few. The surest way to 'lose' half of everybody's crop is for everybody to work together and thin or knock off some of those early peaches. According to the 'men who know' nature has given us the opportunity to show the world what a Chilton County peach really is, this year. Conditions are favorable for having some of the highest quality fruit we have ever produced. It is much more important for our peach growers to concentrate on quality rather than speed and quantity; that is, if we intend to stay in the peach business. As one fellow put it: "I'd rather have 500 bushels of good peaches and get something for them than to have a thousand bushels and have to throw out half of them because they lacked the quality suitable for marketing!" There's wisdom in that thinking Mr. Peach Grower. Don't sell yourself short by trying to grow THE MOST. Let's just grow THE BEST and the other will follow in good time!

THANK-U-GRAM

In recognition of the good you have done

Thank you for your support of the 4-H program. It is through your interest that 4-H can continue to teach the rural youth of America practical skills in agriculture and home economics, and the responsibilities of leadership and citizenship. Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

Members of the House of Representatives last week took their first major legislative action of the year when they approved an unemployment compensation bill and referred it to the Senate. The measure was passed by a vote of 392 to 30 with two Democrats and 28 Republicans voting against it. If passed by the Senate, the bill will make it possible for workers who have either exhausted their regular unemployment benefits since June 30 or who may do so before April 1 of next year to receive the additional payments. The emergency program will be financed through an increase in unemployment taxes paid by employers.

It is expected that the measure will be approved this week by the Senate.

Peace Corps Plan-- President Kennedy's message to Congress last Wednesday calls for the establishment of a Peace Corps, described as a pool of trained American men and women sent overseas to help foreign countries meet urgent needs for skilled manpower. At the same time the message was dispatched, the President announced that he was creating by executive order a temporary Peace Corps as a test while Congress is considering his proposal for a permanent organization.

His plan is for average American citizens to volunteer to work in foreign countries to assist others in learning skills that will help them improve their underdeveloped nations. He mentioned specifically that Peace Corps members can teach school, particularly English classes; assist in public health and sanitation projects such as the worldwide program of malaria eradication; and work on farms to demonstrate modern implements and techniques.

No Salaries-- The President emphasized that life in the Peace Corps will not be easy and that, although there will be allowances for basic needs, no salaries will be paid the volunteers. He said only those who are wanted by the host countries and who are qualified to do the jobs for which they are sent will be eligible for overseas assignments.

In his message to Congress, he stated that the Peace Corps will not be solely a government function but that it will also cooperate with private institutions and organizations. He said initial expenses of the program will be paid for from appropriations currently available for the foreign aid program.

President Kennedy also pointed out that preliminary reports of a study during the last session of Congress show that the Peace Corps is "feasible, needed, and wanted by many foreign countries."

The Sermonette

BY RAY FELKINS, Pastor
Mulberry Baptist Church
Christ, the Defender of the Weak

As we turn to the eighth chapter of the Gospel according to John, we find that the Writer introduces Christ as the Defender of the Weak. It is in this chapter, and from this experience with the woman and the Scribes and Pharisees come bringing to him a woman, whom they say, has been caught in the act of adultery. They place her in the midst of the people and call upon Christ for his judgment. They said unto him, "Master, this woman was taken in adultery, in the very act. Now Moses in the law commanded us, that such should be stoned; but what sayest thou?" This was not because they were hard set against this sin, nor was it because they were concerned about strict adherence to the Law of Moses. The truth of the matter was, that they were laying a trap for Christ, hoping that he would fall into it. If he answered the woman should be stoned, this would be contrary to the Roman government, for they held that adultery was not punishable by death. On the other hand, if he said she should not be stoned, he would be charged with opposing the Law of Moses. What will he do? Notice how Christ handles the situation. Knowing their hearts and their attempt to catch him, he stoops down and begins to write on the ground with his finger. This he did pretending as though he heard them not. They continue to press him for an answer, so he says, "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her." Having said this, Christ turns again to it is writing upon the ground. While he continues to write, the accusers are convicted by their own conscience of their own sinful lives and they began to leave the scene one by one.

When they had all gone out, Christ lifted up himself and said to the woman, "Where are thine accusers? Hath no man condemned thee?" The woman answers, "No man, Lord." Then Christ said, "Neither do I condemn thee: go, and sin no more." This by no means is to be interpreted that Christ excuses or approves sin, but this was done to get her to think of her sin, that she might see her wrong, and come repenting, asking for his forgiveness.

This is but one of the many incidents recorded in the Gospels, revealing the fact that Christ truly is the Defender of the Weak.

concentrate on quality rather than speed and quantity; that is, if we intend to stay in the peach business. As one fellow put it: "I'd rather have 500 bushels of good peaches and get something for them than to have a thousand bushels and have to throw out half of them because they lacked the quality suitable for marketing!" There's wisdom in that thinking Mr. Peach Grower. Don't sell yourself short by trying to grow THE MOST. Let's just grow THE BEST and the other will follow in good time!

THE SPLEEN

The spleen is a vascular and friable organ, meaning that it is full of blood vessels and can be easily crumbled. Despite its somewhat protected position in the upper left part of the abdominal cavity, the spleen is susceptible to rupture through injury. The seriousness of a rupture of the spleen is obvious from statistics. Without surgical treatment, more than 90 percent of ruptured spleens result in death. With surgery, the death rate varies between 10 and 25 per cent.

Because of the increase in automobile and industrial accidents, rupture of the spleen is increasing. With every injury to the abdomen or chest, even though there is no evidence of external injury to the skin, there is the possibility of damage to the spleen. Immediate abdominal hemorrhage from the spleen is sometimes difficult to diagnose at first, as many patients who have been in a serious accident are in a state of shock on admission to the hospital.

After severe hemorrhage due to ruptured spleen there is pallor, sweating, rapid and weak pulse, and lowered blood pressure. Abdominal pain is always present, usually generalized, but more severe in the left upper quarter and may be either sharp and piercing or a dull ache. These symptoms may not be apparent immediately following an accident.

Thanks to greater availability of blood, improved anesthesia, and over-all care of injured patients, there has been a marked decrease in death from rupture of the spleen. Once a definite diagnosis of ruptured spleen has been made, a splenectomy is performed, which is removal of the organ.

One hundred years ago this week, on March 4, 1861, Abraham Lincoln was inaugurated in Washington as president of a divided United States. On the same day, the flag of the provisional government of the Confederate States of America was first raised to the dome of the Capitol in Montgomery. This flag was known as the "Stars and Bars."

By joint resolution of the Alabama Senate and House of Representatives in 1953, the date of March 4 is designated Confederate Flag Day.

Although the Flag Committee of the provisional Confederate Congress stressed its desire not to imitate the United States flag, the Confederate Star and Bars flag actually was quite similar to the flag of the United States. In fact, it was so similar that a different battle flag had to be adopted in order to prevent confusion on the battlefield. Today, the best known Confederate flag is not the Stars and Bars, but rather the battle and naval flag.

THINGS

We see and hear by BOB

WORDS of wisdom from a six-year old, at bedtime: "... And thank you for everybody. Everything means a lot to you, God; and a lot means a lot to me, too!" If you can see through the childish expression, those are wise words!

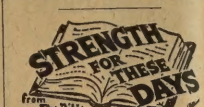

MOMMA: "Can you eat a whole one, Terri?" "No ma'am, but I can eat those two halves!"

STRANGEST thing how trouble always seems to come packaged up. Chilton County has gone for quite a spell now without an accidental death. Monday, three Chilton Countians died in accidents and two of them were little girls, run over by automobiles. Watch the kiddies, mamma; it's really terrible to see one lose his life through someone's carelessness.

THE 'recreation craze' has become so prevalent in Clanton that someone was trying to figure out how to plan their work day and still get in four hours of recreation per day and still not miss out on lunch or his two coffee breaks. Where is that old desire to work and see a job well done, regardless of the hours it takes to do it? The hardest work some of us do, nowadays, is trying to figure out which is the best form of recreation! We've surely got nothing against healthy bodies, but good, hard work is healthy, too; in more ways than one!

WE salute, this week, the nearly two thousand members of the 4-H Clubs in Chilton County and their advisors and directors who are doing such a magnificent job in the character-building of our younger folks. It is rewarding to see the ideals and inspiration of generations personified by members of this younger generation in their efforts to become good citizens and make this community, this station and this world, better place in which to dwell. Congratulations to 4-H for having such fine members and groups in Chilton County.

And let our people learn to apply themselves to good deeds, so as to help cases of urgent need, and not to be unfruitful. —Titus 3:1

It is a law of life that the self-centered destroy themselves with the poison of selfishness, fear, and anxiety, with hatred and resentment. Those with Christlike compassion for others enrich themselves with friendship, strong allies, and the consciousness that they are in partnership with God.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Seal of the City of Clanton at the City Hall on this 9th day of March in the year of our Lord 1961.

J. HOLLIS JACKSON, Mayor.

Everybody is busy these days and the family is pulled a dozen different ways how necessary it is that we try to maintain for our children a stabilized atmosphere. As adults we often feel the pressures of a trying world cheat us of precious fellowship with our growing children. We push aside their little efforts to draw near us and have a part of our attention until the years are over and they forget as we do how even recall that common ground that is possible to achieve between parent and child.

Very often the teacher in school or church knows the secret anxieties and dreams of our children even better than we do. It is every child's right and should be every child's heritage to truly feel in his heart that there's no place like home and no parent like Mom and Dad. Good homes make better people.

The poem below would teach this lesson.

So Long as There Are Homes
Grace Noll Crowell

So long as there are homes to which men turn at close of day,
So long as there are homes where children are--where Women stay,
If love and loyalty and faith be found across those hills,
A striken nation can recover from its Gravestills.
So long as there are homes where fires burn and there is bread,
So long as there are homes where lamps are lit and payers are as desired, though nations grope,
Although a people falter through the dark and nations grope,
With God himself of these things homes we still can hope.

Gov. Patterson Reveals Plan For Hospital Care For Aged

...ing it a "milestone in service to Alabama's old age pensioners," John Patterson this week announced plans to provide pensioners hospital care for acute illness or injury.

The new state program, to go into effect April 1, will provide up to 10 days' hospital care per year for each of the 100,000 on pension.

This is merely the starter, and the program is limited only by the amount of money now available, Patterson said. Nevertheless, it is a major step forward in medical care for the aged in our state.

The governor's announcement came in his approval of an agreement reached jointly by Alvin T. Prestwood, commissioner of pensions and Dr. D. G. Gill, state health officer. Mr. Prestwood's department will administer the program, and the Health Department will handle hospital details.

The plan will cost $5 million a year, with costs matched at the rate of four-to-one with Federal funds.

This program has been planned with simple procedures and definite steps to follow, Mr. Prestwood said. It works like this:

First, a licensed physician must recommend hospitalization for the pensioner. Second, the county department must certify whether the person is receiving an old age pension and indicate the number of remaining hospital days to which he is entitled under the program.

Third, following hospitalization the hospital submits its claim to the Health Department, which will determine whether the diagnosis meets the definition of acute illness or injury and whether the hospital stay was reasonable in line with the diagnosis. Upon approval, the claim will be paid by the Department of Pensions and Security directly to the hospital.

Gov. Patterson pointed out that hospitalization for acute illness for injury of old age pensioners is the second medical care program now available to Alabama's pensioners.

The first, care in a licensed nursing home, has long been in effect. Under a new Federal program, the state makes payments for the

1,700 pensioners in nursing homes directly to the nursing homes instead of the pensioners, securing four-to-one matching funds and freeing some $25,000 in state funds each month - forming the nucleus for the new hospital program.

Gov. Patterson this week announced an improvement in allowance for care in licensed nursing homes designed to encourage the homes to improve services. Beginning April 1, the maximum amount paid for recipients in skilled nursing homes will be raised from $110 to $125 monthly.

APOLOGY TO READERS—Due to some poor mathematics on the part of the columnist, a premature announcement was made in the last issue of Telephone Talk. This column loudly declared that Southern Bell's 750,000th Alabama telephone had been installed a full week before that milestone was reached. Thanks to the telephone growth in a vigorous state, the author is guilty of misrepresentation in time only. The 750,000th Southern Bell telephone in Alabama is now connected. The place? The Alabama State Docks on the Mobile River.

Samaria Baptists Reduce Building Debt To $2,000.00

The Samaria Baptist Church, Clanton, is happy to announce that their attendance at the services is continuing to grow. There was a revival spirit which seemed to hover over the congregation last Sunday. The Sunday School attendance was 47, and 27 at Training union. The treasurer's report Sunday revealed that the church building debt had been reduced to $2,000.00. Also the officers of the organizations and the nominating committee met and planned to enlarge the organizations and instructed the nominating committee to enlist and nominate a pianist, teachers for the following classes, Young People, Intermediate, Junior Beginner and a Superintendent each for the cradle roll and extension departments. Some of the present Young Peoples classes are already overcrowded. Every member of the church should be present next Sunday to help in the report from the pulpits committee. It is being anticipated that the goal attendance of 61 at Sunday School and 51 at Training Union will be reached in the very near future. Plans for a survey of this church field to be conducted within the next ten days are materializing. Sunday School begins each Sunday at 10:00 a.m., and the Training Union was changed to begin at 6:30 p.m., also the Prayer meeting and Bible study

These young ladies are representative of the hundreds of Chilton County 'maids' that have taken part in this annual event over the past several years. "To Make The Best Better" is not only the 4-H motto, but one which these girls - and others like them, apply to the activities of their everyday lives. (News photo)

Bruised Livestock Costs $50 Million Per Year

The $50 million that the livestock industry loses annually because of animals bruised is an unnecessary waste.

Otis Russell, Auburn Extension livestock marketing specialist, says that the Alabama Meat Packers Association is urging the cooperation of livestockmen in reducing this waste. The association recommends that canvas slappers replace sticks and bludgeons in livestock yards and that padding be placed on loading and tagging chutes, corners, and other places where animals are likely to bruise themselves.

"To Make The Best Better"

4-H CLUB MOTTO

As in the case of the 4-H Clubs pledge, much emphasis is placed on the 4-H Club motto - "To Make The Best Better" - not only in the building of character and citizenship but in the raising of project standards. To make the best better should be used as his guide in daily living.

Careful Egg Handling Helps Keep Customers

Egg producers who want to keep customers happy should work toward a goal of 90 percent grade-A eggs says Jim Hubbard, Auburn Extension Service poultryman.

Responsibilities of the producers include collecting, cleaning and in some cases, grading. Worth checking every month, says Hubbard, are the floor litter and nests. Loose clean floor litter and clean well kept nests are important in producing clean eggs.

The specialist says that poultrymen who use plastic filler flats for collecting eggs have far less breakage and a more accurate count than those who use baskets. He advises poultrymen who still use baskets to fill them just two-thirds full to avoid breakage.

And, the poultryman warns, eggs from hens a year or more old require more careful handling than eggs from younger birds because the shells are thinned.

Health and Safety Clubs Presents Play

The Health and Safety Club in Mrs. Sexton's room was called to order March 3, 1961 by the president Sara Enfinger. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The program chairman, Marlow Price took charge. Pete Blackwell gave the devotional, Mike Rope led the club in the hymn, America. Susan Powell gave Brenda Jackson, Sandra Mims, Larry Ellison and John Will Jones some true and false questions on Safety. Some poems were given by Rose Ellen Matthews, Marlow Price and James Boswell. Susan Powell gave Judy Nelson, Ronnie Lawrence, Charles Burnett and Belinda Jones a quiz.

The following presented a play: Randall Smith, Ginger Headley, Shirley Payton, Sara Enfinger, Jackie Jones and Bobby Mahan. The treasurer Shirley Payton gave her report. The social committee Benda Jackson, Vickie Headley, Patricia Smith, Sondra Mims and Jimmy Eardman served refreshments. Then the meeting was adjourned until the next meeting.

4-H Older Youth Officers, Advisors

Older 4-H'ers Active And Interested In Community Affairs

Active rather than passive is the key to the success of the Older Youth 4-H Club of Clanton. This Club, led by the above group of officers and leaders has participated in a number of activities this past year. They took the lead in the early fall and distributed publicity about the County Fair over the County and in downtown Clanton.

Since this group is composed of boys and girls between 14-21 years, their interest in community activities is keen. They participated in the Christmas Parade as a community activity. Informing the public about 4-H Club Week was another project this group undertook and the officers appeared on TV in December to present an informal, yet informative live television program about the activities and opportunities of 4-H.

The Older Youth members assist the County 4-H leaders in promoting all County programs, such as County 4-H Rally, County 4-H Camp, 4-H Talent Show and the County Fair.

The areas of service are innumerable, but a few examples of their services are: serving as monitors at the County 4-H Rally, counselors at the County 4-H Camp, night watchmen during the County Fair and the County Fat Stock Show in the livestock barns, and assisting with stage props for the Talent Show.

Teens Are Keen On Dairy Products, Win Top Awards For Best Project

Showing others how to do things is just as important in 4-H work as doing the job yourself, according to the Cooperative Extension Service which directs the 4-H projects. Proof of this can be found in the records of three teenage cooks who were named the state's best in 1960 for their dairy foods demonstration abilities.

Shirley Walker

Jana Howard

Anne Whitt

The prize-winning trio is made up of Shirley Walker, 18, of Phenix City, who captured both top state and sectional awards to win herself a beautiful 19-jewel inscribed wrist watch and a free trip to the National 4-H Club Congress held recently in Chicago, Ill.

Jana Howard, 15, and Anne Whitt, 16, who live in Toney, won the state team award and received wrist watches. The Carnation Company of Los Angeles, Calif., long-time sponsor of the dairy foods program, provided the awards for all three girls.

Miss Walker won the state and sectional championship after falling short in three earlier attempts. She was Lee county winner in 1957, '58 and '59, with her demonstrations on making a Waldorf salad, a cranberry blizzard, and drinks from milk and ice cream.

This year she won the county title with a deviled ham cheese dip, and took the state crown with a French toast breakfast and a discussion on the importance of a well balanced diet.

Miss Walker, a freshman at Auburn University, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Walker, who operate a dairy farm.

Miss Walker's winning 4-H record was judged in Chicago by a committee of Extension Service workers from 12 states.

Jana, 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Howard, who farm 630 acres. Anne, 16, is the daughter of the J. E. Whitts, who operate a 163-acre farm.

Their team demonstration was titled, "The Dairyland Cruise" featuring raspberry, peach and mint parfaits.

Jana, who has been a 4-H member for five years, has specialized in food preparation and clothing projects in addition to her dairy specialty.

Anne, also a five-year member, has carried projects in food preparation, clothing, home improvement, home management and child care.

She has been twice president of her 4-H Club, and has received local and county dress revue medals. Anne was a counselor this past summer at 4-H Camp.

Boys' 4-H Club Song

A PLOWING SONG

A growing day, and a waking field,
And a furrow straight and long;
A golden sun, and a lifting breeze,
And we follow with a song.
A guiding thought, and a skillful hand,
And a plant's young leaf unfurled,
A summer's sun, and a summer's rain,
And we harvest for the world.

Chorus

Sons of the soil are we,
Lads of the field and flock;
Turning our sods,
Asking no odds,
Where is life so free?
Sons of the soil are we,
Men of the coming years,
Facing the dawn,
Brain ruling brawn,
Lords of our lands we'll be.

County Council President To Attend 2-Day Meet, Mar. 9-10

Pictured above is Miss Sherry Wyatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis D. Wyatt of Clanton. Sherry is the 1960-61 Senior 4-H Club County Council President. As the President of the Council, Sherry has many responsibilities, but she handles responsibility well so the county council is in good hands.

In order for Sherry to become better informed about the total 4-H program, she is attending a two-day meeting in Birmingham for all 4-H Council Presidents in Alabama on March 9-10. The County Council sponsored the trip and Sherry will report on her trip at next meeting.

The State 4-H Presidents meeting is being held during National 4-H Club Week and each President will report on ways their Club celebrated National Club Week.

WHAT IS A 4-H CLUB?

A 4-H Club is an organized neighborhood group or school group of five or more boys or girls between 10 and 21 years of age. The motto of all 4-H Clubs is "To Make The Best Better"; and the goal is to help your son and your daughter become useful, efficient, loyal citizens. These Clubs are centered in the home—and there is no better place.

Honor, Achievement Gained Thru Doors Opened By 4-H

I pledge my head to clearer thinking,
My heart to greater loyalty,
My hands to larger service, and
My health to better living,
For my club, my community and my country.

I took this pledge for the first time in 1954 at the age of ten.
Since then, I have tried to live up to this pledge.

During my six years of 4-H Club work, I have had many interesting experiences. These have all aided my 4-H achievements. In sewing, canning, frozen foods, baking of dairy calves.

When in 1954—
I began my sewing and cooking projects in 1954. Although I didn't produce much that was either wearable or eatable during my first year, I did learn the basic principles of these two projects. I was pleased with my projects and so were my parents. Sewing and cooking remained my only projects until 1956 when I added dairy cattle to my projects. Each year I have attempted a new project and have continued with my original projects.

3,000 Dishes—
During the time I have taken cooking as my projects, I have prepared approximately 3,000 dishes an have cooked a total of 554 meals.
It has been my responsibility for the past two years to prepare the evening meals at my house, because

MISS GLENN

my Mother helps with the dairy cows and the chickens in the late afternoon. My projects in cooking has helped not only me, but my family. My specialties include short orders and desserts.

Makes Own Clothes—

My projects in sewing has saved my family a great deal of money.
For the past two years I have made all of my clothes with the exception of coats, sweaters and tailored suits. This year I have made 16 garments. I entered the Sr. Dress Revue in the county and won second place. In 1959, I won third place in the Jr. Dress Revue.

Food In Freezer—

I have taken food preservation as a project for two years. This project really keeps me busy in the spring and summer months. Mother and I have found that the freezer gives us a feeling of security, as well as relaxing the family budget.
During this past spring and summer, 1960, I canned 8 pints of blackberry jelly, 5 pints of peach preserves, 15 pints strawberry preserves, 8 qts. of cucumber pickles, 20 pints of beet pickles, 24 qts. of tomatoes. I froze 50 qt. bags of peaches, 12 qt. bags of squash, 26
qt. bags of english pears, 20 qt. bags of peas, 12 qt. bags of okra, 12 qt. bags of squash, 26 qt. bags of strawberries, 16 qt. bags of corn and 20 bags of corn and 20 qt. bags of lime beans.

Enters Dairy Show—

In 1956, I added a dairy calf to my other projects and entered the calf in the County Dairy Show and won a white ribbon as third place winner. In 1957, I entered two cows in the county show and the District Dairy Show. I received two red ribbons at the county show and 2 red ribbons at the district show as 2nd place winner in both shows. During 1957, I received my Junior membership enrollment card in to the American Jersey Cattle Club.

Wins Second Place—

In 1958, I again entered two dairy cows in the County Dairy Show and both cows won second place. I added two more ribbons to my awards. I only carried one cow to the District Dairy Show and was awarded another red ribbon for second place.

Takes Top Honors—

The year 1959 proved my lucky year. I entered two cows in the county show and we strutted off two blue ribbons as both cows placed first in their division. I entered both cows in the district show and both placed second in their division.

Final, Reserve Champ—

The year 1960 proved to be my luckiest year of all. I entered two cows and won two blue ribbons and one of my cows won Reserve Championship. Boy, was I thrilled over this. I had worked for four years on this project and my long hours of hard work were beginning to pay off. I have won $128.00 since 1956 with my dairy cows.

Speaking Becomes Goal—

In addition to the above-mentioned projects, I decided that I needed training and experience in speaking before an audience. When talking to my 4-H leader about my problem, we decided that the Cooperative Public Speaking Program would give me good experience and training in this field. I entered the contest in 1959 and again in 1960.
I won second place in the Sr. girls division last year and am already making plans to enter again in 1961.

Four-H Club work has been a means of helping me develop leadership ability. My first experience in leadership came in 1958-59 when I was elected President of the Thomas Jr. Girls' 4-H Club. Although I had tried to serve efficiently in my church, my 4-H Club and school activities before, the service had been as a member and had not entailed a great amount of respon-

Honor Includes Work—

Soon after becoming President,
I learned that although the position was an honor, it also involved work.
First, I had to master the rules of parliamentary procedure and become familiar with the procedure for carrying on a business meeting. In addition to preparing for my own part on the program, I also had to be sure that everyone else was prepared too.

Re-Elected - More Work—

I was re-elected President of the Thomas Jr. Girls' Club in 1959-60, and in addition I was elected to the office of presidency of the Chilton County 4-H Council.

In connection with these positions of leadership, I attended State 4-H Leadership Camp at Auburn twice and learned many new things about 4-H work.

- 23 - YEARS!

(or . . . EXPERIENCE COUNTS!)

Since coming to Clanton, some 23 years ago, the publisher of the Chilton County News, "Your Alert Community Newspaper", has had a hand in turning out some 1500 issues of the News for the people of Chilton

County. This represents a total of over three million copies of your newspaper. Still further; that is over 30,000,000 pages of print (based on an average) which he has supervised. That represents 420,000,000 column inches of print or 5,880,000,000 lines of type! That makes 'the Boss', Mr.

Ben Tucker, pretty well able to assist you in your advertising or any other needs of your community press. He has also passed this experience on to the other members of his staff and combined, your Chilton County

News staff is well-equipped to help you in the selling of your merchandise and your business.

There is no replacement or substitute for experience and we are proud of the fact that the experience is available to you at the News.

The experience we mention, is important, not in terms of years or simple figures; but is due to the fact that the News has, at all times, made great efforts in behalf of the community, has kept up with the modern advances in the fields of journalism and publishing and is ever mindful of its responsibility to the people it represents, ever at their disposal.

Experience counts alright -- providing it is the experience of progress and constant improvement which has made "Your Alert Community Newspaper" what it is today: A representative of ALL the people of Chilton County, bar none! It is a record and a reputation which has been achieved through hard work and perseverance on the part of the publisher and his staff down through the years.

WE ARE SINCERELY PROUD TO BE SUCH AN INTEGRAL AND IN-TERNAL PART OF THE COMMUN-ITIES OF CHILTON COUNTY.

We have our UPS and DOWNS and also our SIDEWAYS and though there are many improvements to be made, the News is making progress! Because we do not come out with every latest improvement or the newest technique does not mean that we are not aware of them. We must grow with the community -- not ahead of it and therefore we progress, perhaps a little slower than some, but it is progress, nevertheless and it is the kind of stable and secure progress which will best serve our people.

We are, as you can see, proud of our community, (as guardian of their rights) and as the 4-H'ers put it, who are celebrating their Anniversary this week, "To Make Our Best Better" is exactly our

DREAMING

My home must have a high tree
Above its open gate,
My home must have a garden
Where little dreamings wait,

My home must have a wide view
Of the field and meadow fair,
Of distant hill, of open sky,
With sunlight everywhere.

My home must have its mother,
With heart so sweet and wise;
My home must have its father with honor in his eyes;

My home must have its children;
God grant the parents grace
To keep our home, through all the years,
A kindly, happy place.

My home must have a friendship
With every happy thing,
My home must offer comfort
For any sorrowing;

And every heart that enters
Shall hear its music there,
'And find some simple beauty
That every life may share.

750,000th Telephone

Installed By Southern Bell In Alabama

Another big step in Alabama's communication program was made today when Southern Bell Telephone Company installed its 750,000 telephone in the state.

W. K. Waters, local manager of the company said that his office had been officially notified of the event today by Frank Newton, the utility's vice president and general manager in Alabama.

The significant installation was made in the office of Earl M. McGowin, director of the Alabama State Docks, in Mobile.

The historic telephone, presented to the state docks director by Mr. Newton, was beige in color and bore a brass plaque inscribed with a brief but important message. In part it read: "Southern Bell's 750,000 telephone in Alabama."

In commenting on Southern Bell's achievement, Mr. McGowin said, since 1879 when the telephone was first put to use in the state in this very city, the economic progress of Alabama and Mobile has closely paralleled that of the telephone company.

To reach the milestone in telephone service symbolized by Mr. McGowin's new colored phone, Southern Bell added telephones during the past year at the average rate of 107 daily. Alabama is the fifth of the nine states served by the utility to reach the 750,000 mark in telephones.

In 1928 Southern Bell reached its first 100,000 telephones. After the toll of the depression years and World War II, expansion of the telephone system resumed. In May 1946 a second 100,000 telephones were added; in 1948 there were 300,000 telephones. Three years later the 400,000 mark was reached. In 1955 the half million telephone was installed.

Mr. Newton pointed out that his company's greatest progress has been in the past 15 years. Since 1945, he said, we have added 562,472 phones in Alabama, a 300 per cent increase, and spent $309,214,000 in telephone expansion in the state.

A wife's employment outside the home seems to have little effect in the nutritive value of her family's food although it does affect food costs. On the average, families with employed homemakers spend about 56 cents more per person on weekly food supplies than families with similar incomes in which the wife is not employed.

Frozen foods consumed by U. S. civilians increased ninefold during the 30-year period from 1925 to 1954, canned food consumption increased 25 percent.

UPLAND PRICE SUPPORT SET ON '61 COTTON

Price support for the 1961 crop of upland cotton has been set at a minimum level of 33.0 cents per pound, gross weight, basis Middling 1-inch, at average location, Eddie Owen Chairman, Chilton Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

This represents a moderate increase of 62 cents per pound above the support price for the same quality of 1960-crop cotton under the Choice A program, which accounts for most of last year's production.

The Chairman explained that this year has also announced a minimum nation average support price of 31.24 cents per pound. This reflects 82 percent of the current parity price. When price differentials for the different qualities of cotton are determined later under the support programs, the average support price will be converted to a Middling 1-inch basis. If this is a higher price than the minimum announced to day for Middling 1-inch cotton, the price will be increased accordingly.

Announcing a Middling 1-inch support price in addition to a national average price will enable farmers to more accurately determine the support price for the qualities of cotton they normally produce.

Under marketing quotas, approved of 1961-crop cotton in a producers referendum last December, a producer must comply with his farm acreage allotment in order to be eligible for price support on his 1961-crop upland cotton.

USDA has also announced an initial rate of export payment of 8.5 cents per pound for cotton shipped on or after August 1, 1961, when the new cotton marketing year begins. The rate will be subject to change without prior notice.

Selden: Efforts Should Be Made To Isolate Castro, Associates

In a speech before the foreign relations Commission of the National American Legion Command Conference in Washington, D. C. last week, Rep. Armistead Selden urged that the Trading with the Enemy Act be invoked with regard to Cuba. Such action, he said, would cut off all United States imports from Cuba.

This would mean an end to our exports of tobacco, early vegetables, and molasses, which add about $75 million annually to Cuba's revenues, Selden stated.

The 6th District Congressman pointed out that it would also mean an end to Castro's final remaining source of dollar exchange.

The Foreign Relations Commission, which had heard Secretary of State Rusk speak earlier, met Thursday morning in the auditorium of the Legion's national headquarters to hear Selden's address on Latin America: Problems and Prospects.

Selden said every effort should be made to cut collectively through the Organization of American States to isolate Castro and his associates.

"Should this fail, however," he added, "The United States must be ready with alternate plans."

The congressman, who is chairman of the Inter-American Committee of the House of Representatives, cited progress that has been made within the Hemisphere in cementing relations and also discussed existing problems including the threat of communism.

He said the key to success in solving the problems lies in the determination and resourcefulness of the men, both north and south of the Rio Grande, who are empowered to use the tools at hand.

Warning that we must be successful in the solution of inter-American problems, he said we cannot afford to allow communism to spread farther in the Western Hemisphere.

TRADES TRAINING FOR CHILTON

Chilton County and pledge every possible effort to provide through the Legislature the financial wherewith to establish such a program as Mr. Ingram has outlined, even to the extent of recommending the extension of the one-cent sales tax. However, Representative Speaks further stated: "At the present time and with limited knowledge of existing school building needs, I do not see fit to make a commitment to a 10-year extension of one-cent sales tax burden on Chilton County's people. The trade school facility can be financed in other ways."

Senator Graham stated: "I see the addition of a trades school as a decided asset to the economy and chances of industrial development of the county. I am willing to exert every effort as a member of the Alabama Senate to finance such a program. I am willing to extend present one-cent sales tax or to pursue with all possible energy other plan for securing revenue needed for making trades training for Chilton County people a reality. Senator Graham also stated, I would like to see more evidence of use of the presently available school building moneys and do not feel

Red Sherrod brought an issue of Chilton County News up here of many years ago and it was very interesting. Lee Smith was Mayor at the time so you know how long it was. Grady Hefflin, Reddie Taylor, H. S. Shaw and of course Mr. Broadhead. Omar Reynolds was City Attorney and Claude Pipes was City Clerk.

Old Hyrum Littlejohn was telling us the other day that he was a strict diet now but his Doctor told him whether for him to take before meals or after meals so he was eating it before and after meals. That was he can't go down-course he will gain a lot of pounds.

"When her Dad threw you out the back door, what did you say?" I told you I resented it and that my family wouldn't allow it." Then it happened? He apologized. I asked me in and threw me out the front door.

M. D. Broadhead, a Chilton County man, transplanted variety, was in his week and tells us that the folks here he comes from, Clearwater, Florida, have more money than he would want to do with. Mr. Broadhead is in Chilton County for several days working his kin in Clanton and Coopers. He has been in Florida for over a year now and he likes it over there. They grow a lot of oranges down in that neck in the woods, but he says it's mostly orange trade that brings in the money. The situation may not be as bright, but it's one we don't have to contend with here in Chilton County, Alabama—too much money!

LOOK for the fabulous "Farmer's Day" at Firestone, that's Clanton home & Auto Supply, next week. You'll find an advertisement in this issue concerning it, but we're not going to tell you too much! Watch next week's News for the flesh or details, but start planning now to attend. It'll be a hummer, we're told!

REV. M. G. Fields is in Meridian, Mississippi for two weeks conducting a revival which is part of a simultaneous Revival in that city. He don't mind leaving Bro. Fields, but they'd better foot to make permanent!

THE Baptist County Training School Meeting was held at Liberty Baptist Church Monday, March 13, with eight T. U. Directors present; 17 pastors; and 271 people in attendance. With 21 churches represented. Running top place in the Junior Memory Drill was Judy Black of Maple Springs church. Running a close second was John Rock of Clanton First Baptist. Winner of the Intermediate Sword Drill was Alicia Jean Adams. The winners will go to Wetumpka in April for the district competition. You'll hear more of them later!

MR. Broughton Smith spoke to the Chamber of Commerce on Monday and gave them a preview of the Southern Bell plan for the change in their dial system, which is scheduled to be completed in late 1962 or early '63. According to the report, Clanton will be using the dial dialing system for long distance, such as the larger cities now using. Construction of a new maintenance plant in Clanton will begin immediately. The rest of the new facilities here will get underway in the near future.

Chicken Barbecue At Veterans Club

The Chilton County High School will have a chicken barbecue on March 24th at the Veterans Club. Delicious pit barbecue, salad, peach pickle, your choice of drinks, and delicious home cake for $1.25. This money will be used for our library.

State - County Go 'Halves' On Project To Improve Roadways

Governor Patterson and Highway Director Englerhardt have entered into a Contract with Chilton County for the construction of grading, drainage and pavement on 3.117 miles of road from a point 1 mile east of Jonison extending southwesterly to a point on a road which connects the Jonison-Mineral Springs Road and the Jonison-Clanton Road. Construction will begin in the near future.

The project will cost approximately $82,000. The grading, drainage and pavement will be done by County forces and equipment by Negotiated Contract with the State Highway Department paying $41,450.00, or half of the cost.

The paving of this project is part of the regular Farm to Market program whereby unimproved roads and bridges are being replaced and improved to higher standards to serve the local people.

The regular program provided by law and the Special Aid Program as granted by the Governor and the Highway Director will be the means for the construction of 1000 miles County roads and bridges within the State during "a year of the present administration. Chilton county will construct its proportionate share.

This is the first administration that has entered into an Agreement with every County covering the granting of special funds for road and bridge construction on the County road system.

Stewardship Week, March 20-24

American Legion To Observe 42nd Year

An Editorial

The American Legion will observe its 42nd anniversary, March 15-17.

The Legion has come a long way since that historic caucus of delegates from the first American Expeditionary Force in 1919 in Paris, France. Today, The American Legion numbers in the millions its members, all of whom are united in a grim bond forged in the unspeakable horrors of war and dedicated to the preservation of the American way of life through unhesitant service to community, state, and nation.

The influence for good on the American scene of The American Legion is immeasurable. It has been an important factor in the defense of our free institutions, in keeping love of Country at a high premium, in the great increase in home ownership, in the enlightened streamlining of child welfare concepts, in pioneering in the modern care of the disabled and the physically handicapped and in the Nation's preparedness against aggression.

Thousands of American communities are better places in which to live today because of the civic responsibilities assumed by some 17,000 American Legion posts.

On this 42nd anniversary of The American Legion, we salute Chilton County Legionnaires as the millions everywhere in their continuing endeavors dedicated to God and Country.

$50 Million Available to Farmer's Under FHA Program' Says Byrd

The farm housing loan program of the Farmers Home Administration is picking up new momentum, not only throughout the Nation, but here in Chilton County.

That's the word from Mr. Isaac C. Byrd, county supervisor in charge of the agency's lending program here. He said this renewed farm housing loan activity follows the early February announcement that an additional $50 million is now available to the Farmers Home Administration for its 4 percent loans to farm owners to build or repair farm houses and essential farm buildings. Such a loan may extend over a 33-year period.

The new loan money broke up a log-jam of applications that were being held because funds had been exhausted. Nationwide, loans are now being processed at the rate of about $5 million a month, but indications point to a probable doubling of that pace.

In this area Mr. Byrd said he looks for the main demand to continue to be for loans for new construction, although farm owners may need the credit to repair or remodel dwellings, put in modern kitchen, install pressure water supply systems, central heating, bathrooms and other conveniences. Other uses include building, repairing or modernizing barns, dairy and poultry facilities and other farm service buildings. Farm owners find much of this type of construction necessary to cope with changing agricultural conditions.

Mr. Byrd pointed out that byproducts of this loan program include employment of carpenters and other skilled and unskilled labor, and increased business for concrete tract handle building materials and equipment items.

Eligible to borrow are owners of farms that annually will produce at least $400 worth of commodities for sale or home use based on 1944 prices, but who cannot be adequately financed through other resources.

Vandals; Cheap Ones At That--

VANDALISM in its most literal sense, is the only word to describe the destruction of the telephone in the 'pay booth' adjoining the Joe Smith Service Station last week. Anyone who would completely destroy a public convenience for the dollar's worth of change he might find is an ignorant vandal, at best! We're glad the telephone authorities think it was a transient. We don't like to think it might have been a local citizen. We have only one recommendation: There's a strong possibility that the telephone company would lose less in change, if they made the box a little weaker, than they do in materials making them so strong. They literally tore the thing off the wall in little pieces.

The Test And The Task--

AS you probably already know, the month of March is Red Cross Month and if ever anything was put to the test, the effectiveness of the Red Cross has been during the past four or five weeks.

The task has been, and still is, the rehabilitating of individual families and entire communities in the wake of the recent floods. The Red Cross Volunteers, thus far, have not been found wanting.

It is reassuring to see a blueprint of calamity and chaos develop into the unity of constructive rebuilding. The Red Cross tops the list in stamina and strength when an 'insurmountable' task comes along.

If you have ever doubted the genuine need of the Red Cross of your support, after this acid test you should be convinced. No organization ever was more justified in soliciting help from the citizenry. We hope we never need the Red Cross for ourselves, but the obvious good they do, regardless of who needs them, is enough to 'sell us' on supporting the American Red Cross. You could do the same.

Government Control Is Degrading--

WE cannot be convinced that Government control is good when all around us indications to the contrary are so prevalent.

Take cotton in Alabama and Chilton County.

Cotton used to be King in these parts and now it has become something much less than King; in fact, it has become a 'nothing much' crop compared to what it once was.

If a farmer doesn't want to plant his 'allotted' acres, he can turn them over to the local ASC Committee for use by someone else. And who calls the signals? Uncle Sam, who else!

The worst part of it is, under government sponsorship, a man with 80 acres of land cannot go out and plant 80 acres of cotton. Whether he wants to or not, is of no consequence. The point is, we must have 'control', and the government does the controlling, all the way.

This 'controlling' the farmer who was once the rugged individualist, is degrading and has served to drive cotton from the scene. The farmer doesn't like to be controlled to such an 'enth' degree.

The increasing exodus of cotton growing from the south is not from the farmer's choosing, but from the government control which has literally 'red-taped' it out of perspective.

Some collaborate because they get paid for letting their land stay idle, which sounds good. But land was not meant to be idle; not with people throughout the world hungry and cold. It is evident that the individual is not the primary concern. Profit seems to be the motivation.

Government control is degrading, not matter what the control or who it controls. We excuse ourselves, one way or another, from the fact that free handouts are a pretty cheap price for a man's dignity and self-respect.

We must have cotton! Someone must grow it! If not the south, then who? There is a way to control farming without controlling the farmer. If we were a nation of ignoramuses, government control would be undisputed, even understandable. Are we so sloven and lazy that we had rather let the government control us and take the consequences and the crumbs thrown to us? It almost appears that this is true, but we still refuse to believe that the individual American is losing his backbone, his drive and determination and along with it, his freedom!

Good things happen when you help Red Cross; this year, give generously! !

Strength In Optimism--

THE time has come for enthusiastic optimism on the part of the press and the people in general with regards to the economy and the depressed condition of some phases of our nation's business. Business depression is a temporary trouble. 'People' depression can be much more complicated.

There has been enough said about the 'monster' of recession -- we have acknowledged it satisfactorily -- It's time for everyone to get on the band wagon and 'Sell America' to Americans, including themselves, all over again.

The best medicine for this national sickness is a rebirth of national spirit and a reminder to all that America is still great; greater in fact, than ever before.

Plain and simply, we all need to feel the shame of self-pity and get our chins up of the floor. Just gripe about your 'sad situation' if you must, but don't really take it to heart -- it will make you sick, friend!

Optimism -- some folks call it faith -- is our greatest tool, weapon, defense, strength, power, and individual supporter. If you find yourself needing some, get on the band wagon -- don't sell yourself or your Country, short!

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

By a margin of only seven votes the House of Representatives last Thursday passed President Kennedy's first farm-legislation -- an emergency feed grain bill. The 209 votes favoring passage were cast by four Republicans and 205 Democrats.

Purpose of the measure is to initiate a one-year program to reduce production of feed grains and thereby alleviate conditions of oversupply and low prices which are seriously affecting a major segment of the nation's agriculture and adding to our already tremendous storage cost for surplus grains.

Following House approval of the measure, members of the Senate voted 52 to 26 to pass their version of the legislation. While the House bill provides for a 20 per cent cut in acreage planted in feed grains, such as corn and barley, the Senate measure asks for cuts of 30 per cent.

In both bills, farmers who make the reductions would be eligible for increased price supports. They would also receive cash and payments in kind for part of the value of the crop they could have grown on the unused acreage.

Sale of Surpluses
As in the House, the major Senate controversy centered about a proposal which gives the Secretary of Agriculture authority to sell part of the four billion dollars of government-held grain stocks at less than support prices. This authority is included in the House bill, but was omitted from the Senate version.

A conference committee must iron out the differences in the two versions of the bill and draft a compromise measure. Every effort is expected to be made to obtain prompt final action by Congress so that the legislation will be enacted.

RAY'S OF HOPE

Virginia H. Stover

Old photographs! Gee, how an old picture can turn back the pages of time and open up the wells of memory to a pour forth scenes long, long forgotten. Faces of the past come into view and voices clear, even colors of particular event become vivid. The influence of some loved one now and becomes a sobering whisper gone on into eternity is felt anew in our ear. How blessed to be able to capture again bits of the past through a simple snapshot.

Much care used to be exercised in getting our pictures "taken," posing, etc., but now we have learned to just try to be natural. However we do it we will some day be glad that we took the time to click the camera. This is perhaps the best way to preserve a little bit of the present, at least the best tangible way for our present moment will be future to-morrow. One's memory may hold a bit of the "now" -- even that is a funny thing -- memory. Fades as events come and go. It happens it is the most eternal part. This should remind us to seek to does not leave us, or so I believe of man. Even after death memory build up good memories. They can be a great preventive of loneliness in our old age. Bad memories can haunt us forever. The good we in time for the for the 1961 crop year which begins soon.

It has been estimated by the Administration that the emergency program will save the government approximately $500 million and increase the income of feed grain producers by approximately 10 per cent.

Aid for Children

In its busiest week since the 87th passed last week the second of the Congress convened, the House also President's proposals to assist the unemployed. The new measure provides aid to dependent children under the federal-state public assistance program, strictly on the basis of need.

If states participate in the program as spelled out in the House bill, $305 million in federal funds could be used to help sustain approximately one million children of unemployed workers during the next 15 months.

Week before last the first Administration bill, which extends the time unemployment compensation payments may be drawn, was approved by the House. It is to be financed by a temporary increase of four-tenths of one per cent in the unemployment tax that employers pay on a wage base of $3000.

The children's bill, passed by a voice vote in the House, sets up the temporary aid program on a federal state matching basis. It will be up to the states to interpret and enforce the provision which prohibits assistance to a child in a case where an unemployed parent refuses to accept an offer of employment in which he is able to engage.

Neither of the unemployment bills have been approved by the Senate, although the Finance Committee is expected to vote this week on the first measure.

do will serve to bolster our memories and help to keep us happy while the bad deeds and the things we leave undone can cause us much regret and sorrow. Just as old photos remind us of the past so our deeds, good or bad rise up in our memory to bless or curse us.

About ten years elapse between the beginning of new farm research and the adoption of it by farmers in sizeable numbers.

For he is our peace, who has made us both one, and has broken down the dividing wall of hostility. --(Ephesians 2:14)
Here is a suggestion of a new dignity which comes to a man who has found himself drawn into this fellowship of Christ. It is a newness that comes from a sense of oneness with others in Christ.

Alabama Politics-- THIS WEEK ON CAPITOL HILL

Carl Goggins

"Who's Ha'pon?"

Senators Lister Hill and John Sparkman's recent announcement of Montgomery's Ben Hardeman and William Parker, Jr., as their choice for District Attorney and Marshall of the U. S. Middle District have brought this question and looks of amazement to most so-called pipe-line or well-informed politicians who haunt the halls and political hangouts of the Capitol.

Two parties, it was reliably, had been told by Gov. John Patterson as Marshall; and as previously they would receive the appointment written in this column, another party stated he was called upon by Gov. John and asked to serve as District Attorney and had consented to do so.

Speculative answers received here are: Has the State's Chief Executive pulled all stops and surrendered all patronage to assure the appointment of Charles Meriwether as Import-Export Bank Director? Or did Hill and Sparkman, using Senatorial powers, make these choices without agreement or consultation with Gov. John?

From a number of politicians' point of view, the absolute truth of this matter will probably never be known to the general public unless there is a major rift between the all-powerful Congressional Delegation and the Governor. These matters were termed as 'Power Politics.'

State Democratic Campaigns Steering Committee Chairman Jas. Bloodworth of Decatur informed this writer recently the Demo Steers might seek legislation next May which would allow the names of Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates of political parties to be placed on the ballot during Presidential elections, doing away with the present system of only voting for party electors.

Talked with Alabama League of Municipalities Director Ed Reid the other day about the League's 1961 Convention in Tuscaloosa, April 5-7. Among the top U. S. and state speakers to be on hand are U. S. Secretary of Interior Stuart Udall, W. Vir. Sen. Jennings Randolph, Kentucky Sen. John Sherman Cooper and Gov. Patterson.

From the talk of things with many legislators concerning the next legislative session and the problem thereof over revenue raising for various projects without tax increase it appears a good number of them are scratching their heads, apparently wondering just where the funds will come from.

There has been much discussion these days over just who former Gov. James Folsom will support during the next state elections. This scribe has learned from one of the Capitol top politics who the Big Man will endorse.

The report was: "There is no doubt about it. Big Jim Will-be for Big Jim."

Overheard a recent conversation in Montgomery about the much discussed and often predicted legislative fight brewing between Alabama banks and large, chain loan companies, which were allowed to come into the state under the Administration-supported Small Loan posed Intallment Credit Act.

The word was: "If this political battle does not occur, then all will know that 30 pieces of silver will probably have been passed." The bankers Act would presumably serve notice on the large loan firms that the interest on loans now being made in excess of $300 should be reduced, controlled and severe penalties placed for acts of usury.

The Sermonette

BY RAY FELKINS, Pastor

Mulberry Baptist Church

Christ, the Defender o the Weak

Christ, The Giver of Sight

In the ninth chapter of the Gospel according to John, the writer tells of one of the great miracles of Christ, the giving of sight to a man who was born blind. This new miracle caused a fresh outburst of Jewish hatred against the Lord. However, Christ was not so much concerned about man hating him, as he was about helping man, so the thought of being hated was cast aside as he continued to help those in need.

The question at the moment, upon the minds of the disciples was, Master, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he should be born blind?" The reason for this question was, that the people believed that suffering was in all cases brought on because of sin. In the moral government of God there is a necessary connection between sin and suffering. In Romans 6:23, we read, "For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Yet, the sufferings may be sent to prevent sin as well as to punish it. Though they were disciples, they erred respecting the connection between sin and suffering.

Christ's answer to the question was, "Neither hath this man sinned against his parents, nor the works of God should be made manifest in him. It had happened in order to give God an opportunity to demonstrate what he could do.

Christ begins his miracle, of sight restoration, by spitting upon the ground and making clay of the spitte, applying it to the eyes of the blind man, commanding him to go to the pool of Siloam, which is by interpretation, Sent, and wash his eyes. With faith in the one who had spoken to him, he goes and does as he was told, and therefore he comes forth seeing.

Thanks From State to CD Rescue Squad

In a letter to Mr. Burton Mullins head of Civil Defense in Chilton County, Bobby J. Blalock, State director of CD had high praise for our local Rescue Squad and Civil Defense volunteers concerning the recent flood situation in the state. Here's what he had to say about our men:

Mr. Burton S. Mullins
Director, Coordinator
Clanton-Chilton County Civil Defense Corps
Clanton, Alabama

Dear Burton:
It is now apparent that the disaster-dealing flood waters that have plagued most areas of Alabama during the past several days are receding, an dthat we should soon get back to normal, and endeavor or overcome the colossal damages wrought.

However, the most successful work performed by you and your splendid Civil Defense Rescue Services in the areas of Montgomery, Selma, Autaugaaville, etc., during the flooded period, represents a contribution to the relief of a suffering humanity for which I offer my heartiest praise and commendation. All of you performed most magnificently, and you will please communicate my sentiments to each member of your Rescue Services. Through such fine cooperation as manifested by you, and your Rescue Services personnel, the damages and disaster totals were held to a minimum in the areas of your operations, and I know the good people you helped are most grateful to everyone of you.

Commending you unreservedly for your splendid attitude and service and with warmest personal regards and every good wish I remain, Most Sincerely,

Bobby J. Blalock

WE received a letter this week from

P. C. PETERSON
918 FIRST ST. EAST
WEBSTER, S. DAKOTA
and we feel that it should be passed on to our readers. Some of them may see fit to write to Mr. Peterson. If you do, we have a 'self-addressed' envelope here at the office (only one) which you may use and you're welcome to it.

Says P. C.: "I understand that in a recent issue of your Chilton County News, you stated that you are capable of defining God in a manner acceptable to a Baptist, Methodist, Unitarian, Presbyterian Minister or Catholic Priest. I will appreciate very much to learn your definition on how to do this. Enclosed please find a self-addressed stamped envelope for this definition of yours."

Yours sincerely,
P. C. Peterson
Mr. Peterson and his Atheistic cronies must think that he can judge us down with their old-hall question and answer games. Yes, we said we felt we could define God acceptably to anyone; but only to anyone who is willing to listen. A closed mind is not likely to accept the 'facts' that even an atheist claim are undeniable. By the same token, an open mind, with intelligent observation, will weigh even 'facts' before he accepts them as truth. Whether or not an individual would accept our definition of God is neither here nor there. We feel we have a reasonable basis for our belief in God and our definition is based on this belief. No unfounded or confounded excuses to the contrary are going to change that!

We don't ask that Mr. Peterson or any minister or any priest accept our definition of God. We alone must accept it. It is basically the same as any other individual belief in the Almighty; only the interpretation varies!

We suggest that if Mr. Peterson has a sincere concern to know more about the definition of God, that he go to a church or synagogue next week and then that he consult a more qualified and more intelligent individual than ourselves. We do was, "Neither hath this man sinned against his parents, nor the works of God should be made manifest in him. It had happened in order to give God an opportunity to demonstrate what he could do.

Christ begins his miracle, of sight restoration, by spitting upon the ground and making clay of the spitte, applying it to the eyes of the blind man, commanding him to go to the pool of Siloam, which is by interpretation, Sent, and wash his eyes. With faith in the one who had spoken to him, he goes and does as he was told, and therefore he comes forth seeing.

Two kinds of blindness are evident in the world today. There are physical and spiritual and both were known to this man. But Christ who opened his eyes to physical sight also opened them and his heart to things of the spirit (verses 35-38).

For those who are physically blind there is perhaps no hope of ever seeing, but for all who are yet spiritually blind, there is very hope in the world, for you too can have your eyes and heart opened spiritually, as did this man. But Christ who opened his eyes to have faith and believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, the Giver of Sight.

not presume to have the ability to open closed minds! We only say we do believe in God, feel justified in it and sincerely believe that it would be better if he believed it also. Beyond that we cannot help him. Our faith ours alone. His destiny and belief is his business. We would like nothing more than to win it to God and Christ, for we would be benefited greatly through that experience, just as we would for having won him; but we have neither the brains nor the learning to open a long-time closed mind. Only the individual himself can that. . . with the help of the Lord that is.

THERE'S an old, and generally accepted bit of philosophy that the older one becomes, the more cynical he becomes also. They probably going to come up with kinds of 'facts' to the contrary; we have yet to hear from, from a very young atheist. It brings our mind the question: did the gentlemen who call themselves 'free-thinkers' ever have the opportunity to be exposed to any kind of Christian training or atmosphere? 'Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he old, he will not depart from it.' I firmly believe this philosophy for the pages of the Holy Bible. I have seen the 'free-thinkers' in the contrary which might be brought to our attention; there are also thousands to that one that will support the wise words, above, from the Book of Proverbs.

THE greatest test of a man's heritage which he leaves to children. When a man goes to reward with the knowledge that has taught his sons honesty, integrity, faithfulness; as well as the 'little virtues' which make a personality fit into this world, can truly 'rest in peace'. We firmly believe, although we do not know him personally, that Mr. Miller passed away with the comforting knowledge that, above all his other accomplishments, he has left behind a heritage of his greatest. It is an unequalled but when a man can be thus upon know him personally, that Mr. Miller intimately. We say it with all sincerity because we know family. When a man can control that character to another with having even known him, nothing more need be said about him. It is truly the highest ambitions and certainly the most rewarding of accomplishments. Mr. Miller, having earned his reward, enjoy it to the fullest.

It Does Make A Difference--

The youngster we call Mark home. As typical, we suppose. Of all the boys, in all the world Less than two years old.

But typical and 'just like all' Are words we do not hear. There is no other like him; On this we're very clear.

The bumps and scrapes he gets, Are typical enough. To say, 'he's just like all the rest' We can't accept that stuff!

The greatest difference we suppose In him and common 'all'; Is that he looks just like his dad, And that's phenomenal!

Chilton Red Cross To Launch Big Drive 20th

Monday, March 20, will be a date of extreme importance to the continued well being of every family in Chilton County.

Throughout the County, volunteers on that day will launch their annual week long campaign to re-enroll their neighbors as Red Cross members, and to enlist their financial help in carrying out its health welfare and safety programs.

The campaign theme is, Good Things Happen When You Help. These six words epitomize the work of the Red Cross - humanity in action the world over.

Through Red Cross every American has the opportunity to help restore the disrupted lines of disaster victims; provide blood for the ill and injured; and solve personal and family problems of servicemen, veterans and their dependents.

Our Chilton County Chapter's campaign goal is to support the chapters community services in 1961-62.

Through its achievements in the relief of suffering from disaster, accidents and illness, the Red Cross touches the lives of more Americans than does any other agency outside the Federal Government.

When a person goes through a disaster like the recent flood that we have had here in neighboring counties and other parts of our state, it takes more than courage to start all over again. It takes clothing, medical and nursing help and money. It takes organizations and supplies. It takes people prepared to go into action quickly.

It takes great willingness of heart. Red Cross is all of these things. Red Cross is your hand reaching out to help when you can't be there yourself. In time of personal tragedy or national disaster, people turn to Red Cross for swift, unfailing help. This is why now Red Cross turns to you. Keep Red Cross strong to serve.

This year please give a generous contribution because good things happen when you help Red Cross.

One of the attributes that sets us humans apart from most of our fellow inhabitants of this crowded planet is the desire to help someone in need or in trouble.

Even in the best of us, this impulse of mercy may seem to weaken under the pressure and impersonal society of ours.

But, through our voluntary contributions of time and money to such welfare agencies as the American Red Cross, we are helping people in need as truly as if our hands were touching theirs.

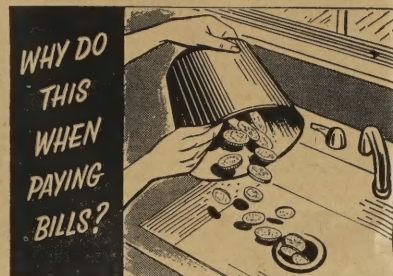

March, designated as Red Cross month by the President of the United States, again gives us opportunity to extend a help hand to others.

When you contribute to the Red Cross, your helping hand reaches down the block where a man trained in Red Cross first aid, saves the life of a traffic victim; across town where Red Cross, collected food keeps a hospital patient alive; across our state where Red Cross disaster workers are helping the victims of our recent flood conditions, and to any place overseas or here in our own country, where a U. S. serviceman makes an emergency trip home.

Red Cross field director is helping Truly, through your Red Cross you help make good things happen where ever people are in need or in trouble.

So when you are contacted during the week of March 20, please give Generously.

You save time and gasoline, paying with checks, by mail. You also avoid the risk that goes with carrying a lot of cash on your person. And you spare yourself many a loss that might result from having inaccurate records, incomplete receipts.

WE WILL WELCOME YOUR CHECKING ACCOUNT: OPEN IT SOON!

DON'T FORGET TO SHOW THANKS

It's one thing to ask God to help you out of a tight spot. It's quite another to remember to thank Him for His help.

We should never forget to express our thanks when God gives His assistance—whether it be financial, spiritual, material or physical.

Once during World War II, when fighting was raging in northern France, the minister of a small church in a coastal village noticed that a little boy kept coming in to pray at the same time each day. He came day after day for two entire weeks. He would quietly enter the church, kneel before the altar and look toward heaven. Then, after a few moments on his knees, he would rise and for a few seconds gaze at a large portrait of Jesus. He would then silently tip toe out.

The minister could withhold his curiosity, no longer. One day he interrupted the boy's prayers. "Son," he said kindly, "do you need help? May I help you?"

"Sir, I've already been helped, thank you," the boy said, turning his tear-stained face to the minister. "You see, I'm here to thank the One who helped me... that's Him there... Jesus. I don't want to forget to thank Him for answering my prayer."

"What was your prayer, Son?" asked the preacher.

"That Jesus would bring my daddy back to me safe and sound. And He did!"

The boy who took time every day to ask God to bring his daddy back did not forget to thank God when his prayer was answered.

Are we as thoughtful? Do we forget to give God thanks for the things He does for us?

Here is a lesson for each of us. We must never take God for granted. We must always thank God for His many blessings.

If we are thankful, it will be shown in thankfulness. The boy showed that he appreciated the Giver more than the gift! He expressed his thanks.

When we express our thanks to God for His goodness, we give God the praise that is rightfully His.

Don't take God for granted. Don't forget to express your thanks for God's favors.

Too Many Failing Drivers Exams Because Of Useless Mistakes

The Driver License Examiners and the Safety Responsibility Officers traveled 65,960 miles and worked 11,777 hours during the month of January.

According to information released today by Bankhead Bates, Chief of the Drivers License Division of the Department of Public Safety, the office staff as well as the field men had a busy month.

According to the records 18,694 took the drivers license examination during the month of January and 18,692 took the examination for the first time. The drivers license examination is given in two parts. First, the applicant reports to the examination room and takes an eye test, a road sign test and then takes the written examination. If the applicant makes a passing grade on all phases of the inside examination, they are ready for the road test.

Last month there were 3,778 failures in the first phase of the examination. Four hundred thirty-two failed the eye test, 831 didn't know the road signs, 2,483 failed the written examination and 32 failed for other reasons.

There were 1,925 who failed the second phase of the examination which was the road test; 835 failed to make enough points to pass, 418 failed because of traffic violations, 34 because they had an accident, and 365 failed for other reasons.

When the applicants brought their vehicles to the driver license examiners, 777 vehicles failed to meet the minimum requirements which kept the applicant from completing the examination.

When these facts were presented to Floyd H. Mann, Director Department of Public Safety he said, if all driver license applicants would read their drivers handbook carefully and have their vehicles safety checked before applying for their driver license examination it would be better for all parties concerned.

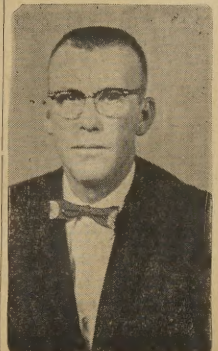

Chief Bates said, All phases of drivers license work reflected a great deal of activity during January.

The Safety Responsibility Unit processed hundreds of accident reports, conducted hearings and interviews during the month. The Driver Improvement Section records reflects that during the month of January 46 driver licenses were canceled or denied, 532 driver licenses suspended and 664 evoked for traffic violations.

The Clerical staff handled 59,330 driver license applicants, pulled the files of 13,752 drivers for information or action, posted, and filed conviction reports, accident reports and warning tickets on 10,243 driver files and handled more than 8,000 mimeographed letters and forms.

Director Mann said, The Driver Division of the Department of Public Safety has more than 1,300,000 active files. One of them has your name on it and your driving record inside it. If you will protect your record you may save your life.

This Little Piggy Went To Market

Marketing hogs as heavies lowers pork quality and can reduce overall profits.

More feed is required per pound of gain after hogs reach 200 pounds, says Ray Cavender, Auburn Extension meat marketing specialist. He adds, If heavier weights than 200 pounds are needed for adequate market finish, the hog is bred wrong.

The specialist cites one study in which 10 hogs were fed from an average weight of 206 pounds to an average weight of 306 pounds. The value of the hogs at the end was $3.76 per head less than at the beginning of the study. Added to this loss was $11.92 per head - the cost for feed to put on the extra 100 pounds of weight. Prices declined some during the nine-weeks feeding period, causing the price span between the lightweight and heavyweight hogs to be a little more than normal.

Shell test drivers add a "fifth wheel" to their cars for precise distance measurement during mileage tests. It helps them record performance to a decimal point.

BULLETIN:

Shell discloses the nine ingredients in today's Super Shell—and the remarkable things they do to give your car top performance

Super Shell gasoline, with 9 ingredients, is now at your dealer's. Today's formula contains cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate—a new, improved version of TCP. Read how this patented additive increases mileage, releases power, and helps your car give top performance.

TODAY, every Shell dealer in this area has remarkable Super Shell in his pumps.

A notice on each Super Shell pump promises you that this gasoline will give your car top performance.

Shell's scientists want you to know about the nine ingredients which make this promise possible.

#1 is TCP for power, mileage and longer plug-life

Today's Super Shell now contains an even better version of this world-famous additive. Its chemical name is cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate.

TCP additive can give your car up to 15 per cent more power; up to 17 extra miles per tank-

#2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr

This is petroleum that has actually cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action. Its heavier molecules have been shattered into livelier, lighter ones.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that makes your engine purr with power the moment you put your foot down.

NOTE: "Cat-cracking" refers to the use of a catalyst—a chemical substance that can alter molecules without changing itself.

#3 is Alkylate, noted for knock control in hot engines

Jimmy Doolittle helped pioneer this high-octane ingredient for Shell aviation fuel.

Alkylate—which took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the skies—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds far better than anything else yet available.

NOTE: The engine in your car may frequently turn even faster than the engines of a DC-7 at cruising speed. Think of this next time you are passing on the highway.

#4 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks

You might think that two high-octane ingredients are enough for knock-free performance. But Shell's scientists have ears like musicians.

So they insist on adding a special anti-knock mix. A mix, so effective, one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by five points.

This mix has the tricky job of regulating combustion so that Super Shell gives each piston a firm, even push—rather than a sharp blow which would cause a knock.

#5 is Butane for quick starts on cold mornings

Butane is so eager to get going that Shell keeps it under pressure 400 feet below ground to stop it from vaporizing by itself. Think what this volatility means in cold weather.

Your engine fires in seconds. There is no strain on your battery. And none on your patience.

NOTE: Super Shell is primed with Butane all year round. In winter, Shell scientists simply increase the quick-start dose.

#6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups on cold days

Pentanes are made by tearing gasoline apart, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. A special process transforms their molecules from slow-burning "logs" into the quicker-firing "kindling."

NET RESULT: Fast warm-up and top performance in a hurry.

#7 is an "anti-icer" to check cold-weather stalling

Super Shell's formula is adjusted up to eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to be less than forty-five degrees, a carburetor anti-icer is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? Because, even then, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can stall your engine.

#8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This can clog carburetors and foul automatic chokes. But, with Super Shell, you needn't worry. A gum preventive does the trick.

It acts like a policeman controlling a mob. Regulates unstable elements to help keep them from clotting. No gum problems.

#9 is Platformate for extra energy, more mileage

It takes eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to produce Platformate. But fortunately this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum re-forming process, which gives Platformate its old name, converts petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than 100-octane gasoline. Energy that shows up as mileage.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs. That difference is top performance.

THE so-called equality of the Negro which is being championed by his so-called friends is fast becoming hard to keep down (they've already swallowed it) even by those judges and others who thought at first that it sounded like good political grist. The worm has turned and most nearly everyone is getting fed up with the charges, counter-charges, suspicions, demands and threats!

Now the NAACP, champion of the impressed, has taken the Civil War Centennial to task as a discredit to the real reason the war was fought! If anyone, including Roy Wilkins and his NAACP, really believes that the War Between The States was fought merely to free the Negro from bondage, it just shows how wrong they can be. True, slavery was a factor; but only one of many powderkegs that set off the bloody war. Many believed in even greater stakes than freedom for the Negro.

The mistake that was made in freeing the Negro was not in the freeing itself, but in the way it was carried out. It can best be shown by this comparison:

When the children of Israel were finally freed from their Egyptian bondage, they did not settle at once in the lap of their captors. They moved on! They also had leadership, in the person of Moses and others who followed him. It has been proved by now, by such noble leaders as the NAACP, that the Negro has had no real leadership. They want freedom, but do not possess the necessary ingredients of leadership and wisdom to obtain, and keep it on a very sound and stable basis.

We do not believe in slavery and do not want it for the Negro. Neither do we want to be enslaved by the radical and fanatical element that calls itself the leadership of the Negro. Equal rights is one thing, and we will fight for those rights of any man. A switch of leadership to the likes of the NAACP is not our idea of freedom or equality and we will fight that, too.

Communism would enslave us, and they declare it. NAACP and such fanatics would enslave us, and they hide behind it. What's even worse, they claim to have the support of Negroes throughout the United States and that is not so. The decent Negro American citizen does not believe as the NAACP does, or would have him to.

Patience and understanding are rubbed pretty raw on this matter, but it is not too late for the situation to be taken from the hands of the politicians, who are pulling strings in every direction at once; and turned again over to the people, who not only have the ability, but also the desire to see harmonious understanding throughout the world.

The day of the unscrupulous politician, the radical, the hidden communist and the not-so-hidden one, is over. A rebirth of understanding is at hand and leadership must come from the ranks of those, whose primary concern is for others, and not himself. We have some tall men in our ranks! We challenge them to step forward now! Their country has never had a greater need for them; than now!

Lower Taxes, Higher Federal Income--

How would you like to pay lower taxes--and create more Federal revenue? Sounds like double talk. But it isn't. Right this minute there are two bills, sponsored by Congressmen Herlong of Florida and Baker of Tennessee, that will do just that.

Now hear us out:

The present income tax rates amount sickeningly from 20 to 91% for individuals. And 52% of corporate profits are appropriated. Net result: savings are drained away.

But if we—as individuals and businesses—could retain more of our earnings as the results of tax rate reform, then a far greater accumulation of capital would flow out.

The revenue cost of the Herlong-Baker legislation would be fully met by a relatively small gain over the rate of economic growth of recent years, since each percentage point gain in the growth rate brings in at least $1 billion in added Federal revenue.

At the same time we'd all enjoy lower taxes.

Suggestion: Write your representative to back the Herlong-Baker bills the same night you make out your income tax.

March is Red Cross month. Help make good things happen by giving generously! !

DAYS OF HOPE

(Virginia H. Stover)

The greatest treasure one can possess is time. All things of material or social value if lost may be restored but time once it has passed is gone forever. How often we hear people say, "If only I could live life over or even a portion of it, but once a golden moment ticks away it is eternally gone."

God has shown no partiality toward his people. Everyone has the same amount of time. Sixty seconds in a minute for each of us, the rich, the poor, the lost, the Christian. All alike we share this precious treasure. It is enough. The way we use it makes the great difference. To use the phrase, I'm just doing this to kill time is worse than the vilest profanity. Who among us, especially Christians has a right to waste the time God has given us? There is a purpose for each of us being placed on this earth and for us to dwell through life wasting our lives away by trifles is to our shame.

We budget our money but fail to budget our time. We tithe our resources and so often do not begin to give God a tenth of our time. It is far more value to us, God and people to budget our time than our money, though the latter is certainly necessary. What would it mean if each Christian would budget his or her time? It would mean more souls won for Christ instead of so many slipping into the bottomless pits of hell, while Christian people are saying, "I just don't have time."

Let us think for a moment, Christians. Can we conscientiously say, on our knees before God, "I haven't time, get someone else to do the work?" God knows how much time we have, he gives it to us. How foolish then to try to convince ourselves that this is a real excuse.

Let us diligently seek ways of performing our given tasks in a way to leave more free moments and

Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me. (Psalm 51:10)

In every heart there hides some dark spot of evil--some secret vanity, bitterness or unworthy desire which we would be ashamed to admit to others. When we search it out and turn to God in true repentance, He is ever willing to help us root out the evil and replace it with the spirit of love and goodness.

The average Alabama farm expanded from 98.8 acres in 1954 to 143 acres in 1959--an increase in size of 45 per cent.

The Sermonette

BY RAY FELKINS, Pastor

Mulberry Baptist Church

Christ, the Good Shepherd

Turning to the tenth chapter of the Gospel according to John, we find that the writer introduces Christ as the Good Shepherd. He refers to the words of Christ, himself, when he said, "I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep." This is certainly a fitting comparison that the Lord makes between himself and the shepherds of his day.

Christ is the Good Shepherd in a three-fold sense. In the first place, we think of the shepherd's duties, among them were those that had to do with leading, guarding and guiding of the sheep. Christ is the Good Shepherd in that he leads and guards and guides in a divine way, all that will hear his voice and follow him. The Psalmist surely had a glimpse of this great truth many years before Christ made his claim, for he declared, "The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul; he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake."

In another sense, Christ is the Good Shepherd, and even more so for he is the door to the fold. The sheepfold, as you know, was the place where the sheep were placed during the night to protect them from their enemies. It was, if you please, their salvation. Christ is the door of our salvation. It is through him that we have access to the Father. It is through him that we find entrance into heaven. There is no other way, Jesus said, "I am the door; by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved."

In the third place, Christ is the Good Shepherd, because, unlike the hireling, he would not run at the approach of danger. We are told that at any time a shepherd might be called upon to lay down his life for the sheep. This would come about as he endeavored to protect his sheep from their would-be destroyers. With the Cross in mind, and the hour when he himself would be crucified upon it, giving willingly, his life for the sin of the world, laying down his life, that we might have life and have it more abundantly, Christ could rightly say, "I am the good shepherd, the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep."

God grant that all, this day and every day, will hear the voice and follow Christ, the Good Shepherd.

Report from WashingtonBY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

My wife and I were present at the White House reception last week when the President first revealed his plans for a 10-point economic and social development for Latin America.

As chairman of the House Subcommittee in Inter-American Affairs, I was invited to attend the reception with a group of diplomats and several congressmen who are closely associated with the Latin American area.

We were received by President and Mrs. Kennedy at 5 p.m., and spent the next hour talking with guests in the Red, Blue and Green Rooms of the White House.

At 6 p.m. we gathered in the East Room where we were seated in semicircular groups on either side of the President as he summarized his Latin American program in a 20 minute talk. This unusual ceremony, in which the President commenced a reception in honor of Latin American diplomats with a major policy speech, is probably unprecedented in White House annals.

Tribute to Letina

The special recognition given representatives of the Latin American republics by President Kennedy on this occasion was twofold. First, they were honored by being invited to the first major event at the White House scheduled by President and Mrs. Kennedy. Second, they were present when the President's program concerning their area was announced.

In the past, one of the reasons for our often ineffective policy toward Latin America has been the tendency to subordinate that area and its problems to other parts of the world. President Kennedy has obviously recognized that mistake and is attempting to emphasize this nation's high regard for our neighbor to the South.

Based on Self-Help

The program for Latin America announced by the President is wisely based on the condition that the Latin American republics must first agree to help themselves by undertaking necessary social and economic reforms before United States assistance will be made available to them.

"If this effort is made," the President said, "then outside assistance will give a vital impetus to progress--without it, no amount of help will advance the welfare of the people."

Unisex Farm Plan

In another message to Congress last week, President Kennedy proposed that farm production and marketing programs be developed by farmers themselves. He outlined an unusual plan whereby each farm commodity group could write its own program through elected legislative committees that would work with the Secretary of Agriculture. After devising a program for a specific commodity, such as wheat, then all wheat farmers would vote on whether to accept it. Congress could veto any plan, as could the Secretary of Agriculture.

It is expected that the Administration's proposal will meet opposition in Congress. Some congressmen believe that the executive already has too much power over farm policies and will be hesitant to give more authority to the Secretary of Agriculture. There is also the question of how much a flexible program of this type could eventually cost the government. In addition, several farm organizations already have announced their opposition to the plan. Yet, most members of Congress will give the President's proposal serious consideration as they recognize that the best interests of our nation will be served if a program can be devised that will allow the farmers of America to earn a reasonable income.

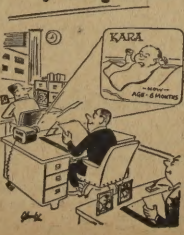

On March 22, 1961, United States Supreme Court Justice John Archibald Campbell, of Alabama, acting as intermediary in the interest of peace, for the third time interviewed William H. Seward, United States Secretary of State. Campbell then confirmed his earlier reports to John Forsyth, of Mobile, and the other two Confederate commissioners in Washington that Fort Sumter would undoubtedly be evacuated soon.

This same week, March 21, 1961, in Montgomery, the Confederate Secretary of War, LeRoy Pope Walker of Huntsville, informed Confederate General P. G. T. Beauregard at Charleston, South Carolina, of indications that Fort Sumter would be evacuated. Walker did not know that this very day, a Federal emissary, Captain G. V. Fox, had hinted to Major Robert Anderson, Federal commander at Fort Sumter, that the fort might be provisioned by a Federal expedition.

Also on March 21, 1961, in Savannah, Georgia, the vice-president of the Confederate States, Alexander H. Stephens, made his famous "Corner-stone" speech, not directly related to the Fort Sumter issue, but important for the adverse effect it may have had on the cause of the South. The "corner-stone" of the new Confederate government, Stephens reportedly said, nestled upon the great truth that the negro is not equal to the white man; that slavery--subordination to the superior race--is his natural and normal condition.

WATCHING the boys around home get in trouble with their mother brings back fond remembrances. There's nothing that thrills a young fellow more than doing something he knows full well is wrong or prohibited. Reminds us of the time a friend of ours and ourselves took on Mr. Thomases hen house as a wrecking job. Actually what it was, was that we just liked to throw rocks. I his hen house, unfortunately, had window panes all over it. Me and ole Tommy Kemp got ours for that, boy. He's a preacher now. Guess he learned his lesson. Remember the time we got that old white rooster, that thought he was so smart, by the tail. You know how they can kick and squawk. We hung on and he kept thrashing around and finally his tail came off, at least that's what we and he thought. Turned out to be just his feathers on that end, but he wasn't so smart for a while after that. We disgraced him in front of all his wives. Newer will forget the time we were shooting chamberbairs at the hens with a sling shot, just to see how close we could come. We connected one up side one old birds head and you talk about a chicken with her head cut off! We thought we had ruined her for life, but she pretty soon snapped out of it and we satisfied ourselves with shooting at the tin roof on the barn.

Dirt roads, bare feet and plenty of rocks and room. It sure is fine to be a boy! 'Specially in the summertime!

WE kept seeing J.B.A. on the 'County law report this week and couldn't figure out what it was. No legal term we ever saw abbreviated. Come to find out it stood for Judge J. B. Atkinson. We thought it meant Just Been Arrested!

IT would take an uncommon amount of will power and self control, but we have come up with the answer to the cure of the communicable, everyday, plain old cold! Everybody stop communicating! Ironic ain't it, but it would work. Course we're not plannin' on how to spend the money from this idea, yet! Fact is, we don't have too much faith in its popularity. But, it would work. . . A-a-a-chooo!

DID you know that the average age of the farmer in Chilton County as of 1959 anyway, is a little over 51 years? And there are 316 farmers in the County, operating farms, who are over 65 years of age!

AND in 1954 there were 10,756 acres of cotton harvested in Chilton County. In 1959 a harvesting of 6,298 acres was reported. Cut nearly in half. A little better, wise thought. In '54 there were 6,747 bales on the above mentioned acres; in 1959 there were 4,391 bales harvested, but on a greater decreased (percentage wise) number of acres!

ORVILLE Woods has moved to his new location on 6th Street now and is ready, willing and able to serve you. He was really under the weather a few days ago with his old tractor acting up on him, but wife Carrie Mae took over and everything is rocking along on an all again. He's back up and at the stand again! We think what happened was that there were so many tickers ticking away down there that his got confused and jumped time. We're glad it's back SPRUCING UP FOR SPRING takes in a lot of territory. Cleaning, painting, repair work around the house—just about all of us get the urge to perk up the place this time of year. I've noticed that usually the lady of the house will also want to redecorate—new color schemes, curtains, slipcovers, etc. If you ladies are making such changes in your home, I'd like to remind you that now would be the perfect time to install handy extensions—and what could be prettier than a Princess? You can match or harmonize with your new color scheme because Princess extensions come in many beautiful colors. Why not stop by our business office and pick a Princess phone in the color of your choice?

CHUCKLE, ANYONE? Thought you'd get a kick out of this little story I ran across the other day. A little boy called the operator every five minutes and asked the same question, "Please, Operator, what time is it?" Something about the boy's voice told the operator this was no childish prank. Finally she asked him to call his mother to the phone. "She can't come," he said. "My little sister swallowed a button this morning and my mother had to take her to the hospital. And she told me not to dare leave the house till twenty after eight. I looked and looked and honest, Operator, I don't see any twenty on that clock. And I'm afraid I'll miss my school bus." Happy ending is that the operator called the little boy at 8:20 and he met his bus.

Revival Begins At First Baptist Sunday March 26th

Al and IVY Walsh

Al and Ivy Walsh, a most personable and devoted husband-wife team, are endowed with the talent and grace to enable them to lead in a marvelous way the musical aspects of the Revival Meeting at the First Baptist Church, Clanton, Alabama, beginning next Sunday, Easter Sunday, April 2.

Prior to devoting their full time and talent to Christian service they were much in demand as entertainers and concert artists on radio or in personal appearances. They look back today on many happy occasions and friendships with many of the artists who are well known today. After Al returned from service in the armed forces in the Pacific they worked together, entertaining in the great Veterans Hospital across the nation, and it was during this time that they began to feel led toward a more consecrated use of their talents.

Therefore, they decided to move completely into religious work and since the time if their decision in 1953 their ability has become recognized in religious circles throughout the South to such a marked degree that the demand for their services in evangelistic crusades is year-round.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Walsh are natives of Canada, but proudly emphasize the fact that they are Naturalized Citizens, currently residing in Atlanta, Georgia, attending and participating in the activities of their church during the brief periods each year when they can be at home.

During the services at the First Baptist Church Clanton Mr. Walsh will lead the congregational singing and direct the Revival Choir. Mrs. Walsh, a dramatic soprano, will serve as soloist, will sing duets with Mr. Walsh (always a special feature of such meetings as this), and serve as pianist in accompaniment of the

for this job.

That Ole Bass Won't Wander Far From Home Says Expert

Here's a god fishing tip which the veteran angler knows, but which has now been proved by research. If you lose a whopper bass, try for him again later in the same area, says Earl Kennamer, Auburn Extension Service fish and wildlife specialist.

In a recent study, biologists captured and marked green sunfish and bass in one corner of a pond. The fish were then released in other areas of the pond, and 9 of 10 green sunfish and 7 of 10 bass swam back to the very spot where they had been captured.

In another study, the same general procedure was followed using smallmouth black bass captured from stream pools. Kennamer says. Sixty per cent of the tagged bass returned to the spot of capture. More probably would have returned home if low water levels had not created shallows through which they could not swim, the specialist adds.

Wreck

We are sorry to report Mr. Walter Roper was in a wreck Sunday at Woodies Truck Stop. He went to turn off highway and a car hit him. He was not critically hurt but tore up his car.

last year 255 died in one-vehicle mishaps; 165 drivers and 90 passengers according to information released by Floyd H. Mann, Director Department of Public Safety.

He said, These facts point out the importance of every driver accepting full responsibility for the safe operation of his vehicle every minutes he is behind the wheel.

Mr. Mann pointed out, "That in one-vehicle crashes, the driver must be blamed - because it is the fault when the vehicle goes out of control and crashes."

He said, "Every driver must realize that a vehicle is not a toy, but a powerful machine capable of delivering safe transportation if properly driven, or a death weapon if improperly handled."

The Director concluded by saying "Most of the one-vehicle mishaps can easily be avoided - By all drivers knowing and obeying the rules of the road - And by keeping the vehicle under control."

Farmer Gets Small Share Of Consumer Dollar

Farmers received 39 cents of each dollar consumers spent for food in 1960—one cent more than in 1959.

The farmer's portion of the food dollar is small because of marketing changes resulting from the homemaker's demand for easy to prepare products, says Dr. Melvin Smith, Auburn Extension Service fruit and vegetable marketing specialist.

One example, Dr. Smith continues is the fact that per capital consumption of fresh vegetables is decreasing while people are eating and more processed vegetables.

Farmers can expect little change as long as the trend for more processed food continues. But the price of processed food will continue to increase, Dr. Smith adds. As long as the homemaker will pay for maid service with food, someone will continue to provide it for her.

Special Forces Of Army Receive Special Consideration, Pres.

The Special Forces of the U. S. Army recently received special consideration by the President in his announcement of an increase in the number of personnel to be assigned to that highly trained organization.

Born in Korea, the concept of the airborne Special Forces is designed, primarily to organize and direct guerrilla bands behind enemy lines.

The troopers of this dauntless organization are the daring young men who would hit the silk behind the enemy's front. The would then join native guerrilla outfits and help fight tyranny from within.

After becoming qualified paratroopers, trainees take six month course in subjects such as communications, tactics, medical aid, weapons and special airborne training at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Then the troopers test their new skills in the field. They get preliminary training at the Pisgah National Forest, and amphibious survival training at Camp LeJune, both in N. C., with qualified swimmers and demolitionist getting rugged training in the coastal swamps nearby. Every team of troopers lives off the land for a week during this training phase.

After this, troopers tackle problems at Camp Mackall, N. C., and go on to advanced mountain training at Ft. Carson, Colo.

The complete rugged training cycle instills in the Special Forces the fierce, surging pride that comes with knowing they are among the best, if not the best, soldiers in the world.

Local young men interested in joining this elite group of select soldiers can contact Sgt. Hoyt G. Greene, U. S. Army Recruiter located at P. O. Building, 10:00 a.m. Monday each week, Clanton, Ala.

What Is The Army War College?

U. S. Army Reserve officers who are not on active duty are now eligible to attend the Army War College or the Regular Command and General Staff Officer courses, according to a recent Army announcement. The annual application deadline is September 15.

The Command and General Staff Officer Course, offered for 38 weeks at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, prepares officers for duty at division, corps and field Army commands. The applicant must have a minimum of eight years commissioned service and be under 41 years of age. He must also have credit for a branch career school course or equivalent.

The Army War College, at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., prepares commissioned officers for assumption of the highest command and general staff positions. Army officers are called upon to fill. The emphasis of the 42-week course is on the proper organization and use of land power to carry out the Army's missions as a part of the Department of Defense.

A Reserve officer applying for the War College should be a lieutenant colonel or above and be available for active duty following completion of the course for a minimum of four years. Also required is credit for the Command and Associate Command and General Staff Officers courses.

The Army War College program includes classes in international relations, strategy and policy formulation, operations and intelligence, manpower and logistics, joint and Army War planning a national strategy.

A top secret security clearance is mandatory for both courses. Final selection of candidates will be made by the Department of the Army. Applicants will be notified of selection approximately six months before classes begin.

Reserve officers interested in applying for consideration should contact their nearest Army Reserve Center for further information.

Specialist Lists Dates For Spring Lambs Sale

Flock owners who plan to market sheep during spring sales should make sure their lambs reach market carrying the highest finish possible, says Bob Farquhar.

The Auburn Extension cattle and sheep specialist recommends that shepherds creep-feed lambs and supplement the grazing of ewes if it is insufficient. For creep-feeding, Farquhar suggest shelled cracked corn and protein supplement mixed at the rate of eight parts corn and two parts supplement. Sweet feed or molasses may be added to encourage lambs to start eating quickly, he says.

Lamb sales will be in Demopolis on April 19, May 10, and June 14; in Huntsville on May 8 and June 12; and in Montgomery on May 11 and June 15.

Peanut oil is ideal for frying. Because of its high smoke point, 450 degrees, it does not scorch easily. It does not absorb flavors and can be used repeatedly.

Future Farmers Growing Calves For Show In 36 Alabama Counties

Future Farmers of America in 36 Alabama counties are grooming fat calves for showing in chapter, county and district fat calf shows during the latter part of March and April.

H. N. Lewis, livestock specialist with vocational agriculture, says that more FFA members are grooming calves for showing this time than in recent years. He estimates 405 FFA calves will be entered in county fat stock shows.

Fat calf shows are held annually during March and April for FFA, FFA and 4-H Club members in the state. This year 16 Future Homemakers of America and 900 4-H Club calves in the state will be shown. Joint shows will be held in counties where more than one organization has members exhibiting calves. FFA, FFA and 4-H calves will be shown jointly at the four district shows.

The number of calves in district shows will be cut slightly by grading requirements. However, Lewis estimates that a high percentage of FFA calves will be shown in the district shows at Montgomery, Birmingham, Dothan and Gadsden.

Montgomery hold the first district show April 5-6. Indications are that 354 4-H, FFA and FFA calves will be shown during the two days. Gadsden expects 106 calves for its show April 13-14. More than 300 calves are participated at the Birmingham Fat Calf show April 26-28. Last of the district shows will be held May 1-2 at Dothan. Approximately 150 calves are expected.

At the district shows public auctions will be held following the show giving FFA, FFA and 4-H Club members a chance to sell their calves to buyers from all over the South.

County sales are held in 14 counties. They are Barbour, Dale, Butler, Covington, Conecuh, Dallas, Escambia, Marengo, Choctaw, Sumter, Madison, Lauderdale and Henry.

Cake Decorating Skill Offered To HD Club Members By Talented Mrs. Reeves

Homemakers, have you ever tried to decorate a cake? If you have not you have a treat in store and an opportunity to see how easy it is to decorate a cake, and also to practice the basic principles of decorating with the aid of an experienced person.

Mrs. B. E. Reeves, President of the Friendship Home Demonstration Club, has volunteered her time and is giving a series of demonstrations in different areas of the county for club members, as well as other home makers who are interested in decorating cakes.

Meetings are being scheduled in all sections of the county in order to give more homemakers an opportunity to see the demonstration and practice decorating. Home Demonstration Clubs are sponsoring these meetings, so all members are urged to attend the one in their community but all her ladies are also invited to attend. At each meeting there will be a small admission to cover expenses of the demonstration with all over expenses going into the local Home Demonstration Club treasury.

Cake decorating demonstrations have been held in the Fairview, Macedonia and Thomas Jr. communities. Other meetings scheduled are: Thursday, March 23d at 1:30 p.m., Maplesville High School Home Economic Department for ladies in Maplesville, Stanton and Shouts; Tuesday, March 28th at 3:00 p.m., Clanton Masonic Hall for Friendship Club members and ladies in Clanton; Thursday, March 30th at 1:55 p.m., Enterprise School for ladies in Enterprise, Bethsalem and Mt. Pisgah communities; Friday, March 31st at 3:30 p.m., Chilton County High School Home Economic Department for ladies of Progressive Woman's and Baker Home Demonstration Clubs and other ladies of Clanton; Wednesday, April 5th at 1:30 p.m., Cane Creek Club House for ladies in Cane Creek and Mineral Springs communities; and Wednesday, April 12th at 8:45 a.m., Thorby High School lunch room for ladies in Thorby and Cedar Grove. Several more locations are being planned and will be announced. Homemakers don't miss this opportunity for learning how to decorate cakes! Keep in mind the date and place most convenient for you to attend.

Pictured above is Mrs. B. E. Reeves with some of the cakes she has decorated for the cake decorating demonstrations she is giving to homemakers in the county. Mrs. Reeves lives in Clanton at 210 Chandler Street, and is President of the Friendship Home Demonstration Club. Members of the friendship and other Home Demonstration Clubs in the county became interested in learning how to decorate cakes after seeing the Friendship exhibit at the County fair last year. Mrs. Reeves volunteered her time to give a series of demon-

Rev. G. G. Williams At Samaria

Again, the interest and attendance were good at Samaria Sunday, in both the Sunday School and Training Union. That is as it should be, for, think of the Scripture: I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord.

Church loyalty on the part of members is good in itself, but to be loyal to your church because Christ is the Head of Church, is the right view and attitude to take. God does not fail His people in blessing them, but He does require of His people consecration and dedication in service.

Rev. G. G. Williams brought the messages at both services Sunday and will bring them again next Sunday. As you know, he is supplying for Rev. M. G. Fields while he is in a two-weeks revival. Let's be faithful in all the ways we can serve our Wonderful Lord and Saviour. You have a warm welcome to come and worship with us at Samaria. If you do not attend church services elsewhere or any where come and worship with us. Prayer service and study in 1 Cor. Wednesday 6:30 p.m.

Rejoice, and be exceeding glad. (Matt. 5:12).

Be glad today, Be glad for friends who brighten your way. Be glad for the comforts of life which make for richer and easier living. And be glad for the life of God, which sings its healing way through your body.

strations in different sections of the county so that homemakers might see how it was done. After the demonstration a practice session is held for those who would like to try their hand at decorating. Mrs. Reeves will assist ladies with learning basic principles of decorating.

Ladies in Clanton will have an opportunity to see this demonstration on Tuesday, March 28th, at 3:00 p.m. at the Clanton Masonic Hall. All ladies interested are invited to attend. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Friendship Home Demonstration Club or at the door. Admission is 50 cents.

Is There Spring In Your Tires?

Does spring in the air turn your thoughts to the annual vacation trip or a nice week end drive through the country side? Better make sure there's spring in your tires, too.

That's the advice of Bill Bell, manager of the Goodyear service store at 223 7th St.

A long hard winter of hitting curbs along slippery streets, said Bell, can leave a tire unfit for the hotter and faster driving of spring and summer. He said each tire should be checked for cuts, bruises or other damage that could cause failure at high speeds.

For a sedan with a normal rear tire inflation of 24 pounds, inflate to 28 pounds if the load is heavy; to 30 pounds if the load is heavy and the speed is to be fast.

He said inflation checks should be made while tires are cool, not hot.

Besides tires, said Bell, the wise motorist will have his brakes, wheel alignment and exhaust system checked before that first big trip of spring or summer.

Farmer Saves Money By Keeping Good Records

Good records can mean dollars in the farmer's pocket in the way of income tax savings, management of farm business, and social security benefits.

Foy Helms, Auburn Extension Service economist, points out a few ways that they can help. First, says Helms, a farmer may receive cash or property from several sources. And some of the receipts may be deductible from gross income. But unless records identifying the receipt are on hand, it may be difficult to prove that the money came from a nontaxable source.

And, he continues, unless expenses are recorded at the time they are incurred or paid, some may be overlooked. Helms reminds, one overlooked item of $25 could cost $5 or more in extra tax dollars.

The economist says that most farmers keep records only on the cost of major item of production. But scores of small losses, frequently forgotten, could run into several hundred dollars in a year's time. These items include such things as veterinary expense, insurance on farm buildings, liability, small labor jobs, garden seed, dusts, sprays, stock salt, dues to farm organizations, and others.

Now is the time to get these records set-up, says Helms. The system can be simple or complicated, but it should show clearly all receipts and expenditures for the year. All bills, receipts, and canceled checks should be kept too, he says.

Floral Season Only A Few Days Away At Cason Gardens

The peak floral season is only a few days away at Ida Cason Callaway Gardens here. Many pre-spring varieties are already in flower.

Callaway Gardens, which is operated by a non-profit foundation, is a preserve for the native plants and shrubs of the Appalachian region. Open year round, the 2500-acre Gardens is especially popular in the spring. Over 15,000 plants were set out since last spring.

Native Azaleas are beginning to show color and some of the early varieties of Native Piedmont, Ornamental, and the Yellow Florida Azaleas will be in brilliant color by March 26, which is about three weeks earlier than the normal season. The native varieties should be at their peak around Palm Sunday.

The early varieties are more than 50 kinds of Crapapples are blooming and the majority of the others will be in flower by March 19 with a host of Dogwoods throughout the area.

In the pre-spring display, the wildflower trails are bedecked with colorful Bloodroot, Trout Lily, and Violets. About five acres of Daffodils are in full blossom in the Meadowlark Wildflower area.

Tulips, which were imported from Holland are the topic of conversation at the Display Greenhouse. More than 5,000 Tulips bulbs that are yielding flowers in a half-dozen varieties of color were brought here for experimental growth in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture.

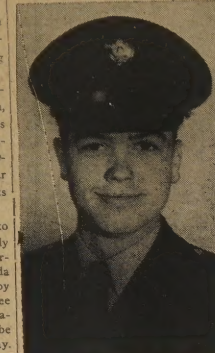

The Gardens are open daily from 9 a.m. to sunset and the admission rates of 75 cents for adults and 35 cent for children are used for maintenance and improvements. The Gardens is located in westcentral Georgia on U. S. Highway 27 and 30 miles north of Columbus.

SEE where a fellow predicts that the use of sex will not diminish as a factor in advertising. . . heck, we could have told him that without any research a'tall!

NOTHING takes the place of the printed word. . . and nothing can compare with the printed word in your community newspaper. A chain of 36 stores says they couldn't do business without the 84 newspapers in which they advertise regularly! Everybody, sooner or later, sees the hometown paper -- and it's available when they want to see it! It's not only a "good seller", it's a mighty good buy, as well!

DID you know the pig has been around for 9,000 years, serving mankind! He's getting to be a "boar" too!

THERE'S something powerfully wrong with the education of those high school students who, during a survey to establish who contributes more to improve living standards, (in their opinion) chose government and union-leaders over business or free enterprise. They're sick, sick, sick!

We Have A Duty Too, Officer--

WE wonder if the law enforcement officers ever considered a newspaper to be a possible help to them in their work, rather than a hindrance which they have to put up with and constantly explain situations to!

The following is not said to indicate the slightest bit of ill-feeling or friction between the Sheriff's office and this newspaper, but it is our opinion; we are compelled to state it and we hope it is understood by the reader and the Sheriff's office as well!

The News has been asked to list the County Law Report in figures-only. By that we mean that a request was made for us to use the number of people arrested for DWI, or VPL, etc., but to list no names.

We respect the request that was made of us, because it was made by persons who have the good of the community in mind, and nothing more!

However, we feel this way about it:

It cannot possibly be held against the Sheriff's office if a name appears on the list, because the Record of Arrests is public knowledge! If an individual breaks the law, and is arrested for it, they should not be protected or shielded from the consequences of that law!

In teaching a child, you first teach him obedience, which sometimes requires punishment. Delinquent adults, refusing to accept their responsibilities, should not be immune to the punishment of public disapproval of their actions any more than one parent should shield a child from the punishment by another parent.

One of the best punishments we can think of for one who knowingly breaks the law is the embarrassment of public knowledge of his misdoing! It also seems that this would be most helpful to the law enforcement officers in curbing this type of violation of the law.

We feel strongly that anyone, be it brother, cousin or father, caught in a violation of the law, should face the embarrassment of his act, if for no other reason, than to help him in the future. It should definitely curb his inclinations toward breaking the law. We agree, that with juveniles, it is different, if it is a criminal offense. In that case, public knowledge tends to serve more harm to the individual than good to the public. If the offender involved is an adult or a civil violation, then public knowledge should be part and parcel of his, or her punishment.

The embarrassment suffered and the public disapproval of a violation is as much a part of curbing the lawbreaker in our society as is his initial arrest.

Fines and court costs do little to curb these violations of the law. Public knowledge, on the other hand, will serve greatly in stopping it. No one wants to be embarrassed! And no one will be, voluntarily!

It is as much the duty of this newspaper, to publish such facts, as it is the lawman's duty to apprehend those who break the law. His duty is protecting the public; ours is informing the public, which protects their rights as free citizens of a Democracy!

Kimbrough To Washington--

REPRESENTING the Ala.-W. Florida Methodist Conference in Washington April 11-13 will be Clanton's own Lloyd H. Kimbrough. Rev. Kimbrough will take part in a national Methodist ministers' seminar on national and international affairs. About 18 speakers and leaders will talk with the ministers in these sessions.

Enough Shoulders Can Move Mountains--

WE know a man who is mighty disturbed about the situation surrounding Chilton County's some 300 crippled children and adults. He is disturbed because there are not enough funds coming in to support these needy children in their rehabilitation efforts to lead normal, happy, useful lives here in our county.

We are now in the final stages of a drive for the Alabama Society For Crippled Children and Adults and of the $4,000 to be raised for this cause -- some $200 to $300 has been collected!

Mr. I.S. Levine honestly blames nobody but himself for the unfortunate situation in which we find ourselves. He feels it is something he has failed to do in his 25 years of service to the crippled and underprivileged in Chilton County.

We know, of course, that the apathy is not his, though there may be something he has failed to do. He strongly believes that there are 4,000 persons in Chilton County who would be willing to give one dollar to go towards helping a neighbor's child walk or talk, possibly for the first time. He also realizes the number of causes to which you are asked to contribute and he sympathizes with your pocketbook to the extent that he hesitates to ask you for this dollar to help your neighbor. We know for a fact, that if he has done anything wrong, with regards to this fund raising we speak of, it has been in failing to ask you for your contribution.

The time has come; the die is cast and we must ask you, in behalf of your neighbors, who are not as fortunate as you are, physically speaking, to give to the Easter Seal Drive! It is not too late. . . it is never too late and of the 26,000 residents of Chilton County, we know there are 4,000 who are willing, and still able, in spite of the incessant "driving" that has been done the past few months, to help the 300 and who will come through, in this great time of need, and give a dollar, of that hard-earned cash to put to a use the likes of which that dollar has never seen.

And what do you get from it? Well, it's tax deductible! Beyond that? Only satisfaction; friend!

Send your contribution (or bring it if you will) or call us and we'll come and get it, to: I.S. Levine in Clanton or to Bob Tucker, care of Chilton County News in Clanton. We, all of us, are much obliged!

About 100 ministers are expected to participate; one from each of the Methodist regional conferences in the United States.

Brother Kimbrough has lived up to his reputation as a fine preacher and pastor here at the First Methodist Church and he and his lovely family have made many sincere friends since coming to Clanton and Chilton County. We don't know whether he wants to be congratulated or not, for having been chosen to serve his church thusly, but we think it is quite an honor, justly deserved, for him! Good luck to you, sir!

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

The most controversial legislation to come before the Congress so far this year was acted on by the House of Representatives last week. The measure, which provides for increasing the minimum wage and extending its coverage, was passed by a final vote of 340 to 78 in a much more conservative form than that requested by the President.

By a teller vote of 185-186, the House refused to accept a proposal backed by the Kennedy Administration. This plan would have raised the minimum hourly wage from $1.00 to $1.25 over a two-year period and extend coverage to about 3.6 million additional workers.

A substitute measure which increases the wage to $1.15 per hour and covers approximately 1.2 million more employees in retail businesses was officially adopted by a roll call vote of 216-203. The substitute bill applies to employees working for businesses with 5 or more outlets in 2 or more states. Branches of chains grossing less than $250,000 annually are exempt. However, newly covered workers will be eligible only for the current $1.00 minimum.

Before final passage, the House turned down an attempt to send the minimum wage bill back to the Committee on Education and Labor for further study. The measure now goes to the Senate where additional changes are expected to be made. The bill, if ultimately approved, undoubtedly will be the result of a House-Senate compromise.

Military Construction

Earlier in the week the House had passed by a roll call vote of 411-0 the annual military construction authorization. Despite the unanimous vote, however, there was dissent over a provision transferring the Army's Food and Container Institute from Chicago to a quarter-master installation in Natick, Massachusetts. This argument was settled when approval was given to an amendment which requires a study to be made to determine the advisability of moving the institute.

Most of the $808 million in the military construction authorization is designated for new buildings and additions, including many items required to support missile and other new weapons developments. The remainder is for reserve and National Guard components and for deficiency outlays.

Funds for Jobs

Also in the House last week, action was completed on a compromise version of the legislation to provide up to 13 weeks in additional unemployment compensation payments for jobless workers who exhaust their regular benefits. The compromise bill was accepted on a 361 to 31 roll call in the House and cleared the Senate on a voice vote shortly thereafter.

As enacted, the measure provides about $1 billion in federal funds for extended payments to an additional three million persons who have used up their state unemployment compensation benefits. The program will be financed by an increase of one-fourth of one percent in the present unemployment tax paid by employers.

One hundred years ago this week, March 26-April 1, 1861, two Alabamians played key roles in the prologue to the Fort Sumter drama. John Forsyth, owner of the Mobile Register, was serving as one of the three Confederate commissioners in Washington. United States Supreme Court Justice John Archibald Campbell, of Mobile, was acting as intermediary between the commissioners and United States Secretary of State William H. Seward. After conferring with Seward March 15, March 21, and March 22, Campbell assured the commissioners that Fort Sumter would soon be evacuated.

On March 28, 1861, Confederate Secretary of State Robert Toombs telegraphed the commissioners to urge, with firmness, the evacuation of all the forts now within the borders of the Confederacy, as an indispensable condition to peace or negotiation.

As late as April 1, 1861, Confederate Commissioner M. J. Crawford expressed to Toombs his satisfaction that the commissioners had obtained from the United States government an explicit promise that no hostile movement should be made. The Confederate States, not under any similar pledge to the United States, might go on and organize their army and concentrate their forces at their discretion, said Crawford.

But the props were removed from Confederate confidence that same day, April 1, when after another conference with Seward, Campbell handed the commissioners a new and different statement. It read: I am satisfied the government will not undertake to supply Sumter without giving notice to Governor Pickens (of South Carolina).

Foods are traveling farther to market these days. In 1959, more fresh fruits and vegetables were shipped into New York City from California and Florida than from New York State.

THINGS

*We see
and hear*
by BOB

HOW much raw, everyday gall does it take for an organization to bring the community newspaper the "free" publicity items of the day and then take any job printing that even hints of cash or profit to some outlet that cannot give them the publicity they seek? Well, it takes a helluva lot and it happened to us twice in as many days this week! You can call it what you please, but it isn't sour grapes and it isn't competition! To our way of thinking it just isn't playing the game according to the gentleman's agreement! You know our Linotype machine just thrives on "free" publicity copy and our cylinder press just loves to print pictures free of charge, but with us it's a little bit different -- we unfortunately have to eat! Like we said, we welcome competition, but when our customers (and we use the term loosely) start dealing us death blows to the profit end of our business, it hurts something awful! Guess it hurts our pride a bit too, when we try to read hard to give them what they need in the way of publicity and then they give us that old low blow. It's hard to sit still, friends!

NO group of superstitious idol worshippers ever could have conceived such a thing as the Holy Bible. We have been in contact quite a bit lately with Atheists who say that we will have to prove this or that before we convert one of their number. We challenge any Atheist or any Christian, or Jew or heathen to show us anything in the world as near perfect as the Holy Bible in its concepts of man living with man, of truth, of integrity of love, of self-sacrifice for another, of beauty, grace, law, nature's divine birth or of life itself. The Bible sets forth a pattern for man to live by, and should man choose to follow that pattern he will be loved, respected and cherished by his fellowman, providing his fellow is a man!

What or who could make the song of a bird so sweet, if it were not God Almighty? Or what makes a baby so wonderful, or a child so innocent? What makes a mother love or a father protect? Why can man think and make decisions when no other on earth can? If there is no Divine Creator, why is mankind, always seeking new ways of understanding and peace?

There are crippled humans and there are degenerate humans and there are hungry and illiterate humans, but all these things can be traced back to a mistake of man, not God! God's world is perfect! Why else the seasons, the beauty of flowers and trees, the love of man, one for another? A molten mass of stone and lava does not produce all these things! If the world had "just happened," born of the violence of the universe, why wouldn't it be just a dead mass of stone? Why should it have beauty at all, unless there were some purpose, for these things? And, from where did the universe itself originate? Did it just happen too?

We do not possess the knowledge to convert those who believe that there is no God; at least not with theories and words, but the Lord gave us a compassion to feel for them and a desire deep inside of us to want them to believe it, and understand!

DO they have to sacrifice everything? We listen to the radio maybe once in a blue moon and it must be the worst time to listen!

Other day, we heard a rendition of Dixie over radio station WB in Montgomery that would have made a hog calling contest down Greasy Ridge sound like a choir of angels. We don't know what Dixie originally intended to be, but we do think it should be shown respect and if the 'Yankees' are in making fun of it, we certainly don't have to play the record on radio station. The emotion feeling behind the words of Dixie call for enthusiastic but dignified patriotism. . . what we heard was not dignified, though very entertaining. But as we said, it takes a helluva lot to call a hog!

OUR eldest son said at the table the other night: "Don't you all the bread, 'cause I've some!" Well, we've been trying to teach him it's not good manners to say such as that at the table, we'll have to admit, he gets it better. Reminds us of the story of Pappy has always told us about his granddaddy and his brother who they were youngsters on the farm over around Randolph or the abouts. One evening at mealtime our granddaddy raised up and said, "Ma, mick! Will stop it! He's a pin' twice as fast as me and using the big end of the 'tater'!"

Like we said, guess it just isn't in our family. We can remember our grandmother getting all over us when we was a kid because we were always asking her, "Bis, please, eat all the prunes, 'cause we've some." Looks like the philosophy in our family is, and always has been to look out for yourself, especially at eatin' time!

WE found out how you could make $7,000 a year! It says right here that 89 percent of families earning $7,000 and more a year stamp! It also says that people who are better educated save stamps more than others who are not educated! If saving stamps make you smart and rich to boot, guess we'll just be poor and ignorant 'cause we don't save stamps. We can't even save money, so we bother with incidentals!

THERE must be something in this stamp saving, though! We thought all along that Southerners were smarter'n anybody else (in the New United States and Canada) and this proves it! 83 percent of the people who live in the South Central part of the United States, save stamps!

WE have a release here that gives all kinds of details, percentages, etc. about how much tension, white blade on your windshield should have to be effective. I guess these folks have an impressive name to send such stuff and yet we fail to see anything important about it, except that they want to sell windshield blades, or is it tension? Of course clear vision is important in driving, but so are a thousand and one other things that seem to us to be pretty much up to the driver whether or not they'll be comfortably soft in the morning.

Damp woolen sock something stiffen when they dry out. But you soak them for a few minutes at night in a baking soda solution and they'll be comfortably soft in the morning.

We're Always Smiling!

(And We've Got Good Reason, Too. . .)

The friendly folks who trade with us give us reason to smile because they trust our ability to serve their automobile's every need! Folks like to have that responsibility taken off their shoulders and our satisfied customers know that we are capable and willing to give them the very best!

It also says that people who are better educated save stamps more than others who are not educated! If saving stamps make you smart and rich to boot, guess we'll just be poor and ignorant 'cause we don't save stamps. We can't even save money, so we bother with incidentals!

THERE must be something in this stamp saving, though! We thought all along that Southerners were smarter'n anybody else (in the New United States and Canada) and this proves it! 83 percent of the people who live in the South Central part of the United States, save stamps!

WE have a release here that gives all kinds of details, percentages, etc. about how much tension, white blade on your windshield should have to be effective. I guess these folks have an impressive name to send such stuff and yet we fail to see anything important about it, except that they want to sell windshield blades, or is it tension? Of course clear vision is important in driving, but so are a thousand and one other things that seem to us to be pretty much up to the driver whether or not they'll be comfortably soft in the morning.

Damp woolen sock something stiffen when they dry out. But you soak them for a few minutes at night in a baking soda solution and they'll be comfortably soft in the morning.

We're Always Smiling!

(And We've Got Good Reason, Too. . .)

The friendly folks who trade with us give us reason to smile because they trust our ability to serve their automobile's every need! Folks like to have that responsibility taken off their shoulders and our satisfied customers know that we are capable and willing to give them the very best!

Social Security Beneficiaries

If you received social security checks in 1960 and earned more than $1200 in that year, you must file an annual report of these earnings unless you were over age 72 in all months of the year. The deadline date for filing this report is April 17, 1961. The date is two days later than usual because April 15 falls on Saturday. Cecil L. Simpson, manager of the Birmingham district social security office points out that this report must be filed with the Social Security Administration. If it isn't filed by April 17, the social security beneficiary may lose a social security check. The form needed for use in filing this annual report may be obtained at the social security office. Simpson emphasizes that the social security beneficiary who did not earn over $1200 in 1960 or was over age 72 in all months of that year, is not required to file an annual earnings report.

The Family Farm: 1975 Version!

Family farms of 1975 will be even more specialized than they are now. S. R. Doughty, extension farm management specialist, predicts. The average size of family farm will increase but the total number of farms will decrease, he says. He foresees increases in the present trend to coordinate labor-saving methods with improvements to increase output. Farmers in 1973 will employ others to perform much services as dusting and spraying, liming and fertilizing, and help in buying and livestock. And he adds, in the years ahead the success of a farm will depend largely on the managerial ability of its operator.

Here's What The Tax Folks Say About Your Recent Flood Loss

Based on conditions created by the flood waters in the State of Alabama and the numerous inquiries that have been made, George D. Patterson, District Director of Internal Revenue at Birmingham has issued the following statement with respect to losses resulting from flood and wind damages caused to personal and business property during the recent weeks.

The advice offered applies principally to losses incurred during the recent floods throughout the state, but may also include damages from fires, tornadoes and other disasters. Losses incurred in 1961 will not be reported until the 1961 return is filed. However, now is the time to gather documentation and information while it is still fresh in mind. The actual property loss sustained from casualties of this kind, and from automobile accidents, thefts, etc., and in some cases, from the condemnation of property for public use is deductible from the owner's Federal income tax return.

Mr. Patterson said that it behooves everyone to acquaint themselves with their rights under the Federal tax laws and obtain all the benefits of the deductions to which they are legally entitled as a result of a loss so that they pay no more or less than the correct tax liability. The net amount of actual property loss resulting from a casualty, or from theft, may be deducted. These may be business or non-business losses. The deduction is allowable only to the person who owns the property.

A casualty is the complete, or partial, destruction of property resulting from an identifiable event of a sudden unexpected or unusual nature. Damages from a flood are casualties.

If you sustain a casualty or theft loss and claim it on your return you may be called upon to show:

1. The nature of the casualty and when it occurred; 2. That the loss was the direct result of the casualty; 3. That you were the owner of the property; 4. The cost or other basis of the property; 5. Depreciation allowed or allowable, if any; 6. Value before and after casualty; and 7. The amount of insurance or other compensation received or expected for damages to the property, including the value of repairs, restoration, and clean-up provided without cost by disaster relief agencies or others.

If you have photographs of your property as it existed before it was damaged, they will be helpful in showing the condition and value of the property prior to the casualty. Photographs taken after the casualty which show the extent of the damage will be helpful in establishing the condition and value of the property after it was damaged.

While any loss deduction caused by the recent flood would be deductible in your return for 1961, a file should be established now while the facts can be more clearly documented.

Hot piston test reveals the ash-free secret of Shell X-100 Premium. A simulated piston is heated and a few drops of conventional multi-grade motor oil dropped on it. As the picture on left shows, this oil leaves a deposit of additive ash. When the test is repeated, as at right, with Shell X-100 Premium, all the oil vaporizes. It leaves no additive ash.

BREAKTHROUGH:

Suddenly Shell makes every other motor oil obsolete —with a revolutionary new formula which fights the five internal troubles that can shorten engine life

Shell's research reveals five common internal troubles that can shorten the life of your car. All five work silently and unseen.

These troubles are additive ash, crankcase dirt, temperature changes, engine acid and cooling system leaks.

Read how new Shell X-100, Premium fights all five internal troubles.

TODAY, every Shell dealer in America has new Shell X-100 Premium Motor Oil ready for your Spring oil change.

New Shell X-100 Premium is a genuine breakthrough because it is the only motor oil available that protects your car simultaneously against these five internal troubles that can shorten engine life.

Trouble #1—additive ash
Up to now, even the best premium motor oils were powerless to guard against additive ash—because they actually created it. While endeavoring to keep your crankcase shipshape, some of the ingredients in these oils contributed to the hard crust of ash inside your combustion chamber.

All other premium motor oils still have the same snag. The trouble stems from the metallic additives used to prevent scuffing, dirt deposits, oxidation and so forth. These additives do what's expected of them, but with each stroke of the piston, they can leave a tiny amount of metallic salts in the combustion chamber where they burn and form additive ash.

This crusty ash, when allowed to build up, can affect your car's performance—can make it knock and run roughly.

New Shell X-100 Premium doesn't add to this problem—because it doesn't contain a single metallic additive.

Trouble #2—crankcase dirt
All engines accumulate crankcase dirt no matter how well they are protected by filters. The problem is to stop this dirt from getting together and forming sticky sludge which can clog your engine.

Most premium oils use a detergent additive to do the job. And they perform well. But, like other additives, most detergents are metallic and cause that old devil—ash.

Shell's solution is to replace detergent with a remarkable new ingredient known as a dispersant, called Alkaldine.*

The Alkaldine in new Shell X-100 Premium helps keep your engine clean by holding dirt particles apart. Thus they don't form sticky sludge. Some particles can be trapped by the oil filter; most are drained out when you change your oil.

New Shell X-100 Premium.

Oddly enough, nobody yet knows exactly how Alkaldine works. But the proof of the pudding is in the testing. After 1,200,000 miles of city driving, engines of test cars lubricated with Shell X-100 Premium showed so little sludge that it could hardly be measured.

Trouble #3 —temperature changes

Many motor oils tend to become too thick when cold and too thin when hot.

New Shell X-100 Premium is an all-year oil. Here's how it works. Alkaldine has a molecular structure that resembles a basket of eels.

When the oil is cold, Alkaldine's eel-like molecules curl up as if for comfort. In effect, they take up less space in the oil—and the oil flows freely through the tightest bearing, even on cold nights.

Conversely, when the Alkaldine in new Shell X-100 Premium is hot, its molecules uncurl. They take up more room. And the oil resists thinning.

Thus, new Shell X-100 Premium eliminates trouble from sudden temperature changes. It lubricates just as efficiently in June as it does in January.

Trouble #4—engine acid

All automobile engines manufacture acid. This acid can do far more damage than friction. It can eat away at engine parts in much the way stomach acid can cause ulcers. Then you're really in trouble.

One way to combat engine acid is to make the oil alkaline. Many oils use this method. But here's what happens.

The neutralizing effect of alkaline oil inevitably gets weaker and weaker as engine acid eats up the alkalinity—till it eventually stops working completely. Then your oil no longer gives you anti-acid protection.

Shell tackles this troublesome acid problem in a new way. Shell X-100 Premium actually plates all engine surfaces with a thin chemical film. The metal literally adsorbs some of Shell X-100 Premium's protective qualities. Chemists call this phenomenon "chemisorption."

"Chemisorption" offers a longer-lasting protection against acid attack than any other method yet invented.

Trouble #5 —cooling system leaks

Tiny leaks of permanent anti-freeze can play nasty tricks with many motor oils.

These oils can react chemically with permanent anti-freeze and form a horrible sludge which can actually bring an otherwise healthy engine to a standstill.

Then you're on the way to a major repair bill.

New Shell X-100 Premium sets all such fears at rest. It resists reaction with any sort of anti-freeze. It shrugs it off.

The additives in Shell X-100 Premium resist washing out with water, too. In some oils, additives can be lost to water leaks. In Shell X-100 Premium, they stay.

How much does Shell X-100 Premium cost?

If you drive the national average of 10,000 miles per year, the switch to Shell X-100 Premium (with regular oil changes) will cost you only $3.60 more than ordinary oil—give or take a nickel. And probably nothing extra if you already use a premium grade.

Drive to your Shell service station and ask the dealer to change your oil while the engine is still hot. Be sure to ask for Shell X-100 Premium in the white can. It protects your engine from all five internal troubles listed above.

MORE and more farmers in the state are doing everything possible to reduce the damage done to crops by weeds.

Many cotton producers are using chemicals to control weeds. However, to get best results, the chemicals must be used properly. Pre-emergence chemicals can be used before cotton comes up. However, if cotton has already been planted, there's still something that can be done about Alabama's million dollar weed problem.

When cotton comes up, post-emergence herbicides can be used to control weeds. In using this material, farmers must direct the spray at the base of the plant being sure the cotton leaves, only the bottom inch of the stem. They should use no more than three applications and should space them five days apart. Also, they should not apply the material after true bark is formed.

Growers should apply five gallons of this oil per acre on a 10-inch band over the drill when the weeds are 1 to 1½ inches high.

To control late season weeds, one pound of Karmex Duron Powder per acre should

With the sand-peat soil, the best growth of most plant species tested occurred when six pounds of finely ground dolomite was applied per cubic yard. Wind injury and cold damage were most severe when dolomite was omitted.

FISH DISEASES. Fish are susceptible to several types of bacterial and virus diseases. Bacterial disease that often kills fish in Alabama is called "red spot." It usually appears in early spring, causing yellowish-brown sores around and inside the mouth or deep wounds on the body of fish, or both. When columnaris is suspected, fishery biologists of the Alabama Department of Conservation can provide information on treatment.

BEEF CHOICES. Round steak was served most frequently by 64 percent of Alabama housewives, according to results of a survey of 699 housewives. The round steak was chosen most often, 38 percent. Chuck roast was selected most by 45 percent and rump roast by 20 percent of housewives interviewed.

FREEZING VEGETABLES. In Auburn tests, blanching vegetables before freezing aided packaging and helped preserve color and flavor. Blanching is usually done by heating prepared vegetables for two to five minutes in boiling water. Time, saltiness and kind of vegetable, degree of blanching and method of freezing are factors. A blanching chart showing correct timing for different vegetables is usually included with instruction manuals furnished with freezers.

PEACH DISEASE CONTROL. Brown rot and scab of peaches are controlled by sprays of captan (2 pounds per 100 gallons) or 80 percent sulfur (6 pounds per 100 gallons). Applications are made every 7 to 10 days for four cover sprays beginning at petal fall. Succeeding sprays may be applied every 14 days until harvest. Extra spraying may be needed during extended rainy and cloudy periods.

DISEASES OF APPLES. Control of fruit rots and fruit spotting of apples by fungus diseases requires both sanitation and fungicide applications. In addition to a good job of sanitation and use of sprays during the dormant period, cover sprays are essential. Good results are obtained by spraying with dodine, captan, or thiram at 10- to 14-day intervals from petal fall up to one week of harvest.

BEEF PASTURES. Stocker cattle have made rapid and economical gains on orchard grass-white clover pastures in the Tennessee Valley Substation. In 1958 and 1960 tests, spring-dropped calves grown out on permanent pastures and then fattened in the dry lot returned more per head above feed cost than did comparable cattle grown out on small grain pasture or silage and supplement. Orchard grass-clover provides little grazing for steers and heifers. An adequate diet, such as silage and supplement or alfalfa hay, must be provided cattle field for going on pasture.

Everyone Benefits

Broilers Improve Economy Of State

By J. R. Hubbard and Allen Brown Poultry Specialists

THE broiler industry is Alabama's fastest growing farm business.

During the last 10 years—the period of greatest change ever experienced in Alabama agriculture—broiler production has proved an excellent profit-making shock absorber. Broilers provide a steady income with a pay check every 9 to 10 weeks.

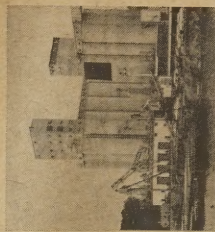

This growing business has not only made it possible for many small farmers to remain on the farm and increase their income, but it has also improved the economy of Alabama.

Total cash farm income from broilers grown in Alabama jumped from $2 million in 1959 to $79 million in 1969. Last year approximately 5,000 broiler growers in the state received $90 million for their birds.

Some 500 more farmers sold $6,800,000 worth of hatching eggs for broiler chicks, bringing the total to around 5500 farmers with $96 million sales income from broilers and hatching eggs.

When farm people have more money to spend, every store in the state has a better business. One reason the broiler industry in his county is responsible for an average of one additional clerk being employed per store in the county.

One of Alabama's biggest industrial expansions has taken place in plants allied with the poultry industry. In areas of concentrated broiler production, processing plants, feed mills, hatcheries, and poultry equipment and chemical companies have developed a multi-million dollar industry that has created thousands of additional jobs.

With its related businesses, broiler production puts more than $160 million into circulation in Alabama each year. The increased flow of money has created additional state revenue for improvements of education, roads, and many other tax supported functions. The hatching industry is a good example of one of the major expansions. Income from the sale of hatching eggs, from $18 million in 1950 to an estimated $18 million in 1960, Alabama now ranks second in the nation in the number of chicks hatched.

As a result of this growth, poultry feed manufacturing has increased 484 percent during the last 10 years. In 1960, 883,000 tons of feed with a value of $80 million were sold in the state.

Together the feed and hatchery industries employ a minimum of 2800 workers with a yearly payroll of $7.5 million.

The 41 major processing plants in Alabama are processing practically all of the 185 million birds grown in the state each year. These plants employ more than 3,000 people with an annual payroll exceeding $7.5 million. Hauling live birds to plants and dressed broilers to distribution plants requires 370 trucks working full time.

Broilers have also given a boost to building construction. The 4,640 broiler houses built in the last 10 years represent an investment of more than $20 million. Another $9 million is invested in equipment.

Many other allied industries and businesses such as food markets, drug manufacturers and veterinarians have also benefited from the broiler industry.

In fact, everyone from the producer to the final consumer who eats the fried chicken benefits from the greater volume of output. In 1947 broilers sold at around 38 cents a pound live weight, and consumers paid around 60 cents a pound for a dressed, ready-to-cook broiler. During the last three years broiler producers have averaged receiving around 18 cents a pound, and the retail consumer pays only about half the 1947 price.

Consumption of broiler meat increased from a little over four pounds per person in 1947 to 21 pounds in 1958.

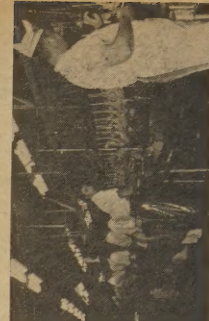

Many factors have influenced the growth of the Alabama broiler industry. Expansion of inland waterways from the Tennessee Valley areas to the midwestern Corn Belt states resulted in lower grain transportation costs.

Our mild climate is an asset for better feed conversion and lower housing costs. And broilers meet the need on small Alabama farms for an added operation that can yield a good net income.

Today, broilers are one of the few agricultural products we do not have to bring in from outside the state. Actually, more high quality, Alabama produced broilers are being marketed to most of the other 49 states than are consumed in Alabama.

Because the poultry industry, financial agencies and agricultural workers had the foresight to see the advantages for broiler production in Alabama, we now have built up an industry with unlimited opportunities.

Agricultural experts believe that by 1970 Alabama farmers may produce $200 million worth of broilers a year.

Fertilizer Increases Profits And Yields

By Dr. Walter F. Sowell
Extension Soil Specialist

FERTILIZING plants doesn't cost—it pays. True, fertilizer is one of the biggest cash expenses in the growing of cotton today. Yet, in the $500 million dollars each year, fertilizer alone accounts for about 20 percent of the total cash cost of farm production.

But despite these high figures, fertilizer is still the best buy for the farmer. Fertilizer prices have increased less than any other farm production item in the past few years.

SOVELL

Of course, since cash expenses in farming are high, it can be little or the wrong kind of fertilizer cannot give the best crop yields and net returns. On the other hand, applying more fertilizer than is needed is not a good management practice. And fertilizer applied on extremely acid soils is not used to the best advantage by growing plants. Thus, for the best plant growth and crop yields, a complete

The Farm Situation

THE cost-price squeeze, a tough situation. It costs more to produce a crop, and then the farmer's goods sell for less.

What can the farmer do? Barbour County Agent Jess Walton is telling his farmers that they can do but one thing—increase their yields. And he's right about it, too. Cutting production costs is no more money and the cost of production drops as yields increase.

Unfortunately, the situation looks as though it may not improve this year; so, Alabama farmers should get busy increasing their production.

COPELAND

And the first step in that direction is to get a soil test. It's just plain facts, sense that applying the correct amount and type of fertilizer either saves money or makes money. If you don't take medicine when you are really sick without a doctor's prescription, then don't plant your crops without fertilizing them according to the recommendations of the Auburn Soil Testing Laboratory. Check with your county agent about soil testing today if you haven't already done so.

Home Fires

Have you ever thought about what you would do if your home caught fire? Of course, you would do everything possible to get the family out in a hurry. It's hard to see the family out in a hurry, but it's even harder to see the family out in a hurry through the door.

Extension Engineer Bill Cox and I agree that every farm family ought to have a basic plan to follow in case of fire. Bills says that while you are making your plans remember that windows and porch roofs are good ways to escape from upper stories when exits are blocked. Another good rule to know—feel a door before opening it. If it's hot, chances are there's fire in the other room. If possible, leave that door closed and look for another way to escape.

Bill also says that fire escapes or fire ladders are a valuable part of fire safety plans. They are a valuable part of fire safety plans. They are a valuable part of fire safety plans.

Escape routes, may also prove valuable. Once you are out, never go back into the house even if it looks as though there is no danger of being burned. Smoke and gases from even the smallest fire can be deadly.

Gardens Save Money

If you're interested in cutting your grocery bill, talk to Mrs. Robert Kirkland of Henry County. She has the problem solved. The only things that Mrs. Kirkland buys are staples. The Kirklands have a year-round garden providing fresh vegetables. And they grow their own chickens, beef, and fish.

Increase Cash From Hogs

G. B. Phillips, Auburn Extension Service agent for Henry County, says that it makes sense and cents to improve the grade and quality of commercial hogs of hogs. And using a tested boar is the best way to start, he says.

Phillips believes that any hogman can afford to pay $50 or $100 more for a good boar because the producer will gain extra money on the feed he saves putting pounds of meat on the hogs.

Preserve For Next Winter's Enjoyment

By Isabelle Downey
Food Preservation Specialist

LONG rows of jars on the pantry shelf and packages stacked high in the freezer are gradually dwindling away. But spring brings promise of fresh fruits and vegetables to preserve—and to keep the homemaker busy.

Regardless of the method of conserving these foods, fruit that has been left on the vine or tree until it is fully mature will mean a better flavor and added vitamins and minerals. If the fruit is to be frozen, it should be picked soon after it has reached its peak. It should be picked no more than two hours before it is used.

Strawberries and blackberries are among the first fruits ready to be preserved every spring. And since blackberries keep their flavor, color, texture, and nutrients in canning, this method might be better than freezing.

After the berries are washed, stemmed, and drained, add one-half cup of sugar to

Make Plans Now

By Gay Phillips

If you are a lazy gardener, this article is for you. If the coming of spring hasn't been enough to get you on, the thoughts of what you would get out in that yard and do something, you will probably be interested in some short cuts.

There are many things that you can plant that provide a maximum of enjoyment with a minimum of effort. (Now, you do have to be willing to put in that minimum.) Look particularly for plants that are hardy and will stand the stress of the climate. And select things that don't need much pruning, dividing, or repotting. And don't get carried away with the idea that these easy-to-care-for plants are pretty enough to take up space in your garden.

PHILLIPS

Here are a few things that you can plant and then sit in the shade while they grow. Your home demonstration agent could probably give you some more, and she may even be able to fill you in on proper planting methods.

In your long-range plans for your garden that takes care of itself, consider ivy for places that you want a solid evergreen carpet—perhaps around or between trees. There are several kinds of ivy. And the only care it requires is an occasional trimming.

Creeeping junipers and hypericum are also worthy of consideration. They are particularly good in masses planted along low banks.

Flower possibilities are unlimited. You can choose from a list which includes moss-pink, lilies, bedding geraniums, chrysanthemums, day lilies, peonies, daffodils, pansies, and countless others.

All of these give a blaze of color when planted in masses. Try planting several, since some of them bloom at different times. Moss-pink, which blooms in the spring, in-each quart of fruit. Cover the pan with a lid and set over to a boil, stirring constantly until some of the juice appears. Fill hot standard canning jars to within half inch of the top and adjust the lid. Process in a boiling waterbath at 212 degrees for 10 minutes for pints and 15 minutes for quarts. Remove the jars from the waterbath and let them cool before storing in a dark, cool, dry place.

Strawberries containing too much water for canning are delicious when frozen. There are two methods for preparing them for the freezer—the dry sugar method and the syrup method. For the dry sugar method, berries, disassembled from one teaspoon of ascorbic acid in one-half cup of water, mix it with about four pounds of strawberries, and sprinkle about two cups of sugar over the berries, coating each. The amount of sugar to use will vary with the sweetness of the berries and the preference of the family.

Landscaping Tips For Lazy Gardeners

cludes plants with colors of rose-red, pink, and blue.

Bedding geraniums can take all kinds of weather. And they bloom constantly all summer. They are especially good for color when planted in chyd beds. There are several varieties of chyd geraniums, some blooming in summer and others in fall.

Spring Cleaning Out--Regular Cleaning In

By Mary Williams

SPRING housecleaning seems to be on the way out—and it's a custom few will miss. The modern trend is toward more frequent and less exhausting cleanings, perhaps doing one room well once a week. Even so, there are some tasks we are often tempted to put off. Unfortunately, the longer we put off these jobs, the harder they get.

WILLIAMS

Whether you're a believer in spring housecleaning or not, you can't ignore the fact that neglected corners get the work done faster. Ashes in the fireplace are out of place until next fall. Dampen the ashes and shovel them into a bucket.

For a thorough job, clean the fireplace with the dusting brush of the vacuum cleaner. (The brush can be washed out later.) Remove smoke stains from brick with a strong solution of trisodium phosphate, available at paint stores. Wear household gloves and apply the solution with a scrub brush. Rinse well in clean water. For the finishing touch, polish brass with a good metal cleaner.

Cleaning the oven can be postponed by wiping the oven out after use, before it cools completely. Once crusty spots and a film

Peonies, daffodils, and pansies need fertilizing once a year—peonies require plant food after flowering, daffodils in late winter, and pansies when growth slows down and flowers get smaller. If you decide to plant pansies, mix the colors to make the effect even more vivid.

Day lilies are also a time-saver. They almost never need dividing, transplanting, or weeding. And they flower each summer. These are only a few suggestions. Now thumb through your seed catalogues, get more detailed information from your home demonstration agent, florist, or nurseryman, and get started in that garden!

of brown grease have collected, stronger measures are required. Set a small bowl of ammonia on the lower rack overnight, and let the fumes loosen the grease. Then use a steel brush and carefully follow the directions that come with the cleaner. Rinse off with a mixture of vinegar and water.

Veneated blinds also can be kept clean more easily by cleaning more often. When dust begins to collect, tilt the blind so the slats lie flat, and dust with a small vacuum cleaner brush.

When a complete wash job is called for, dunk the blinds in a bathtub of warm, sudsy water. Rub blind of sponge if necessary, but don't replace the blinds at the window until they dry. Rinsing is not necessary unless the blinds were very dirty or the water too sudsy.

Spots on the shower walls are a real problem in hard-water homes. To make an effective cleaning solution, add enough water conditioner to a pail of warm water to make the water feel slippery. Rub with a sponge or plastic pan scourer. Bleach can be used to brighten white tile floors. Rubber shower mats come clean when scrubbed with a damp steel wool soap pad.

THE old question "Which came first, the chicken or the egg?" hasn't been answered. It isn't important enough to bother with research. Research has produced us with important answers to the production and marketing of both poultry and eggs so that you can have high quality products for your family dinner table.

Top Quality Eggs

Experiments have proved that well-bred hens, nutritious feeds, clean poultry houses, and refrigerated facilities make possible high quality eggs from your local grocery on a year-round basis. Eggs from young, healthy hens that are held for egg production. The hens are given feed that has been scientifically balanced to produce a large number of high quality eggs.

The eggs are gathered several times a day and rushed to a cool holding room where they are cleaned, graded, and packed. The eggs are then delivered to the store where they are held in refrigerated cases until the homemaker picks them up. Eggs, like meat and milk, are a perishable food and need to be kept cool to preserve their quality. Refrigerator temperature, 35 to 40 degrees, is best. Eggs stored at room temperature lose as much quality and freshness in three days as those in the refrigerator do in two weeks.

During storage, keep eggs covered so they will not absorb odors from other foods. The large end of the eggs should be up and the small end down during storage.

Your Money's Worth

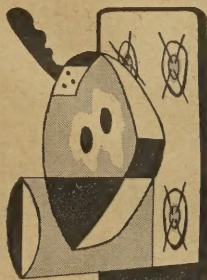

Eggs, though sold by the dozen, are also sold by weight—a dozen large eggs weigh 24 ounces, medium sized eggs weigh 21 ounces, and small eggs weigh a minimum of 18 ounces per dozen. Each carton of eggs has a size and weight label. The homemaker should decide which size offers you the most for your money. If you are a mathematically inclined shopper, you can arrive at the cost of eggs per ounce or pound—however, an easy "rule of thumb" that all shoppers can use at a glance is a price spread of eight cents per dozen between large and medium sized eggs.

Egg Grades

When comparing prices of eggs, always make comparisons with eggs of the same grade. The egg grades which are most likely to be found at your grocers are grades A and B. Grade-A eggs are of higher quality, with firm whites and plump yolks. They are especially desirable for poaching, frying, and cooking in the shell.

Grade-B eggs may be used to advantage as scrambled eggs, in baking, and in sauces and salad dressings. Some housewives find that it pays to buy grade-B eggs for general cooking purposes and grade-A eggs for table use.

Cooking Eggs

Moderate to low temperatures are recommended for cooking eggs to keep the protein tender and to make attractive egg dishes. When an egg is cooked too long or at too high a temperature, the iron in the yolk combines with the sulfur in the white to form ferrous sulfide. That's the dark layer—but it doesn't affect food value or flavor. The dark ring can be prevented by cooking eggs at a simmering temperature. Dip hard-cooked eggs into cold water to halt the cooking process.

In frying eggs, use just enough fat to grease the skillet and cook eggs over low heat to keep them tender.

Household Hints

FOR easy bathtub cleaning, sprinkle the tub with powdered bleach, then scrub with a long-handled brush or mop.

Refrigerator temperatures help to keep nuts from becoming rancid. Store in airtight containers.

At zero degrees, pork can be kept in the freezer for 6 months, lamb for 8 months, and beef for 12 months.

Do a professional job of pressing ties by inserting a property cut-to-fit piece of cardboard in the large end. This will prevent seamcreases from showing through.

Tell the cleaner what caused a stubborn spot; he'll have a better chance of getting it out.

Many men figure they might as well get a dirty suit dirtier before having it cleaned. This is wrong for the longer spots are in a fabric, the tougher they become to remove.

Guard against losing important papers from an inside coat pocket by having a zipper closure attached.

Remove a blood spot from your shirt by applying a few drops of water and powdering thickly with starch. After starch has dried, brush it off and the stains will be gone.

"Although farmers spend $1.6 billion a year for fertilizer, they could pour on much more," states the "Business and Finance Daily." "By 1975, one farmer must feed 42 Americans, up from 28 now. Farmers lose $4 billion annually from weeds, yet they spend only $75 million on weed killers. Hog diseases cost farmers $5 per head each year, but they spend only $1 a head for remedies.

New Cooperative Departments

One of the country's largest regional cooperatives has created two new departments to serve the farmer's needs. One is a farm building department which plans, builds, and equips farm buildings. The other is a home and garden department which operates stores primarily in home and garden departments.

Subsidies?

All of us think and talk a lot about the subsidy paid to farmers. But we know of any group that has contributed as great a subsidy to other segments of any nation's economy as have farmers in this country? All along, farm families have reared and educated the millions of young people that we see constantly streaming into other jobs in towns and cities. Alabama lost population in 46 of its 67 counties between 1950 and 1960. Don't we need to give more emphasis to developing our resources for industries to prevent so many of our young people leaving the state for jobs elsewhere?

Record-Breaking Meat Supply Forecasted for 1961
The average person will eat 199.8 pounds of meat this year, if the National Livestock and Meat Promotion Committee's estimate is correct. This will be 3.5 pounds more than last year.

Safe Tractor Driving

EARLIER this year an Alabama man was crushed to death underneath his tractor—a tragedy which occurred several times in Alabama last year.

Lawrence Ennis, Auburn Extension engineer, says that if tractor drivers knew and observed certain safety measures some of these accidents might never happen.

The engineer advises drivers to have a low drawbar hitch when towing an implement. And if the tractor should get stuck, the towed machinery first, not the tractor, get out along the side of the road. Always slow down to turn around. And when turning on a slope, don't turn in the downhill direction, he adds.

Limestone is needed to reduce soil acidity at the rate of about one million to one-fourth of the state; only one-fifth to one-fourth of this amount is being used. In many cases, the extremely acid soils are the major limiting factors in producing high yields. The graph in page two shows that lime application reduces the pH increased the cotton yields. Such increases have also been obtained with other crops.

Alabama farmers have made great progress in the crop production in the past 50 years. At the present, a farm worker produces enough farm products for himself and 24 other persons. Improved crop yields and net returns have come about largely through wise management and use of the latest research findings.

Continued gains in efficiency of farm production are necessary if society is to maintain the level of living now enjoyed. Progress comes only through the wise use of newer practices created by research.

Don't guess; soil test.

Double Milk Production

Cull And Feed According To Records

WOULD you like to double the milk flow following good management practices, he milks at the same time each day and also provides a loafing area for his cows when it is rainy and cold. He plans to install pipeline milkers and a walk-through milking parlor in the near future.

His father, F. W. Bolin, takes great pride in seeing the accomplishments of the herd since his son took it over. Reynolds says that Don is a fine example of a young man in the county to start a record-keeping program.

At least these are some of the things Don Bolin of Geneva did in achieving this goal. When Don returned to dairy operation on his ago, he took over the operation. He made the very beginning that he was going to double the production of the herd. This he did.

The young Tate community farmer started out by using the Weigh-A-Day-A-Month test program. This system showed him the high producing cows as well as the low producers. Knowing this information, he could judge the amount of feed to give each animal. Another very important use was made of the records. Low producing cows were culled.

Another step this dairyman took to double his milk production was to improve the grazing for his cows. He established oats and ryegrass for winter grazing, and Starr millet was planted for summer grazing. Don also began breeding all of his cows by artificial insemination. Thus his helpers were from the best bulls available. And in

Don Bolin, right, is showing Geneva County Farm Agent Robert Reynolds his WADAM records. This Tate community dairyman has doubled the milk production of his herd by feeding and culling according to the production of each cow and having a good feeding program.

Show Facilities Improved For Conecuh County Livestock Events

CONECUH County 4-H and FFA members won't have to show their fat calves outside in bad weather now, thanks to the Conecuh County Cooperative Stockyard.

The Evergreen Stockyard decided a few months ago to improve facilities for calf shows and other livestock events. The addition of a 40- by 40-foot show ring with seats available for 200 people.

The importance of these shows cannot be stressed too much. Farquhar declared. The 4-H'ers and FFA boys selected their calves several months ago. Since feeding, training and grooming the animals. According to Conecuh 4-H leader Elbert Williams, 64 animals will be entered in the county show this year. The show will be held in Evergreen on April 17.

FAT STOCK SHOW DATES

LOTS of U. S. Prime Choice and Good beef will hit the market this month and next when 4-H'ers and FFA boys show and sell their prize animals at fat stock shows. So this will be a good time to fill your home freezer with some of the tastiest beef money can buy. At the same time you can give the youngsters a boost by buying one of their steers.

District show dates are as follows:
Montgomery April 5-6
Birmingham April 12-13
Birmingham April 27-28
Dothan May 2

Many counties do not participate in the district shows, however. All of the animals are sold immediately following the local show, thus giving the home county folks a chance to buy the calves and help the youngsters. Anyone interested in buying from the county agents office, the agent will seem be glad to arrange to have a calf brought for you.

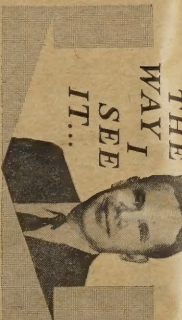

Peanuts Fit Farm Program

IN order to make the most efficient use of land, labor, and machinery, peanut growers should plan carefully so that their enterprises can be fitted into the total farm program.

"And the first thing to consider," says Auburn Extension Peanut Specialist Dean Bond, "is the selection of varieties on the basis of maturity dates and yielding ability."

Listed in order of their maturity dates, the following varieties are recommended by the specialist: Virginia Bunch 67, Early Runner, Dixie Runner, and Southeastern Runner 66-15. Arguably, Spanish varieties and N. Dixie Spanish, Bond says. It matures in about 120 days and must be dug immediately. Therefore, he warns, a farmer must not plant more than he can dig in three to four days.

THE WAY I SEE IT...

by Dr. E. T. York, Jr., Director
Auburn University Extension Service

LAST month we talked about Alabama's abundant resources—which if properly developed could contribute greatly to the economic growth of the state and the well being of our people. The Alabama Extension Service is proposing to launch a program aimed at the more complete development and use of these resources.

We are calling this program Rural Resource Development. This effort will have two major objectives: (1) To further expand Alabama's agriculture through new production methods and (2) To increase the net worth of our billion dollar farm income by 150% almost double our present income. (2) To aid in the further development and use of all human and physical resources of rural areas which are not needed in agriculture.

The second phase of this program is in recognition of the fact that Alabama's low farm income cannot be solved through agriculture alone. This is pointed out in the report of the Congressional Joint Economic Committee which said: "There is a widespread feeling that rural people who have poor opportunities in agriculture to earn income in other ways."

As a first step, we are proposing the formation of development councils in each county. These councils would be made up of representatives of all interested groups, organizations, and agencies that are willing to contribute to any phase of a development program.

Once the councils are organized, the next step would involve a careful inventory of all physical resources in each county. This physical survey would provide a detailed characterization of the people in an area—numbers, age levels, education, specific skills or training, etc. This would reveal the labor resources an area has for further development of agriculture and industry.

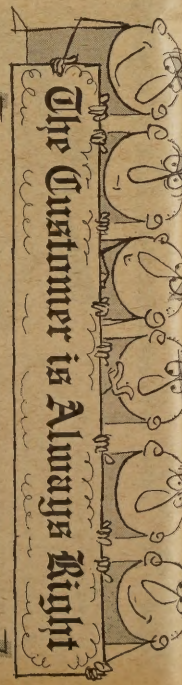

The survey would also cover the area's physical resources—land, minerals, water, forest, along with information pertaining to transportation, utilities, and plant sites.

Once these inventories are made, the council would be divided into separate committees concerned with such areas as agriculture and forestry, industrial development, tourist and recreation, health, education, welfare, etc.

Well-trained specialists would be available through the Extension Service to assist these county committees in analyzing resources and helping local groups channel their efforts into the best possible use of their resources. There would also be excellent opportunities for help from other state-wide organizations such as the State Planning and Industrial Board, the Chamber of Commerce, private and public power groups, and other business and agricultural organizations.

This is a program of total development which would offer excellent opportunities to raise the level of living and improve Alabama's entire economy. Success in this effort would depend upon cooperation among all farm, industry, business, and government and governmental agencies. In such a program, working towards common goals, we can more completely realize the enormous potential which we as a state have for economic development.

...CONSUMERS HAVE CONTROL!

By Dr. Melvin Smith

Specialist in Fruit and Vegetable Marketing

THROUGH the years, the American market system has changed from barter to a complex structure. Still, with all the changes, one thing has remained in style: The customer is always right.

Today the housewife voices her choice for products by how often she buys any particular item. In turn, the retailer orders the goods that are selling, and so the housewife's vote is passed back through marketing firms to the producer.

In the competition for the consumer's dollar, marketing methods are undergoing tremendous change. Every time the housewife goes grocery shopping, she notices something new in the produce department. It may vary from a new type package to a new variety of potatoes.

While changes are occurring in all segments of the marketing chain, the emphasis has been placed on changes at the retail level for more and better merchandising methods. In general, these methods will help sell more produce and bring more returns to the store.

Still, it is here—at the retail counter—that the housewife really exerts her buying power as she chooses products suitable to her demand.

To be sure, a smart merchandiser is going to do all he can to supply the housewife with the high quality products she wants. Only in this way can he keep a satisfied customer.

All along the marketing channels, the people who get the order will work to provide the

Ventilation Reduces Poultry Diseases

DISEASES cost Alabama poultrymen millions of dollars every year.

"But one way to reduce this loss," says Extension Veterinarian Worth Lanier, "is to see that broiler houses are properly ventilated." Farmers who are planning to build poultry houses should consider ridge ventilation devices that can be easily opened and closed with changes in the weather.

"These ventilators can be constructed in several ways," says the veterinarian. However, it is the easiest to have a groove that climbs to the top of the house to let it go for most of the time. And that often costs him many dollars.

"Oil drums can be used for building ridge ventilators," says Lanier. "These drums are equipped with a shield that rotates as the wind changes. The drum lid makes an excellent cover to close the ventilators."

The U. S. has 85,000 known kinds of insects, considers 10,000 as undesirable, and the several hundred destructive enough to be of major importance.

Your Presence Is Needed-- Final Decision on Trades School Expected at County Meeting

Letter From W. A. Lecroy

Mr. John M. Higgins, President
Chilton County Chamber of Commerce
Clanton, Alabama

Dear John:

"I read your letter in the county papers last week, and I want you to know how much I appreciate your organization's interest and efforts toward obtaining trade facilities for Chilton County. Great things can happen in our education program which will benefit all of the people in Chilton County when business, industry, and school people join hands and work toward one objective."

"I discussed the matter of trades education with our Board of Education over two years ago and it was decided at that time that an application should be made to proper authorities for eight trades instructors for our county. This was done. An application has also been made to proper authorities for a trades school to be located in the county. A copy of this application appeared in each of our local newspapers."

"I have also recommended to the Chilton County Board of Education as soon as sufficient funds that we proceed with this trades have been made available for that purpose."

"Again, let me say that you, your organization, and interested citizens are to be commended for your efforts in behalf of the public education in Chilton County."

Sincerely yours,
W. A. Lecroy
Superintendent Chilton County Schools

Agreement Is Necessary And Evidenced; Action Is Needed At This Point!

FROM the accompanying letters, we cannot help but surmise that everybody concerned directly with the proposed Trades School for Chilton County is in complete agreement. If this is not the case it certainly fails to show itself in the "open" letters to the people.

Of primary importance in this, as in any other venture, is informing the public. We think the "minor irritations" created during this particular undertaking can be traced directly, either to misinformation or lack of a clear understanding of the situation by some of the interested parties.

If you, as a citizen, are the least bit interested in the outcome of this project, we strongly urge that you read the accompanying letters from the Superintendent of Education and the President of the Chamber of Commerce and then, by all means, attend the meeting at the Courthouse concerning this vital subject to the economy of Chilton County on next Tuesday, April 11th at 7:00 O'clock p.m.—The EDITOR

Letter From John M. Higgins

Mr. W. A. Lecroy, Superintendent
Chilton County Schools
Clanton, Alabama

Dear "Bing":

"Thank you very much for your letter of April 3, 1961 in connection with the trade school matter."

"Needless to say, there is much that I do not know about the complex problem of managing a school system. However, you may be assured that the Chilton County Chamber of Commerce is always ready to cooperate in any endeavor to improve our school system in Chilton County. We are gratified that after considerable effort by interested persons, Chilton County has an opportunity to get the pilot model of a new trades training school."

"We feel that the trade school is so important to all the people in Chilton County that we must all come together in our thinking and planning toward the one objective. If we fail to do this, this trade school which has been offered to us, will surely slip through our fingers."

"It might be well to set down here some of the difficulties which we must surmount. As you know, considerable opposition to the idea of a centrally located trade school has developed, particularly since our committee met with Mr. J. F. Ingram at the Dixie Cafe on January 16, 1961. At that time Mr. Ingram stated again that he could not go along with a Chilton County trade school which would be scattered in small units in all of the high school throughout the county. Mr. Ingram stated that the centrally located unit would serve the whole county effectively for both high school students, and adult trainees in evening classes, and that he would not consider offering federal support all the high schools in Chilton County."

"This was the same position Mr. Ingram had stated to all of us who discussed the matter with him in the meeting in the office of State Superintendent of Education on September 19, 1960. Therefore, we must either accept the central trade school plan or reject it. We have no alternative."

"We realize that there are many individuals and groups in the county who do not know what has actually taken place in our committee meetings. Because of lack of information, many persons and groups now fear the centrally located trade school is to be built at a sacrifice to other school interests. Also, many are not aware that the trade school will instruct students from all the high schools in Chilton County."

"We feel that you are the member of our committee who can most effectively disseminate the proper information on this trade school to your school faculties and Parent Teacher Association groups, thereby reducing or eliminating any unfounded opposition which may have developed. Also, it might be well to point out that Mr. Ingram's belief that average daily attendance in the entire county school system will increase when trades training subjects are offered to all eligible students in the county."

It was present at the office of the State Superintendent of Education last September 19, 1960 when you verbally accepted Mr. Ingram's offer of the centrally located trade school. I have been informed that after that meeting you applied for eight trades instructors for our county to be assigned in scattered units at various senior high schools.

"On January 16, 1961, Mr. Ingram again stated to you and other members of the committee: 'The previously pursued idea of scattered trades training classes in different sections of a county is not economically sound or operationally practical.' Mr. Ingram then invited you to come to his office in Montgomery at your earliest convenience in order that detailed planning and estimates of the centrally located unit could be worked out with you."

Scouting, Big Business--

THE Tuscaloosa Boy Scout Council, of which Chilton County is a part, is planning big things for the Scouting program for the coming year. The largest single event ever conducted by the Council will take place in the spring of the next year when 5,000 Scouts from 14 counties will participate in a Boy Scout Circus. A budget of $65,000.86 has been adopted by the Council to support the programs for the coming year. About one of the best things that can happen to your boy is that he become a member of the Scouting program!

Point Up, Fix Up--

EVERYBODY (including you merchants) can take a tip from the Post Office here in Clanton. The Jack W. West Contracting Co. of Atlanta, Ga., has contracted to paint the exterior and interior of our local P. O. The contract price of $1,705 was the lowest of nine bids and work will be completed in sixty days!

Belles Are Ringing--

BUT not the kind you think! This is Cow Belles! They say they are going to give away their doll on Friday, April 7 at 3:00 o'clock. If you're in the market, be at the Dixie Sales Co. at that time. Across the alley from the Thrifty Store!

Members of the Clanton Lions Club and their wives met at a dinner held last Friday night at the Dixie Cafe in Clanton. The evening was one of convivial fellowship, with Lewis "Pie" Headley officiating, in his inimitable fashion, as Master of Ceremonies.

The highlight of the evening came when Dr. Gene Gale of Warrior, Ala., past District Governor, presented Johnnie Vines, Local Office Mgr. of the Suburban Gas Co., with a lovely bronze plaque in honor of his having been chosen Clanton's Lion of the Year.

It is our guess that Johnnie was more surprised than anyone present as all Lions Club members were well aware of Mr. Vines' untiring efforts in behalf of the community through his work in Lions Club, his church, and Explorers Scouts.

It was the Club's unique good fortune to have as speaker of the evening, J. E. Pattillo, President of the Tallapoosa Milling Co. His speech was so skillfully laced with droll and sparkling humor that everyone went home vowing they had not laughed so hard and enjoyed themselves so much in a long, long time.

"Free Federal Funds? There's No Such Thing!--

A LIGHT in the forest of greed and compromise! This actually happened: A group of American citizens turned down federal funds after a recent disaster to their community with the statement that they would prefer the government apply the money to the national debt! Of course they were mostly covered by insurance -- another modern monster -- but it is still a step in the right direction toward freedom from Federal control... of everything. It happened recently, too!

It is not the first such act by American citizens and the attitude seems to be gaining in popularity. The American people... at least some of the better ones, are waking up to the fact that they can do something about inflation and wild government spending if they just set their mind to it and keep their noses out of the 'all's free' trough known as the Federal Government. It really isn't free after all, and some of us are finally waking up to that fact.

In Chilton County, it remains to be seen! We had a gentleman make the statement to us the other day that he would "accept any kind of money as long as it was from federal funds." That statement is ridiculous! Too many of us try to fool ourselves into thinking that if Uncle Samuel foots the bill, it's free sledding all the way! The American people have made their point with regards to Federal aid, only in reverse. It not only is not free... it costs like the dickens! Only way to overcome it, is to try and break the habit!

Quite a struggle for some of us, when you think about it!

Nothing Like The Original, Home-Grown Variety--

IT is a disturbing, yet no less true opinion, that too few people are concerned at all with their community, its progress and its people! And even worse to say is that the "hometown product" seems to care less than the "transplanted citizen". We know of so many instances where hometown boys and girls, who could give so much to the community in which they were raised, couldn't care less what becomes of that community. We can't help but believe that there's something wrong with Chilton County homelife in general or community life in particular, when these youngsters are so anxious to shake the dust of home from their shoes. Maybe that's it; the dust! Whatever it is, it should be of greater concern to the present generation of community leaders and builders. It is one thing to attract new blood to the community. It's an even greater, and more rewarding challenge, to keep the hometown product at home. Too many of our younger generation want to set down roots far from Chilton County where they were born and raised. The economic situation is the greatest factor, but there's more to it than that. They need an excuse and a purpose for settling here. Are we furnishing it?

Some stay regardless, out of loyalty or pure love for the community, but they are not enough.

We grow some mighty fine citizens in this part of the USA and its a pity and a shame that we have to give most of them up! We want to find out why -- and do something about it!

Proof of the need--

IT'S NOT FUNNY!

"H" For 4-H And Happy Day--

OUR humble hat is off this week to a fine young 4-H farmer who personally advised President Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to end farm supports.

Howard Werkheiser, who's only 21, owns 976 hogs in partnership with his father in Kewanee, Illinois-- "the hog capital of the world." Recently, Howard, along with other 4-H members, visited Washington to tell the nation what's doing down on the farms. Here's Howard's report:

"I told Secretary Freeman in President Kennedy's office-- in a nice tone of voice, of course, I didn't sass him or nothin'-- the Government should try to get out of the farming picture in 10 or 15 years, slowly.

"The hog market has no price supports and they're doing fine, but the corn market (and what about cotton) has and is getting messed up.

"A few minutes later, I met the President, who said, 'Howard, what do you think about the farm situation?' I said the same thing, and he looked a little disturbed."

It's interesting to note that the four H's of the 4-H Club stand for head, heart, hand and health. It is also pleasant to report that Howard is in excellent health; his hands are large as skillets; his heart is big; and he certainly seems to be using his head.

Would that more of us could see, and do likewise!

The Sermonette

BY RAY FELKINS, Pastor
Mulberry Baptist Church
Christ, the Resurrection and Life

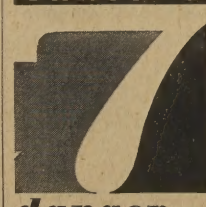

In the eleventh chapter of the Gospel according to John, the writer introduces Christ as the Resurrection and the Life. This is proclaimed by Christ to Martha, the sister of Lazarus, as she and Christ discuss the resurrection of her brother. Christ had made the statement that Lazarus would rise again, and she replied, she knew he would come forth from the grave at the last day. Martha, failing to grasp the full meaning of this statement, was met with still another when Christ said, "I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die." The reference of course, is to spiritual death. Christ follows up these forceful words with the question, "Believest thou this?" Martha's response to this question is a firm expression of her faith in Christ as the Son of God. She exclaims, "Yes, Lord: I believe that thou art the Christ; the Son of God, which should come into the world."

To me, the raising of Lazarus from the dead, is the apex of the pyramid if miracles which Christ performed while here on earth. It surely is rich in meaning, and can be the source of greatest comfort in hours of bereavement, if looked upon as Christ would have us too. The same sympathy, sorrow and understanding that was shown to Martha and Mary, in the loss of their brother, is shown to us in like circumstances.

For many centuries the age old question has been, "If a man die, shall he live again?" It seems to me that if this question, or matter of immortality was still unsettled in the minds of the people, this example would be sufficient in the clear it up. It is wonderful that we have this example of resurrection.

supported by Christ's own experience. He died on the cross, was buried in a borrowed tomb, he rose from that tomb on the third day, he lives today and says, "I am he that liveth and was dead; and behold I am alive for evermore." To all who believe he says, "Because I live, ye shall also live." This promise he can certainly make, because Christ is the Resurrection and the life.

Contagious Skin Infection

One of the most unsightly and contagious conditions that affect the skin is impetigo contagiosa. It is caused by the pus-forming germs, known as the staphylococci and the streptococci. Although the condition is commonest in children, adults also may become affected.

The condition commences as a small blister; or it may begin with a cluster of blisters, varying in color from yellow to dark red. While impetigo contagiosa is usually limited to the exposed parts of the body, such as the face, ears, neck and sometimes the hands, it may spread quickly to other parts of the body. It may take on the appearance of a cold sore on the lips. There are no definite symptoms. Even when a dozen or more of these unsightly sores are evident, the victim complains very little if itching, burning or pain.

Once a child is infected, the condition can assume epidemic proportions because it is so contagious. For this reason, an affected child, or adult should be excluded from contact with others. The sores usually appear within a few days or a week after the germs enter the skin through a cut or a scratch.

It is spread from person to person

How do you teach a boy goodness. When his only aim in life From down to dusk, is to raise a fuss? Eternally causing 'strife'?

either by direct contact such as handling or through the use of towels or wash cloths. Scratching should be avoided. Pillowcases should be changed frequently and laundered apart from other linen. Underclothing or clothing which is in contact with the skin should be handled with great care.

With proper care, the condition may be cleared up within a few days to a few weeks. If the first blister or cluster of blisters is ignored however impetigo contagiosa may be very difficult to control and may spread rapidly from one area of the body to another and from one person to another.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

Before adjourning last week for an Easter recess, the House of Representatives approved another of the President's major programs designed to alleviate critical unemployment. Known as the depressed areas bill, the measure sets up a loan program that will enable needy areas to borrow federal funds for improvements that will aid them in attracting new industries. Despite strong Republican opposition, it was approved by a vote of 250 to 167.

Aid for Small Towns

The major provision of the program involves three 100-million-dollar loan funds. One of the funds is for urban areas for use in building, improving, or attracting new industrial plants. The second fund, designed essentially for the same purposes, is earmarked for use by rural areas, most of them being in the South. The other fund is for loans to construct public facilities in certain areas that qualify under this provision if the bill, the purpose being again to rake them more attractive to industry.

Up to 65 per cent of the cost of the projects authorized by the three loan funds can be paid by federal appropriations, with the loans being payable over a period of 40 years at low interest rates.

In addition the bill calls for putting into operation a 75-million-dollar grant program to assist smaller communities, unable to issue bonds, in providing public facilities such as sewage plants and water systems. This section of the measure would also benefit many small towns in the South.

Finance Plans Differ

The depressed areas bill passed by the House is similar to a bill approved earlier by the Senate, the chief difference being in the method proposed to finance the program. The Senate bill provides for direct payments from the Treasury without further review by Congress. The House version requires, however, that funds be kept under congressional scrutiny by being appropriated annually. A House-Senate Conference Committee is attempting to work out a compromise between the two bills.

Other Bills

Also before beginning its Easter recess, the House passed a bill to extend the Sugar Act for 15 months. Among other provisions the measure will enable the President to continue to cut off the three-million-ton sugar quota formerly assigned to Cuba.

In addition, the House passed its first appropriation measure of the year by approving $5.3 billion in funds for the Treasury and Post Office Departments and the United States Tax Court for fiscal year 1962. The amount was nearly $90 million less than that requested by the departments.

RAYS OF HOPE

day something went wrong with that faithful old timepiece and the whole town was thrown off schedule. Someone may be looking to you to set the pace of Christianity in your community just that much. See to it that you are neither behind, ahead or stopped altogether. Remember "They that win souls are wise and they that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the brightness of the firmament."

My Neighbors

"They're so anxious to brag about having color TV they've painted their set blue."

A boy is a man's great blessing. By the strength that discipline brings.

We've come to a final conclusion; And it's truth has a deafening ring: A man doesn't teach very much to a boy; The boy teaches man everything!

WE hear by way of one, Buddy Wade, that the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Clanton is seeking to attract the state headquarters of the Jaycees to locate here in Clanton. Well, it would certainly be a smart move on their part, us being centrally located and all, and we needn't remind the local folk of the advantages such an undertaking would be to local business and the attraction of new ones. We are of the opinion that this possibility should be pursued with all manners of vigor! We're certainly ready to do our share, as long as it doesn't require cash... it's not that we mind the cash -- it's the money we're worried about!

IT'S almost peach time again here in Clanton--The Peach Center of The World--and it brings to mind the very successful "Courtesy Stop" which was conducted last year by citizens of the County. We gave away Chilton peaches to motorists on their way through the County and were overwhelmed with comments of appreciation for our thoughtfulness. Hope the folks who dreamed up this gem of an idea see fit to do it again... as we always say: there's nothing quite like advertising, no matter how you say it! Nothing like hospitality either, and we were graciously rewarded with kind words.

This time it should be done before the season is in full swing, just before the peak! That way we may get some economic benefit as well as making some nice friends for our county, state and the South.

YOU know, one of the greatest faults of yours truly is not establishing a strong opinion when talking with someone. With very few exceptions, we can do, with talking, it's different. We've noted, especially recently, that there are a great number of persons in our County who suffer from the exact opposite: opinion with all manners of authority and be just as wrong as the right horse on the left foot!

Several instances have arisen of them can be used by and state by state, which indicate that some of our most expert 'opinion formers' are misinformed, yet persist in voicing that opinion even though it is erroneous! We don't know which is the worst fault, but we think we had rather struggle along with the inability to express our opinion than to go shooting off our misinformed notions in every direction, aiming them at those minds which are easily-impressed and influenced to suit the occasion--and you may be surprised at those minds which can be impressed by gossip and fragments of the truth--to suit the occasion!

THERE are very few people who are accused of 'sitting on their money' these days! A fellow can accumulate enough to hardly fool with sitting on it!

Strangely enough, the same does not hold true of people! There seem to be a lot of people sitting these days--but it's not on the money!

A FELLOW we know has turned his back on the church because, as he put it, he has "seen too many raw deals pulled in the church." And we know of many personal instances where people "less 'em," tend to let other people's smallness come between them and their church enjoyment. The church is, of course people dealing with people so there's the human element. But, it's more than that! The church is the communication of man and God. If an individual has the right attitude and relationship with God and his church, he refuses to let the shortcomings of others become a wedge between himself and the Lord. We do not insist that he should look the other way when he has seen a wrong way, but the confines of his church, but, as surely as he should not overlook the wrong, he should not overlook to push him aside! In our opinion a man must have a place where he can go to find himself anew, and so often find his fellowman and his God. There is no better place than his church and to turn his back when it needs him the most is a true sign of weakness! His church is his storehouse of strength and his warm fireside where all else is cold to him. And the foundation of that church, the song says, is Jesus Christ. The inspiration to start anew, hope to build, to plan and to dream can be found in the church. But it can only be found there if it is man is willing to accept it as his own, and that includes the responsibilities as well as the blessings of peace and happiness which his church has to offer.

THE greatest tool of mankind in any endeavor, is his willingness to put forth effort.

God Had Need Of A Jeweler--

IT has been said to us that "he didn't make friends easily." You could pass him on the street and sometimes wouldn't speak to you. But let us who know him, tell you something of the man; the one known only to his family and close friends. He was a kind, gentle father, a concerned friend. True, he did not make friends easily as some, perhaps not easily at all. But he confided in his friends. He honestly considered their opinions to be of great value to him.

For a fact, he was greatly concerned about his fellowman. Though it is beyond us to know for certain, we sincerely believe that any possibility of his doing injustice to another troubled him greatly. He carried an unbearable burden of concern about the man who he "might" do to somebody through his actions of everyday living. He didn't like misunderstandings.

As surely as there is life, we are sure that this friend of ours was honest and truthful with his peers, regardless of the consequences to himself. He had strength of character and a sense of humor.

Both of the type that you had never to appreciate. And there was love and definition in the heart of this man, age of 37 was not ready for death. Just as surely as there is a life and a life beyond, however, Orville Woods, is dead and it is fortunate for us to have known him. We do not understand his untimely departure from this world. But we know that his family and Lord does work in strange and mysterious ways and no doubt need of a better than average believer--and once again, 'tis our loss!

Confederate Memorial Day Will Be Observed At Mountain Creek Soon

Confederate Memorial Day will be celebrated again this year at Confederate Memorial cemetery in Mountain Creek. The services will be held on Saturday, April 22, at 11:00 a.m. The Old Soldiers' Home at Mountain Creek was active from 1904 until 1939 when it was abandoned and the buildings sold or converted to other uses by the state.

During this time Confederate Memorial Day was a gala event in the lives of the old soldiers living in the area. Much preparation and planning went into the holiday. Visitors and members of the home took part in singing, speech-making, sight seeing and picnicking.

Special trains carried people to Mountain Creek where arrangements were made to convey them to the home by buggy and later by car. Visitors lunched with the old soldiers on the ground individually or in groups. Many flowers were donated for decorating the graves. The custom then was for flowers to be placed on each grave in loving memory and appreciation to the departed heroes. Visiting young ladies had the pleasant duty of placing the many baskets of flowers in the two cemetery plots, some going to one cemetery and another group to the other.

Many prominent Alabama citizens and politicians of the day were honored speakers at these services. The governors of the state were the most popular speakers, being a favorite of the old soldiers who looked upon them as friends as well as benefactors. Notable among the governors speaking at Mountain Creek have been the late Governors Kilby, Brandon and Graves. Such silver tongued orators as the late Hon. Tom Heflin and Attorney Marion Ruston and Judge Walter B. Jones of Montgomery spoke there in the early days of their careers. Judge Jones was present last year at the services and gave the benediction.

In the past much preparation of the grounds and buildings was made by the old soldiers themselves. CSA veteran Prof. B. J. Hughes had charge of the gardening and especially delighted in showing the many flowers and shrubs to visitors.

Time has gone by and the site of the Old Soldier's Home is no longer the bee-hive of activity it once was. Nor is it self-contained and self-sustaining institutional world it once was. But there are those who remember and those who care who will visit this site again on April 22 in reverence and honor to the men who once lived and are now buried there.

Army Offers Steady Career To Graduates

As that all-eventful high school graduation day grows nearer, many high school seniors are planning to attend college or trade schools. Others look forward to their first full-time jobs and the task of earning a living.

Whether schooling or employment is in the immediate future, the balance of fortune is tipped in favor of those who have or are seeking advanced education or training. Few companies are willing to train an inexperienced youth at their own expense.

Combining the search for training with their military obligation, a specific Army schooling while large number of our seniors apply still in school, and are assured in writing before graduation that they will get the schooling of their choice. The written guarantee, in letter form, affirms that a seat has been reserved for the applicant in a specific class.

In order to qualify in time for graduation, interested seniors must apply through their local army recruiting station no earlier than 90 days before graduation, and prove they are to graduate on schedule. There then tested and interviewed on interest and aptitudes and are advised of alternate courses they might select if their first preferences are not available at the time.

Some of the more popular courses in the Army School are artillery, missiles, radar, technical administration, precision machinery and electronics specialties. Once enlisted for a special class, the candidate must successfully complete basic training to qualify for attendance.

Interested seniors and graduates, are urged to contact their local Army recruiter, Sgt. Hoyt G. Greene so that they might begin their specialized training as soon as possible.

Did you know Gasoline is Taxed at a Rate 5 Times as High as Diamonds?

IN ALABAMA, YOU PAY $1.10* TAX ON 10 GALLONS OF GASOLINE

* DOES NOT INCLUDE LOCAL TAXES

Gasoline taxes will be lowered— if the latest temporary Federal gasoline tax increase expires on June 30th as scheduled by the 1959 Federal Highway Act.

Along with all good citizens, we are in favor of building the roads that the motoring public needs. But, in the last 10 years alone, Federal and State taxes nationwide on gasoline have skyrocketed 51%—skyrocketed to a point where gasoline, a basic commodity, is actually taxed at a rate five times as high as luxuries like diamonds and mink coats.

Must gasoline taxes be so high? Most people believe that gasoline taxes are high because the money is needed to pay for our national highway program. This is not so.

The fact is that out of every highway-user tax dollar collected last year by the Federal government, more than 40 cents was diverted to non-highway purposes.

If these highway-user tax revenues were spent for highways—as they should be—gasoline taxes could be lowered, and the highway program given a boost.

In fact, the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1959 provides that when the added temporary Federal gasoline tax expires on June 30th, 1961, as scheduled, some $802 million a year in highway-user taxes—now diverted to the U. S. Treasury's general fund—will instead be deposited in the Highway Trust Fund.

As a result, if the latest Federal temporary gasoline tax increase expires on June 30th as scheduled—the national highway program will actually get $225 million more each year than it now receives from the latest Federal temporary gasoline tax increase.

In January of this year, after an exhaustive 2-year survey of national transportation policy, a special U. S. Senate study group confirmed the wisdom of this decision.

This will be good news for you. You will be able to enjoy a steadily improving highway system, at a lower gasoline tax rate.

HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT TODAY'S HIGH GASOLINE TAXES

- In Alabama, you pay $1.10 tax on 10 gallons of gasoline.
- You pay 11¢ tax a gallon—4¢ in Federal taxes plus 7¢ in State taxes plus local taxes.
- Gasoline is taxed at a rate 5 times as high as diamonds.
- The average Alabama motor vehicle owner pays $84 a year in gasoline taxes.
- Since 1951 there have been three increases in the Federal gasoline tax alone.
- In the last 10 years, gasoline taxes nationwide have skyrocketed 51%—yet the national average price of gasoline itself has risen only 5.5% during the same period.

IN AMERICA'S BIGGEST, TOUGHEST 1961 ECONOMY CONTEST...

Which man drove Rambler?

In the most realistic test of all-around gasoline economy ever staged—the NASCAR sanctioned 1961 Pure Oil Economy Trials at Daytona—Rambler won three trophies, held by driver Les Viland in the photo above.

No other make won more than one award... most won none.

Unlike other runs that put a premium on feather-footed driving, the Pure Oil Economy Trials closely parallel your own everyday driving experience.

Every U.S.-built production car is eligible. None are arbitrarily barred, as in some runs. In 1961, 145 cars representing all 5 U.S. makers competed.

Rambler American Custom with over-drive beat them all to win the cherished Overall Winner Trophy and captured the Class 6 trophy in competition with Falcon, Corvair, Lark and Tempest 4. In fact, it took the first 6 places and 8 of the first 10.

And Ambassador V-8 by Rambler won its Class, swept the first 8 places and 9 of the first 10 spots.

With speeds up to 65, and averaging more than 40 M.P.H., the winning Rambler American made 14 complete stops, shifted through the gears 15 times while circling the 3.7 mile course, and still averaged 26.86 miles per gallon!

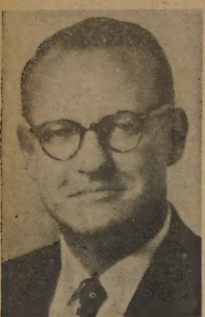

This is the second straight year Rambler won the Pure Oil Economy Trials.

Want more proof of Rambler value? Then see your Rambler dealer. You'll find top gas economy is just part of your savings. Rambler costs less to buy, is voted most trouble-free by owners, has top resale value.

Rambler dealers sell twice as many compact cars per dealer as most other dealer groups. So, you get a better deal... on the best of the compacts. Rambler—world standard of compact car excellence.

WANTED: More Vacancies

This iron lung is now empty—for a change. How long it and thousands of others remain empty depends upon how soon the entire nation is fully vaccinated against polio.

Almost half the U. S. population is unguarded against crippling polio.

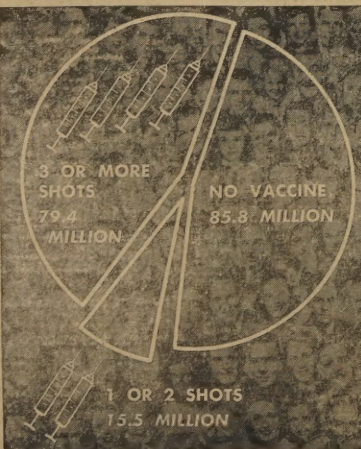

Basel O'Connor, president of The National Foundation, has described the vulnerability of some 65 million Americans to paralytic polio as "a national disgrace."

There is no scarcity of the Salk vaccine, he pointed out, and two inoculations now, within a month's time, would provide at least some measure of protection against polio outbreaks and epidemics in the summer.

In thousands of cities, villages and hamlets across the nation, Salk polio vaccination is available at little cost, and in some communities the prescribed series of at least three shots is free. A fourth "booster" shot is now recommended.

"The individual's common sense and will to survive should dictate immediate vaccination," Mr. O'Connor said. "If he or she has a family, all the more urgent ground for polio protection."

The National Foundation has been joined in its nationwide appeal to the unvaccinated by the American Medical Association and the U. S. Public Health Service.

Illustrating vaccination status of the American public, chart shows almost half the population is totally unvaccinated.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS
GOD IS LOVE

If one were to attempt to define God in a single word, that word would surely be love.

For the Scriptures tell us, "... God is love" (1 John 4:8). The epitome of God's love was His giving His only begotten Son, that none should perish, but have everlasting life. (John 3:16.)

God has manifested His love for His children in countless ways down through the ages. He delivered Noah and his family from the flood. He brought the Israelites out of Egypt and into the land of Canaan. This was God's love at work. He gave His Son, Jesus Christ, to be sacrificed on a cross, so that we might live. God is a good God. He likes to do good things for His children. God is not to be thought of as a God of wrath, a God of vengeance. God is good! God is love!

Do you take the love of God for granted? We were all created in God's own image. God represents everything good in this world. God created all goodness. God deserves the credit for everything good, for we are here on His earth only because God loved us.

If God stopped loving us just for a moment, all the children in the world would stop laughing. There would be only sorrow. All joy would be gone. The breath of life that God breathed into all of nature would die away. And the saints of this world would all become sinners. And sinners would become even worse—they would become demons. Then, sinners and demons would take over the world.

If God stopped loving us even for one moment, then our old world would rock and reel under the chaotic confusion of the devil.

God's attributes are laid on the cornerstone of His love. Without God's love there would be no wisdom. There would be no joy on this earth. We would have no goal to work toward. There would be no eternal reward in Heaven.

God's love is completely unselfish and unfeeling. It has the power to transform evil into righteousness. We should thank God that He is generous with His eternal love.

God is love! Love means understanding. It means compassion. God loves us so much that He will do anything for us if we will only trust Him, put Him first above all else, and believe.

Love represents good. It represents God. Love is God. God is love!

February Floods Still Threaten Cattlemen

It may be three or four months before Alabama cattlemen experience the last threat from the February flood.

Although flooding conditions have already caused untold losses in the cattle industry—drowning, feed losses, and extra labor to move and group cattle, a disease outbreak still looms, warn two Auburn Extension Service specialists. According to Bob Farquhar, cattle marketing specialist, and Dr. Worth Lanier, veterinarian, the two worst common diseases spread by high water are blackleg and malignant edema. Outbreaks of these diseases are usually most common during early and early summer. The organisms which cause these diseases can live in the ground indefinitely, and when the weather becomes warm, the organisms become active. In addition to warm weather making the diseases more prevalent, this is the time that cattle are usually grazing, and they pick up the disease organisms as they feed.

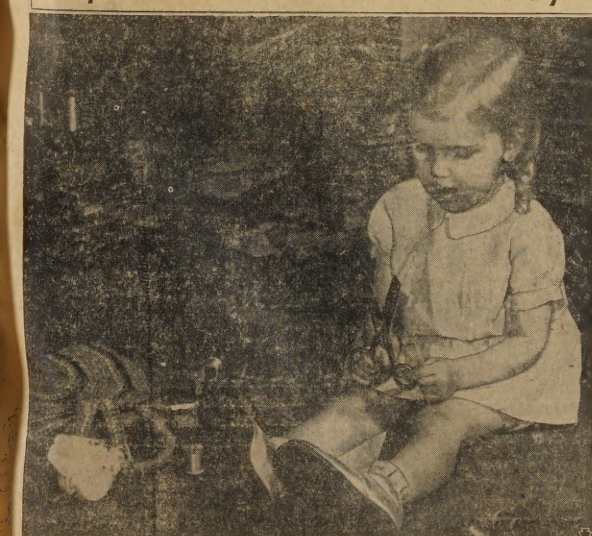

The specialists say that every cattleman in Alabama should take precautions to avoid blackleg and malignant edema occurring in his herd by vaccinating all cattle younger than 18 months that have not been treated in the last 9 to 12 months. However, all cattlemen who know that they are in an infected area would be smart to vaccinate all cattle under 18 months that have not been treated in a six month period.

Although calves are not usually vaccinated until after they are four months old, Farquhar and Lanier agree that in this case it would be wise to vaccinate any calf old enough to graze.

Vaccination is a relatively inexpensive precaution. The actual cost for five cc's—the dose for each animal—is only 10 to 12 cents.

"Accidents Need Not Happen" theme for 1961

Though she doesn't know it, this little lady is playing with danger. For the scissors she holds can be, in hands as young as hers, as deadly as a loaded pistol.

And accidents such as the one this child is courting are all the more tragic because they never have happened. In the great majority of cases, simple safety measures on the part of adults could prevent the thousands of accidents that yearly bring tragedy to homes around the world.

It is in recognition of accidents as a growing health problem throughout the world that the World Health Organization has chosen "Accidents Need Not Happen" as the theme for the celebration April 7 of the 19th anniversary of its founding.

WHO and its 105 Full and four Associate Member States are working to reduce the hazards to health that accidents of all description represent—in the home, on the farm, in Training Union 6:30 p.m.

Evening Worship 7:30 p.m.
Wednesday 6:30 p.m. study 1 Cor. and Prayer meeting.

The Samaria Church doors and the doors of the hearts of the people are wide open to all her members and to the people in general, and even to those who can come for a visit, will find the same warm spirit of fellowship. This spirit of fellowship and service together in the Lord's House is taught in the Old Testament scripture: Behold, how good, and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity. Psalms 133:1.

Our attendance in Sunday School was 45, and about 70 for the worship service. In Training Union there were 28, 23 short of our goal of fifty-one.

Spring time means new life and brings new life all around us. Is it not suggestive to every Christian to try to catch a new vision of growth in the service of His Lord and Master? Not that seasons necessarily have anything to do with the primary fact that we are Christians. A Christian is a Christian, hot or cold, wet or dry. "Ye are my witnesses," regardless of the weather or seasons.

Tuna With A Twist Of Tang And Crunch

The creative twist in this tuna production comes from a couple of versatile supporting players perfectly cast in the roles they play. Tasty French Fried onion rings and potato sticks come right into the a la king sauce and crisp, shoestring-potato sticks supply an appetizing "crunch."

Actually each of these stellar performers has a dual role. Besides using the onion rings to dramatize the flavor of your sauce, save a few to garnish your casserole or chafing dish. The shoestring potato sticks offer both a zesty flavor of their own and an ingenious switch on the usual a la king base of toast-points, patty-shells or rice.

Staging this hearty party or family dinner dish is simplicity itself. The French Fried onion rings and potato sticks come right out of a can - convenient and delicious either hot or cold.

TUNA A LA KING WITH CRISPY POTATO STICKS

(Serves 5 to 6)

1/4 cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons diced green pepper
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup diced canned pimientos
1 cup sliced celery
Melt butter in saucepan. Add green pepper and saute until tender. Stir in flour and seasonings. Blend in milk and cook, stirring constantly till thickened. Add pimientos, celery, French Fried onions, mushrooms and tuna fish. Continue to heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is hot. Heat Potato Sticks just before serving. Serve a la king over the crisp hot sticks. Lobster or shrimp, substituted for the tuna fish make this dish elegant enough for any gathering.

tion Club met with Mrs. H. O.
Headley for a spend the day meeting. Everyone carried covered dish to be served at noon. There was 19 members present and one visitor, Mrs. J. E. Williams from Cedar Grove club, and a former club mem-devotional and led in prayer. Mrs.

Edith Mims read the story of the hymn Rock of Ages and led the group in singing it. The Pledge to the flag was omitted and all the members repeated the Alabamians Creed. Mrs. V. C. McKee, the Secretary and Treasurer called the roll and read the minutes of the
